About the Exhibitor

I am an artist, photographer and taught high school photography for fourteen years. I have been creating art with various mediums for as long as I can remember. I enjoy drawing as much as painting and photography. I have experimented with various techniques to combine my love of using many mediums for several years.

The artwork presented in Nature Photography Mandalas is a creative solution to my yearning to combine artistic techniques to deliver my message. My message is one of universal connection and peace.

I feel the most in tune with my higher power and at peace when in nature. Photography provides an opportunity to capture and share my spiritual experiences. I have recently discovered a way to further this spiritual connection by creating digital mandala images. Each mandala is created from one of my captured photographs of nature.

My intention is to awaken this connection in all of us by creating these beautifully intricate images. Nature has a way of creating amazing patterns and repetition. By mirroring these patterns traditionally symbolic mandala images form. My artwork is meant to evoke inner growth, awareness and peace. Each mandala has a way of drawing the viewer into the present moment.

Photography is about capturing the moment. Meditation is about being in the moment. Spirituality is about being grateful for the moment. This is the essence behind my Nature Photography Mandala Creations.
