

TOWN TOPICS BY "THE STAFF" A UNIT TOPIC

A glance at your calendar will show you that there are but two more weeks left in March and April is just around the corner. The United States has always declared war in April, what will the coming April bring?

Those who believe history always repeats can see nothing but another declaration of war during the coming April.

The United States jumped into the last World War in April, and the steps which led us into it, being repeated in rapid succession day after day, sometimes being taken more rapidly than they were during 1916 and 1917, so that there is some considerable substantiation for the prediction made by some that April 1941 will find us participating in the World War II.

Preparations forward for the annual "Jack's Day Dinners" held throughout the country.

All who contribute $50 or more to the Democratic party will be invited to attend, but instead of the dinners being held on Jan. 8 as usual, they will be held on April 9, in New York this year.

No reason is given for the change in date, but since the dinners were formerly held on Jan. 8th, the anniversary of Andrew Jackson's defeat of the British at New Orleans in 1815, it is presumed the change has been made not to offend England.

In other words, we of the United States, who are going to "loan" some more money and materials to England, which has not paid the loans of the first World War in 1917, seem to be rather touchy about the possibility of offending the nation already a debtor to whom we seem to be extremely anxious to loan more.

The Sayreville Board of Education recently took action to prevent teachers playing politics.

This action resulted from the activities of some of the teachers during a recent school election and the members of the Board declared that in one case at least, a teacher gave school children slips to take to their parents, telling what candidate they should vote for.

Teachers who have been accused of playing politics in the past have always declared they were exercising their rights as American citizens in doing so, and that when they accepted jobs as teachers, they did not relinquish the right to vote. However, there is a big difference between voting and playing politics to select one's boss.

This is another example of the "tail wagging the dog," that is becoming more and more prevalent, with those responsible to the public and being paid by the public, telling the public what it should do.

Radio in America seems to be riding to a fall as the result of its activities.

During the past year, radio has appeared to take upon itself the job of pumping fear into the American public to the point where we sometimes wonder whether or not it is in the pay of some foreign agency determined on the destruction of everything American. The potency of radio as a distributing agency was demonstrated to the entire nation by Orson Wells' famous "Invasion of Jersey" program.

Anyone with a crack pot idea and a couple of dollars, can gain access to the radio and get into millions of American homes and there is no control over such conditions.

As a political propaganda agency, radio has demonstrated its danger, especially in the last campaign. One Wednesday night last July the Armstrong-Jenkins fight was scheduled to take place and on the same night the national Democratic convention was going on and Senator Wagner was scheduled to make a convention speech at the time the fight was to be broadcast, so the fight broadcast was cancelled and Senator Wagner's speech was shown down the mouths of radio listeners, who were not interested in political maneuvering. There were many similar instances not quite so brazen.

Radio in America needs a house cleaning, and it needs it immediately and the sooner radio appoints a Judge Landis to govern it, the better it will be for the future of radio.

We the people, is more than the title of a radio program, and events transpiring every day prove it.

We, the common people are the ones who nowadays are paying the expenses of running the government, equipping an army and furnishing the seven billion dollars to make England's future safe.

We, the common people, are also furnishing the men to make up our new defense army. We, also being in the majority, are by our votes selecting those who will govern us, sometimes regretting our selections, but paying the bill whether our selections were good or bad.

We the people, are also maintaining homes and raising families on salaries smaller sometimes than the expense accounts of professional corporation managers and efficiency experts.

The "big shots" in this country are not those who commonly represent themselves as such. It is we the people, who are really the "big shots" for we are the ones that are making this country a going proposition.

TWO GOOD LOOKING GIRLS MOVED INTO TOWN THIS WEEK and someone will likely escort them to Joe Jerome's Tavern tomorrow night for the gala evening of entertainment that has been arranged. Special parties can also be arranged for any night of the week at Jerome's, and the rates are reasonable.

CASEY ANNOUNCES POLICE VACANCY WILL NOT BE FILLED IMMEDIATELY

The naming of a policeman to fill the vacancy on the force which will be created by the pensioning of Patrolman John Quinn, who retires from active service on April 1st, will not take place for at least two weeks, Mayor Robert Casey announced last night.

Casey declared there are at least 27 candidates for the appointment and he is personally investigating the qualifications of each of them and will give all careful consideration before making his decision.

"It is important at this time that careful consideration be given to the appointment of a policeman," said

Casey, "for during the months to come there is the possibility that policemen in South Amboy and elsewhere may be shouldered with a greater responsibility of protecting life and property than ever before."

The Mayor said that Patrolman Quinn will take his annual vacation before he goes on permanent retirement, so that the force will be short one man from Monday until April 1st, and he said he will confer with Chief of Police Quinn to work out some plan so that the city may have ample protection with the present force by having the men work overtime until the vacancy can be filled.

SHORE FRONT EXTENSION PLAN TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING THIS EVENING

Tonight in City Hall, the members of the council will meet with former Mayor Mason and Jack Klein, counsel for the Port Raritan Commission to discuss the extension of the local shore line.

The matter was discussed between members of the Port Raritan Commission and the council last summer, but it got no further than the discussion stage.

While it is understood the plan to be discussed tonight has not been worked out in complete detail, a general plan has been evolved and it is likely this plan will be the basis of tonight's discussion.

The area to be filled in would include all the local water front, south of the coal docks as well as that belonging to the borough of Sayreville from the city line to Cheesapeake Creek.

The filling in of the area would make approximately 376 acres available for factory sites. Since the average industry requires in the neighborhood of forty acres, it would be possible to locate from seven to ten large industrial plants on the tract.

One of the objections which have been raised to the plan is that it would necessitate the extension of sewer lines at a considerable expense, because of the added land. Proponents of the plan have pointed out that there would be no problem here, since the present sanitary sewer lines in this city are long enough to take care of the work required of them without being added to.

So far as surface sewage lines are concerned, it has been pointed out that it would not be necessary to extend these lines, but surface water could be carried to the new shore line by means of open ditches.

The proposed fill would carry the shore line out far enough to provide anchorage for the largest boats and dockage which would be installed, would make it possible for even the largest ships to come up the 30 foot channel to docks at the new landing without danger.

The proposed fill would be about 1000 feet wide in this city and the fill would go to a depth of about 1800 feet in the vicinity of "the Cove" near Morgan. It would be about 10,000 feet long.

Preliminary soundings which have been made in this area have revealed a sound bottom possible for factory construction, without danger.

The portion of the shore under consideration contrasts greatly with the section above the coal docks, where soundings have revealed an unsafe bottom, with approximately 30 feet of mud.

DuPont Company Adopts New Plan for Employee Pensions

Will Go Into Effect on April 1st

Hundreds of persons in this city, employees of the various nearby DuPont plants, will be affected by the revised pension and retirement plan recently adopted by the stockholders of the E. I. DuPont Company.

The plan will be financed entirely by the company and will become effective on April 1st.

Prior to the inauguration of the new plan, employees who were less than 45 years of age at the date of employment and who had 15 or more years of continuous service, could be retired on pension if they had become physically or mentally permanently incapable of performing their duties. Under the amended plan, there has been added a provision requiring retirement on pension at the age of 65 of employees who have had 15 years or more of continuous service and regardless of their physical or mental capabilities. The qualification concerning age at date of employment has been eliminated.

Hereafter an employee reaching the age of 65 will be permitted to remain in service, thereafter only on specific request by the department head or the management, and with the approval of the board of benefits and pensions.

More than 7,000 employees are potential beneficiaries under the revised plan.

The purpose of the change is to provide for retirement on account of advancing age, as well as for physical and mental incapacity and thereby facilitate the advancement of younger employees for the good of the service.

The new plan also removes a limitation of $100 per month on pensions in respect to service subsequent to January 1, 1925. The change is made to enable the company to pay pensions in more equitable ratios to the compensation earned by employees prior to retirement.

The general basis of computation will be one per cent of the employee's average monthly pay for the 10-year period immediately preceding his retirement, multiplied by the number of years of employment; except that a factor of 1 1/2 instead of one per cent shall apply as to service with the company prior to January 1, 1925, and as to such service with companies acquired by DuPont prior to January 1, 1920.

Study Methods of Guarding
Against Check
Raising

The Madison Twp. Committee members were amazed as well as entertained at the regular monthly meeting yesterday at the Brownstown town hall by a demonstration of the latest innovations in check forgery and alterations. The demonstration was put on by R. L. Sands, of the Safe Guard Co., and was intended to put municipal officials on guard against the possibilities that lay in public moneys being looted through checks getting into improper hands and being altered or changed with resultant embarrassment to the officials concerned.

The Board held a regular session with the chairman, Wm. Oertel absent. Mr. Oertel was in Washington representing the State at a convention of the A. A. A. ## COCKTAIL FOR SOCIALISTS

There are two factors involved in the drive to socialize the electric light and power industry, which should be thoroughly understood by the American people.

First, the utilities are only an incident in a trend. In other words, they merely happen to be the industry which is on the firing line today. If the politicians succeed in destroying them as regulated private enterprises, some other industry will be chosen for slaughter next. As an authority recently said, "It is as certain as death and taxes that the absolute elimination of privately owned utilities would not satisfy that greed for political power and patronage. It would be merely an appetizing cocktail before the elaborate all-inclusive bureaucratic banquet that would follow." There are scores of commodities and services—food, fuel, clothing, transportation, housing—which cost the average family many times as much as power. No man who understands the bureaucrats' lust for authority can believe the drive against the utilities is more than the beginning in a campaign whose inevitable end would be socialization of all forms of enterprise.

Second, at this time, all governmental acts and policies must be evaluated in their relation to national defense and our foreign policy. If we are to have real defense, industries must be encouraged to expand and produce at maximum speed. Power is one of the most important of defense industries. The proposed public power project, such as the St. Lawrence development, will not aid defense, but retard it. They will take many years to complete. They will divert men, money and materials from real defense projects. And the fact that they further reveal the manifest intent of a political group to socialize the electric industry would of itself hamper that industry in meeting the demands of defense. If any shortage of power appears, the private utilities are prepared to meet it by building steam plants, which can be finished in one to two years—as against five years or more for major hydro projects.

There is the power situation as it stands today. It is not a question of the sins and virtues of just one industry. It is a question of our whole American philosophy—of the free enterprise system against the socialism system. It is a question of whether or not we are to permit our industries to provide the defense the nation so sorely needs.

St. Mary's Church News

It is evident, too, that Leo XIII did not approve of strong-arm methods in recruiting members for the union. He condemns unions which "force workmen either to join them or starve," a condemnation which loses none of its force when we consider conditions recently discovered in the Government army camps. Nor would the Pontiff have a good word for a union which collects more than $1,000,000 annually from untrained poorly paid workers, yet never renders an accounting, or a union which keeps high-salaried officials in power indefinitely through the simple process of never calling an election. "Office-holders should be appointed with due prudence and discretion," wrote the Pontiff, and in his view, they must be workmen, not professional leaders who capitalize on the union, and men of high moral character.

Writing forty years later, Pius XI reaffirms in the Encyclical on the Reconstruction of the Social Order, the doctrines of Leo XIII on labor unions. After paying his predecessor a merited tribute of praise for his defense of the union at a time when many Catholics viewed associations for wage-earners with disfavor, and even with hostility, Pius XI expresses regret that in many countries it has been impossible to organize Catholic trade unions. Under these unfavorable conditions, Catholics "seem to have no choice but to enroll themselves in neutral trade unions." The respective Bishops may sanction this, with necessary precautions.

But no Catholic may join a union which fails to "respect justice and equity," or which does not permit its members "full freedom to follow the dictates of their conscience, and to obey the precepts of the church." Here again our Catholic Labor Schools aid in providing the necessary "precautions" by affording trade union members an opportunity for "a thorough religious and moral training, that these in turn may impart to the labor unions to which they belong the upright spirit which should direct their entire conduct."

The whole duty of the labor union may be summarized in the statement that is bound to regulate its relations to the state, to its own members, to employers, and to the public, by the natural and the Divine laws. What harm has come to world from the rejection of these laws is clear, and from it union cannot hope to escape. We see the logical fruits of the philosophy of life without God in the collapse of civilization in Germany and Russia, in the ruined towns of England, in the increase of armaments in every part of the world, and in our own anxious minds, as we perceive ourselves gradually slipping into a war which we neither occasioned nor initiated, and which is being waged for aims that are not yet clear. Man, as he turns from God and denies the Will of his Creator, is wont to boast of new-found liberty. Time has shown that such liberty leads only to discord, war, and the destruction of all that we have learned to know as civilization.

"If society is to be healed now," wrote Leo XIII in 1891 "it is no other way than to be healed save by a return to the Christian life and Christian principles." The labor union inspired and sustained by justice and charity can aid in that return. In holding to secularism, it destroys its foundation on which it might securely rest, and goes down the road that inevitably ends in the common ruin of workers and the state.

Paul L. Blakely, S. J.

St. Mary's School Notes

THE FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION
The Forty Hours' Devotion, which was held in our Church in the early part of the week, is a devotion in honor of the Blessed Sacrament, during which time it is exposed for Adoration for forty hours or less. This devotion is held in each parish of a diocese at some designated time during the year. It usually begins or ends on a Sunday, and the Sacred Host is exposed on the altar for a number of hours on three successive days.

This devotion owes its origin to the practice of exposing the Blessed Sacrament in churches during the two days preceding Lent, which was done in former days to prepare the faithful for the Lenten season, and to make reparation for the crimes of men, and in memory of the forty hours during which the Body of Jesus rested in the sepulcher.

The practice of having the Adoration in various Churches on successive Sundays began in Milan, Italy, about the year 1537, and was probably introduced into the United States about 1850, probably by Bishop Neumann of Philadelphia. Upon entering the Church during Forty Hours, people should go down on both knees and bow low in adoration, and also if possible they should remain kneeling while in Church. We can never repay Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament for all the graces He has given us, and so we should appreciate these special privileges given throughout the year, and spend a few extra hours in the presence of Our Divine Lord.

John Connors, DC

THE LENTEN SEASON

The forty days of penance, known as the Lenten season, began on Ash Wednesday, the day on which the First placed blessed ashes on the foreheads of the people. The ancient devotion is a fitting reminder with which to begin Lent, for the ashes tell us better than words that the possessions and pleasures of this life are short and fleeting.

During these days fasting and prayer should play an important part in our daily lives. Let us meditate upon the sufferings and death of Our Lord, Who was crucified so that we might regain Paradise. Once again we should journey to Calvary and review in our minds the marvelous story of man's Redemption. By our prayers and acts of self-denial we unite ourselves to Our Saviour and His Blessed Mother. With willing hearts let us be faithful in the practice of some penance during Lent so that we may share more worthily the glory and joy of Our Risen Lord.

Marion Suminski, DC

SAINT PATRICK

Controversial to the beliefs of many people St. Patrick was not born in Ireland. Being captured by pirates he was taken there and sold to a chieftain and put to work tending swine. After working long and hard each day he sometimes had to sleep outside, but he never uttered a complaint. Although not Irish himself he was greatly concerned about the Irish people because they were pagans. Finally he escaped from the chieftain and fled from Ireland, but it was not his intention to leave permanently. Going to Europe he attended the best schools with the intent desire to go back and convert the people of Ireland. On the conclusion of his studies he

No Lack of Telephone Service for Fort Dix

Designation of Fort Dix as a major United States Army training station galvanized telephone forces, among others, into action, for it meant greatly expanded facilities for voice communication would be required in much less than normal time to provide them. When the year was ended, all service dates had been met, the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company reports, in enlarging the Mt. Holly central office building and installing twelve additional switchboard positions to supplement tea normally in use; providing an alternate all-cable route between the Fort and Mt. Holly; and adding to cable circuits handling Fort traffic to all outside points without delay. The Fort has its own private switchboard, installed for the Army by Western Electric.

Nearly a Million Telephones Added

The number of Bell System telephones in service increased 950,000 in 1940, the largest gain ever recorded in a single year, the annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company discloses.

"The nation-wide universal telephone service needed for defense as well as for everyday business and social life is made possible," the report states, "by the interconnection of 17,484,000 Bell System telephones with more than 4,375,000 telephones of some 6,400 connecting telephone companies and more than 60,000 rural or farmer lines."

"The splendid co-operation between independently owned telephone companies and lines and the Bell system is an essential factor in enabling anyone anywhere to pick up a telephone and talk to anyone else, anywhere else, clearly and quickly. Moreover, this co-operation is invaluable in marshalling the resources of the entire telephone industry in the interest of national defense."

The average number of telephone conversations per day in 1940, was 79,303,000, over 5,000,000 more per day than in 1939.

Bell System employees number 322,000 at the end of the year, an increase of 24,900 over the end of 1939. Despite the addition and training of many thousands of new employees, the report says, and the necessity of caring for a record volume of traffic and a record growth in telephones, the quality of the service not only did not suffer, but was on the whole improved.

"The average Bell telephone is in working order more than 99.98 per cent of the time, in spite of the complexity of the telephone instrument itself, the intricate switching, signaling and circuit mechanisms in the telephone central offices and on telephone lines, and the interruptions in service caused by, steel, wind, floods and lightning."

Shorefront Extension Conference Tonight

One feature that has appealed to those advocating the plan is the fact that it would serve to eliminate a worry that has been on the minds of many for years, the contamination of the area feeding the local water works, by the infiltration of salt water. The possibility of salt water getting into the area from which the water works draws its supply has been recognized for years, and it has been pointed out that the filling in of this area to extend the shore line approximately 1000 feet further east would create a protective bulkhead for the protection of the water works.

The officials of the Borough of Sayreville have several times unofficially expressed themselves in favor of the extension plan, and since Mayor William Chevalier of Sayreville is a member of the Port Raritan Commission he will probably do everything in this power to push the plan so far as that borough is concerned.

There is no doubt in the minds of those favoring the plan that industries would immediately take advantage of the new industrial sites that would be available. When officials of the National Lead Company located the Titanium plant in Sayreville Township, they declared they would have immediately located their plant along the shore front in the area being considered for the filling in, if this work had been completed at that time.

Brighten your Lenten meals with Tuna Luncheon Pies

Savory creamed Tuna and Peas in tender, delicate pastry

Here's a Lenten suggestion that is a welcome change. These Tuna Luncheon Pies are so colorful, tempting and easily prepared, you'll want to serve them frequently throughout the year.

Tuna, fish and green peas are added to a cream sauce that is seasoned to savory perfection. They're served in tender, individual Spry pastries. Picrust made with this purer all-vegetable shortening is so flaky and delicate, you get the full, delicious flavor of the filling. Cut out the recipe and try it today. Use this delicate pastry for full-flavored, double-crust pies, too.

Tuna Luncheon Pies

8 tablespoons Spry
2 tablespoons four
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons pepper
2 teaspoon paprika
Dash of cayenne
2 cups milk
1 can tuna fish
(7-ounce), flaked
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
Melt Spry in saucepan; add flour and seasonings and blend well. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly, and continue stirring and cooking until thickened.

Combine tuna fish and lemon juice. Add fish, peas, and pimiento to ½ of sauce.

Roll pie-dough ¼-inch thick and cut into 8-inch squares. Fill each square into muffin tins. Fill with tuna fish mixture. Fold ends over to seal pies. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 40 minutes.

Add pimiento and parsley to other half of cream sauce. Serve sauce in boat or under pies. Makes 12.

Spry Picrust

¾ cups sifted all-
purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
Sift flour and salt together. Add ¼ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a large pea. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork, work lightly into a dough. Add just enough water to moisten. All measurements in these recipes level

Mrs. Jennie Nichols Died Sunday at Memorial Hospital

Following an operation at the local Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Jennie M. Nichols, widow of the late James E. Nichols, died Sunday at the institution.

Born in Jersey City, the deceased came here in 1908. She was active in the affairs of the South Amboy Woman's Club, the Woman's Auxiliary of the South Amboy Memorial Hospital, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Progressive Fire Company, and the Republican Party here.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from residence, 415 Bordentown avenue. Interment was in Christ Church Cemetery.

LITERATURE DEPT. WILL HAVE CHARGE OF WOMAN'S CLUB SESSION

With Miss Edna Agan, the chairman leading, the Literature Department will present the program at the next meeting of the South Amboy Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. M. Caswell Heine will be the speaker and there will be a piano duet by Mrs. William Spencer and Mrs. E. R. Owen.

Hickeys will be Mrs. Harold Filskov and Mrs. Norman Scully.

INSURE Against Fire! DON'TS

1. Don't leave fluid-soaked rags to accumulate in cupboards or closets! They can result in spontaneous combustion.

2. Don't experiment with home dry cleaning and inflammable cleansers! It's cheaper to have them done professionally.

3. Don't smoke in bed—you can never tell when you'll get drowsy and let a cigarette fall on bedding or carpet.

4. Don't leave matches or inflammable fluids within reach of children who've not been taught their use.

5. If you have anything combustible in home or garage, label it clearly with a CAUTION-FLAMMABLE message.

6. Don't have curtains or drapery near a stove—they may blow over the lit jets and catch fire very easily.

7. Don't leave a fire-place unattended before it is reduced to embers—shielded from blowing into the room.

These are all such simple precautions — yet neglect of them causes thousands of dollars of loss of property — and even loss of life — each year! Play safe. Insure against fires by being careful! and insure against fire loss by taking out one of our complete fire protection policies.

PIPE DREAMS

The storm Friday night was the means of reviving a romance that it was thought all the fire had gone out of.

A local butcher boy, whose favorite expression is "Yep I knew it," was on his way to see a girl in Red Bank Friday night, when the snow storm got so bad he couldn't see to drive, so when he got to Keyport, he decided travelling to Red Bank was too much of a chance to take that night and stopped in to see the old flame in Keyport. He was down to see her again Saturday night, and paid another visit Sunday night.

Among the 7,772 people in town are some who have some interesting hobbies, but we met a scholarly inclined man the other day who has what we consider a very unusual hobby.

Whenever he hears a new slang expression, he makes a note of it, the date he first heard it, and the person he first heard utter it. His records he claims fills three or four notebooks and the first slang word recorded is "23 skidoo."

One of the fourteen local men looking for the cop job seems to have gone into training to be a tough guy so that he can be a good cop. We noted him strolling about the burg this week with a big scratch on his nose; maybe the punching bag flew back and hit him.

This draft business is doing two things, calling some of the boys for a physical examination to prove they are physically fit, and proving that some of the boys who don't go in the army would make good recruits for the diplomatic corps. The diplomacy is demonstrated by the lads who arrange these parties. Of late they have developed the habit when they arrange a farewell party, of inviting the girl friend of the guest of honor to the party and calling upon her to speak. The only thing the girl can do under the circumstances is get up and say she'll wait for the guest of honor until his army service is over, all of which makes him go away feeling assured he won't have to worry about someone else getting her, since she's made the statement of fidelity before a number of witnesses.

Quite a few local people were noted Saturday night standing along the sidewalk on Smith street, in the city across the Raritan, watching the busses and cars bumping along the street. If one never had any "ups and downs" in life, he got them riding along Smith St. Saturday night.

Since childhood we have heard about the "Rocky Road to Dublin" and since the outer part of Smith St. is known as "Dublin," maybe the city fathers over on the other side of the Raritan had a reason that we didn't appreciate.

However, it's our belief the rocky road was caused by inefficient budget preparation, which did not provide funds for snow removal.

The council candidates are coming forth rapidly in the Fourth and we expect soon to see the fourth come forth, since there are now three in the field. The present three are a former candidate, a former councilman and a former Board of Education member.

You may be wondering why there is so little political activity around this city these days, and you may be blaming the politicians for not working, which of course generally means holding secret meetings.

The boys are holding their secret meetings however, the same as formerly and they are holding them in a thirteenth floor in the first important town you reach after you cross the county line and get into Monmouth county.

The boys always sit at the far table on the right side of the place, back of the nicker music machine so they won't be seen. The trouble with this location however is that the boys can't hear each other because they sit so close to the music. Another annoyance they have to put up with is the noise from the bowling alleys up stairs over their heads. The blonde waitress in the place, and some of the beautiful steady women customers at the place also get the boys mind off the business at hand.

One of the boys who attends the conferences always takes his car, the second license number twice the first, around the corner to park it, so it won't be seen.

At one recent conference, the casaparra drinker in the corner drank so much of the liquid that he could hardly get up the stairs to get out of the place.

The stooge at the garage at the two road intersection on the way to Perth Amboy is running a free taxi service. He is proving to be a sucker for women, especially when he gets up at 6 in the morning, to run his car across the city to take them to work.

Anywhere at all now you can walk right into a lend-lease argument.

For instance Tuesday night at the "Peacock Bar" the Boss himself, Mayor of the East Side of Mechanicsville, was back of the bar arguing with a local Republican leader. The boss got very excited about everyone else not thinking with him that England should have a great deal of U. S. help, and he demonstrated the importance of his arguments, with a night stick in his left hand and an ice pick in his right. Asked for a definition of Democracy, he declared "I just want to see you live in Europe 24 hours."

While the argument was going on, the waitress who was listening in, got herself a plate of potatoes, sat at the bar eating them, then closed her eyes and almost dropped off to sleep. However she couldn't sleep much, because the famous Bergen Hiller, who holds the Keyes to so many situations, was sitting beside her and kept whispering in her left ear. Once when the argument got real hot, the waitress dropped the way, and blamed it on the vibration of the argument.

And all the time the boss of the place was standing back of the bar arguing about England and the importance of saving Europe, he was standing in front of a sign that read "America, love it or leave it."

THROUGH THE HOOP

Editor's Note: The opinions expressed here are those of the writer and do not necessarily agree with those of the management.

As has been the custom in the past when the basketball season commenced to enter the final stages of the campaign this corner always selected an all star high school basketball which is comprised of athletes from local institutions.

It is much more difficult to select an all star array this season because of the fact that most of the local high school performers turned in spasmodic performances. However, some players were more brilliant than others.

Before we go into the selection there is one difficulty that this corner would like to have ironed out thoroughly. And that circumstance deals with Tom Zebro, St. Mary's brilliant point maker who was banished from the Blue and Gold squad because of scholastic difficulties.

Because of his ineligibility this corner is not reserving a spot on the team for the former St. Mary's forward. Not because of the fact that he was not good enough for the team but mainly because he didn't finish the season. If he had completed the season he would have been yours truly's first choice.

For the first forward berth we select Walt Rogers from Harford G. Hoffman High School. The main reason for Rogers' selection was due to the fact that he was a consistent point getter. Secondly, because he could always score points when they meant most. A player that makes his shots count when the going is tough is worthy of a position on any team. Therefore Rogers good point shooting coupled with his fine character and sense of sportsmanship rates him one of the forward posts.

At the other forward post we nominate Young Dowling from St. Mary's High School. Dowling is one of finest ball handlers we've seen since the days of Pete Pavich. He possesses that unique sense of finesse that marks one a basketball performer of high standing. He rates his place on this corner's team mostly because of his ability as a play starter. Everytime he handled the ball St. Mary's was more than certain to have the ball worked into the basket.

At the center post we place Sparonick of Hoffman High School, one of the best center men we've looked at in quite some time. He used his height to great advantage by consistently taking the ball from the backboard. Another great advantage that he possessed was his ability to garner points. He was always a high scoring player for Hoffman High School.

At the guard post we select Trip Chessman, one of the finest headiest players the Saints ever possessed. He is the player that is mostly responsible for the calmness that the Saints attained in their stormiest moments. He was the brains of the Blue and Gold team. Without him in the lineup the Saints looked very elementary. Not only is he a good leader of a team, but also a good shot, a good guard and a better headplayer.

At the other guard post the selection is Bud Buckalew. A first year man who made all the veterans look up and take notice. In his initial year he compiled a magnificent record. His shooting eye is compared with the best the town has to offer. His guarding is positively brilliant. And furthermore he is an outstanding team player. Never plays for personal glory but always has the interest of his team uppermost in his mind.

There fans, is your all city team. One of the finest arrays you could place on a court. There were other players such as Norek, Miller, Zebro Gregor, Reid and a host of others who we would have very much liked to place on the squad because of some of their seasonal performances but the team we placed on the squad is the team we thought was the finest composition of high school players the town had to offer.

The Gus George Association is rather upset because of the fact that Tom English attempted to book a game with the Clowns instead of their club. They claim they are the champs and they should be represented first with any challenges. Well, if the Mechanicsville team plays the Clowns, and should the Hole in the Wallers win a game between the Clowns and Tom English' outfit should prove to be a very tasty basketball dish.

Newark Fans Hope for Another Great Club During 1941 Season

Squad of 32 Prospects is Working Out at Sebring, Florida

With a squad of 32 of the best minor league prospects in the country working out at Sebring, Fla., under the direction of Manager Johnny Neun and the Yankees expected to send over a half dozen players of proved ability, Newark fans are hopeful for another great club in 1941.

The Bears won the junior worlds championship last year mainly because of their great pitching, six members of that all-star mound staff graduating to the Yankees. Early indications are that this year's mound corp will be just as formidable, what with Joe McCarthy expected to give the Bears at least three of his 18 good pitchers and the yearling crop better than ever.

Three of the new Bruin fingers led their respective leagues in some department or other last year. Earl Reid was the shutout king of the Eastern League for Binghamton; Mel Queen topped the Mid-Atlantic League in strikeouts for Akron, and Jim Davis won the most Sally League games for Augusta. Oren Baker had an exceptional record with a poor Norfolk club and Floyd Boyens, Rus Christopher, Vincent DeBalsi and Al Moran all come well recommended from various Yankee farm clubs.

With Hank Barney training with the Yankees, the only holdovers in camp at this writing are the veteran Fred Frankhouse, almost a perfect relief pitcher last year, and the youthful southpaw Tom Byrne and John Johnson, who figure to blossom into International League stars.

Freddy Archer and Joey Zodda Headline Fight Card Tonight

Four Six Rounders Will Be Put On At Masonic Hall

Freddy Archer, Newark's great lightweight, and Joey Zodda, clever New Yorker who is waging a comeback, will headline tonight's fight card at the Masonic Hall, Highland Park. Four six rounders will be presented by Promoter Benny Rubin, instead of the usual three.

Club favorites will occupy each of the other windup spots. Frankie Archie, Raritan lightweight who knocked out Gil Ramos in 1:58 of the first round at Laurel Garden Monday night, meets Frankie Van, Bayonne negro.

Tony Capici, another Raritan youngster, takes on Walter Slater of Paterson, who kayaked Lou Rossi in one round and ended the Bound Brook fighter's career. In the other six, hard hitting Jack Kenny, Livingston middleweight, faces Bill Grant, undefeated Newarker who has won all 11 of his pro battles, the last seven by kayo.

In the two fours, Tommy Roundtree, Rutgers student, and Jimmy Rega of Newark will fight it out and Pancho Cortez of Newark will mingle with Eddie Simon, the "African Bushman" from Plainfield.

Weekend Storm Gives Street Dept. Considerable Work

Anniversary of Famous Blizzard Found Traces Still Evident

When the fifty-third anniversary of the "Big Blizzard" of 1888 dawned over the city Tuesday, oldsters who recalled the famous snow storm, looked upon the dirty snow remnants of the second weekend snow within two weeks.

Evidence of the previous storm were still in evidence Friday when snow began to fall again at a rapid rate. It continued Friday night and Saturday morning covering the city with a foot of snow. Later came rain that froze on top of the snow, making it hard to remove and hard to travel through.

The street department found itself confronted with one of the hardest snow removing problems it has had to contend with for years. The men of the department worked all Friday night, Saturday night and Sunday night at snow removal work.

Through the centuries Polish cavalry has been recognized in military circles as one of the most irresistible fighting units in active campaigning. A squadron cooperating with the British forces (above) moves to the front somewhere in Libya. The Polish forces, with those of the other allies, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Free France, the Netherlands and Norway, are fighting on with the British for a new Europe.

MADE SUPREME SACRIFICE

It is a long time the echoes of the first World War rolled away, but in the voluminous records of the War Department stories of gallantry and self-sacrifice are still being revealed. In some cases some appropriate recognition is made, even though more than a score of years have passed.

More than 22 years ago U. S. Marines were holding tenaciously to the gains they had made in Belleau Wood, France. An intense enemy bombardment of high explosives and gas shells, wounded or killed many members of the company.

One badly wounded marine had his gas mask shot away, yet disregarding his own safety and knowing full well that the effects of the gas would be fatal to him, Gunner Sergeant Fred W. Stockham insisted upon giving his gas mask to the wounded man.

Then, with undaunted courage and valor, Stockham continued to direct and assist in the evacuation of the wounded in an area saturated with gas and swept with artillery, until he collapsed from the effects of the abominable fumes. His exposure to the gas caused his death a few days later.

When a review of the War Department records several months ago revealed the heroism of Stockham, he was posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor by direction of President Roosevelt.

Rarely have the records brought to light a story more replete with nobility of character, human interest and self-sacrifice.
