About the Exhibitor

"Emerald Memories"

I don't know how my Irish collection started.....except that my mother and father were both Irish. I visited Ireland in 1996 with my two sisters and my (Italian) husband. I brought several things there.

While in Ireland we visited my father's county Lietrim, where 3 grandparents grew up. Lietrim is known as the "Wild Rose County" and is part of the border region by Northern Ireland. We visited many of Ireland's famous sites like the Blarney Stone, but Lietrim was truly special. Before I married my (Italian) husband, my surname was Britt. To honor my heritage, one of my grandchildren is named Brittany.

My family has always celebrated St. Patrick's Day, going to the big parade in town, eating corned beef and cabbage, and baking Irish soda bread for the family. We still do that, even today. I always loved buying Irish things. When I see my collection, I feel the spirit of my heritage.
