

Candidates Are Being Discussed by Both Parties

Although primaries will not take place until Sept. 17th and but two councilmen are to be elected, enthusiasm already runs high.

Although primary elections will not take place this year, under the new law passed by the State legislature, until Sept. 17th, the slow bubbling of the political pot which precedes its violent boiling, has already begun and while there has been no attempt by either party to formally discuss candidates or give sanction to them, various leaders are almost daily in discussion on the matter.

Although there are but two councilmanic posts to be filled at the coming elections, there is unprecedented interest in the matter. The term of Andrew Kurtz, Democrat, present first ward councilman, will expire, as will the term of Harold Filskov, Republican, elected last year to fill the unexpired term of Walter Inman, fourth ward councilman.

Several candidates have been suggested for the Democratic ticket in the first ward and the name of Walter Cross one of the younger members of the party is frequently heard.

A number of political leaders have advanced the name of Anton Nobis, former member of the council as a Republican candidate for council in the first ward. Also often mentioned is the name of Charles Watson. In the fourth ward there are already three names mentioned as candidates on the Republican ticket at the primaries. Former councilman at large Laurence Agan is prepared to toss his hat into the ring as a candidate from this ward. Another name which will likely appear on the Republican primary ballots is that of Morgan Lamberton, local contractor. Recently the name of Carl Wilbur has also been mentioned when possible Republican candidates are discussed.

Encouraged by the fact that they made a strong showing in the fourth ward last year by virtue of the large vote turned out in the lower section, the Democrats are giving more than the usual thought to candidates for this section in the hope that they may secure representation here. Former Chief of Police Gleason who last year was a candidate against Harold Filskov, Republican, it is expected will throw his hat in the ring, in accordance with a recent declaration. Another prominent Democrat who is being advocated as one of the best to break the Republican spell in the upper ward is John Vail.

New Board of Works Members Inspected Water Plant Wednesday

Further Study of Diesel Installation—New Booster Pump Will Be Purchased.

Wednesday the new members of the Board of Works, Michael Stanton, Lloyd Stratton, C. Francis Ryan, and Frank Kaboski, made an inspection of the city water works to familiarize themselves with its operation. The workings of the plant were explained by Superintendent M. F. Nagle and the president of the board, J. Lee Lawe.

The plan of substituting Diesel engine power for the present power system is still being studied by the Board of Works and the entire body was recently appointed a committee to study various phases of the installation.

It is also planned to add a new booster pump to the equipment at the water plant in the near future. The members feel that a considerable saving can be realized from the installation of such an equipment, since they plan to replace the booster at present in use with a smaller one, which would cost less to operate. According to present plans, the pump now in operation will be used as a reserve.

The committee recently appointed are Reservoir, Meinzer, Ryan and Stanton. Stand pipe: Kaboski, Meinzer and Stanton. Furniture: Kaboski, Stratton and Meinzer. Booster pump: Meinzer, Ryan and Kaboski.

N. Y. Port Authority Recommends Greater Raritan Channel Depths

Recommends South Channel Be Dredged to 25 Feet as Far as Titanium Plant.

Channel depths in the Raritan River commensurate with the latter's commercial importance were recommended by the Port of New York Authority Monday at a hearing before the United States District Engineer.

"Several of the large industries on the North Channel," the Port Authority said, in presenting the results of a field investigation of the project, "have increased operations during the current year and are looking forward to a larger business next year." The average annual tonnage for the thirteen year period from 1921 to 1933, inclusive, was 1,257,168.

After listing new and resumed industrial operations, the Port Authority recommendations were summarized as follows:

"In view of the resumption of activity indicated by our recent investigation, the Port Authority recommends that the South Channel be improved so far as the Titanium plant to a depth of twenty-five feet, with that company assuming all cost over the fifteen foot depth, but not more than one-half the total cost of the improvement."

"An increased project depth above the Titanium plant appears to be unnecessary at the present time but we do urge that the existing ten foot project in the South Channel be finished to provide for the needs of barge users, between the Titanium plant and the junction of the North and South Channels above Crab Island."

"In the North Channel, we recommended that it be dredged to a minimum of twenty-five feet to the Raritan Arsenal to permit unrestricted movement of deep-draft barges and ocean vessels to meet the needs of the industries located thereon between the mouth of the river and the arsenal."

"Above the canal, we recommend that the fifteen foot project depth of the North Channel be extended approximately two miles above Washington Canal to provide for the industrial needs of that section of the river."

"Such depth of channels in this river would prove attractive to other corporations and provide additional waterfront suitable for heavy industry without major restrictions against manufacturing. We believe that the Raritan River offers suitable location for such industries and provides a readily accessible portion of the Port's shoreline."

Council Takes Final Action to Oust Engineer

Two Members of Council and Two Citizens Voice Objections to Abolishing Engineer Job; Measure Gets Necessary Three Votes and Mayor's Signature

Over the protests of A. T. McMichael that there was plenty of work for the city engineer to do, despite urgings by James A. Tustin and Wm. C. Lewis that Mr. McMichael be retained; in spite of the opposition votes of Councilmen Kurtz and Kurzawa, the Common Council, Tuesday night, adopted on final passage, the ordinance abolishing the office of city engineer, held by Mr. McMichael. Economy was the justification, according to the ordinance, and the ordinance was given approval by Mayor Mason before he left the City Hall when the Council session was concluded.

When the ordinance providing for the abolishing of the city engineer's office was brought up for second reading, Councilman Kurzawa offered an amendment to the effect that it be laid over for two weeks. The amendment was lost by a three-two vote. Then Council President called on Mr. McMichael with a request as to whether or not there was any work in progress or in contemplation which required the services of an engineer.

Mr. McMichael replied with a detailed, lengthy list of projects that he contended would require a city engineer. Heading the list was the improvements specified in Ordinance 353, the so-called electrification ordinance, which besides vacating certain portions of certain streets, provided for a new street with attendant paving, curbing and sidewalk projects.

Next in order was a number of ERA projects in process of completion; such as extension of Raritan street, etc. Then was mentioned the two million dollar project contemplated by the State Highway in relocating through the outskirts of this city a relief route to take route of traffic out of the center of the city; presumably to relieve the congestion annoyance here.

Then there was mentioned the oil penetration type pavement jobs started last fall, now awaiting favorable weather for completion; the matter of petitions for paving of David street; curbing and sidewalk for a portion of Second street; other oil penetration paving of streets, all of which was held in abeyance pending an improvement in the bond market so the projects could be financed. There were PWA jobs, such as the repaving of Broadway; storm sewer for Laffert street, curbing and sidewalk for Wilmot street, extension of Rosewell street to Bordentown avenue, remedying present existing dangerous condition of George and Rosewell streets intersection, etc.

After Mr. Tustin had addressed the body, Councilman Kurtz called on City Solicitor Coan. The Council President wanted to know, in view of the fact that the city engineer had a contract, as he termed it, with the city, whether the council could abolish the job. City Solicitor Coan corrected the Kurtz terminology in the use of the word contract, remarking that Mr. McMichael has an appointment from the city. Then Kurtz wanted to know, as it was voiced by Mr. Coan, whether the council could legally abolish the job. And Mr. Coan answered his interpretation of the Kurtz question by replying that if done on the grounds of economy they could most certainly do so.

Then Kurtz wanted to know if he could declare the ordinance out of order. From the City Solicitor he received a negative answer.

Baseball League Asks Aid In a lengthy letter, Charles Hess, acting secretary of the City Baseball League, urged financial aid be given the organization, $200 being mentioned as essential. Hat collections for four years prior to last year had sufficed to carry the expenses, the letter said. But last year the income from this source had dwindled until mounting expense had imposed a curtailment of activities.

St. Mary's Defeats Perth Amboy St. Mary's

Two Homers by Jim Smith In Seventh Inning—Locals Meet St. Peters Here This Afternoon.

Coach Joseph Phillips' St. Mary's High School triumphed over Perth Amboy St. Mary's to gain their 4th victory of the season Saturday afternoon at Perth Amboy. The final score was 12-5.

Coming into the seventh inning, the Augusta streeters were on the short end of a 2 to 0 score, when they started a rally that netted nine runs before the dust had cleared away. Eovino started the excitement with a single to left; Jim Smith slammed out a long home run over the center fielder's head to tie the score; then Charnello came through with a single, Dolan bunted and was out, Minkler to Buchan, Charnello going to second on the play. Lynn doubled to left scoring Charnello, and then after Lynn stole third, Margello walked and stole second. Phillips singled to center scoring Lynn and Margello. "Al" Gamolka wrapped out a double scoring Phillips and Eovino up for the second time in the inning, singled again permitting Phillips to race in. Smith then contributed his second home run of the inning sending Eovino around ahead of him.

Besides Smith's two home runs, Dolan, who fanned 12 of the boys from across the river, was a heavy contributor to the local victory. Bob Handerman, twirling for the cross river boys, pitched some fine ball up until the fateful seventh.

St. Mary's will meet St. Peters of New Brunswick here this afternoon.

Fifty Mile Grind Will Climax Events at Langhorne on May 12th.

Trenton: Big time eastern AAA auto racing will be advanced to early season peak stage, when the events for which the fans have been clamoring, namely 100 miles of motor madness on Langhorne Speedway, will be dashed up with great excitement Sunday May 12 by Ralph Hankinson in his silver anniversary menu of hot speed.

On the twenty-fifth year of his endeavor in speed wares Hankinson will endeavor to produce the greatest race in all Langhorne's history. This is his second year of ownership by the greyhaired fox of sportsdom who lives at Woodcliff on Hudson N. J., just across from the New York metropolis.

The Badminton Game
This game originated in India and was known as poona. It was played there for centuries without attracting much outside interest. In the 18th century army officers took a fancy to it and in 1872, when some of them went home on furlough they took equipment for the game with them. The formal introduction of poona to England was in 1873 in the home of the duke of Gloucestershire. The duke's castle was named Badminton and thus the game acquired its present name.

Life of High-Pressure Guns
The life of a large, high-pressure gun at normal rate of firing is about 150 shots. However, after the gun has fired this number of shots it is comparatively simple and inexpensive to bore out the liner and insert a new one, thus ridding the gun again for service.
