I've always had a passion for art, ever since I was young. Drawing and painting are mechanisms that I use to escape reality for a little. Even though I am not a professional, it's nice to be able to express myself through canvas and marker. It's a great feeling finishing a piece after working on it for hours or even days. My work is heavily inspired by traditional tattoo pieces, and they can be a little ghoulish or morbid at times but that is just the style I like.

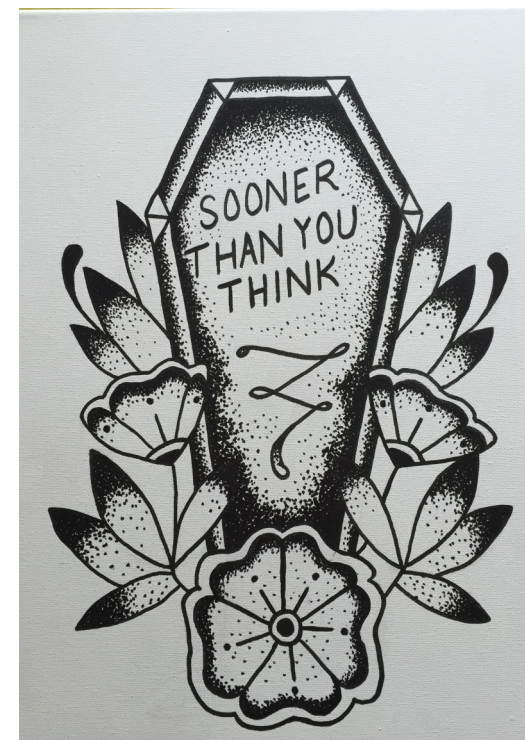

Even in high school I spent a lot of time doodling in my notebook and drawing pictures for my friends. I loved to see the facial expressions they made when they saw my newest creation. Although I do love drawing and painting, there are times where it's stressful and aggravating. Maybe I can start looking into drawing for children's books, I would love to see my work published and on shelves. I hope that I never stop drawing and that my art only progresses.
