Pay Election Officers and Award Contracts

The Board of Freeholders at an adjourned meeting at New Brunswick Monday afternoon, ordered the election bills of the members of the district boards of election paid. These amount to over $20,000. The finance committee of the board during the past two weeks has been busy going over the bills.

Contractor John F. McGovern, of New Brunswick, was awarded the contract for building the concrete steel bridge over Keesby Creek in Woodbridge township, he being the lowest bidder. His bid for the erection of the bridge complete was $5,600. The only other bidder was Abraham Jelks, of New Brunswick. His bid was $5,744.

Contractor Thomas H. Riddle was given a supplemental contract for 5,000 square feet of extra cobble on Dunham's Hill, Woodbridge avenue, Piscataway.

The Freeholders also approved of the plans for a concrete steel bridge over Head's Creek in Woodbridge township. The plans will be sent to the State supervisor for his approval. When this is done and the plans are approved, bids for the erection of the bridge will be asked for.

Another resolution was also introduced approving of the plans for this approach to the Keesby bridge. These will also be sent to the State supervisor for his approval.

The board also passed a resolution for the delivery of different quantities of lumber on the south side of the Amboy bridge, the material to be used for the repairing of the bridge.

Were Close—N. N. Pearce Appointed Janitor of School 2.

On resolution offered by Mr. Wyckoff, at meeting of Board of Education, Friday, November 23, N. N. Pearce, who resigned from the Board of Education, was appointed a janitor in School No. 2, at the salary of $60 per month. Mr. Pearce's duties will commence December 1.

President Davis was the only member of the Board opposed to the action, and in explaining his vote, said that he thought it unreasonable that Mr. Pearce should receive a higher salary for many years. Mr. Oliver stated that Mr. Pearce was a mechanic and that it was economic for the Board to award him the position. He stated that Mr. Aken will still be retained and the two janitors will be on an equal footing.

Bids for furniture were received from Morris Leichman, Stillwell & Mason, Charles Fessler, Thomas West Co., and H. Wolff Co.

A letter was read from Frank E. DeGraw, stating that the insurance company which he represented wished to have rejected policy for $500 returned for cancellation. Mr. DeGraw stated that he did not think the board had treated him fairly in the matter. On motion of Mr. Sutliff the secretary was instructed to notify Mr. DeGraw that the board wished the policy for $500 cancelled, but that owing to this new furniture to be placed in School No. 2, he could write a policy for $1,000.

Mr. Sutliff made the motion that the insurance for $24,000 which would be needed on School No. 2, be divided among eight agents residing in this city, giving them each a $3,000 policy.

Secretary read a communication from the New York Book Binding Co., enclosing $10.50 for books returned. On motion of Mr. Sutliff communication was received and the secretary ordered to turn check over to custodian of school monies.

Besides the horses, several tons of hay and two sets of harness were destroyed. No alarm was turned in on account of the barn being situated outside of the city limits.

Heavy Easterly Gale Caused High Tide

The high tide last Sunday morning did considerable damage along the local shores. The tide, which is said to have been the highest in eight years, reached up to the top of the bulkhead at the foot of John street, and did much damage at Morgan.

The water threatened to wash away all the bathhouses and bungalows along the beach and the creek. A large pile driver which attempted to enter the creek through the county draw bridge was carried over the jetties and the bridge kept open for half an hour, blocking the trolleys. Several piling were knocked from the temporary bridge and disappeared. On the following day it was found that they had fastened beneath the pile driver.

The wind was terrific at Morgan and residents of that place expected to see, at any minute, the boat houses carried away by the tide.

DISBROW WRITES FURTHER OF TRIP

Relates Some Interesting Experiences of His Journeyings Through Florida—Thinks Hotels Provide More Entertainment Than Food —Catches Some Fish.

G. Frank Disbrow has written The Citizen another series of interesting letters on his trip through the Southern States. We learn that his companion in his travels is Richard Emmons, of Jamesburg, who also follows the vocation of locomotive engineer. The letters are as follows:

Third Letter.
Jacksonville, Fla.
It is just thirty years this month since I was in this city, and the great changes that have taken place have in that time caused me considerable trouble to locate my surroundings. My side partner, Dick, of course, depended upon me as he always does, to act as chaperon, I thought I would sail away with both eyes shut upon my arrival, but Dick saw after about twenty minutes' walking and gapeing, I was in his class, compelled to use my tongue to strangers very often. What was most surprising was that eight out of ten were ignorant or of a non-knowing disposition to direct us. A strike of the trolley men was on, and not caring to act unfriendly to their cause, we were bound to use our locomotion of nature and of which we did considerable.

After landing at the Virginia Hotel we were relieved of our baggage and tired feeling. In the morning we visited the alligator and ostrich farm, which is fully four miles from the center of town. There are about one hundred of each there. Our next trip was by ferry to South Jacksonville, expressly to view the largest tree in the State of Florida.

The branches of this oak tree cover over an acre of ground and it is supposed to be about 2,000 years old. Riverside avenue, running along the river bank south, is about the most beautiful street in the city and after traveling about three miles on foot and noting the surroundings pretty well, I wondered where all the wealth came from. Draft wagons and trucks are not allowed on it. The splendid shade trees on both sides are very large, indicating years of growth. Residences, I presume, are of millionaires and as I estimate them to be worth from $20,000 to $200,000 each. You can imagine we had exercise and if a man's appetite depends upon his exercise, it's not to be wondered at how my right hand partner made his meals vanish. We, at times, were ashamed of ourselves watching the necessities of life, and sometimes the luxuries of life, disappear. A great many people imagine that when they get to Jacksonville they pull off their coats, shake their underwear and breathe the scent of orange blossoms and that they are in the land of flowers, surrounded by banana fields, orange and lemon groves, with pine apples and coconuts growing in the door yards and that they can lie down under a spreading tree and enjoy the warm atmosphere. This is all moonshine as you will find it to the contrary in every respect.

I brought here with me an overcoat and a heavy one at that, and it has seen service every night while here. What people see in Jacksonville is what beats me, and a great many others, as I find they don't tarry long, they simply go on down further. Am now off for Tampa, 275 miles southwest from here on the gulf side of the state, of which you will hear later on.

Yours truly,
G. FRANK DISBROW.

Fourth Letter.

Tampa, Fla.
We left Jacksonville for another tiresome ride of 275 miles to Tampa, on the gulf coast. We rode along mile after mile at about the rate of 20 to 30 miles per hour, and nothing to see but desolate swamps and an occasional small town. After passing Palatka and so on to Sandford, splendid groves of oranges, grape fruit, lemons and limes lined along the track on both sides. Sandford, the so-called "celery city," because of the immense quantity of that product raised there, is a very thrifty, progressive city, is about the heart of the orange district and is the end of navigation, as yet, of the St. John's river, although it continues over a hundred miles and connects several lakes. I also wish to mention there are lakes everywhere. The center and southern part of the state has a great many and some are very large. The strangest part concerning them is: They have no inlet or outlet and are very deep.

After leaving Sandford our attention was attracted by fields of bananas. The soil seems to be of a poor white beach sand and how anything grows in it is a puzzle. Arriving at Tampa at 11 p. m., and as we were directed to a hotel by the conductor of the train, we had no difficulty in locating it, and we were not over a half dozen hours trying to get into the land of Nod.

Our journeying was solely by trolley around the city, and they have a good service.

At Tampa, nine miles distant, was

PATRIOTIC ORDERS AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The First Baptist Church last Sunday evening was the scene of a large congregation, the occasion being the assembling of the members of Joel Parker Council, No. 69, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Gen. William S. Truex Post, No. 118, G. A. R., to observe their annual service of Thanksgiving.

Special and elaborate preparations had been made in the decoration, and all on entering the church were impressed with the magnitude thereof. On one side of the pulpit was a large picture of the Capitol Building at Washington, draped with the stars and stripes, emblematic of the G. A. R., who fought to save their country; and on the opposite side was presented a large painting of a public school building, adorned with the American flag, suggestive of the principles of the Junior O. U. A. M., to preserve the public schools.

As the orders entered the church, they were welcomed by thirteen little girls, wearing bright sashes emblematic of the thirteen colonial states, and carrying miniature American flags. The decorations pleased the members of the orders greatly. The music and singing were grand, "America," being sung both at the opening and closing of the service.

Rev. Thomas Neal, Jr., the pastor, delivered an address, taking for his topic: "Is Thine Heart Right?" It proved very interesting and instructive, and the pastor took opportunity to impress upon his hearers that it was just as important for the men to attend religious services as it was for the women.

K. of P. ANNUAL ROLL CALL.

Next Wednesday evening, Good Samaritan Lodge, No. 52, K. of P., will hold its annual roll call at the lodge room. At the same time the election of Grand Lodge Officers will take place. All members are requested to be present.

Gave Farewell Party To Miss Kreielsche

Miss Bertha Kaufman gave a well party to Miss Florence Kreielsche, of Perth Amboy, on Thursday night, in honor of the latter approaching marriage. The event took place at the home of Miss Kaufman on Broadway, where a large number of guests assembled to participate in the joyous occasion. Cards, games, singing, and dancing formed the principal pastime, and the minutes seemed to speed away all too rapidly. During the evening refreshments, consisting of the delicacies of the season, were served.

Among those present were: Miss Carrie Kreielscheimer, of New York; Miss Flossie Kreielscheimer, Miss Pauline Philo, Miss Juliet Seil, Mr. Max Kreielscheimer, Mr. Jack Weltzer, Mr. Harry Braverman, Mr. Jack Klein and Mr. Gilbert Seil, all of Perth Amboy; Mr. Sidney Kaufman, of Bridgeport, Conn.; and the Misses Bertha and Cecelia Kaufman, and Mr. Emil Roos, of Scranton, Pa.

MRS. BARBARA HYER.

Mrs. Barbara Hyer, wife of Hiram G. Hyer, of 150 Augusta street, entered into heavenly rest on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

The deceased had been a consistent sufferer the last four years with heart trouble, and for the past ten weeks she had suffered with a complication of diseases. She is survived by a husband and seven children: Marior, Florence, Hazel, Hiram, Leon, Charles and Barbara; and three sisters and one brother: Mrs. Edward Wallmire, of Atlantic City; Mrs. Joseph Finon; Mrs. Samuel Jackson and Mr. Frank Niberti, all of Philadelphia. Mrs. Hyer was formerly of Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 12:30 p. m. Interment will be made in the Green Lawn Cemetery, Long Branch. Rev. F. F. Craig, of the First Methodist Protestant Church, will officiate.

The Senior C. E. held a special Thanksgiving service at 7 p. m. Mr. H. Bloodgood led and an extraordinary meeting it was. Many splendid remarks were made and an acrostic read on the word "Thanks."

A nominating committee was appointed for officers in the Jr. and Sr. C. E. Societies for 1913, as follows: Miss Ella Jones, Mrs. Hause, Mrs. Sallie Petty, Mrs. Peterson and the pastor. This society is holding some fine spiritual services. Visit their meetings.

Services last Sunday were affected by the stormy weather in the morning and in the evening by the annual Thanksgiving of the Junior Mechanics at the Methodist Church, but the usual interest and spirituality of the meetings were up to the mark.

The Junior C. E. had about thirty present last Sunday, an increase over the preceding Sunday. Miss L. D. Hill led the meeting and made a short address on the topic, some of the Juniors and others taking part. This society expects soon to have a Sunshine Committee to carry good cheer to the unfortunate and the sick.

Those attending the class and prayer service last Thursday evening enjoyed a great treat as they listened to an address by the leader, J. F. Fulton, who told of his participation in the 107th anniversary of the church in New York where he was converted, one of the members and workers many years ago, and meeting a few of the old members, especially his old class leader, who is now Sunday School superintendent at the advanced age of more than eighty years and still actively engaged in the work. It was a great treat to listen to the address.

Moors Consider Us Dirty.

A habit of our own which we consider far more cleanly than eating with our fingers is looked upon by the Moors as filthy—that is, washing our hands or face in a basin and, still more, taking a bath where the water is not running. The cleaner we become, they say, the dirtier the water we are washing with must necessarily become, and eventually we step forth as cleansed from water which is no longer clean. A Moor to wash his hands has the water poured from a vessel over them and never by any chance dips them into the dirty water. The same way in their baths. The water is thrown over their bodies out of bright brass bowls and flows away through holes in the marble or tile floor.

No More Midway at Fair.

The Interstate Fair Association's management has decided to eliminate the midway with its dancing girls and physical culture exhibitions at the fair next year. A committee from the Interchurch Federation obtained assurance to this effect when it called upon Secretary Mahlon R. Margerum to be informed as to the management's plans looking to a clean exhibition next year. Mr. Margerum showed the committee the minutes of the association's meeting October 3, agreeing to do away with the midway, and this was satisfactory to the clergymen.

Cook Pleaded Not Guilty.

Henry B. Cook a former member of the Middlesex bar who was disbarred several months ago after his conviction of having obtained money from Mrs. Walter Church, of Paterson st., New Brunswick, pleaded not guilty in court Monday Morning to an indictment charging him with having obtained $700 from Genarzo Pizza under false pretenses. Mr. Stricker read an indictment, which had been handed in by the Grand Jury last week, setting forth that on May 4 last Mr. Cook falsely and designedly pretended that the city of New Brunswick had for sale a property at 254 Burnet street, New Brunswick, and would sell the property to Genarzo Pizza for $700 and if Pizza would deliver to Mr. Cook $700 he would secure for him from the city the title of the property. It further charged that Pizza gave him the $700 and that when Mr. Cook took the money he did so with intent to defraud, knowing that the city did not want to sell the property. Judge Daly held Cook under $300 bail.

Former Assemblyman Is Injured.

William Pintard, of Red Bank, former Monmouth County Assemblyman and later Journal clerk of the Senate, is suffering from injuries sustained by a fall Saturday. He had just risen from bed, when he slipped to the floor, bruising his forehead and spraining his wrist. Mr. Pintard has been in poor health for some time.

Trade Wives for Whiskey.

The exchanging of wives and babies for small sums and for liquor is not an uncommon practice in the pine belt of South Jersey, says a report just made to the State bureau of Charities and Correction by Miss Elizabeth Kite, a special investigator who was appointed two years ago. She describes social conditions as absolutely lawless, with the predominance of depravity, although in some instances she found the people law-abiding. As a result of the investigation, C. V. Williams, the superintendent of the New Jersey Children's Home Society, has visited the pine belt within a few days and made arrests of several persons who have been charged with cruelty to babies and children and of unmarried couples. The pine belt is in the southern part of Burlington county and parts of Atlantic and Ocean counties. Judge Benjamin White of Burlington county gave into his custody a boy eight years old and a girl ten years old, who have been placed in the society's home in Trenton.

New Material Tried On Highway.

An experimental strip of road, three miles long, has just been completed at Mt. Holly by State Road Commissioner E. A. Stevens, a new road material, known as "ugite," being used on the gravel highway. The strip repaired extends from Garden street, Mt. Holly, to Chambers's corner. The experiment is the first to be made in New Jersey. The composition, invented by the State chemist, was spread over the Jobstown pike. Oil was then applied and a match started a fire, the heat melting the "ugite." The mass spread and, as it cooled, bound itself to the ground, forming a covering resembling tar.

Man Twice Convicted.

Julius Benz, of New Brunswick, was found guilty Monday afternoon by a jury, of atrociously assaulting his stepson, John Benz. Following his conviction he was tried before the court without a jury on a charge of taking goods from the Michelin Tire Works at Milltown, where he was employed. On his own admission he was found guilty. He was released on bail for sentence.

Hunter Shot by Comrade.

Arthur Hammett, aged sixteen years, son of George Hammett, of Bordentown, was shot in the left leg and left arm near shoulder by the discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Edward Cook, son of Thomas Cook, while out gunning after rabbits Tuesday morning. It is said the gun slipped from the hands of Cook when it was discharged.

Another Little Silver Theft.

The railroad station on the New York and Long Branch Railroad at Little Silver was entered by burglars Monday night and between $4 and $5 stolen from a telephone booth. Nothing was taken from the ticket office. The robbery was discovered by Harry Herbert, station agent. This is the fourth time within the past few years that the station has been broken into. A few weeks ago the postoffice at Little Silver was broken into.

Briggs in Better Health.

United States Senator Frank O. Briggs, who has been in Philadelphia for the last month undergoing treatment, has returned to Trenton greatly improved in health.

Too Much For Webster.

In the somewhat famous case of Mrs. Bodgen's will, which was tried in the supreme court many years ago, Daniel Webster appeared as counsel for the appellant Mrs. Greenough, wife of the Rev. William Greenough, was a very self possessed witness. Notwithstanding Mr. Webster's repeated efforts to disconcert her, she pursued the even tenor of her way until Webster, becoming quite fearful of the result, arose, apparently in great agitation, and, drawing out his large snuffbox, thrust his thumb and finger to the very bottom and, carrying a deep pinch to both nostrils, drew it up with gusto, and then, extracting from his pocket a very large handkerchief, he blew his nose with a report that rang distinct, and loud through the crowded hall.

He then asked, "Mrs. Greenough, was Mrs. Bodgen a neat woman?" "I cannot give you full information as to that, sir. She had one very dirty trick," replied the witness. "What was that, ma'am?" "She took snuff!"

In a Bad Way.

"I fear that my husband will break down. He is suffering from brain exhaustion."

"How dreadful! What are his symptoms?" "He latterly keeps repeating himself in his excuses for coming home late from the club, dear."

What She Really Wanted.

Ferdie had just proposed to Millie. "No, Ferdie," she said; "I cannot marry you. The man who gets me must be a grand man, upright and square." "My dear girl," said Ferdie, "you don't want a man; you want a piano."—Exchange.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD ISSUES BOOK OF "DON'TS."

The Pennsylvania Railroad will carry its safety campaign further, by beginning the distribution of 50,000 copies of a book of "Don'ts" for employees working on trains, tracks and in shops.

That there is a large foreign element now employed on the Pennsylvania is taken from the fact that the "Don't" book, or "Instructions for the Guidance and Protection of Employees," as the company calls it, is printed in Italian and Polish, in addition to English.

Some idea of the small details the Pennsylvania is watching can be seen from the contents of the "Don't" book:

"Don't step in front of or attempt to adjust couplers on moving cars, nor stand with back to cars coupled to engine."

"Don't stand between cars when coupling."

"Don't step on footboards on pilot or tender when engine is approaching you."

"Don't go under the train to make repairs or adjustments, until full protection has been secured."

"Don't place coal on tenders in such a manner that it may fall off."

"Don't think because a wire is dangling it is harmless. If necessary to remove it, use two sticks or boards."

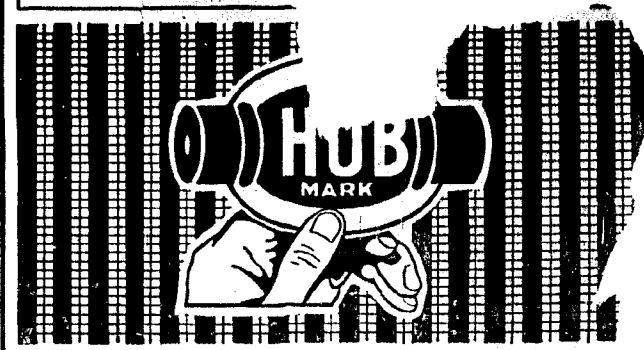

"Don't wear gloves or loose clothes when working with machinery or tools."

"Don't use tools in bad order."

"Don't touch the third rail with person or tools. If necessary to remove an object therefrom, use a dry wooden stick."

The Pennsylvania Railroad inaugurated its safety campaign a number of years ago, and only recently it received a medal for being the American employer to do most in 1911 for the protection of its employees. A campaign against trespassing has been and is being prosecuted vigorously and millions of dollars are now being spent further to add to the safety of passengers and employees. Steel cars, safety appliances of all kinds, and electric automatic block signals are only a few of the items of expense the company is incurring in the interest of safety for the public in general.

ODDS AND ENDS

Items of Interest Presented In Short Paragraphs for Busy Readers.

A metal ceiling has been placed in the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Hilton Smith, of Burlington, is visiting friends in this city.

Frank Stratton has a large "Teddy Bear," which he captured in Perth
Amboy last Saturday.

The sale of lands for taxes has been postponed until Wednesday next,
at the City Hall. See adv.

Cora E. and Frank Compton have sold two lots on Ward Avenue to Lilly Jones, for the consideration of $500.

J. Arthur Applegate is now wearing a mighty broad smile. A bouncing baby boy arrived at his home during the week.

If the party who lost the pair of spectacles left at this office does not call for them next week, they will be returned to the finder.

The contractors are anxious to get busy on the cement walks on David street, so as to finish the work before cold weather sets in.

G. Frank Disbrow has gone on a trip South. The Citizen was favored with a post card sent by him from Charleston, South Carolina.

Miss Abbie Ferguson, daughter of County Detective John R. Ferguson, of New Brunswick, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. B. Cannon, of Stevens avenue.

Police Justice Birmingham has added a new stock of confectionery in connection with his grocery business and expects to do a big business with the children.

Rev. A. B. Strenski, of the Sacred Heart Polish Church, assisted in the confirmation of a class of 500 at the St. Mary's Polish Church in South River on Sunday.

South Amboy certainly has a record
as an orderly town. Police Justice Birmingham has not had any disorderly complaints made before him
in several weeks.

There seems to be a difficulty in settling a date for the opening of School No. 2. It has been delayed so often that the scholars will be lucky to get in by Christmas time.

Francis, aged four months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Leonard, died on Saturday last. The burial took place on Monday afternoon in St. Mary's cemetery under direction of Stillwell & Mason.

Mr. John Coakley was the winner of the ton of coal, which was given under the auspices of Star of Bethlehem Lodge No. 77, Order of the of Bethlehem, and a young lady from South River won the center piece.

Miss Margaret Steins, Mrs. W. S.
Stevenson, Mrs. Clarence Parker, Mr.
John Kane and Mr. P. Cunningham assisted at a concert given in the First Presbyterian Church in South River on Wednesday night. The local talent made a fine showing.

Thomas S. Walsh in looking over some of his papers found a copy of The Ulster County Gazette, published at Kingston, N. Y., Saturday, January 4, 1800. In its columns is an account of the death of General George Washington. The paper is in an excellent state of preservation.

Don't forget to attend the basketball game at the Knights of Pythias Hall this Saturday night. Manager Forgotson promises a good attraction.
The Neptunes are just about breaking even on the receipts and they should be liberally patronized in order that the sport may continue in South Amboy.

Mr. David Furman, of Point Pleasant, underwent a very dangerous operation at the Methodist Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia on October 31st. Mr. Furman's many friends in this city will be pleased to learn that he is improving and expects to return to his home in about a week's time.

Edwin C. Roddy and Samuel Locker of this city will appear before Judge
Daily at the Court of Quarter Sessions next Thursday on charge of writing and having distributed Republican campaign circulars without stating who paid for the printing of them.
Counselor John A. Loyely is counsel for the defendants.

Robert Hillmann, the sixteen year old son

ann, is a "runaway." After securing his week's wages, "Bobbie," left town presumably to go "south." His father made an energetic search but could secure no traces of his whereabouts. The boy had a longing to travel and probably intends to gratify his desire.

The illustrated lecture given in the Methodist Episcopal Church by Geo.
L. Olney, of New York City, was extremely interesting. Mr. Olney's famous lecture, "The Wayward Boy," was greatly appreciated by his audience.
The pictures were beautiful and the fine special singing delighted those in attendance. Quite a large number were present, but even more should have heard this fine lecture.

The two weeks' revival services
in the Methodist Episcopal Church
commenced last Sunday morning
when Rev. Burton K. Way, of Im-laystown, conducted the service. He was assisted by Mr. Fred Hammond, who is an excellent vocalist.
Messrs. Way and Hammond rendered several duets in a very effective manner. Mr. Way is an interesting speaker and has made many friends here.
The services during the week have been well attended and were very uplifting to those present. No services will be held this (Saturday) evening.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.
Miss Mildred Applegate entertained some of her friends on Monday night at the home of her parents, 81
Main street, in celebration of her eleventh birthday. The time passed rapidly in various games, interspersed with music, and at an early hour refreshments were served.

Mildred received many pretty gifts.
At a seasonable hour the youthful guests departed for their homes, wishing Mildred many happy returns of the day.

Among those present were: Beatrice Selover, Blanche Havens, Frances Em-mons, Freda Martin, Evelyn Freeman, Alva Buckalew, Helen Mitchell, Grace Oliver, Elsie Applegate, Milton Davis, George Hammell, Andrew Dill, Milton Hammell, Bennie Schuyler, Thomas Havens and Merrill Shepard.

"DIZ" AND "ACK" GO DUCKING, AND IN REALITY GET DUCKED.

One day last week two of our young
local sportsmen planned a ducking expedition. At 3 o'clock in the morning they waded out in the mud and finally found the boat in which they were to make the trip. By starlight,
they made their way out on the bay
and waited for the sun to rise. The water was a little rough and soon
was washing over the sides of the little duck boat. They neared Conover's point. An icicle was freezing on "Ack's" chin, the water was fast filling the boat which finally got stuck in the mud. It was so cold
that "Diz" jumped overboard to keep warm. They made their way to shore and finally reached home, sadder but much wiser than when they started.
"Ack" was mud clean up to his neck
and you could almost go skating on
"Dizzy." The next day "Dizz" gets up at 12 (as usual), goes down to Morgan and cleans the mud out of the boat. "Never again," says "Diz," "we didn't even see a duck!"

PRESBYTERIAN ITEMS.

The annual fair and supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church was a great success in every way. Large crowds were in attendance both nights. The different booths were decorated in excellent style and were well patronized
by all present; so much that everything was practically sold off at the close of Wednesday evening. The Educated Geese, one of the special features of the fair, were much in evidence and were kept well fed. The
"Gypsy Tent" did a rushing business
and judging from the pleasant faces
we saw coming out we feel sure that those who patronized the tent were well paid for the time spent within.
We are deeply indebted to Mrs. Geo.
Gillespie who so kindly looked after this side of the fair life. Another kind
out-of-town friend was Mrs. Thompson, a former member who so nobly
came to our assistance with a splendid assortment of useful articles
which were all sold.

The illustrated lecture given in the Methodist Episcopal Church by Geo.
L. Olney, of New York City, was extremely interesting. Mr. Olney's fam-

greatly appreciated by his audience.
The pictures were beautiful and the
fine special singing delighted those
in attendance. Quite a large number were present, but even more should
have heard this fine lecture.

The two weeks' revival services
in the Methodist Episcopal Church
commenced last Sunday morning
when Rev. Burton K. Way, of Im-

"DIZ" AND "ACK" GO DUCKING,
AND IN REALITY GET DUCKED.

One day last week two of our young
local sportsmen planned a ducking
expedition. At 3 o'clock in the morning they waded out in the mud and
finally found the boat in which they were to make the trip. By starlight,
they made their way out on the bay
and waited for the sun to rise. The
water was a little rough and soon
was washing over the sides of the little duck boat. They neared Conover's point. An icicle was freezing on "Ack's" chin, the water was fast filling the boat which finally got stuck in the mud. It was so cold
that "Diz" jumped overboard to keep warm. They made their way to shore
and finally reached home, sadder but
much wiser than when they started.
"Ack" was mud clean up to his neck
and you could almost go skating on
"Dizzy." The next day "Diz" gets up at 12 (as usual), goes down to Morgan and cleans the mud out of the boat. "Never again," says "Diz." "We didn't even see a duck!"

PRESBYTERIAN ITEMS.

The annual fair and supper given
by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church was a great success in every way. Large crowds were in attendance both nights. The
different booths were decorated in excellent style and were well patronized
by all present; so much that everything was practically sold off at the close of Wednesday evening. The Educated Geese, one of the special features of the fair, were much in evidence and were kept well fed. The
"Gypsy Tent" did a rushing business
and judging from the pleasant faces
we saw coming out we feel sure that
those who patronized the tent were
well paid for the time spent within.
We are deeply indebted to Mrs. Geo.
Gillespie who so kindly looked after
this side of the fair life. Another kind
out-of-town friend was Mrs. Thompson, a former member who so nobly
came to our assistance with a splendid assortment of useful articles
which were all sold.

WEEKLY LETTER TO FARMERS.

(By F. R. Stevens, Agriculturist, Lehigh Valley Railroad.)

This is the time of the year when foresighted farmers make their plans for their Spring fertilizers. As a rule, better prices may be obtained at this time and deliveries can be made in time for sleigh haulage during the winter.

As I have said in these letters before, the fertilizer which has produced the best results in the territory along our line is phosphorus. Some of our lighter soils do respond to an application of potash, but they all need phosphorus, and an application of 200 pounds to the acre on grain, and 400 pounds to the acre on alfalfa has paid remarkably well. Fortunately, this is the cheapest of the three available fertilizers. It may be applied best as outlined in last week's letter. Nitrogen is a variable quantity, depending upon the amount of manures or other humus in the soils, but it does not exist as a part of the soil rock. Many of our soils need nitrogen. I have been told within the last two or three days that the price of the principal source of nitrogen, namely, nitrate of soda, is rising rapidly. The supply of nitrate of soda is transported from Chili and is limited. The nitrogen which we buy in dried blood, cotton seed meal, etc., costs us more, per unit of nitrogen, and the worst of this situation is that probably the nitrate of soda will go much higher than it is now. Hence we must begin to look for some other way to supply nitrogen to the soils, and by all odds the best and cheapest way is by turning down nitrogenous cover crops.

Clover is an old stand-by for this purpose. But for fields which are not in clover, and yet must be brought into a high state of fertilization without a complete rotation of crops up to clover, there are many substitutes. Perhaps the quickest way to get results is to plow the ground this Fall, and then very early in the Spring seed with peas and oats at the rate of one and one-half bushels per acre, using about 200 pounds of acid phosphate as a fertilizer for the peas and oats. This may be turned under in July for a late Fall crop, or after careful tillage in the late Summer for corn in the Spring following. This is an excellent preparation for Fall seeding of alfalfa, for instance.

Another effective and perhaps cheaper way is to give the old sod a light coating of manure and plow this Fall if the land is not too sloping, plant with corn in the Spring, and then, during the last cultivation, seed in a mixture of rye and vetch and cow horn turnips. In this manner, we do not lose the use of the field, and there is a heavy crop to plow under the following Spring.

It is clearly evident that the high price of nitrogen is going to compel the use of nitrogenous plants to supply this element to the soil. It is a good thing for us in the end, because it is not only less expensive, but also, while we are supplying nitrogen in this form, we are filling the soil full of humus so that the water holding capacity is greatly increased. This increases the effectiveness of all other fertilizers as well as nitrogen.

F. R. STEVENS, Agriculturist, L. V. R. R.

Peers and Beers.

The Percy family of England—the family of the dukes of Northumberland—preserves in its archives the Northumberland household book, a kind of steward's journal that is chiefly remarkable for its account of the incredible quantity of liquor our ancestors consumed.

Back in the middle ages, before the Prohibition movement began, the Earl and Countess of Percy, the Northumberland household book states, drank with their 7 o'clock breakfast a quart of beer and a quart of wine. For dinner, at 10 o'clock, they drank a gallon of beer and two quarts of wine. At supper they drank two quarts of beer and two quarts of wine, and at "livery," a meal which was served in the bedroom at 9 o'clock in the evening, they drank a gallon of beer and a quart of wine. That is to say, provided that the Earl and Countess of Percy drank fair, each consumed daily five quarts and a pint of beer—say, twenty-two glasses apiece—and six quarts of wine—say thirty glasses apiece, claret size.

PORTO RICO'S NEW WONDER.

From far away Porto Rico come reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed to vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan, of Barceloneta, writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others, who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung troubles there is nothing so good. A trial will convince you of its merit. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

ADVICE

ON RA

(From "Engineering News," Nov 7)

A great deal is said from time to time concerning the dangers and casualties of travel on American railroads. There is great agitation, too, concerning the numerous casualties to railway employees. We would utter no word against any effort to increase the safety of both passengers and workmen employed by railways, but there is a reform comparatively easy to effect by which twice as many lives can be saved per annum as all the lives lost among railway passengers and railway employees combined. Twice as many persons were killed on railways last year who were neither employees nor passengers, as were killed of employees and passengers combined. The exact figures are: 299 passengers killed and 2,923 employees killed in accidents of all sorts in railway service, while during the same year the total number of other persons suffering death on the railways was 6,438. A few of these deaths of persons not employees nor passengers were of tramps and other persons stealing a ride on freight trains, and about a sixth of the whole occur at grade crossings; but all the remainder are to be charged to the fatal American habit of walking on the railway track.

It is a fact, therefore, that the railways kill more persons who are walking on the tracks, where they have no business to be, than all that are killed in all the train accidents and in all other casualties connected with railway operation.

Of course, not one person in ten thousand who walks on the railway track has any idea that he is doing anything in any way dangerous. He invariably assumes that he can hear or see any train approaching long enough before it reaches him to take the step or two away from the track which puts him in safety. It is noteworthy that railway section men whose business it is to work upon and walk along the track seem to suffer few casualties by being run down. They become accustomed to watching for trains.

Of course the only way to stop the accidents to trespassers on railway tracks is by such thorough fencing and stringent laws against trespassing on the tracks as have been put in force in most other countries. Such practice and such laws ought by all means to be established in the densely populated sections of the country.

There are many remote regions, however, where the railway track is in places the only highway. We doubt not that many of the readers of Engineering News engaged in engineering field work, for example, find it necessary very often to walk along railway tracks. We think it worth while, therefore, to give a word of warning as to the assumption that a train can always be heard by a person walking on the track while it is still a considerable distance away. This is not always the case. The noise made by a fast railway train is chiefly directed away from the train at the side. Comparatively a small portion of the noise is projected along the track in front of the train. Any other unusual noise at the same time may divert a person's attention from the noise made by an approaching train.

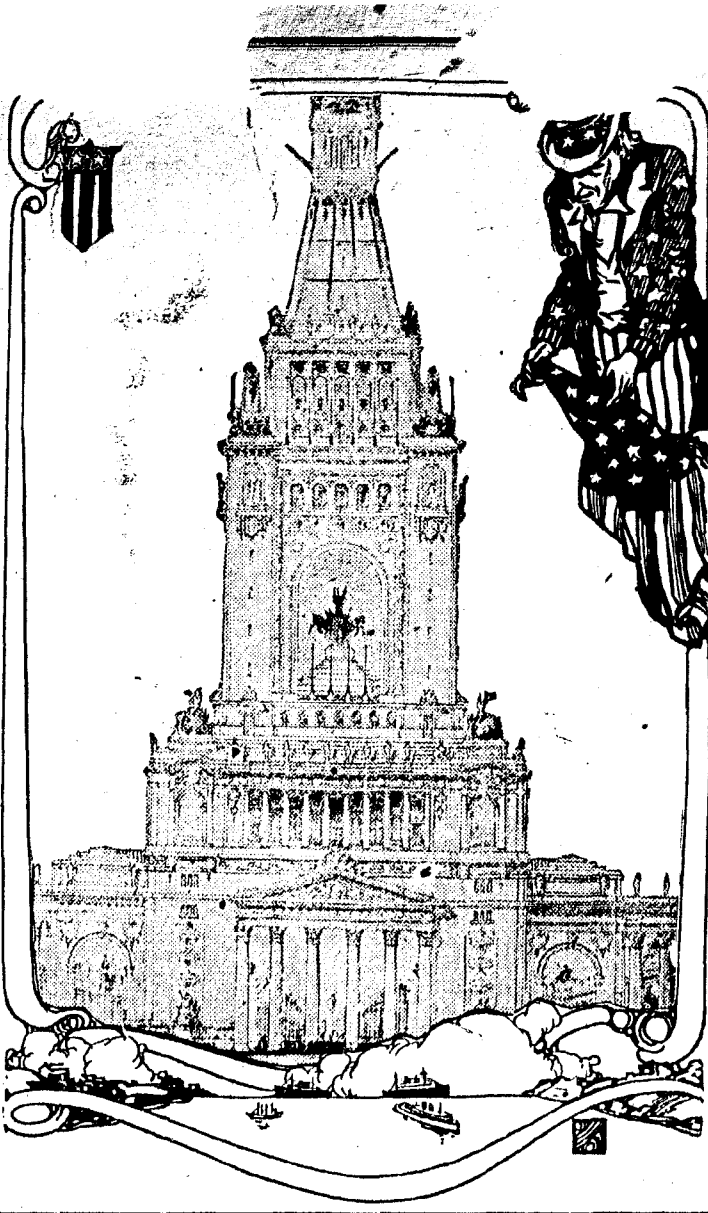

Another reason why trains may come upon a person walking on the track before he realizes their approach is a quality that sound possesses in common with other wave phenomena, although to a lesser degree, of traveling in straight lines. Thus a fast train approaching a sharp curve on the concave side of which there is high ground and on the convex side a broad plain will give a person on the curve almost no warning of its approach until it swings into view a short distance away.

Walking on a road with two or more tracks is particularly dangerous. A large portion of accidents to trespassers occur on double-track roads where a man in getting out of the way of one train steps onto the other track in front of another train which he has not seen or heard.

It seems worth while, therefore, to set down the following simple rules which should be observed by everyone who walks on the railway track, as follows: (1) Keep constant watch of the track both in front and behind; (2) watch and listen with particular care when approaching a curve, while on the curve and after passing the curve; (3) when walking on a double-track road, keep on the left-hand track and do not fail to keep watch also in the rear, since reverse movements are sometimes made on this track; (4) it is better to walk beside the track than to walk the ties; (5) when tempted to walk on the track, remember that you are placing yourself in greater danger than exists in the most hazardous class of railway employment, and choose some other path!

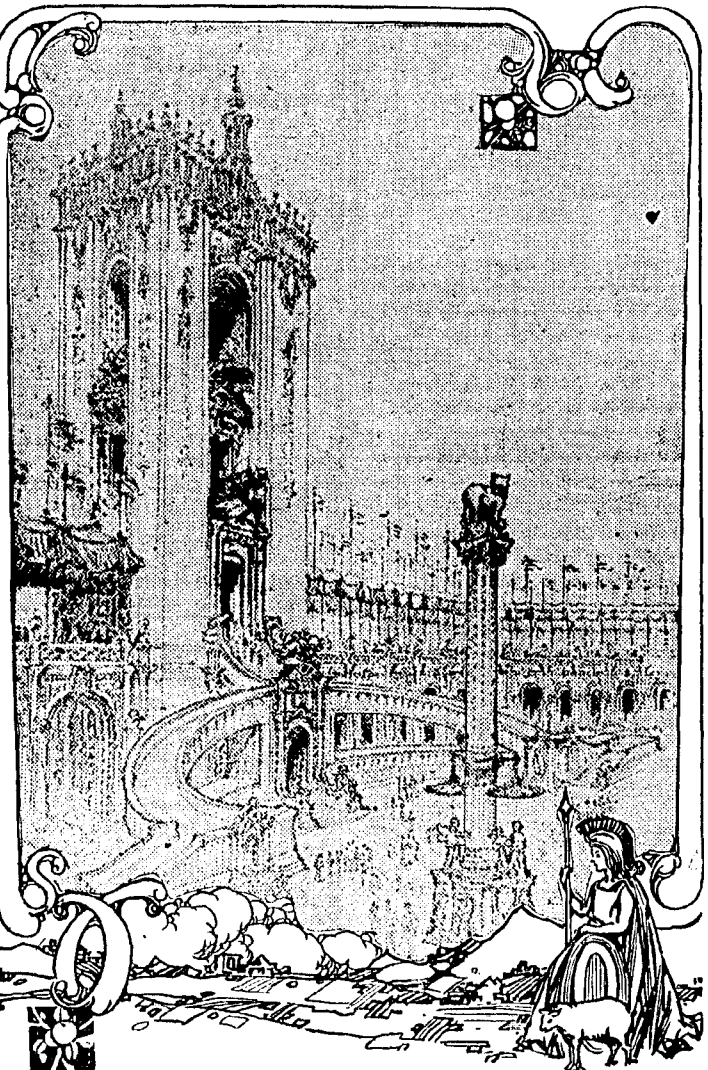

The Final.

TOWER OF THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

FROM an architectural viewpoint the dominating feature of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be the huge tower of the Administration Building. Rising 375 feet in height and flanked on either side by the domes, towers and minarets of the eight great exhibit palaces, the huge tower will be at all times the most conspicuous feature of the Exposition City. From San Francisco harbor it will appear as the central feature in the great rectangle of exhibit palaces, whose sky line will be 110 feet in height, whose domes will rise 144 feet and whose lesser towers will be 175 feet in height. From afar this central group will appear almost as a single palace, four-fifths of a mile long and 1,200 feet in width; nearer at hand it will be found that the exhibit palaces are interspersed with great open courts, each designed by notable groups of America's foremost architects. The inner courts will express the highest ideal of the architect, the sculptor, the colorist and the landscape gardener. The Exposition palaces will be the loftiest ever constructed; the grouping of huge buildings will give an effect of almost inconceivable massiveness and grandeur. At the base of the tower, which will occupy an acre in extent, will be a huge arcade beneath which visitors may enter from the main exposition entrance into the grand Court of Honor. This court, which will be 700 by 900 feet in its greatest dimensions, was designed by McKim, Mead & White.

EAST COURT, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

THE great East Court at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is designed for pageantry surpassing the famous Durbar of India. It will constitute a suitable setting for oriental or modern drama upon a colossal scale. From a huge staircase or from the tops of its encircling walls the visitor to this "Court of Joyousness" will be enabled to witness the pageants that will be a feature of the exposition. The main tower of the court will contain a great pipe organ, with echo organs in the smaller towers; within the center of the court will be a basin containing groupings of classic statuary, dancing figures, fauns, satyrs and nymphs. Electric scintillators will play upon fountains at night. Tropical shrubs and flowers will contrast with the sterner effect of the colonnades, statuary and facades of the court. In its architecture the East Court, which will lie among the main group of exhibit palaces, will resemble the oriental phase of the Spanish-Moorish architecture.

Sporting Comment.

The Neptune-Parish House Game.

With all their five men awake and alive, shooting baskets with accuracy and cleverness, the Neptune team again came home the winners on Saturday night when they played the fast Parish House Five, of Woodbridge. The Woodbridge boys were confident of winning but the speed of the Neptunes dazzled them and they got the short end of the score, it being 42 to 34 in the Neptune's favor. Fred Garland, the blond New Brunswick forward, shot ten baskets for the locals while Jimmie Manhattan, one of the best basket getters in the county, made seven. Mike J. Schlicker, who formerly played with the Oaks, was deserving of bouquets for his classy work. "M. J." is getting very popular with the local basketball fans and is putting up the best game in his system. Nebus and Simon, two boys who have recently graduated from the Junior ranks, guarded well. These boys are as game as you can find 'em and are on the job when the rough work starts. "Rooster" Forgiotson is wearing one of those "I-told-you-so" smiles at the success of his new team. The boys are going better than it was expected.

The lineup for Saturday night's game was as follows:

Neptunes	Parish House Five.
Forwards
Manhattan	Ryder
Garland	Campbell
Center
Schlicker	Wand
Guards
Nebus	Schroder
Simon	Edgar

Field goals: Manhattan, 7; Garland, 10; Schlicker, 4; Schroder, 6; Wand, 3; Ryder, 3; Campbell, 2; Edgar, 2. Foul goals: Wand, 2; Ryder, 2.

Time of halves—20 min. Score at end of first half—24 to 14. Referee—O'Toole.

The Catholic Club Five.

The Catholic Club Basketball Five will launch into Senior society on Saturday night when they will meet the Holy Name Society, of Sayreville, in Allgair's Hall. The local boys have some clever boys in their ranks and expect to bring home the bacon. The improvised court in the Catholic Club rooms is not regulation size but many interesting little games have been played there and the boys feel confident of winning on Saturday. The five will be picked from the following: Lovely, O'Leary, Casey, Hanaway, Cannon, Kress, Dowling and Downs.

The Catholic Club boys have received a letter from the "Duke" saying he's "all to the mustard" in basketball. He may come down and put on fighting togs to play with the C. C. boys. Won't he look cute?

The new Neptune team is certainly making a good showing. Their team work improves with each game and in a short time they will be able to hold their own against the best in the county.

Winter months are coming on and soon the South Amboy fans will be sitting around the fireside planning for the next baseball season. The Athletics, of course, will re-organize next year and it is expected that "Bill" O'Toole, their popular manager, will once more be at the head of the team. This team closed the season as Champions of Middlesex County and defeated the fast Tottenville A. C., champions of Staten Island on their home grounds after being out of the game for several weeks. It is to be hoped that next season the members of the team will get along together and play to win. With the fine talent in the town, the fans would stand by a team like this. "Ackie," the pet and pride of Amboy fans has many years of usefulness yet and can be depended upon to lead his team to victory next year. Think over this, boys, during the winter months, and when the baseball season starts in next year give us a team which plays regularly and wins often. Here's luck for 1913!

If we only had that S. A. football eleven going at full speed we'd take a trip across the river and show the Dexters how to handle the pigskin.

The Neptunes expect to do a little joy riding next Wednesday night. The local boys will play at Asbury Park and have arranged for a special car on the Central Railroad to take their fans along. This is quite an innovation and it is likely that many local rooters will enjoy the excursion and also have the opportunity of seeing the fast local team in action at the summer resort.

This Saturday night Manager Abo Forgiotson has secured the Oaks, of Perth Amboy, as the attraction. Schlicker, who formerly played with the Oaks, will jump center for the Neptunes and can be counted upon to make things lively.

The hunting this year has attracted many local sportsmen into the nearby woods. Many have bagged large numbers of rabbits and game, although the new law which prohibits one gunner from having more than ten rabbits in his possession in one day, keeps down the number.

You've got to hand it to South Amboy for being a good little sporting town. The fans across the river are inclined to poke fun at our home town, but Perth Amboy never put out a baseball team which could beat our Athletics. In the good old days when Perth Amboy High School put out a football team, the light South Amboy team always had the drop on them. At present it looks as if the Neptunes, the local basketball aggregation, is going to put the finishing touches to a number of P. A. tossers before the season closes. We may be "behind the times" in some things but when we do put out a team, it is a bunch of "hummers."

For the Children

Prince Olav of Norway, Who May Some Time Be a King.

The handsome young gentleman whose portrait is printed above is the crown prince of Norway. Unless we were told that he possessed so high sounding a title most of us would say, "Why, that is only the picture of a little boy!" And that is all he is so far, but some day he may be king of Norway. In our democratic country every boy is born a crown prince—that is, he is a potential president. When he grows to be a man his fellow citizens may choose him to govern this great nation. Not so in Norway and all other monarchies. The future king is born to the position, no matter whether he possess ability or lack it. Of course our way is the best, for worth, not birth, is the test we apply to our presidents. Little Olav is nine years old. He is the son of King Haakon VII., second son of the late king of Denmark. His mother, Queen Maud, is a daughter of the late King Edward VII. of England.

Concerning Metals.

England has been always famous for her mines of tin, called "anna" formerly. Some think the name Britannia is derived from it, meaning tin island. Forty years B. C. Dioscorus writes about the way in which the Cornish mines were worked. Tin is easily melted and is very soft. It has great affinity for mercury and is used, when so combined, for the back of mirrors. Tin and lead make the plumber's solder; tin enters largely into bell metal and pewter, and it is used by dyers for giving a permanence and brightness to their red colors. Zinc has not been long known. So little indeed was it valued that the Welsh people long used its ore for mending their roads. It is used now in making brass, pinchbeck and bronze. Brass is made of three parts copper and one of carbonate of zinc or calamine. And, though zinc readily rusts, yet it keeps the copper in the brass from being tarnished.

Sudden Departure.

This game will be enjoyed by younger children. They must stand in a ring with hands clasped, all except one, who approaches from outside the circle and pleads:

"It snows and it blows, and it cuts off my nose."

So pray, little girl, let me in. I'll light my pipe and warm my toes. And then I'll be gone again."

He is admitted to the circle and proceeds to go through with the actions mentioned. After "lighting his pipe and warming his toes" he suddenly attempts to leave the ring by dashing against the hands that have been tightly clasped in expectation of his onset. The one whose grips weakens and lets him through must take his place and become the wanderer.

Black Licorice.

Most of the black licorice comes from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub about three feet high and grows wild, where its roots can reach the water. It grows largely on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. As the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, it is probable that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world and that the taste which our little boys and girls like so well today was enjoyed by the little brown boys and girls of Babylon and Nineveh 3,000 years ago.

The Pantry Ghosts.

Last night I had a horrid dream—I cannot tell you why—Huge piles and cakes of chocolate cream And doughnuts passing by!

They looked at me with wicked joy. I thought I heard them say: "By night we haunt the foolish boy That haunts our shelf by day."

"Behold us come a nightmare grim—You'd better hide your head! And then some things, all pale and dim. Be scared down in your bed."

"We never mind a little slice—A bite or two—but when You eat too much it isn't nice. And we shall come again!"

—St. Nicholas.

FOUGHT WITH KNIVES.

Sensational Duel in Arkansas' First State Legislature.

During the session of the first legislature that convened after Arkansas became a state, the new capitol, then in an uncompleted condition, received a baptism of blood when, in 1837, J. J. Anthony, representative from Randolph county, was slain in a knife duel by John Wilson, speaker of the house of representatives, during an open session of the house.

In the course of a debate on a trivial matter Anthony offered a resolution, which was construed as a thrust at Speaker Wilson. The speaker became enraged and ordered Anthony to take his seat. Anthony refused to do so. This enraged Wilson still more, and, leaving the chair, he advanced down the aisle toward Anthony, drawing a knife as he did so. Wilson stated he had acted in jest, but Wilson refused to be pacified.

Anthony then also drew a knife and stopped from behind his desk to await Wilson's onslaught. Grandison D. Royston, who sat near by, thrust a chair between the combatants, but the latter struck at each other over the obstacle. Suddenly Anthony's knife was struck from his hand, and he was left defenseless. Wilson raised the chair and plunged his knife into Anthony's body, Anthony expiring almost instantly.

Speaker Wilson was immediately expelled from the house and Grandison D. Royston was elected speaker in his place. Wilson was indicted, but when tried in Saline county on a charge of venue he was acquitted on the ground of excusable homicide. The killing and the subsequent acquittal of Wilson caused a tremendous "furore" throughout the state.—Farm

High School Mentionings

The Junior Class is planning a home made candy sale which will be held in the near future. The girls in the class claim to have a reputation as candy makers and promise to furnish sweetmeats which will be O. K. The proceeds of the sale will start the fund for the annual reception which will be held after Commencement.

The Sophomore Literature Class took an examination in Elliott's "Silas Marner," on Wednesday morning.

It will only be a short time now before the new High School building is opened. Work was delayed by the heating engineer but it is expected that the rooms will be ready for the High School scholars within a week. The students are anxious to get settled in their new quarters.

A petition, signed by all the teachers and scholars of the High School, asking that the half-day sessions now in use be continued when the other building is opened, was presented to the Board of Education last Friday evening. The Board did not seem to be favorably impressed with the idea and the regular session will be enforced. The system, known as the "Copenhagen," is used in many other High Schools and has always proved successful. There are many advantages to both the teachers and scholars in the one session, but the board refused to grant it on the ground that the parents would object.

We soon expect to get back in our old home and when we do the Literary Society should be started as soon as possible. The society has done good work since its organization in furthering the school spirit. An efficient corps of officers have been elected and a banner year for the society is expected.

Prof. Miller received the check from the manager of the Manhattan theatre in New York, last Monday. Seats for "Macbeth" could not be obtained and the first check mailed was lost. A duplicate check was sent to Mr. Miller.

New rules have been enforced which make it impossible for any High School scholar to leave early without permission. The High School students must pass down the central stairway.

The Seniors are planning for their annual play. A suitable comedy has not yet been found but it is expected that one will be decided upon within the next two weeks. Considerable time will be given this year for rehearsal in order that the play may be a success. No date has as yet been decided upon but it will probably be after the holidays.

The Sophomore humorist says he "hasn't got much speed in shorthand, but he's got the dickens of a lot of cures."

The medical examination still continues. Dr. Albright has been examining the Grammar School scholars during the past week.

A letter has been received from Manager Abrams, of the Rutgers Preparatory School, New Brunswick, asking for open dates. The Rutgers Prep. team greatly outweighs the local team but if arrangements can be made, a game will be staged at New Brunswick some time during the coming week. If the sessions can be reversed next Wednesday a game will probably be scheduled for that date.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS.

We have always contended that Willie Forgotson was a hoodoo mascot, but now we know that he deserves an "A" as a bonehead. Willie packed one of the boys' suit cases at Metuchen and was so excited that he packed the wrong shoes. That wasn't the worst of it, for they weren't mates. If Willie wants to go to New Brunswick this Saturday he has got to ride on the fender. The boys won't allow him in the car.

The team lined up for a kickoff the other day when Wink strolled over to the captain and advised him to kick an end run!

The football team goes to New Brunswick this Saturday, expecting to give the heavy New Brunswick eleven the fight of their lives. The team was out for practice nearly every afternoon this week and expect to make a good showing. The backfield is developing speed and although it will be far lighter than New Brunswick's four, expect to pull off some good stunts. The regular team is expected to line up. The team will leave on the one o'clock Public Service car and they expect to take a number of rooters with them.

Joe Capner, is expected to be on the job at New Brunswick. The game ballback was out of form in the last two games on account of toothache and an injured hand. His work the first part of the season was O. K. and his showing in the practice indicates that he has "come back."

Emil Anderson and "Bunk" Quinn,

TWO tailors may both advertise made-to-measure suits at say 15, 20, 25 and 30 dollars, but it does not signify that both give the same thing. This is why the publication of prices is very misleading. You must see the goods for yourself and compare the values. We invite and encourage comparison. We know we give the lowest prices and the highest values in town and we welcome the opportunity to produce our proof. If you want to save money on your next suit or overcoat we recommend the International. We represent them solely and will be pleased to show you their full display of fabrics and models.

lan, the two speedy ends, are to be in their positions at the county seat. The two boys have played good games this year, and deserve credit for breaking up some good plays by the opposing teams.

"Dooley" Albaugh, Ralph Crane, Hobart Johnson and Milton Rue will share the tackle positions in the N. B. H. S. game. The four boys have played good games at their positions and will play to win in this game.

"Ted" Baird will be in harness again. Watch him plow through the line! Captain Grace has had his own troubles this year keeping peace between the members of the team. The little quarterback is playing a great game this year and has patched up the differences between members of the eleven so as to put a winning team up against the New Brunswick team.

Kwillinski has put up a sterling game in every game this year and is expected to star to-day. He is determined to carry the ball across the line this Saturday and if he ever breaks loose from the bunch he is almost sure of running up some points for the local crew.

Wanted: A new mascot, to fill the vacancy caused by the discharge of Willie Forgotson. Must not be a bonehead.

It's a little bit previous to discuss baseball, but the high school should have a fast little nine when the season opens. Prof. Miller is an ardent baseball fan and is still a good player. He can render valuable assistance in coaching the team. Quilan will probably pitch for the team.

Greatest of Furniture Stores

With Its Stupendous, Magnificent Stocks

CAN APPROPRIATELY AND ECONOMICALLY EQUIP ANY HOME, BE IT A

Palatial Palace or Simple Bungalow

This establishment has long been supreme in the furniture trade of this State; in fact, this is one of America's greatest furniture stores, if not its most notable. And it will continue to have this prestige.

It takes many years to build a furniture business such as this. It takes years of experience, of organization, of demonstration. It takes years of browsing 'mongst the furniture factories of the country to get into closest touch, to understand the superlatives and the defects of the various products of these manufacturers.

It takes years of time to test qualities. This store will continue supreme in the furniture business because of our long association with the best producers, and the fact that the finest products, the choicest creations of the most skilled and experienced builders of furniture are confined exclusively to this house in this section of New Jersey.

This store will continue supreme in the furniture business because its stocks, already tremendous, will be constantly enlarged and become more varied and be given more space. Right now we are arranging to give added space to the display of Furniture on the Fourth floor, equalling approximately 25,000 square feet.

The great stocks, already immensely satisfying, enabling everyone to find exactly what they need, so long as they want substantial and beautiful furniture, will become, if possible, more and more complete, varied, and satisfying as the years go on. There will be no hesitancy go backward step—always advance, always progress, always betterment.

The Music Teacher

He Could Not See Through a Millstone.

By HELEN CHAMBLISS

When my notary, Maitre Du Four, informed me that he had decided to sell my property, my chateau, my horses, my carriages, everything that had come down to me from my ancestors, ze Counts de Souvenne, must go to pay my debts, I said: Ver' well, I go to Amerique, where I feel not noblesse oblige, for ze Americans have no nobles in zair country. I take with me my violin I love so well, and I play in ze concert or maybe in ze orchestra, and if necessary my daughter, Elise, she teach ze dance.

I feel ver' much disappointed on account of Elise, for I had arranged a marriage for her with ze son of my friend, ze Marquis of Bradalaine. But now I must say zat I have no settlement to make for her, of course ze marquis decline ze match for his son, Elise, who no like ze young man, prefer to go to Amerique even if she have to teach ze dance instead to be fine lady, which she have always been.

So we come to Amerique and we live in appartements, and I have a sign in ze window, 'M. Souvenne, instructeur for ze violin.' My daughter she encourage her old father and she mak' fren' who get pupils for me, and I mak' enough to pay ze rent and for to eat, but nothing for clothes. But Elise, she have some fine clothes, which belong to ze familie for hundreds of years, which she mak' over in ze new modes. She would teach ze dance, but we have no money to pay for ze room for ze school.

One day zere come a ring at ze bell of my appartement and I open ze door. A very fine young gentleman stand zere and he say to me:

"Monsieur, can you direct me to ze appartement?"

He stop short. He look past me and see Elise sitting by ze window dressed in ze costume of one of her about ze grand masters. But I will depart now. I come tomorrow for another lesson. I pay you for zis one."

He tak' much monie from his portemonnaie and hand me a ten dollar bill. "My fee is two dollar, monsieur. I have no change."

"You give me lesson, monsieur, and you play for me exquisite musique." I pay for ze lesson two dollar. Ze rest is for ze pleasure I derive from ze musique."

"Ze musique! When I play from Beethoven you tink I play ze waltz." Ze gentleman turn red in ze face, and he smile with embarrassment, and he go away. When I go to close ze door for him he look over my shoulder at Elise.

"What a pupil!" I exclaim after he had gone. "He is a ver' bad musician, but ver' fine pay."

Ze gentleman—M. Jones was his name—came regular for to take ze lesson, and every day Elise sit by ze window to sew, for M. Jones say, "If I drive you to anudder room when I come I no tak' ze lesson." So Elise sit quiet, while my pupil he mak' frightful discords on ze violin.

At last I have to tell him zat he waste his money on ze lessons; he nevaire learn to play ze violin; he ver' much disappointed.

"Ah, monsieur," he said, "I hoped you teach me to play like my friend, M. Trevor!"

"M. Trevor! I have heard zat M. Trevor is ze finest amateur player on ze violin in Amerique. What a pity he is rich. If he had been poor he nevaire have made a great name for himself as musician."

"You are ver' frank with me," said M. Jones. "I will repay you for your honesty. I know M. Trevor ver' well. He is a good fren' to me. I ask him to give me a lesson for you."

I mak' much protestation, but it avail nothing. He go away and the next week I see in ze newspaper an advertisement of a concert to be given by M. Trevor for ze benefit of M. Souvenne, assisted by several professional persons. I was ver' much surprised. I ask Elise what she tink ze raison all zis kindness and she say she don't know. "Maybe," I said, "it is because M. Jones was ver' much pleased with my performance on ze violin. But if this is so why he not ask me to play at my own benefit, I like to know."

"I don't think, papa," she said, "zat it would be in regle for you to do so. I mean I tink M. Jones would suppose you to be too modest."

An' I tink zat it would not become ze Count de Souvenne to appear in publique at such an occasion. It ver' much shock ze pride.

On ze evening of ze concert M. Jones send ze carriage for me and Elise to tak' us to ze hall. We feel ver' obliged, and we ride to ze hall and go in and tak' seats by ourselves at ze back, for all ze seats in front were filled up. But an usher came to us and led us to seats in ze front zat had been reserved for us.

Ze concert was opened by a lady who sang. After which a ver' fine solo on ze flute was given. I look at ze program and see zat M. Trevor play but one tune. I wonder zat ze people came to hear him play but once. He must be ver' fine performer. At last his turn came and—

Mon Dieu! My pupil, M. Jones, in evening dress, came on to ze platform with his violin under his arm.

"Ma foi!" I exclaimed, "he will spoil it all. What impudence!"

Elise could not hear me for ze applause zat greeted him. He stood while a prelude was played by those who were to accompany him, I waiting in agony to hear him begin his discords abominable. But when he touched the string with his bow, ver' low in tone but crescendo, it seemed as if ze angel were beginning to speak to ze audience. One could have heard something ver' small drop on ze floor. Ze listeners sat in ze spell. Ze selection was ze "Stabat Mater." Zere were crescendo and diminuendo, ze one following ze other, and when it was finish I wish to shed tears.

"Elise!" I exclaimed. "A miracle! A saint have touched M. Jones and made a wonderful musician of him."

"He isn't M. Jones at all, papa. He is M. Trevor," my daughter say.

"What is zat?" I ask.

"I will tell you all about it, papa, when we get home."

Before Elise and I were allowed to go ze managere came and handed me ze money in a bag. When I count him I find $753.

But I must tell what Elise told me. It was M. Trevor and not M. Jones who come to our appartements to look for some one. When I open ze door he see Elise and zat was ze reason why he tak' ze musique lesson as M. Jones.

I tink he not listen to me play because he liked to look better at Elise. And he pretend to not know how to play himself. I tink, too, as ze Americans say, it was all a "put up job."

And I tink, too, zat before M. Jones tak' many lessons Elise conspire with him to fool her old father.

Some time after ze benefit M. Trevor came to me and said:

"Count de Souvenne, I desire zat you do me ze great honor to give me your daughter in marriage."

"Mon Dieu, how you know I am Count de Souvenne?"

"When I saw your beautiful daughter arrayed in the costume of a countess of years ago I suspected you were endres from abroad in reduced circumstances, but I did not know until I had asked your daughter to be my wife that you were a French noble."

Elise is now Mme. Trevor. Her husband has bought the Chateau de Souvenne, and the young couple permit the old man to live there with them. It has never been possible for the old man to entirely forgive his son-in-law for not livving him to play at his own benefit.

THANKSGIVING DAY

PROCLAMATION BY GOVERNOR WILSON

Governor Wilson issued his Thanksgiving Day proclamation on Thursday as follows:

"Another year of peace and prosperity has passed by. The life of the State and of the nation has been undisturbed by war or pestilence or disaster of any kind; we have been free to choose our own ways and have gone through the varied action of a great political campaign without violence or passion. The hope of our people has risen with the increase of their life, and God has been very gracious to us in all His dealings.

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, Governor of the State of New Jersey, do designate Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of November instant, as a day to be observed for general thanksgiving and prayer, and upon that day I recommend that all business cease, and that the people gather in their respective churches and other places for public worship, or in their homes in private, to make fitting acknowledgment to Almighty God of His unbounded beneficence to us as nation, State and individuals.

"Given under my hand and seal at the Executive chamber, in the city of Trenton, this fourteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twelve and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

"WOODROW WILSON,
"By the Governor.
"DAVID S. CRATER,
"Secretary of State."

As the tax bills are being distributed it is noticed that the assessed valuations have been increased greatly over last year, and in some cases double. We believe that we are safe in saying that our assessments have always been higher in proportion than any other town or city in the county. In fact their total assessed valuations will prove it. We do not cover a mile square, being one of the smallest towns in territory in the county. It is decidedly wrong to raise valuations above normal in order to get a low rate of taxes. A higher rate and fair assessment is much better.

The question of pier lengths and suitable sites for terminal buildings seems to be causing considerable anxiety to some corporations. What's the matter with South Amboy? Here our harbor line would allow piers of 2,000 feet in length, and the railroad facilities are of the best. A steamer could run from Sandy Hook to this city in less time than to New York. For terminal buildings our shore flats could not be excelled. And besides prospects are bright for deeper channels and a ship canal in the near future.

PLAN FOR EMPLOYEES' PENSIONS, BENEFITS, ETC.

weeks and half pay until able to earn a livelihood, not exceeding six years.
Sickness Disability Benefits.
Employees who are disabled by sickness or accident outside of the regular course of duty after ten years or more in service, will receive full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for thirty-nine weeks; if from five to ten years in service, full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for thirteen weeks; if from two to five years in service, full pay for four weeks and half pay for nine weeks. In the case of employees who have not been two years in service, heads of departments will be permitted the same discretion as heretofore, in continuing pay during temporary illness.

Life Insurance.
In the case of death resulting from accident in and due to performance of work for the company, an insurance amounting to three years' pay will be paid to the dependents of the employee, the maximum payment being $5,000.

In case of death resulting from sickness or from accident outside of business, the payment will be one year's pay for employees who have been ten years or more in service, and one-half of one year's pay for employees who have been from five to ten years in service, the maximum payment being $2,000.

If any State statutes provide for more liberal compensation than is provided under the Benefit Plan, the statutory provision will prevail. Where the employees have legal rights, as in some accident cases, they will have the option of exercising such rights or accepting the company's benefits.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has set aside from its surplus a fund which provides for those whom it directly employs, and also provides a reserve, upon which, under certain conditions, the Associated Companies may draw. This fund is supplemented by funds set aside for each company. The total appropriations will aggregate something more than $10,000,000. The benefits, it is estimated, will cost annually about $1,000,000 more than the present payments on this account.

The administration of the funds will be in the hands of the Employees' Benefit Committees of five, to be appointed by the Board of Directors of each company. The committee of each associated company will have jurisdiction over the benefits for employees of that company.

The Employees' Benefit Committee of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will have general jurisdiction over the plan for the entire system and specific authority as to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's employees' benefits.

CLASS OF 1913 GIVE A SURPRISE

The members of the High School Class surprised Fred Bloodgood, one of their former members, in a novel way last Saturday night. The members of the class and invited guests, numbering about fifty, met at the home of Miss Florence Buckelew on Broadway, and proceeded in a body to Fred's home on John street.

Their host arrived home at eight o'clock with a number of friends from Elizabeth and was greatly surprised and delighted by seeing his former classmates gathered in his honor.

The evening was spent pleasantly by the merry crowd in games and other diversions. The basement was decorated beautifully with the class colors, crimson and gold, and numerous pennants. Here the guests enjoyed dancing. Red carnations, the class flower, were distributed as souvenirs of the occasion.

Refreshments were served and late in the evening the young folks dispersed for their homes, having enjoyed the occasion immensely. Among those present were:

Rosmon and Pearl Warne, of Matawan; Messrs. William Kipp and Peter Shirling, of Elizabeth; Walter Bernhardt and William O'Donnell, of Newark; Messrs. Martin Baird, Geo. Wein, Harold Orr, Mahlon Atkinson, Holmes Oliver, Percy Locker, John King, Lorton Berlew, Robert Chapman, Joseph Capner, Hobart Johnson, Frank Grace, Teofil Kwilinski, John Quinlan, Russell Lewis, Carter and William Bloodgood, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Ness, of Morgan Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bloodgood and daughter, Esther; Misses Florence Buckelew, Dorothy Bergen, Elsie MacDowell, Florence Thompson, Elizabeth Dangler, Charlotte Rehfuuss, Gladys Walters, Mildred Deats, Ruth Locker, Bertha Bloodgood, Ellen Parlsen, Ruth Sprague, Pearl Coward, Lillian Roddy, and Jennie Hendrickson.

On motion of Mr. O'Connor, the matter was referred to the Mayor to instruct the police to look after it.

Mr. Stanton reported that the city engineer had prepared plans for a fire house at Maxville, and requested the council as a whole to review them.

Mr. O'Connor stated that there was only $57.65 balance in poor account, and on motion by him, the clerk was directed to notify the Overseer of the Poor not to issue any orders, only on request of committee on poor.

Mr. Manhattan reported favorably on lowering water mains on certain streets.

On resolution offered by Mr. Slover, a note for $7,000 falling due November 20, was ordered renewed for three months at 5 per cent.

On resolution by Mr. Stanton, the Gutta-Percha Rubber Manufacturing Co., was awarded contract to furnish 400 feet of Red Cross fire hose at $1.25 per foot.

Mr. Slover called attention to the bad condition of gutter on westerly side of Bordentown avenue between railroad bridge and Pine avenue, due to excavation made for sewer main.

On motion of Mr. O'Connor, the matter was referred to committee on sewers.

The report of city treasurer showed balances as follows: City account, $1,379.69; water, $1,694.16; Sewer, $6,996.92; Broadway, $1,596.25; which was received and ordered filed.

Mr. O'Connor reported that the sewer money was running close, and inquired of Mr. Mason about how much more would be needed to complete the system. Engineer Mason said that $5,000 more would probably complete the system including pumping station.

On motion of Mr. Stanton, the clerk was instructed to communicate with Tippet & Wood, contractors for stand pipe, requesting them to remove the crushed stone and other material from the ground.

Anniversary Ball Was Brilliant Event

St. Mary's Hall was the scene of unusual festivities on Friday night when the members of the Catholic Club celebrated their first anniversary by a grand ball. The event was not only socially, but financially, one of the most brilliant affairs in local society for many years. The boys of the club are elated over the success of the event and will probably hold a similar affair within a short time.

The hall was finely decorated with the national flags and the club colors, the work being done by Hammill Brothers, of New Brunswick.

Hundreds of guests were present from New Brunswick, Sayreville, Brooklyn, New York, Newark, Metuchen, Matawan, Keyport, Woodbridge and Totenville.

The ladies were handsomely gowned and the floor presented a pretty sight when the young couples engaged in the dancing to music furnished by Nelson's Orchestra, of Perth Amboy. The music was of high quality and the young folks whiled away the hours very pleasantly.

Refreshments were furnished by the club and served to the guests in a very pleasing manner. From the first waltz till the strains of "Home, Sweet Home," the affair was a dazzling success.

The members of the committees who worked energetically to make the ball a success were: General Committee: T. Francis Duggan, chairman;

Rev. Father Lane, John J. Hanaway, John F. Casey, Raymond A. Kress, John A. Triggs, Walter F. Casey, Thomas F. Carroll, James P. Moran, William A. Lyons, Eugene Morris, Luke A. Lovely, Michael J. RUBBER AND HUMOR.

A Closely Clinging Garment and a Laughable Request.

In 1839 Professor Emmet of the University of Virginia visited in New York with his family and while there received from abroad a pair of india rubber cloth boots. His son, Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet, in his book, "Incidents of My Life," says that his distinguished father was happier in his new possessions than a child with a new toy and spent most of his time standing like a heron in the water to test them.

Their shape was not such as would have fascinated Packelan, the famous bootmaker. They were made like a long stocking of coarse canvas, with a leather sole, and over all was smeared a paste of rubber which might have answered in cold weather, but which was sticky and ill smelling under a moderately hot sun. In very few articles has there been more improvement than in rubber goods since they first came into use.

My father took back with him a "raincoat" as a present to our old negro coachman, but he could never be induced to wear it in the rain, and when expostulated with his answer was, "Does you tink I's gwine wear dis new coat in de rain?" He never wore it except in the bright sunshine and on a warm day, so that when he got off the box at the stable it was necessary to take with him the cushion and remove his trousers before he could get his coat off.

I recollect as a child the first "gum shoes" in use, which were hideous to look at and most uncomfortable over a shoe, but which to the bare feet of the old negroes were a joy and a comfort. The first rubber shoe was shaped like a large sausage, and from one end along the side a piece was removed to permit the introduction of the foot. After the foot was inserted the elastic substance shaped itself about it.

They were always called "gum shoes." While a medical student I was present at the opening of the Girard House in Philadelphia, and I remember that there were printed notices at each entrance with the request, "Please wipe your gums on the mat."

Wool Drying.

Wool drying is one of the principal and serious operations in the woolen industry. The more gently and uniformly the wool is dried the better is the result attained, for should the wool be slightly damp in some of its parts the dye does not take well, and the result is an unevenly dyed yarn, which shows in the texture of the woven goods. Overdrying is also bad.

It is time to announce sale of holiday goods.

Repotting Plants.

Repotting plants becomes necessary at intervals from two considerations. The plant uses up the available fertility in the soil and fills the pot with roots. In repotting plants it is well to shake off whatever earth can be separated without breaking and injuring the roots. Then water and shade for a few days.

BETTER LIGHT AT HOLE-IN-WALL

Councilman O'Connor Wants Service Placed on Meter System—Bids Received for Flagging and Curbing—Other Business Before Meeting of Council.

In order that the "Hole-in-the-Wall" may have light when it is needed, the electric lights there will be placed on the commercial system with meter, if the motion offered by Councilman O'Connor at meeting of Council Tuesday night is obeyed by the Middlesex and Monmouth Electric Light Heat and Power Company.

Present—Mayor Welsh, Councilmen Manhattan, O'Connor, Slover, Stanton and Stuart; Clerk Mack Solicitor Pearce, Engineer Mason, Treasurer Perrine, Street Commissioner Connors and Collector Sutliff.

Minutes of previous meeting were approved as read.

At this point a little diversion was occasioned by Councilman O'Connor stating that he thought the City Solicitor should be present, and hear the proceedings, and as he was down stairs, he suggested that the chair appoint a committee of one to escort the solicitor to the council chamber. The chair appointed Mr. O'Connor as such committee. After a brief interval the chair appointed Engineer Mason to bring the councilman and solicitor back. Another brief interval the clerk was instructed to look after the three. The clerk returned stating he had followed instructions of the chair, and shortly all officials were in their seats and business of council was proceeded with.

The Clerk read notice of bids for flagging and curbing Augusta street, and then proceeded to open the bids, which were as follows:

Peter Cramer—21½ square foot of 2-in. blue stone flagging; 75c per lineal foot of new curbing, and 35c per lineal foot for old curbing reset.

On motion of Mr. O'Connor, the council on adjournment, adjourn to meet next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Pay Election Officers and Award Contracts

The Board of Freeholders at an adjourned meeting at New Brunswick Monday afternoon, ordered the election bills of the members of the district boards of election paid. These amount to over $20,000. The finance committee of the board during the past two weeks has been busy going over the bills.

Contractor John F. McGovern, of New Brunswick, was awarded the contract for building the concrete steel bridge over Keasby Creek in Woodbridge township, he being the lowest bidder. His bid for the erection of the bridge complete was $5,600. The only other bidder was Abraham Jella, of New Brunswick. His bid was $5,744.

Contractor Thomas H. Riddle was given a supplemental contract for 5,000 square feet of extra cobble on Dunham's Hill, Woodbridge avenue, Piscataway.

The Freeholders also approved of the plans for a concrete steel bridge over Head's Creek in Woodbridge township. The plans will be sent to the State supervisor for his approval. When this is done and the plans are approved, bids for the erection of the bridge will be asked for.

Another resolution was also introduced approving of the plans for this approach to the Keasby bridge. These will also be sent to the State supervisor for his approval.

The board also passed a resolution for the delivery of different quantities of lumber on the south side of the Amboy bridge, the material to be used for the repairing of the bridge.

WEDDING BELLS MAY RING AT CHRISTMAS TIME

LOCAL PEOPLE LOST CONTRACT

The Board of Education Award Contract for School Furniture to Out-of-Town Party—The Bids Were Close—N. N. Pearce Appointed Janitor of School 2.

On resolution offered by Mr. Wyckoff, at meeting of Board of Education, Friday, November 23, N. N. Pearce, who resigned from the Board of Education, was appointed a janitor in School No. 2, at the salary of $60 per month. Mr. Pearce's duties will commence December 1.

President Davis was the only member of the Board opposed to the action, and in explaining his vote, said that he thought it unreasonable that Mr. Pearce should receive a higher salary than for many years. Mr. Oliver stated that Mr. Pearce was a mechanic and that it was economic for the Board to award him the position. He stated that Mr. Aken will still be retained and the two janitors will be on an equal footing.

Bids for furniture were received from Morris Leichman, Stillwell & Mason, Charles Fassler, Thomas West Co., and H. Wolf Co.

On motion they were laid on the table until Monday evening when an adjourned meeting was held. Thomas West & Co. were the successful bidders.

The report of Medical Inspector J. C. Albright showed that 643 examinations had been made, and several scholars had been excluded for minor defects.

A letter was read from C. B. Dolles Company, stating that they had shipped liquid soap dispensers as ordered by the board.

Communication was read from L. E. Knott Apparatus Co., stating that in order to have shipment made on articles ordered by the board, the secretary would be obliged to sign an enclosed form before a Notary Public.

On motion the communication was received and secretary ordered to comply with the terms mentioned.

Patrick Smith sent in application for position as janitor of school No. 2. No action was taken on the application.

A letter was read from Frank E. DeGraw, stating that the insurance company which he represented wished to have rejected policy for $500 returned for cancellation. Mr. DeGraw stated that he did not think the board had treated him fairly in the matter. On motion of Mr. Sutliff the secretary was instructed to notify Mr. DeGraw that the board wished the policy for $500 cancelled, but that owing to this new furniture to be placed in School No. 2, he could write a policy for $1,000.

Mr. Sutliff made the motion that the insurance for $24,000 which would be needed on School No. 2, be divided among eight agents residing in this city, giving them each a $3,000 policy.

Secretary read a communication from the New York Book Binding Co., enclosing $10.50 for books returned. On motion of Mr. Sutliff communication was received and the secretary ordered to turn check over to custodian of school monies.

The following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That the sum of $1,500 be borrowed for custodian of school monies in anticipation of taxes for 1912 and 1913, and that the president and secretary of the board be empowered to execute a promissory note."

Besides the horses, several tons of hay and two sets of harness were destroyed. No alarm was turned in on account of the barn being situated outside of the city limits.

Heavy Easterly Gale Caused High Tide

The high tide last Sunday morning did considerable damage along the local shores. The tide, which is said to have been the highest in eight years, reached up to the top of the bulkhead at the foot of John street, and did much damage at Morgan.

The water threatened to wash away all the bathhouses and bungalows along the beach and the creek. A large pile driver which attempted to enter the creek through the county draw bridge was carried over the jetties and the bridge kept open for half an hour, blocking the trolleys. Several piling were knocked from the temporary bridge and disappeared. On the following day it was found that they had fastened beneath the pile driver. The wind was terrific at Morgan and residents of that place expected to see, at any minute, the boat houses carried away by the tide.

A reception followed after the ceremony.

DISBROW WRITES FURTHER OF TRIP

Relates Some Interesting Experiences of His Journeyings Through Florida—Thinks Hotels Provide More Entertainment Than Food—Catches Some Fish.

G. Frank Disbrow has written The Citizen another series of interesting letters on his trip through the Southern States. We learn that his companion in his travels is Richard Edmunds, of Jamesburg, who also follows the vocation of locomotive engineer. The letters are as follows:

Third Letter.
Jacksonville, Fla.
It is just thirty years this month since I was in this city, and the great changes that have taken place have in that time caused me considerable trouble to locate my surroundings. My side partner, Dick, of course, depended upon me as he always does, to act as chaperon, I thought I would sail away with both eyes shut upon my arrival, but Dick saw after about twenty minutes' walking and gapeing, I was in his class, compelled to use my tongue to strangers very often. What was most surprising was that eight out of ten were ignorant of a non-knowing disposition to direct us. A strike of the trolley men was on, and not caring to act unfriendly to their cause, we were bound to use our locomotion of nature and of which we did considerable.

After landing at the Virginia Hotel we were relieved of our baggage and tired feeling. In the morning we visited the alligator and ostrich farm, which is fully four miles from the center of town. There are about one hundred of each there. Our next trip was by ferry to South Jacksonville, expressly to view the largest tree in the State of Florida.

The branches of this oak tree cover over an acre of ground and it is supposed to be about 2,000 years old. Riverside avenue, running along the river bank south, is about the most beautiful street in the city and after traveling about three miles on foot and noting the surroundings pretty well, I wondered where all the wealth came from. Draft wagons and trucks are not allowed on it. The splendid shade trees on both sides are very large, indicating years of growth. Residences, I presume, are of millionaires and as I estimate them to be worth from $20,000 to $200,000 each. You can imagine we had exercise and if a man's appetite depends upon his exercise, it's not to be wondered at how my right hand partner made his meals vanish. We, at times, were ashamed of ourselves watching the necessities of life, and sometimes the luxuries of life, disappear. A great many people imagine that when they get to Jacksonville they pull off their coats, shake their underwear and breathe the scent of orange blossoms and that they are in the land of flowers, surrounded by banana fields, orange and lemon groves, with pine apples and coconuts growing in the door yards and that they can lie down under a spreading tree and enjoy the warm atmosphere. This is all moonshine as you will find it to the contrary in every respect.

I brought here with me an overcoat and a heavy one at that, and it has seen service every night while here. What people see in Jacksonville is what beats me, and a great many others, as I find they don't tarry long, they simply go on down further. Am now off for Tampa, 275 miles southwest from here on the gulf side of the state, of which you will hear later on.

Yours truly,
G. FRANK DISBROW.

Fourth Letter.

Tampa, Fla.
We left Jacksonville for another tiresome ride of 275 miles to Tampa, on the gulf coast. We rode along mile after mile at about the rate of 20 to 30 miles per hour, and nothing to see but desolate swamps and an occasional small town. After passing Palatka and so on to Sandford, splendid groves of oranges, grape fruit, lemons and limes lined along the track on both sides. Sandford, the so-called "celery city," because of the immense quantity of that product raised there, is a very thrifty, progressive city, is about the heart of the orange district and is the end of navigation, as yet, of the St. John's river, although it continues over a hundred miles and connects several lakes. I also wish to mention there are lakes everywhere. The center and southern part of the state has a great many and some are very large. The strangest part concerning them is: They have no inlet or outlet and are very deep.

After leaving Sandford our attention was attracted by fields of bananas. The soil seems to be of a poor white beach sand and how anything grows in it is a puzzle. Arriving at Tampa at 11 p. m., and as we were directed to a hotel by the conductor of the train, we had no difficulty in locating it, and we were not over a half dozen hours trying to get into the land of Nod.

Our journeying was solely by trolley around the city, and they have a good service.

PATRIOTIC ORDERS AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The First Baptist Church last Sunday evening was the scene of a large congregation, the occasion being the assembling of the members of Joel Parker Council, No. 69, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Gen. William S. Truex Post, No. 118, G. A. R., to observe their annual service of Thanksgiving.

Special and elaborate preparations had been made in the decoration, and all on entering the church were impressed with the magnitude thereof. On one side of the pulpit was a large picture of the Capitol Building at Washington, draped with the stars and stripes, emblematic of the G. A. R., who fought to save their country; and on the opposite side was presented a large painting of a public school building, adorned with the American flag, suggestive of the principles of the Junior O. U. A. M., to preserve the public schools.

As the orders entered the church, they were welcomed by thirteen little girls, wearing bright sashes emblematic of the thirteen colonial states, and carrying miniature American flags. The decorations pleased the members of the orders greatly. The music and singing were grand, "America," being sung both at the opening and closing of the service.

Rev. Thomas Neal, Jr., the pastor, delivered an address, taking for his topic: "Is Thine Heart Right?" It proved very interesting and instructive, and the pastor took opportunity to impress upon his hearers that it was just as important for the men to attend religious services as it was for the women.

K. of P. ANNUAL ROLL CALL.

Next Wednesday evening, Good Samaritan Lodge, No. 52, K. of P., will hold its annual roll call at the lodge room. At the same time the election of Grand Lodge Officers will take place. All members are requested to be present.

Gave Farewell Party To Miss Kreielsheimer

Miss Bertha Kaufman gave a farewell party to Miss Florence Kreielsheimer, of Perth Amboy, on Thanksgiving night, in honor of the latter's approaching marriage. The event took place at the home of Miss Kaufman on Broadway, where a large number of guests assembled to participate in the joyous occasion. Cards, games, singing, and dancing formed the principal pastime, and the minutes seemed to speed away all too rapidly. During the evening refreshments, consisting of the delicacies of the season, were served.

Among those present were: Miss Carrie Kreielsheimer, of New York; Miss Flossie Kreielsheimer, Miss Pauline Philo, Miss Juliet Sell, Mr. Max Kreielsheimer, Mr. Jack Weitzer, Mr. Harry Braverman, Mr. Jack Klein and Mr. Gilbert Sell, all of Perth Amboy; Mr. Sidney Kaufman, of Bridgeport; Conn.; and the Misses Bertha and Cecelia Kaufman, and Mr. Emil Roos, of Scranton, Pa.

MRS. BARBARA HYER.

Mrs. Barbara Hyer, wife of Hiram G. Hyer, of 150 Augusta street, entered into heavenly rest on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

The deceased had been a constant sufferer the last four years with heart trouble, and for the past ten weeks she had suffered with a complication of diseases. She is survived by a husband and seven children: Marior, Florence, Hazel, Hiram, Leona, Charles and Barbara; and three sisters and one brother: Mrs. Edward Wallmire, of Atlantic City; Mrs. Joseph Finen; Mrs. Samuel Jackson and Mr. Frank Nibert, all of Philadelphia. Mrs. Hyer was formerly of Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 12:30 p. m. Interment will be made in the Green Lawn Cemetery, Long Branch. Rev. F. F. Craig, of the First Methodist Protestant Church, will officiate.

HERMAN-WISNIESKI.

On Wednesday morning a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Sacred Heart Church, the contracting parties being Miss Victoria Wisnieski and Edward Herman, both of this city. The ceremony was performed and nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. A. B. Strenslake, rector of the church.

A reception followed at the home of the bride, where the guests celebrated the event in a fitting manner.

HORTICULTURAL BUILDING, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

ONE of the most notable buildings at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco in 1915 will be the great Palace of Horticulture, constructed of glass, covering over five acres, or two city squares in extent, and surmounted by a dome 160 feet high. The Palace of Horticulture will be set in a great tropical garden near the main entrance to the exposition grounds. It will be 672 feet long and its greatest width will be 320 feet. An impressive nave eighty feet high will run the length of the building and paralleling the central nave on either side will be two side aisles fifty feet in height. At the main entrance to the building a huge arch will be adorned with classic bas-reliefs suggestive of the purpose of the structure. The entrance and interior of the Palace of Horticulture will be decorated with trellises upon which flowering vines will be trained. When the exposition opens the Horticultural Palace will appear as if set in the heart of a marvelous garden. Although wood will be used in connection with glass the Palace of Horticulture will be in every sense a glass palace; it will be the largest glass structure ever built. During the night illuminations at the exposition the vast surface of the building will present unusual and beautiful reflections.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." High School Notes.

Football Team Lost at New Bruns.

Too much Manley beat the S. A. H. S. football team on Saturday when they went down to defeat before the New Brunswick High School by the score of 14 to 0. The husky New Brunswick half-back crossed the line for two touchdowns and Captain Jackson, of the County seat team kicked the goals. Anderson and Bloodgood starred for the locals. Anderson scooped up a fumble at the beginning of the game and made about twenty yards being tackled by Manley. Baird made several grand line plunges and Kwilinski was a good ground gainer. Grace made several good forward passes which gained for the South Amboy eleven. The locals' line held wretchedly, the work of the two ends, Anderson and Quinlan, being the only redeeming feature of the South Amboy line. New Brunswick greatly outweighed the locals and beat them fairly although at several times it looked as if referee Shultsle favored the county seat team.

The game was a thriller during every minute of play and it looked as if South Amboy would score several times as they neared their goal, but the game backfield could not gain through the heavy Brunswick line and they lost the ball on downs. Manley scored his last touchdown about a minute before time was called.

This Monday the eleven will journey to New Brunswick where they will meet the heavy Rutgers Preparatory team. The New Brunswick boys defeated Metuchen on Tuesday by the score of 33 to 6. The locals, however, have changed their lineup and with Orr, last year's fullback, back at his old position, expect to make the county seat eleven take water. The eleven will leave for New Brunswick on the 12:30 train.

The Athletic Association is making efforts to raise funds to purchase suits for the basketball team. The tickets are selling rapidly and the event will be held on Wednesday afternoon. The high school should be able to put out a classy five this year. Practically the same team that represented the school last year will line up this season. Harold Orr will jump center again this year and the other four members probably will be Grace, Crane, Kwilinski and Quinlan. Orr makes a fine center while Grace and Crane are good basket shooters. Kwilinski and Quinlan are shining stars on the guarding end of the game. Emil Anderson, who is one of the best athletes in the school, should receive a berth on the team. Anderson is said to excel in basketball and is as game a player as anyone would want.

Several games will be scheduled with the Neptune Midgets and nearby high schools. Lack of room for practice greatly handicaps the team but it is expected that the boys will make a good showing.

On Wednesday afternoon the Junior class will hold their home-made candy sale in the school. A large assortment of candy, etc., will be for sale and the proceeds of the sale will go toward the fund for the annual reception.

"Dut" Forgtson is like a bad penny. He always shows up when he isn't wanted. Willie came up to New Brunswick last Saturday and forgot to leave his hard luck home.

"Willie" has gained a notorious reputation as a mascot and we nominate "Dictionary" Tom for the position.

Harold Orr, the popular local boy who attended State Model School at Trenton during the first part of the term has returned to high school. Orr has many friends in the school who are glad to have him return. He will take Baird's position as fullback on the football team.

"Teddy" Baird has taken up winter quarters in Easton, Pa., and will not attend school any more this year.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS.

Geo. M. Cohan Theatre.

The absolute hit of the present theatrical season is unanimously conceded to Geo. M. Cohan, who continues to present himself in his latest play offering, "Broadway Jones," in his own theatre where enough people are turned away at each performance to fill that popular playhouse all over again. Seats for "Broadway Jones" are now on sale for all holiday matinees, including Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

Astor Theatre.

One of the best attractions in New York city is "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," the romantic farce now being offered at the Astor theatre by Cohan & Harris with Douglas Fairbanks in the stellar role. No play presented in recent years has succeeded in arresting and holding the tense attention noticeable in the Astor theatre audiences as they follow the adventures of Hawthorne, whose deeds of heroism and valor are typical of the clean lived young American of today. The climaxes in "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." are productive of thrill after thrill, and the fight that finishes the second act will fairly lift you out of your seat. Matinees Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

Grand Opera House.

David Belasco's great presentation of William C. de Mille's play, "The Woman," will be the attraction at Cohan & Harris' Grand Opera House next week. This play comes direct from a nine months' run at the Republic Theatre, New York City, with production and cast intact. The cast includes such well-known names as Mary Nash, Jane Peyton, John W. Cope, Edwin Hold, Cuyler Hastings, Harold Vosburg, Carleton Macy, Stephen Fitzpatrick, William Holden, Langton West, James Gersen and James Rossi. The scenic production is elaborate, and both it and the characterizations of the players bear the indelible mark of the genius of David Belasco, the wizard of the stage. The play tells a story of life in the National capital, the background being a phase of political life in that city. While classed as a serious play, "The Woman," is filled with bright and clever lines and contains many a hearty laugh. The play possesses unusual interest and is filled with surprising climaxes. "The Woman" has been classed by newspaper and magazine critics in New York and Chicago as one of the strongest and most interesting that has ever come from the Belasco studio.

Brady's Playhouse.

"Little Women" is approaching the end of its second month at William A. Brady's Playhouse, where the managerial invitation to the public to secure its seats three months ahead indicates the certainty of a prolonged engagement. There will be four matinees during the coming week, on Wednesday, Thanksgiving Day, Friday and Saturday. The extra Friday performance is given to satisfy the demands of large numbers of persons unable to secure admission to any of the other representations. Mr. Brady regards "Little Women" as the greatest piece of theatrical property he ever has controlled, and believes it will be as permanent in public favor as any American play ever written. This calculation is based not alone upon the success of the stage version itself, but upon the fact that the annual sales of Louisa Alcott's novel still run from 30,000 to 50,000 copies, thus providing a new crop of enthusiasts every year. In all, more than 2,000,000 copies of "Little Women" have been sold in the United States during the forty-three years of its life. Conservative publishers estimate that at least five persons read every volume of fiction that is purchased, so that when Mr. Brady speaks of this novel as having had 10,000,000 readers he probably is well within the actual facts.

Deceptive.

A lanky country youth entered the crossroads general store to order some groceries. He was seventeen years old and was passing through that stage of adolescence during which a boy seems all hands and feet and his vocal organs, rapidly developing, are wont to cause his voice to undergo sudden and involuntary changes from high treble to low bass.

In an authoritative rambling bass voice he demanded of the busy clerk, "Give me a can of corn" (then, his voice suddenly changing to a shrill falsetto, he continued) "and a sack of flour."

"Well, don't be in a hurry. I can't wait on both of you at once," snapped the clerk.—Everybody's.

Pleasant Smile.

It is a grand gift to be able to smile as the pleasant man or woman smiles. It is not the stereotyped "duty smile" of society; it is not the patronizing smile of careless tolerance nor the painful smile of bored politeness.

Scene from the last act of "Milestones," the Edward Knoblauch-Arnold Bennett comedy, now running at the Liberty Theatre, New York City.

Sporting Comment.

Oaks Not In It With Neptunes.

Surprising the doubtful fans, the Neptunes treated themselves to a victory on Saturday night when they defeated the Oaks, the fast Perth Amboy team, which expected to take the scalp of the locals. The Neptunes rushed the visitors off their feet, the game ending with the score 22 to 13. The feature of the game was the all around playing of Frank Nebus, the stocky little guard, who not only guarded to perfection but shot four field goals. Nebus is there in forty different ways and although he just entered senior basketball this year, it would take the whole Pinkerton Detective force to find his superior in the county. His mate, Simon, also put up a classy game. Mike Schickler, who played center, had the satisfaction of seeing his old team beaten and took a hand in doing it, too, for M. J. was all over the floor at the same time. Fred Garland was another tosser who helped put the game on ice for the maroon Jersey boys. Garland shot four field goals and gracefully eluded Frank Sullivan, the Oak's guard, who tried to hold him scoreless. For the second time this year, Jimmie Manhattan was held scoreless. This is how the Neptunes did the trick:

	Forwards
Garland	Petrick
Manhattan	Egan
	Center
Schickler	Ehrns
	Guards
Simon	Sullivan
Nebus	Seiboth
Field goals:	Nebus, 4; Garland, 4; Schickler, 2; Simon, 1; Sullivan, 1; Egan, 2; Ehrns, 1; Petrick, 1. Foul goals: Egan, 1. Time of halves—20 min. Referee—O'Toole. Score at end of first half—10 to 7 favor Nept.

Manager Abe Forgotsen, of the Neptunes, booked the fast Sea Side A. C. of Tottenville for Tuesday night but they failed to appear. The management was greatly disappointed at their failure to show up, but put his team against a scrub five. The regulars defeated them by a large score in the preliminary. The Catholic Club, of this city, defeated the Neptune Midgets by the score of 9 to 7. This was the Catholic Club's first local appearance in basketball and they made a good showing.

Ed. Preston, the former local runner, from all reports, is making a good showing in many amateur races in Trenton, where he is now stationed. Preston, while running under the colors of the local Cypress A. C., cleaned up all the one to three mile races in the Auditorium at Perth Amboy. Dave Halbert, of Perth Amboy, is Preston's most formidable rival and it is rumored that Preston will return and give the Perth Amboy lad a match. All South Amboy running fans expect Preston to take Halbert's measure in a three-mile race.

Speaking about running, Frank Disbrow says he has a watch which he will race against any other timepiece in the city. "Dizzy" says he will give a handicap of ten minutes and beat any other ticker in town from 9 to 10 o'clock.

"Dizzy" and "Ack" are mean guys, alright. They wouldn't even take Stratton on their ducking expedition. We bet "Les" is awful mad because he didn't go.

A SYMBOL OF FREEDOM.

The Liberty Cap Dates Away Back to Early Greek Times.

From very early times one of the distinguishing marks of a slave, both in Greece and oriental countries generally, was the lack of any covering for the head. Accordingly the cap came to be considered the insignia of liberty, and when slaves were given their freedom they were presented with a cap as an emblem of it.

In Sparta the helots wore a cap of dogskin, and this was reckoned a badge of servitude, but upon gaining their freedom this was replaced by a cap of a different material, of another shape and ornamented with flowers. A similar custom was observed in Rome, where the presentation of the pileus, or cap, was always a part of the ceremony of manumitting a slave; hence arose the proverb, "Servos ad pileum vocare."

Also on medals the cap is the symbol of liberty and is usually represented as being held in the right hand by the point. When a cap was exposed to the people's view on the top of a spear, as in the case of the conspiracy against Caesar, it was intended as a public invitation to them to embrace the liberty that was offered them.

The Goddess of Liberty on Mount Ararat was represented as holding a cap in her hand as a symbol of freedom. The Jacobins wore a red cap during the French revolution, and in England a blue cap with a white border is used as a symbol of liberty. The custom which prevails among university students of wearing a cap is said to have had its origin in a wish to signify that the wearers had acquired full liberty and were no longer subject to the rod of their superiors.

The Bird of Death.

In New Guinea there is said to be a venomous bird called the bird of death. It is about the size of a pigeon, with a tail of extraordinary length ending in a tip of brilliant scarlet. It has a sharp, hooked beak and frequents marshes and stagnant pools. The venom with which it inoculates is distilled in a set of organs which lie in the upper mandible, just below the openings of the nostrils. Under them, in the roof of the mouth, is a small fleshy knob. When the bird sets its beak in the flesh of a victim this knob receives a pressure which liberates the venom and inoculates the wound.

Baby Seals.

Baby seals are at first snow white, which makes them invisible on the white ice on which they are born. Their eyes and noses are, however, black, and when the little ones are suddenly alarmed they close their eyes, bury their noses and lie quite still. It is only when they grow and begin to seek their own food that they become dark and sleek.

GREAT INCREASE IN STEEL

PASSENGER CARS

The Pennsylvania Railroad announced on Monday that it will shortly have available for use on the lines of its system a total of 2,872 solid steel passenger equipment cars, probably more than one-half of the all-steel passenger equipment in the United States, and representing an expenditure of approximately $40,000,000.

These steel passenger cars have been added to the company's equipment since June, 1906, when it was announced that all future additions to passenger equipment on the Pennsylvania System would be of all-steel construction.

The lines of the Pennsylvania System, on all of which steel cars will be operated, include the Pennsylvania Railroad lines east and west of Pittsburgh and Erie, the Long Island Railroad, the Cumberland Valley Railroad, the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, the Vandalia Railroad, and the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway.

The Pullman Company for several years has been constructing steel sleeping and parlor cars to equip the entire Pennsylvania System. Already there are in service 362 sleeping cars, 121 parlor cars, and 37 combination baggage and parlor cars, all of solid steel construction. These 520 cars are painted standard Pennsylvania red; there are additional steel Pullman cars operated on the Pennsylvania in connection with the Southern roads. These are not included in the above number.

The steel passenger cars on the Pennsylvania System have been called "dreadnaught" cars by reason of their construction. They weigh some 118,500 pounds as against 85,000 pounds in the standard vestibule wooden coach. This increase in weight very greatly reduces the vibration of the car, thereby adding to the comfort of passengers. The car is non-collapsible, its principal feature being a central box girder twenty-four inches wide by nineteen deep extending throughout the entire length of the coach; this girder, in collisions, prevents telescoping. The car is fire proof, containing only about 125 pounds of wood, which is used for window frames and arm rests in the seats.

In the steel equipment now in service, there are 1,538 coaches and combination passenger and baggage cars, 68 dining cars, 144 baggage, 159 postal, 34 baggage and mail, 11 Long Island Railroad parlor cars, four miscellaneous cars, and 520 Pullman cars. In addition to these there are on order or under construction at the present time, 286 steel coaches, 18 steel cars, 25 passenger and baggage cars, two baggage, four postal, 38 baggage and mail, ten Long Island Railroad parlor cars, and one office car.

Hard Work For the Girl.

In a New England weekly newspaper there appeared not long ago the following advertisement:

"A stonemason or his daughter may receive one quarter's music lessons in exchange for work on a cellar."

Conditioned All Around.

"Are you going to get married or go to college?"

"I think I'll get married. Mabel says she'll be my wife on one condition, and I find I can't enter college with less than four."—Kansas City Journal.

Too Full For Utterances.

"He invented a dandy story to tell his wife when he got home after midnight."

"Good one, was it?"

"A peach; it would satisfy any woman."

"Did it satisfy her?"

"It would have, but he couldn't tell it."—Houston Post.

Are Working Twenty-Four Hours a Day!

An advertisement placed in the CITIZEN has no time limit to its usefulness to the advertiser. It works 24 hours a day. If your ad is well written and interesting, it will be laid aside by the reader for future reference. Or, if your ad reaches the right prospect, it will make an impression on his memory which will last for days, weeks and even months.

Consider for a moment, can't you recall an advertisement which you read months ago which was so strongly impressed on your memory that you still remember the offer made?

The results of advertising may not be instantaneous. Don't expect that when you spend a dollar for advertising today, that it will return to you ten-fold tomorrow.

Newspaper advertising is the very best medium for bringing to the attention of the buying public your business and your wares and gaining their confidence by impressing on them your personality and reputation for fair dealing.

DECEPTION HURTS.

A member of one of the large Chicago advertising agencies recently said: "Honest advertising is being given a severe blow by the mail order houses." When asked for an explanation he declared that advertising, to remain on a high level, must assure the customer an article which is exactly as expected.

"That is something the mail order houses are not doing," he added. "So many customers are being deceived by mail order advertising and buying so much stuff that does not come up to representation that they are losing faith."

Now, what the Chicago advertising man says meets exactly the Chicago or other large center situation. He is telling of a situation that the honest manufacturer or jobber in the large cities is facing, due to fraudulent methods on the part of the mail order houses. But these same fraudulent practices in an advertising way only strengthen the position of the local merchant.

The local merchant advertises his bargains, and the customers can step into the store and see if the advertised representations are true. No fraud can be practiced by the home retailer. What he offers for sale must be exactly what he says it is through the columns of the local newspaper.

The oftener the people of our community who patronize the mail order houses get "stung" in their purchases, the sooner they will come back to the old basis of being strictly home buyers. What Abraham Lincoln said about "fooling the people" is true in the merchandising fields as well as in others, and the mail order institutions are the ones who are going to find out the truth of it. They can't continue to conduct fraudulent advertising methods and retain the confidence of their customers. However, the very thing they are doing is affording the home merchants the very best instrument of warfare in fighting the mail order evil.

Barbarous.

NEW YORK'S SEVEN NEW

BUILDINGS $30,000,000.

New York, Nov. 22—In nine blocks on lower Broadway, from Exchange Place to the Post Office, in the financial district, seven great buildings are under construction or will be started soon. According to the figures filed with the Building Department, the total cost of the new improvements will be $30,000,000. This is nearly as much as was spent on the 5,268 buildings erected in Brooklyn in the year 1910. Only in Chicago and Philadelphia among American cities do building operations exceed this amount annually; and the cost of new structures put up in the entire year 1910 in Philadelphia was only $33,000,000.

The new Equitable Life skyscraper, not yet begun, it to be largest of all the seven, in floor space. But the Woolworth Building, almost finished, is the tallest. In fact, it is the tallest structure in the world except the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

"In its construction," reports the Sun's real estate statistician, "20,000 tons of steel girders have been used. It will have 36 elevators and a large swimming pool. The arch and partition tile used in it weighs 5,640 tons. If this tile was laid end to end it would extend from lower Broadway to a point 20 miles beyond Syracuse. If the tile was loaded on trucks at the same time it would make a procession 32 miles long. Because it has been built with the earnings of five-and-ten-cent stores it has been nicknamed the nickel building. Without the site the building has cost about $8,000,000, which is 160,000,000 nickels."

The next big piece of building news is expected to be the announcement of the plans of J. P. Morgan & Company. The firm has bought the Drexel Building at Wall and Broad streets, in which it has long been a tenant and also the bank building next door. The two old structures will be torn down and the new banking building to occupy the site is looked forward to as a triumph of architecture.

STUDY OF THE COURT OF THE FOUR SEASONS, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

TO the west of the great Court of Honor at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will come the Court of Four Seasons, one of the most elaborate and beautiful of the great interior courts that will lie between the huge exhibit palaces of the main group. The walls of the court will be partly formed by the palaces of Liberal Arts and of Education and by the two great wings of the Palace of Agriculture and partly by the classic colonnades and peristyles that will connect these buildings. The Court of Four Seasons, in classic Italian architecture, is designed by Mr. Henry Bacon of New York, designer of the Lincoln Memorial. In harmony with the title of the court there will, in each of its four corners, be set groups of statuary symbolical of the seasons—Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. The sculpture will be set in niches screened by colonnades. Mural paintings, also suggestive of the seasons, will form the background for the setting. Mr. Jules Guerin, the noted artist, has charge of the color plan. The Court of Four Seasons will be 340 feet square.

PENALTIES OF LAW

REGULATING FEMALE HELP

The following letter from Commissioner of Labor Bryant should be read by all who employ female help, and thus escape the penalties imposed by the new act regulating the hours of employment of females. The letter explains itself:

State of New Jersey,
Department of Labor.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 14, 1912.
Dear Sir: The last session of the Legislature enacted a law specifying that no female shall be employed, allowed or permitted to work in any manufactory, mercantile establishment, in any bakery, laundry or restaurant more than ten hours in any one day, or more than six days, or sixty hours in any one week; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be held to apply to any mercantile establishment for the six working days next preceding the twenty-fifth day of December in each year; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall apply to canneries engaged in packing a perishable product, such as fruits or vegetables.

The following definitions are contained in this law:

"Manufacturing establishments," as used in this act, means any place where articles for use or consumption are regularly made.

"Mercantile establishments," as used in this act, means any place where goods, wares or merchandise are offered for sale.

"Bakery," as used in this act, shall include all buildings, rooms or places where biscuits, pies, bread, crackers, cakes and confectionery are made or manufactured for sale.

"Restaurant," as used in this act, means any place where refreshments, both food or drink, and where meals are served to the public.

"Laundry," as used in this act, means any place where laundry work is regularly carried on.

This law took effect on October 1st of this year and it is expected that the hours of employment for women in all enterprises coming within the classification set forth in the act will be readjusted so as to conform with the terms of this statute. The law specifies a penalty of not less than $25.00 or more than $50.00 for the first violation of any of the provisions of this act, and for a second offense a fine of not less than $50.00 or more than $200.00, placing the responsibility of the enforcement of this legislation on the Department of Labor.

I am, therefore, taking this opportunity of publicly directing the attention of all parties interested in or affected by this legislation to its provisions, and to notify them that copies of this law and an abstract of the law may be obtained by addressing the Department of Labor, State House, Trenton, N. J.

I further wish to caution all employers of women in the establishments mentioned that the department will feel justified in undertaking prosecution for any violation of the terms of this act which may be established. The department will appreciate the co-operation of employers in securing a compliance with both the letter and spirit of this law.

Yours respectfully,
LEWIS T. BRYANT,
Commissioner of Labor.

WILL SPEND MONTH AT HOTEL BOLLSCHEWEILER

On Wednesday night James Horan, of New Brunswick, and four other vagrants, were arrested and taken to the City Hall. Horan attempted to resist the officer and was brought before Police Justice Birmingham on Thursday morning on the charge. ODDITIES IN CLUBS

Some Curious Associations That Were Born In London.

FREAKS IN NAMES AND AIMS.

The Abduction Club Was Formed For the Purpose of Carrying Off Heiresses by Force and the Surly Club to Promote the Use of Abusive Language.

One of the most extraordinary clubs London has ever known, says the Standard, was the Sighting club, the members of which were supposed to be wholly absorbed in thinking of their sweethearts. Each would hold in his hand a bit of ribbon, a lock of hair, a purse or some other article belonging to the object of his affections, and from time to time he would address this article in terms of endearment, no other speaking being allowed. On initiation (the member had to compose and recite a poem in honor of his lady, and at the meetings a fine was imposed upon the member who did not sigh five times within a quarter of an hour.

Again, there was the Abduction club, organized in 1766 by some well connected Irish youths, who banded themselves together to abduct heiresses and good looking young women of gentle birth. As there was a large membership, many forced marriages took place in consequence of their exploits. The evil became eventually so serious that a special act of parliament was passed making abduction a capital offense.

The members assisted each other by providing relays of horses and carriages whenever necessary. The wealth of the two sisters Kennedy, daughters of Richard Kennedy of Rathmeaden manor, Waterford, caused the attention of the members to be drawn to them. Gerald Byrne, grandson of Sir Gregory Byrne, and James Strange Villard were drawn in the lottery, and the abduction took place on April 14, 1770.

The principals were arrested, tried and condemned and they were executed in the following May, notwithstanding the fact that ministers of the court of Vienna, grandees of Spain and French nobles implored their pardon. The club was introduced into England in 1770, but disbanded in 1802, when twenty-nine members remained.

The No Nose club was founded by a gentleman who was an unwilling follower of the Egyptian fashion of flat faces. When the members dined together and a young pig, the favorite dish, was the principal item on the menu the snout was always cut off.

The Club of Ugly Faces was also founded by a gentleman who boasted an enormously large nose. Another member had a chin of the size and shape of a shoe horn, another a huge mouth and a fourth very large, protruding eyes. No one was eligible for membership who had not some facial malformation, and all members on initiation had to make a speech in praise of Aesop, whose portrait hung over the mantelpiece of the clubroom.

The Surly club had its meeting place near Billingsgate fish market, and the membership was limited to cabmen, carmen and watermen, who used to meet once a week to exercise the art of abusive language in order that they might not lose the reputation they had gained. Any member found guilty of courtesy or politeness was promptly fined.

The Split Farthing club was limited in membership to men who agreed to stint themselves to the utmost in order to increase their possessions. One member is reported to have had his garments so darned that there was not enough of the original material left to show the texture. The members presented so starved an appearance that it was said there was not an ounce of fat among the lot.

The Everlasting club was limited in membership to a hundred, and the members divided the day among themselves in such a way that there were always some present upon the premises. The great fire of London put an end to this institution, as the premises were burned down, and the only member on the premises was nearly burned to death because he refused to leave until he had emptied all the bottles on the table. The fire for lighting the members' pipes was never allowed to go out, an old woman being kept solely for the purpose of attending to it. During the fifty years of its existence the members smoked fifty tons of tobacco, drank 20,000 butts of ale, 1,000 pipes of port and 200 barrels of brandy in addition to other liquors.

The Man Killing club was limited in membership to men who had killed opponents in duels. The conversation at the gatherings was confined to bullets, wounds and slaughter. The president was said to have killed half a dozen men in single combat, and the seats at dinner were arranged according to the numbers the members had slain. At banquets a side table was provided for visitors who had only drawn blood. The club had not a lengthy existence, as nearly all the members were executed.

Suicides' clubs have been long in existence, and one existed recently in Kursk. The club had for its motto "Death is the cure for all ills," but, as set forth in its book of rules, candidates for membership had first of all to show that they had a substantial reason for wishing to die. A would be candidate who presented himself with the weight of ten or more years of unhappy married life was received with open arms. Loss of fortune, incurable disease and a record of ill luck were also excellent qualifications for membership.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE.

There is a tendency among some of us to spend as fast as we obtain; to take no thought of the morrow.

Almost inevitably it brings suffering. The profligate of the present is the pauper of the future. The man who has no sickness in his family, no reverses in his business, no interruption in his income, is experiencing life at par. He is getting the full 100 per cent.

But 100 per cent. isn't the average. Somebody is having trouble. Disease and death are creeping into some men's homes, disaster into some men's business. Ultimately it is pretty certain, by the great law of averages, to hit us somewhere. The man who is experiencing none of these troubles is both lucky and exceptional. The exception is a poor thing to bet on.

If there is any way you can, by denying yourself a little luxury, by using a little foresight even at a sacrifice, you ought to prepare for that time when the great law of averages hits you. When that time comes if it finds you in your own home, with a little money in the bank or in some safe investment, you won't have to suffer or to ask from those who have shown more sense. You will have saved both your independence and your self-respect. You will be able to take the comfort that you ought to have, to do well by yourself under adverse circumstances.

You are living in the sunlight now. Would you be ready for the night if it should come? And don't you think it likely it will come?—American Lumberman.

TELEPHONES ON STEAMSHIPS.

Travelers on the great steamers of the Cunard line now have opportunity to transact business of any sort and talk with friends and relatives up to the last minute before sailing and immediately upon arriving. The New York Telephone Review describes in detail how several of the Cunard liners are permanently equipped with public telephones, which are connected with the telephone exchange while lying at their docks in New York. The convenience of this service is by no means confined to passengers, for officers also use it to advantage in arranging their personal affairs, social engagements and otherwise while the steamers are in port.

Telephones on limited trains in the station awaiting departure are no longer novelties. The value of this service is illustrated by the experience of a member of a large firm of commission merchants in New York city, who, having occasion to stop at Columbus, O., and being pressed for time, secured a large number of orders by calling his customers from the train. "Why should not the telephone on board the steamers be of equal or even greater value?" asks the New York Telephone Review.

old ship Hartford. You can readily see Dick and I have been in the navy and army and faced the guns of both, so we have concluded we would rather pull the throttle of a locomotive than the lanyard of a gun. The city is under the dispensary law, yet the most singular part is the large number of blind tigers running openly without a license. As I roamed about the city, and saw vultures all around the market, some even walking in the doors, and the sheds and roofs filled with them, I wondered if they had a board of health. Yet I thought of an old saying: "Where there is business there is dirt." If such is true, the board of health must be a very busy crowd. The principal hotels are all up-to-date, prices included. Taking things altogether, we are doing fine and expect to be done finer.

Benjamin Franklin, we are taught, pair dear for his whistle, so we do not expect to be any wiser than he and get ours given to us.

Second Letter.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 20, 1912.

MR. EDITOR:

Dear Sir: When we arrived in Savannah, about 4 p. m., and after leaving our luggage at the hotel, we started on a hunting expedition, and after following the trail for about an hour, we landed a great big, 195 pound, six-foot South Amboy Jerseyman. But now, and for the last twenty-two years a Georgia cracker as he is called now, "Lon Bergen." We put in about two hours talk of the past, present and future at his home, when we all donned our hats and took in everything in the city-barring juice of corn and eye. If Lon didn't show us the town it was no fault of his. We informed him of our visit to Charleston and of what we saw. He told us there was one scene that missed our eyes, that he saw on one of his visits there. Catching eels in the center of one of the principal streets! Rather isn't it? Well it happened as follows: The sewer empties into the bay and when the tide rises it backs up into the sewer and causes it to fill up and through the man hole plates there is a hole about one and 1/2 or 2 inches in diameter, and through this the darkeys drop their hook and line and catch quite a number of eels. A man glad to think I never ordered any fish of that description while there.

Savannah is a very prettily laid out city, almost in perfect squares, with very wide streets, paved principally with asphalt and asphalt blocks, and are kept in a very neat and clean condition. They are shaded by live, water oaks and palms. It is a city of parks. Bull street is one of the finest looking streets I ever saw. It is exceptionally wide and soddied in the center, with driveways on each side and shaded by long rows of evergreen trees its entire length. Little parks every few blocks occupying a square or two make it very picturesque. There are a large number of handsome buildings, churches, hospitals and other institutions. It is a prohibition town and the saloons have signs out, "near beer," but it's no trouble to get your skin soaked if you so desire, as the law is worded near beer, and etc. So you can readily see they ask for "etc."

Savannah faces the Savannah river not any wider than our Raritan river at Amboy, but it is quite a shipping port. Taking it all together, it is a very nice town, of course with the exception as most southern towns, too much "coon." It is a long way behind New York and a good distance from it, but for Wilson is was right with it. Our friend Bergen stated in talking politics, he had always been a Republican before he came here, but soon discovered he had to be a Democrat in order to save the county the cost of printing a ballot especially for him, as he was all alone. From all indications Lon is doing well, well known, and well thought of in the city. He formerly was with the Georgia Central R. R., but now has a more lucrative position with a Lubricating oil firm, and I wish him success through this life.

Yours,
G. FRANK DISBROW.

OLD SOUTH AMBOY DUPLICATE.

Warner Brown Was Assessor and Joshua B. Brown Collector in 1812.

(From Matawan Journal, Nov. 14.)

When Warner Brown of Madison Township had a sale of his personal effects about two years ago the purchaser of an old tool chest secured its contents with it. In overhauling it a few days ago a tax duplicate of the Township of South Amboy, made August 28, 1812, was found within and an examination of it shows that the conditions of seventy years ago do not prevail to-day. At that time the township of South Amboy comprised what is now the city of South Amboy and the townships of Madison and Sayreville. At that time the total amount of taxes assessed was $1,788, and according to the duplicate this was apportioned as follows: For State purposes, $202.60; for county, $270.80; for roads, $200; for poor, $400; for schools, $200, for contingent expenses $200; for Assessor's fees, $55.20; for Collector's fees, $55.20, for dogs, $60; for surplus, $42. Of the dog tax, after deducting the fees for assessing and collecting and making three lists, $41.10 remained to pay sheep bills.

According to the record there were 15,799 acres of improved land and 10,511 acres of unimproved land. The valuation on the former varied as much then as it does now, for we find some land valued as high as $50 for 100 acres while others were as low as $15, with the average between $25 and $30. The unimproved land was valued from $1 to $25 per 100 acres and the total valuation given was $6,925.50. The township in 1812 did not begin to contain as many inhabitants as Madison Township to-day. We find that 135 householders were taxed 75 cents each, 53 single men $1 each; 266 horses and mules at 20 cents apiece, 845 cattle at 10 cents, two grist mills $7.50, one saw mill $2.50, 22 carriages $11, one carding mill $3.50, two snuff mills $8, one paper mill $3.50, one oil mill $5, two merchants $3 each and one-half of a toll bridge $2.50. The Camden & Amboy Railroad Transportation Company was assessed $175 for 350 acres of land and paid the highest tax, $35.

The largest landowners were among the Brown family. Their holdings, both improved and unimproved, and their names are herewith mentioned: Lewis Brown 80 acres, Benjamin Brown 19, Gordon Brown 19, Horatio Brown 30, Clarkson Brown 482, A. W. Brown 475, Joshua Brown 308, Parker Brown 514, Benj. D. Brown 231, Jacob O. Brown 106, Jacob I. Brown 111, Benj. L. Brown estate 76, James P. Brown 80, John P. Brown 39, Catherine Brown 100, Abraham J. Brown 268, Joseph Brown 180, Noah F. Brown 35, Warner Brown 284. Heirs Whitehead Brown 100, Heirs Rhoda Brown 80, James E. Brown 15 and Charles Brown 224. These holdings aggregate 3,877 acres, or more than one-seventh of the entire acreage of the township.

Other large land owners were Chas. Morgan of Cheesequake Creek with 407 acres, and his tax was $28.60; Richard Mount with 495 acres and tax of $28.20; James Cottrell, 530 acres, tax of $25; William Cottrell, 300 acres, $15.40 tax; John Cruse 275 acres, $26.75 tax; Peter Furman 300 acres, J. V. Gordon 496 acres, tax $25.40; Nathaniel Hillier, 272 acres, tax $17.40; Cornelius Suydam, 200 acres, Thomas Smith, Jr., 225 acres, Joseph M. Taylor 259 acres, Brinley & Taylor 628 acres, tax $28.20; John Travers 260 acres, tax $21.50; Peter Van Deventer 302 acres and Timothy Wood 572 acres.

Charles Abrahams owned the carding mill, Clarkson Brown the grist mill, Allen P. Cook the saw mill, John Dill, William C. Perrine and John Perrine the snuff mills; Solomon & Vernott the oil mill, and Warner Hall and Charles Perrine are stated to be merchants.

There are descendants of many of the old families still residing in that part of South Amboy now known as Madison Township, but parcels of the large farms have been sold off and there are few of the properties assessed in 1812 now held by the heirs of the then owners. In fact many of them have passed to new owners and it is only through the older inhabitants that the holdings of these old properties can be located.

Read J. Alfred Johnson's adv on sixth page, for more particulars of his sacrifice sale.

BUY AT HOME.

Buy at home and try at home
To give the town a show;
Live at home and give at home
And help the town to grow.
Make your cot the nicest spot
That's under heaven's dome;
Just buy a bit to brighten it—
Buy, and buy at home.

If you'd like a town to strike
All comfort and content,
It will be the town, you see,
In which your money's spent.
If you'd find the finest kind
Of town, you needn't roam;
Just boost a bit—and live in it
Bye-and-bye at home!
—American Lumberman.

Which are you trying to do—boost this town or bust this town?

Men They Wouldn't Hang.

To escape the gallows because one's neck is not suitable for hanging must certainly be counted a curious reason. Yet this has occurred more than once. Some years ago there took place a particularly atrocious murder of a woman. Despite the horrible crime, for which he deserved no mercy and which, indeed, no one expected would be meted out to him, the criminal was reprieved. It transpired that the man's spinal column at his neck consisted of nothing more than a mere mass of gristle. If he had been placed upon the gallows his head would have been torn from his body.

In another case the murderer was deformed, and the surgeon who examined him was of the opinion that any attempt to hang the convict would only end in failure. A reprieve was granted by the home office on these grounds—Pearson's.

Drowning a Fish.

The shark is a monster justly dreaded by the swimmer or unfortunate sailor who falls overboard; yet, from the following extract from the manuscript journal of an oriental traveler, it would appear that the divers employed in the pearl fisheries have little fear of them. He says: "The ravenous nature and great strength of the shark are well known, yet the divers in the East Indian pearl fisheries think little of entering the lists against him, armed with a strong piece of wood sharpened at both ends. Awaiting the opening of his enormous mouth, they thrust in their arm, holding the wood perpendicularly, and his mouth being kept thus extended he swallows water and is drowned." St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Wriggling Tongues.

Lawyers are not freer than other public speakers from slips of the tongue. Mr. Asquith of the English cabinet in a speech in parliament said: "Let it be known, gentlemen, that of these just demands we abide not one jot or tittle."

A few days later an English Judge, after a policeman had testified that he had found the prisoners in bed with their clothes on, asked in amazement: "Do you mean to say that they had gone to boot with their beds on?"

Artful Ada.

Ada (pensively)—I hope you'll invite me to the wedding when you get married.

Jack (boldly)—You'll be the first person I shall invite, and if you don't accept there won't be any wedding.

Three months later she married him. —London Mail.

The Real Thing.

Express Clerk—Value of this package, please? Fair Damsel—Twenty-five thousand dollars. Express Clerk—Huh? Fair Damsel—You heard what I said. Those are love letters from old Baggycocoyne, and I'm sending 'em to my lawyer.—Cleveland Leader.

The Drift.

A Correction.—"We are drifting toward a paternal form of government," said the economist. "Pardon me if I correct you," responded the suffragette gently; "to be accurate you should say a maternal form of government."—Case and Comment.

Awfully Slow.

He—Darling, I have loved you ever since first we met. She—Well, why didn't you say so long ago? Did you think I was a mind reader?

Their Precious Postage Stamps.

A few years ago a small procession of French troops triumphantly escorted a sergeant carrying two postage stamps. The story of the latter is interesting. The sergeant, belonging to the French contingent of the troops of occupation, arrived in Crete with a young Creole wife, whom he had married while he was serving in a French colony. She brought him no dowry in money, but a handsome marriage portion all the same, consisting of two postage stamps. These are rare specimens of Mauritian issues, and have been estimated by experts as worth $1,600.

The sergeant was told that their value would increase, and instead of selling them he had them framed and placed his treasure in a Cretan bank. As the time was approaching for the departure of the troops of occupation he went to the bank with his wife to withdraw his deposit, and his comrades formed a procession to escort the couple carrying home their fortune in two postage stamps.

Is Woman Too Fresh?

Woman is no longer the salt of the earth; man is, according to the latest discoveries of science as chronicled in the Paris Matin. Not since Lot's wife has woman had enough chloride of sodium in her makeup, and that is the explanation of her general inferiority to man. Woman, says science, is too fresh. The newest conclusion of the laboratory is that the physical and mental development of a human being depends on the percentage of salt in the blood. The blood of the man has more salt than the blood of the woman, and for that reason woman can never expect to equal the sterner sex in physical force, reason or intelligence. There is in the Matin's scientific discussion but one redeeming assertion in favor of womanhood—that is, that since her facial angle is nearer to that of the higher animals than man's is, for that reason her senses are duller and pain hurts her less than it hurts her salty and more intelligent brother.

Greatest of Furniture Stores

CAN APPROPRIATELY AND ECONOMICALLY EQUIP ANY HOME.
BE IT A

Palatial Palace or Simple Bungalow

This establishment has long been supreme in the furniture trade of this State; in fact, this is one of America's greatest furniture stores, if not its most notable. And it will continue to have this prestige.

It takes many years to build a furniture business such as this. It takes years of experience, of organization, of demonstration. It takes years of browsing 'mongst the furniture factories of the country to get into closest touch, to understand the superlatives and the defects of the various products of these manufacturers.

It takes years of time to test quality.

This store will continue supreme in the furniture business because of our long association with the best producers, and the fact that the finest products, the choicest creations of the most skilled and experienced builders of furniture are confined exclusively to this house in this section of New Jersey.

This store will continue supreme in the furniture business because its stocks, already tremendous, will be constantly enlarged and become more varied and be given more space. Right now we are arranging to give added space to the display of Furniture on the Fourth floor, equalling approximately 25,000 square feet.

The great stocks, already immensely satisfying, enabling everyone to find exactly what they need, so long as they want substantial and beautiful furniture, will become, if possible, more and more complete, varied, and satisfying as the years go on. There will be no hesitancy no backward step—always advance, always progress, always betterment.

"My Husband, I Greet You"
Story of a Colonial Thanksgiving.
By F. A. MITCHEL

Mrs. Stanford sends greeting to Walter Washburn and would be pleased to have the honor of his company for dinner at 1 o'clock on Thursday, November the 28th, in the year of our Lord 1733.

Mrs. Stanford was a widow thirty-eight years old and of very pleasing appearance. There was but here and there a single gray hair in her head, her complexion was florid, her eye was a soft brown, and altogether she was goodly to look upon by a man who had passed two score years and five.

Walter Washburn had offered himself to Mrs. Stanford, but that lady, though she admired him for his stalwart form and his prowess—for he had distinguished himself in the Indian wars in the colony—was not minded to take for a partner one who was not possessed of worldly goods. So she declined Mr. Washburn's offer, with many thanks, for the honor he would have conferred upon her.

Now, the widow had a daughter, Faithful, half her age and the reproduction of her mother as that mother had been at her age—that is to say, the younger woman was like a peach with the first rosy hue painted on it by the sun, while the older was that same peach when its colors had become mellow. Mr. Washburn, having been turned away by the woman he loved, naturally sought comfort with the daughter who so nearly resembled her, and, being lonely, living by himself in his own domicile, smoking his pipe, solitary, before the logs burning in his great open fireplace, he mused thus:

"If I cannot have the mother to keep me company, why should I not have the daughter, providing that mother will give her to me? True, I wish the older woman, who is nearer my age and with whom I can consult as to my affairs, but Faithful is stronger and can better do that work about a house which is expected of a woman. Besides, the mother and I will be aged at the same time and like the blind leading the blind, whereas Faithful when I am an old man will be in her prime and the better able to take care of me. Yet she will be old enough to have lost a desire for admiration, and I shall not have to fear the gallantry of young men."

Thus did the lonely bachelor attempt to persuade himself that it would be better after all that he should marry the daughter instead of the mother. Nevertheless there were many reasons on the other side, and down in the bottom of his heart he wanted Mrs. Stanford herself.

However, having formed a resolution, the next day he went to the house where the two women lived and, calling for the mother, asked for the hand of her daughter. He was naturally shamefaced in making his request, since not long before he had assured the lady of whom he made it that his happiness depended solely on her. He expected to be taken to task for his change of heart, but the widow simply replied that her daughter had reason to be proud of having won the esteem of so prominent a defender of the colony and she, the mother, would be happy to bestow Faithful upon him if he could show that he had the property to be expected of the man she should marry. Since Mr. Washburn could show nothing more than he had shown on his previous application he arose with a deep sigh and left the house.

Walter Washburn, who was as simple minded as he was brave, poured his trouble into the ears of Mrs. Hurlbut, a married woman, who had shown great friendship for him. Mrs. Stanford was not selfishly in refusing her daughter to a good man whom she did not wish for herself.

"I would advise you, Friend Walter," said his confidant, "to carry off the young woman you wish to wife."

"How could I do that?" asked Washburn.

"You are not fitted to form a plan in such a proceeding. You must have some friend to lay one for you and to assist you in carrying it out. Leave the matter to me. Come to see me again in a few days, and I may have something to say to you."

The next day Mr. Washburn received the invitation to eat a Thanksgiving dinner with the widow and her daughter. The friendly act smote his conscience that he had even thought of robbing the widow of her daughter, and he went at once to Mrs. Hurlbut to say to her that she need form no such plan as she had proposed on his behalf, for he would have nothing to do with so nefarious a matter.

But Mrs. Hurlbut soothed him and reminded him that lovers had from time immemorial eloped and had always held the sympathy of mankind. Washburn said that his own case was different from those, for he was not a young lover and had never spoken a word of love to Faithful Stanford. He had followed the custom of the times by asking her hand from her parent. However, Mrs. Hurlbut, who was a persuasive talker, finally won him over, then said that she had formed a plan as follows:

On the evening before Thanksgiving day would take place the usual Wednesday evening prayer meeting, at which all the colonists would be present, including the Stanfords, mother and daughter. Mrs. Hurlbut would go to the meeting and Walter Washburn would do the same. The road over which the Stanfords must go to their home was a lonely one. Mrs. Hurlbut and Walter would follow them, and when out of sight and hearing of others Mrs. Hurlbut would throw a bed quilt over the mother and a sheet over the daughter, using different coverings that the two might be known apart. Walter was to seize the figure under the sheet and carry her away to the minister to be married. Mrs. Hurlbut would hold the mother under the quilt till there should be no time for her to interfere. It was to be hoped that the next day being Thanksgiving, a day devoted to religious exercises and thankfulness, the mother would forgive Walter for the kidnapping of her daughter.

Mr. Washburn had misgivings as to this scheme, both fearing that the abducted girl would not marry him even if it otherwise succeeded, and if she did that her mother would never forgive him. Moreover, there was a law in the colony that any man courting a young girl without her parents' consent could be sued before a magistrate for damages.

But when a persuasive woman is determined to have her way with a man, especially one so easily led as Walter Washburn, there is no standing against her. Mrs. Hurlbut carried her point and on the evening of the prayer meeting took her friend Walter to the meeting house with her. When the meeting was over and the Stanfords went out and toward their home Mrs. Hurlbut and Walter followed them, the former carrying the quilt and the sheet, and when they came to a dark part of the road she stole up behind them and proceeded to cover them.

The sheet, being white, was easily distinguished, and Walter took the woman it contained in his strong arms and carried her off. Beyond a slight scream she made no outcry, and her resistance soon ceased. Walter as he strode along told her who he was, what was intended and asked her consent to a marriage forthwith. After a few minutes she spoke a faint "Yes," but before entering the minister's house said that she would rather not be known and preferred to keep on her covering.

But even this was unnecessary, for the minister, who had gone to bed, came down in the dark, and when he strove to strike a light the punk, which was damp, would not ignite, and Walter, who was fast losing his equanimity, begged him to proceed with the ceremony in the dark. So he did, and the two were made man and wife.

After the ceremony Walter supposed that his wife would go to his home with him. But she declined, saying that at the Thanksgiving dinner the next day she would confess all to her mother, since that would be a time when she was most likely to be forgiven. Walter could not but see the wisdom of such a course and parted not unwillingly with his newly made wife.

The next day all met at the service in the meeting house. Mrs. Stanford gave Walter a friendly greeting, and her daughter looked upon him as unconcernedly as if she had not so recently become his bride. He walked home with them, and soon after their arrival the dining table was loaded with a haunch of venison at one end, a wild turkey at the other, the interval being filled with other delectable viands. Walter was placed at the head, while Mrs. Stanford sat at the other end facing him. When the meats had been eaten she said to her vis-a-vis:

"Friend Washburn, when next you propose an abduction be more sure of the friend who lends you into it. Mrs. Hurlbut informed me of the plot to carry off my daughter, and, feeling that if she or I must be your wife, I, as first asked, should be the bride, I asked that I and not Faithful be covered by the sheet. It was I who went with you to the minister."

Then, raising a glass of wine that stood before her, she added:

"My husband, I greet you!"

Walter sat gazing at the speaker for some time, while the truth was slowly permeating his dull brain. Then, arising from his chair, he went to where she sat and, enfolding her in his arms, imprinted a kiss upon her lips. From his wife he passed to Faithful and, also giving her a kiss, said:

"My daughter, I forgive you."

Then returning to his seat he bowed his head and reverently gave thanks for the happy outcome of a plan that had never met with his approval, but which had turned out as he wished.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1912.

M. P. CHURCH NOTES

The Senior C. E. held their usual service which was led by Arthur Peterson.

The song service was enjoyed by all, especially the strangers and out-of-town people.

Mr. Fulton last Thursday evening led a fine spiritual class, when "A Revival" was the general theme.

The pastor was glad to meet at the church those who have been sick and recovered as well as all others, especially visitors. Come again.

The Junior C. E. at 2 p. m. brought out 25 Juniors. The meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Peterson, the pastor delivering an address on the topic.

Selections are distributed and the committee, Mrs. Peterson, Miss Ella Jones and Miss Ethel Dill, are hard at work to make the Christmas exercises a success.

The usual services were held last Sunday and all were well attended. Mrs. H. Hampton, wife of a former pastor, (now stationed at Gibbsboro, N. J.), was a visitor at the church and enjoyed the services.

The Ushers' Association will meet next Sunday evening. All should be present. The association purchased recently two dozen Church Hymnals, and now say we will have to get more to accommodate those who are coming.

Next Sunday being the last of the month, the usual service of song will be omitted and regular preaching instead. The second collection of the new Conference year will be lifted. Let it be at least a silver offering as the Conference assessments are larger this year.

The pastor preached last Sunday morning on Jas. 5:16. "The Effectual Fervent Prayer of a Righteous man Availeth much." And in the evening on Job 21:15, "And What Profit should we have if we pray unto Him?" There was a large attendance and a number of strangers. An evangelical service was held at the close of the sermon.

The Union Thanksgiving Service will be held in this church Wednesday evening, November 27th. Rev. Thomas Neal, Jr., pastor of the Baptist Church, will preach, the other ministers of the city taking part. The offering that evening will be for the New Jersey Children's Home Society of Trenton. All are invited. Let there be a large attendance and a real thanksgiving offering.

Miss Ethel Dill will lead the Junior C. E. next Sunday at 2 p. m. Send the children just a little earlier.

The Sunday School, as usual, held its very interesting session. The attendance was good. It was decided to hold a Decision day in the School on December 8th, giving the scholars the opportunity to publicly decide for Christ. Superintendent Bloodgood and P. A. Stults spoke of the Thanksgiving barrel to be donated under the auspices of the School to the Children's Home of South Amboy. The barrel will be at the church from Monday to Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving day. Any donations can be left at the parsonage next to the church. A committee will have it in charge. See Ezra 8:18 and Matt. 25:40-45.

Quite Appropriate.

The bachelor community of a certain suburb were greatly scared by the advent among them of a fearsome type of the desperate, husband hunting spinster. After throwing each of the local bachelors into spasms of terror lest he should be the recipient of her attentions the lady finally managed to captivate the curate. Local bachelordom was so intensely relieved at its escape that it united in presenting the curate with a splendid wedding present in the shape of a costly table service.

"The curate was overwhelmed. 'Such a magnificent service!' he gasped. 'Well, you see, my boy,' explained the chief of the local bachelors. 'It is really a thanksgiving service.'—London Answers.

Wanted All That Was in It.

Father (whose wife has presented him with twins)—Tommy, you may stay home from school today and tomorrow tell the teacher you have two new brothers. Tommy—Wouldn't it be better to say that I have only one new brother? Then I can stay home a day next week for the other one.—Pilegunde Blatter.

The Last Word.

"How did you come to bid so extravagantly on so poor a hand?" asked the patient partner. "Humph!" returned Mrs. Filmgilt. "You didn't suppose I was going to let that woman on my right have the last word, did you?"—Washington Star.

NEW JERSEY NEWS CONDENSED.

Items of Interest From all Parts of the State as Gleaned From Our Exchanges Briefly Paragraphed.

Attacked Woman, Then Killed Himself

After attacking Miss Rachel Cohen of Bridgeton, with whom he had lived for a number of years, William W. Atkins, fifty-five years old, went up in his bedroom, placed a revolver at his neck and instantly killed himself Saturday afternoon. Miss Cohen had given him various amounts from time to time, but Saturday morning refused his request for more. He flew into a rage, and, producing a revolver, threatened that he would kill her and himself. Atkins went to Bridgeton a number of years ago from West Chester, Pa., where he said he had wealthy relatives in the iron business. For some time he had lawyers endeavoring to obtain money from an estate in West Jersey that he claimed was coming to him.

Peace Justice Held as Embezzler.

Charged with embezzlement, Justice of the Peace Edward W. Wise, of Red Bank, was arraigned before Justice James H. Sickles Saturday night and held under $500 bail. Thomas Wise, his father, signed the bond. The complainant is a New York coffee firm, which charges the justice with collecting money and not turning it over. It is said that Mr. Wise, prior to his arrest, agreed to make a settlement, but that his offer was refused. Until a few days ago Justice Wise conducted a real estate and insurance office in Broad street, Red Bank. On account of ill health he closed his office, and moved to Lakewood, where he lived at the home of his brother, James Wise. Justice Wise was arrested Saturday afternoon by County Detective Elwood Minugh on a warrant issued from the office of Prosecutor Applegate.

Barn and Two Houses Burned.

Fire on Sunday morning destroyed the livery stable of Frank Coombs, in Main street, Allenhurst, and two houses nearby. The loss is estimated at $15,000. No horses were lost. Otto Coombs, a son of the stable owner, discovered the roof of the barn ablaze a few hours after he had started a fire in the office stove. While men assisted in removing the horses and wagons the high wind carried embers to the homes of Mrs. Clara Broome and Snoden Dey, to the north. Alarms were sounded and the two hose companies and a steamer from Asbury Park answered a call for aid. Firemen found it impossible to check the flames and directed their attention to saving the wood and coal sheds of W. J. Bowe, north of the Broome house.

Fire Destroys Old Church.

Efforts are being made to discover the cause of the fire which completely destroyed the old St. Mary's Church building at New Monmouth Saturday night. Flames were discovered in the rear of the building about 6 o'clock, and swept the whole structure within an hour. It is asserted that no one had been inside the building for several days and that no fire was kept. The building was erected by popular subscription in 1880, and until 1900 was used by the Catholics of that vicinity. A modern structure then replaced it, and the old building has been used as a hall for social gatherings and entertainments. When erected, this was the only Catholic church between the Highlands and Keyport. It was built under the supervision of Rev. John L. O'Connor, who was rector for several years. A small amount of insurance was carried on the structure.

Veteran Printer Dies.

Peter P. Packer, publisher and proprietor of the Princeton Penny Press, oldest printer in New Jersey, died at Trenton Saturday, aged eighty-five years. He was found dead in bed, having passed away during the night. The foregoing alliteration is the way he used to print his cards years ago, when Packer was what he described himself on them. He was born in New Brunswick, went to Princeton in 1831 and became a printer there. For many years he has been out of business. He was known to all of the printers of the State.

Bigamist Made Non Vult Plea.

A letter from Tyler Gibbs' second wife, formerly Miss Delapline Bennett, of Metuchen, received by the court at New Brunswick Monday morning, setting forth that Gibbs had remarried her after having been divorced from his first wife and begging the court not to send Gibbs to prison, had its effect upon Judge Peter F. Daly. Upon Mr. Gibbs pleading non vult to the charge of bigamy sentenced was suspended until the court saw how he treated his second wife. When Gibbs was arraigned for sentence his counsel, John A. Coan, asked for leniency, declaring that Gibbs had left his second wife as soon as he learned his first wife had not secured as he thought, a divorce. He had then remarried her to set matters right. He had no intention of committing crime. Judge Daly said he had a very serious doubt as to the truth of the statement that Gibbs thought he had a right to marry Miss Bennett. An investigation of his past made by the court showed that he was quite careless in this and other matters, his record not being a very creditable one with regard to morality. He had done the square thing now and the court would suspend imposition of sentence to see how he treated his wife.

Decide to Stay as Third Party.

Complete organization, as a separate and independent party, is the program which the State committee of the Progressive party laid out for its members at the session which was concluded at Trenton late Saturday afternoon. A constitution and by-laws will be drawn up by a committee which former Governor John Franklin Fort, as State chairman, was authorized to appoint. Permanent State quarters will be established, probably in Newark. What may be considered the Progressives' declaration of independence of the Republican party was contained in resolutions presented by Frank Thompson, secretary of the Mercer County Progressive League. They were adopted by the State committee. The resolutions favored the extension of the organization, declared "severance and complete segregation from any other party affiliation," condemned those who claim to be progressives yet "indorse and aid the discredited leaders of the old parties" by supporting local tickets of the old parties and expressed gratification at New Jersey's total of 145,000 votes polled for the Roosevelt-Johnson ticket. The matter of establishing State quarters was left to the chairman of the executive committee, Edmund B. Osborne. Irving R. Taylor, of Essex County, as treasurer of the State committee, reported a balance of $1,116 from the campaign fund. The receipts were $14,441. Promises of financial support for the headquarters were given. Among those at the conference were a number of women, including Mrs. Charles F. Peickert, of Dunellen, president of the New Jersey Women's Suffrage Association; Mrs. Frank A. Pattison, of Colonia, and Miss M. C. Smith, of South Orange. Mrs. Pattison and Miss Smith made addresses. They concurred in the plans for extensive organization. James E. Churchman, of Orange, expressed thanks, on behalf of negro citizens, for the interest shown in them by the new party. Greetings from the convention to Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Johnson, of California, were authorized.

Brothers Have Separate Tables.

How two elderly brothers, bachelors, carried a disagreement to the extent of setting up individual tables, which were individually supplied, in the home they still shared, has been told in testimony in proceedings in which a decision has just been made. By the decision David B. P. Lambertson, of Matawan, continues as co-administrator with his brother, Artemas Lambertson, in settling a $25,000 estate which their mother, Mrs. Amanda Lambertson, left when she died intestate in 1907. Johnston & Conover, of Asbury Park, counsel for David Lambertson, have been advised that their chancery suit in his behalf for a partition of the real estate has been approved and that the Monmouth County Orphans' Court has accepted David Lambertson's inventory and accounting of the personal property. Artemas Lambertson sought to have David removed as an administrator following a disagreement over David's suit against Artemas to recover $200 on a note. His objections to the partition suit were overruled. The testimony shows that David's accounting had not been filed when, for that reason, Artemas brought suit to have his brother removed as administrator, because the brothers had each selected an appraiser and the appraisers had failed to agree on valuation.

Block Cutters Win Strike.

The block cutters who have been out since Labor Day returned to work at the Janeway & Carpenter wallpaper factory, New Brunswick, on Tuesday. They refused to work until a contract was signed increasing their wages $2 a week, and guaranteeing forty-four weeks' work. This is the same contract the machine printers and color mixers have. The block cutters never had a contract before. Col. Jacob J. Janeway, for the firm signed it. It holds good for three years.

Priest Offers $1,000 for Statement Proof.

The sum of $1,000 was offered Tuesday by Monsignor William R. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Washington, N. J., to any one who can prove that the Catholic clergy take oaths to use their efforts in making Catholicism the factor in American government. Monsignor Russell, in his offer, said: "Pamphlets have been distributed charging that the oaths of Roman Catholic Bishops, priests, Jesuits and Knights of Columbus pledge the taker to do all in his power to make the Catholic Church supreme in the government of the United States. The charges are absolutely false."

Accused of Illegal Dentistry Practice.

Charged with practicing dentistry without a license, Martin Brumberger, of Red Bank, was arraigned before Borough Recorder Harry C. Badden Monday night and held under $200 bail for the grand jury. Alfred Brumberger, of Asbury Park, the prisoner's brother, signed the bail bond. Brumberger was arrested in his office at Red Bank by Constable William H. Wilson. This is his second arrest within a year on the same charge. It is said that Alfred Brumberger, a licensed dentist, owns the business at Red Bank and that the brother is acting only as manager. The complaints against Brumberger were made by Red Bank dentists.

PANAMA CANAL NOTES.

The New York Telephone Review contains a long and copiously illustrated article on the telephone features of the greatest engineering achievement of centuries—the Panama canal. The article was written by W. F. Henkel, formerly inspector of traffic, telephone and telegraph department, Panama canal zone. It describes in detail the various ways in which the telephone has contributed toward the accomplishment of this great task.

The Panama railroad company operates and maintains all the telephone and telegraph facilities for the United States government in connection with the direct engineering work and the subsidiary departments upon the isthmus. When its boats arrive in port, a telephone is installed on board and connected through the Colon exchange with any point along the isthmus.

There are about 2,000 miles of copper wire and some 2,000 telephones in the Panama canal zone. If the wire were connected into one single circuit, it would reach from Panama to New York City. About 20,000 calls per day are handled through the six telephone exchanges. Young American girls are employed as telephone operators. They are usually relatives of the Americans employed on the engineering work and take pride in giving the same three second service that is found in New York.

Ten thousand loaves of bread are consumed daily in the Panama canal zone or one loaf of bread is eaten to every two telephone calls made. Five thousand bags of cement were laid daily in the construction of the Gatun locks or one bag of cement was used for every four telephone calls made.
