TRUNK TONICS BY THE STAFF TUNN TUNES

In this town, as well as in many other American towns and in cross-roads stores, there were in the past, as residents gathered about the stove in the back of the store, impromptu forums conducted at which everything from cabbages to kings was discussed.

Of late the statement has frequently been heard that what America needs today is a return to the forum around the stove, or a similar institution, and there are others who claim that this institution has been outmoded and people did nothing on these occasions but talk about running the county, while someone else really did it.

True, as they assembled around the stove, these men made no laws, nor amended or repealed any existing ones, but the forum did accomplish a real purpose, because they listened and stimulated an exchange of ideas that caused people to think and vote more intelligently.

Maybe America doesn't need the forum around the stove today, because they have seemed to stimulate tobacco chewing and the tobacco juice landing on the hot stove gave off an offensive smell, but the constructive thinking by person turnover of the forum around the stove in days gone by, far surpassed what we are getting from many of today's elected representatives.

It's pretty hard to tell nowadays what will really win the war and theories and statements, sometimes, fascinating, sometimes ridiculous, furnished and stimulated an exchange of ideas that caused people to think and vote more intelligently.

One comprehensive document recently put forward goes to great lengths to show that the side which succeeds in establishing a corner on metals will win, since it is impossible to conduct war without metals.

One cannot help but think when he reads this document that long hours of research and study have gone into its making to tell how the war may be won.

If the same amount of constant, intensive study that is now being devoted to winning the war, was devoted to the maintaining of peace, wonder if success would not reward the effort, and the Eutopia man has sought since the beginning of civilization, a world free of war, would not be made possible.

A party of congressmen will leave to visit the American soldiers serving in Europe, to learn what the soldiers think about things in general and conditions in this country in particular.

The congressmen, talking to hard-boiled soldiers who have been through some unusual experiences, and have no patience with inefficiency, bungling and buckpassing, will likely find out considerable that they never knew before.

What these legislators hear will be the true expression of the soldiers, and a preview of what they will have to say when the war is over, and they arrive on our shores again to take up the business of running the country.

Whether or not the congressmen will pay attention to what they hear and be governed accordingly, is problematic, since there is no reason to believe the congressmen visiting in Europe will pay any more attention to what they hear, than those who represent the American still in this country. However, the idea is a good one, and wise congressmen, if they are among the number who are to visit, will pay close attention, and profit by what they hear from the soldiers.

Another has been added to the ranks of would-be world conquerors and now Mussolini is classed with Alexander, Napoleon and others who, inspired by ambitions to rule the world and subjugate its peoples, discovered the job was too big for them.

History repeats itself frequently in the sense that the closing days of a dictator's career are always the same, they end ingloriously.

The "great Duke," who frequently stood on a balcony with his chest stuck out, and uttered defiance to the whole world has of a sudden become an impetuous figure, fearful of being humiliated, and running through the windows, to escape those who would take his life, as he has the lives of so many others, and his country, which he was to lead in triumph to a conquest of the whole world, is now torn by internal strife and lies in a pitiful condition at the mercy of all, including its German allies.

Wants Vice-Commandership; Elected Commander

With certain misgivings, a group of local Legionnaires left here Saturday afternoon for the county convention of the American Legion of Middlesex County. They had been promised support of the candidacy of their recently elected Commander, William H. Barry, for the office of County Vice Commander, but the Legionnaires thought back over the past 25 years and recalled occasions when they had left for county conventions with similar assurances, only to find that at the last minute promises had not been kept and their candidate was defeated.

When the convention was over, however, the local delegates were almost speechless, for instead of having landed their candidate in the post of Vice Commander, he had been elected to the highest honor within the gift of the organization, County Commander. Their sales talk regarding Barry's ability to hold the office of Vice County Commander, plus his record in Legion work throughout the county and state, had convinced the delegates that he could serve better as Commander than as Vice Commander.

Local post members are jubilant over the honor accorded Barry, since he is the first member of the local post to have been elected County Commander, despite the fact that efforts have been made for years to land a member of Luke A. Lovely Post in that office.

Barry has announced the appointment of John J. Andrejewski of the local Post as County Adjutant, one of the appointments made by the County Commander. Andrejewski has been active in the post here for a number of years and is a Past Commander, besides having served for a number of years as the Post Adjutant as well as chairman of a number of important committees.

Percy J. Quackenbush, another local man, although a member of Perth Amboy Post No. 46, was elected to another important post, when he was selected as state executive committee member.

Memorial services were conducted during the session of the Auxiliary, by Mrs. James Cockburn, assisted by Mrs. George Boyne, county chaplain. Red and white gladioli were placed in a bleeding heart frame of fern as the names of deceased members were called. Mrs. Leo J. Oakley, of the local Auxiliary participated in this service.

Mrs. Mary Seaman of Perth Amboy Unit 45 was elected president of the Auxiliary during its session. The Legion convention took place in the Elks building while the Auxiliary held its session in the Roosevelt Junior High School.

Police Continue On Trail Of Men Aiding In Holdup

Card Players Robbed Saturday Morning In Broadway Smoke Shop

Local police with County detectives Lieutenant McDermott and Detective Drodick are running down a series of clues they hope will lead to the arrest of the two accomplices of Vincent Pagano of 216 Penn. Street, Linden, N. J., charged with the "sticking up" of the participants in a card game at 113 Broadway early Saturday morning.

Police obtained from Pagano the admission that he was the owner of the car and had driven two other men to the scene of the holdup and took part in it. Brought before Police Recorder John E. Mullane, Pagano was held for the action of the grand jury without bail. The amount taken from the card players has been estimated at various amounts.

After the men entered the place and relieved the six men of all their cash, they ran from the place up Broadway to the spot where their car was parked and raced off in the direction of Main Street.

Patrolman Troniec was across the street at the time, ringing a call box to headquarters, when a man rushed up declaring, "There is a stick up across the street." Patrolman Coughlin came up to the box at the same time, and both policemen ran across the street to the scene of the pickup, but by that time the trio had disappeared. From a passerby, who had seen the men run to the car, the officers obtained the license number, and contacted local headquarters, where Lieutenant Malszewski broadcasted an alarm for the arrest of the men.

Two Rahway policemen cruising about watching for the car, saw it in that city shortly after midnight, giving chase forced the car to the curb. They declared Tagano, jumped from the car and ran, as soon as it stopped. The police gave chase but the man ran through yards and dived into a clump of bushes in a when the officers were close, he yanked and they lost him. However, they kept up the search, and as daylight approached, saw him walking down a street and arrested him.

Chief Quinlan declared investigation revealed the man has a police record.

Will Weigh Trucks For War-time Study At Laurence Harbor

State Highway Commission Miller Announces Plans

Laurence Harbor has been selected as one of the locations for the weighing of trucks using the public roads, which will begin next Monday, as a nation-wide, war-time survey for the U. S. Public Roads Administration, State Highway Commissioner Spencer Miller Jr., has announced.

To lessen delays two crews will be assigned to the task and the only other information to be requested will be the origin and destination of the vehicles.

The wheels on the right side of each truck will be driven on portable scales placed at the road shoulder and from these totals the entire weight will be calculated.

By this study the U. S. Public Roads Administration seeks to determine war-time changes in road transportation which may affect maintenance problems in the State Highway Department.

159 BLOOD DONOR VOLUNTEERS HERE

Harold Edgcomb Sr., chairman of the blood plasma committee of the local Red Cross, has announced that 159 blood donors volunteered for the transfusions which took place last Thursday afternoon at the Masonic Temple. Twenty-two of those who volunteered were rejected.

Mr. Edgcomb has expressed his appreciation of the work of those who took the pledges, as well as to those who donated blood.

Physical Training Teacher Refuses To Take Job Here

Lack Of Facilities Here Prompts Him To Withdraw His Name

A physical training instructor and coach the Board of Education voted to hire at its meeting Tuesday evening, will not be a member of the teaching staff of the public schools when they open next September.

After an interview, the Board members decided to hire Leo M. McHale for a one-year term at a salary of $2200 per year. McHale, a graduate of the Stroudsburg Teachers' College, spent the last two years in a similar position at Belleville, N. J., after teaching for three years near Pittsburgh. The Board was particularly pleased with his record as a teacher, and the fact that his basketball teams had lost but two games in five years.

However, yesterday morning Superintendent of Schools Tustin received a letter from McHale, saying he was no longer a candidate for the position because of the lack of facilities here, "lack of facilities makes me believe I would not be able to accomplish the kind of results in this field that I think necessary," he said.

Last Record Collection By Legion Here Tomorrow

Rosenberg Says This City Is Far Behind Quota

Chairman Louis Rosenberg of the local American Legion committee collecting old phonograph records to be remodeled for the use of men and women in the service, announced that the final collection will take place tomorrow, and records should be placed on the curb for collection.

While the local post was among the leaders in the first record collection, Rosenberg said, the response in this second drive has been very poor, and this city is far below the quota. He said he hoped the collection tomorrow would result in a large return so that this city might reach the quota.

Records should be placed on the curb for collection.

School Board Authorizes Employee Raises In Neighborhood of $5,000.00

An increase in the payroll for the public schools of South Amboy that will total in the neighborhood of $5,000 according to an estimate made by John Vail, president of the Board was made at the meeting Tuesday evening. Bringing the matter before the Board, Mrs. William P. Nichols, chairman of the teachers committee, declared the schedule provided for increases for all employees, and the increases averaged about $100 per individual. However, the usual procedure of reading off the names of those to receive the increase was not followed.

DO WE APPRECIATE RAILROADS?

And talking about railroads, the Albion, Iowa, News says: "No matter how we may be thinking about aviation, automobiles and merchant marine, without the railroads this nation's transportation breaks down utterly."

If you will take time off to observe for yourself what these railroads are doing to move troops and freight in this war era you will come to a new appreciation of how utterly futile would be all other efforts were the railroads to break down in this time of emergency.

The railroads have lost manpower to the selective service, and have been smacked hard by priorities and the lack of essential materials. There isn't a problem affecting other business that hasn't affected the railroads more. They have done and are doing the impossible — handling a multiplied volume with a diminished equipment.

NONSENSE MUST CEASE

One effective weapon against inflation is greater production of consumer goods. Taxes and bonds can never be made to absorb all of the war inflated earnings of the people. Moreover, it is becoming evident that price ceilings are a limited success. Therefore, to help maintain stability there must be sufficient production of necessities to furnish an outlet for consumers' dollars. If there is no such purchasing power outlet and wages continue to spiral upward, accompanied by astronomical government borrowing, the inevitable result will be more and more inflation.

Civilian production should not be curbed any more than is absolutely necessary to armament demands. The nonsense of artificial restrictions on production merely to make the people realize they are at war, must cease. Lengthening casualty lists carry their own tragic story.

In addition to stepping up production, the reams of red tape entangling retail distribution must be removed. Rationing and price regulations must be simplified. Attempts to stop inflation by bludgeoning retail prices back to lower levels, regardless of costs, should be abandoned before the distribution industry is demoralized. The average merchant, chain store in particular, operates on paper thin margins.

If the "get tough" theorists persist in hunting for excuses to curtail production and distribution, instead of hunting for means to achieve greater production and more efficient distribution, the country will have not only inflation but thousands of crippled industries. And instead of being able to sit in Washington issuing decrees from swivel chairs to cooperative, organized retailers, the price fixers will be forced to chase up and down the back alleys of the nation in a vain attempt to catch black market operators.

FIRE GUARDS

Civilian defense officials have repeatedly warned that as the prospect of military defeat becomes increasingly apparent to German and Japanese leaders, the danger of air attacks on this country grow greater. Fire bombs will play a major part if such attacks occur.

As the Office of Civilian Defense points out: "War has aggravated the fire hazards in every American community. Ordinary day-to-day fires threaten our lives and war production. Beyond that, the new enemy high explosive fire bombs carry with them the threat of disastrous conflagrations unless trained volunteers are ready to stop small fires before they can endanger large areas. In present day bombings of cities and vital war centers, fire bombs comprise more than half the 'pay load'. A city may have more than a thousand fires set simultaneously — a task far beyond the capacity of regular fire-fighting forces."

The OCD is mobilizing a fire guard force of selected civilians not only to combat fire caused by enemy action, but to combat fire losses brought about by our own carelessness. The result of OCD efforts should be to make the nation increasingly aware of

An "Old Timer" Comes Back for Wartime Service

IT'S THE "DESKSTAND TELEPHONE"—retired from active duty in many places when hand set telephones came into popularity.

Fortunately, many of these older instruments were stored for possible emergency use—and today, tested and reconditioned to give clear, dependable reception, they are helping to meet wartime needs for service.

New telephones for civilian use haven't been made in many months—the materials they would use are going into special combat equipment for our armed forces.

With hand sets available only when customers have their service disconnected, the "deskstands" are proving of great help in making existing facilities go as far as possible.

PIPE DREAMS

Listening without seeing, Sunday afternoon at Chamber Park, surrounding the waterworks, one might have thought the automobile had disappeared completely, and the horse was back in the picture again in a big way, for often was heard the expression, "that's your shoe" or "that's my shoe," accompanied by the sound of clinking horseshoes.

What was really taking place was a clambake held by a local fire company and the Hooks playing horseshoes, were having trouble with their hooks, when they threw the horseshoes.

If one were at the right place Sunday afternoon, he could learn considerable about the subject of milk; and of all places, the milk information was being passed out in "The Abby", while the boys were standing before, and surrounding suds.

There was a real peculiar situation on Broadway Monday afternoon. A well known local woman stood at the John Street corner, and looking toward the shore, saw a young man walking along the bulkhead at the foot of John Street, and declared he should be arrested because he was bathing in the nude, and a railroad man that she was talking to should have the young man arrested.

The railroadman braced himself and took a good look at the young man walking along the shore front bulkhead, then turned to the woman and declared, "Well my eyes aren't good enough to swear that fellow has no clothes on, he's too far away."

The woman continued to indignantly insist that the bather was minus clothes, whereupon the railroad man set up a list of arguments; suppose the young man was wearing flesh colored tights, suppose he didn't have any on now, but got them on before the cops came, why if it was so terrible, didn't the people closer to him report the fact that he was clothesless, and after all if he was, what was the difference, and with four directions to look in why did she look that way.

The woman walked away from him without replying.

There is a sign in the window of the place on Broadway where the stickup was held the other night, that advertises a carnival and reads, "World of Mirth."

The boys who lost their money couldn't find a laugh in the stickup, and still can't when they think about the dough they handed out.

It was surprising to discover the number of bottle babies we have in town Sunday afternoon, when the story was "tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching." They were marching from one place to the other in the hope that they could find suds in a bottle but there was none to be had.

Some of the boys however, liked this situation, because it made it necessary for them to go to the taverns personally taking their thirsts and stomachs with them.

The shortage of the suds in bottles, also had the effect of making it possible for a number of the natives to meet a number of out of town people, for those visiting here were brought to taverns because there was no possibility of taking bottled beer home and having kitchen parties.

Nobody seems to know what happened to the Brooklynite named "Ed", who was visiting here, and was brought to a local tavern by a Second Ward resident. He got stimulated and when the local man who brought him to the tavern told him he'd get bawled out by his wife when he went back, he said he'd take her some back and walked out with a whiskey glass full. The man who brought him to the tavern won't talk, but all the boys who were in the place at the time have suspicions.

We noted two very proper looking women walking past a local gin mill the other afternoon and turning on funny looks when they heard the voices from inside yelling "take it off."

Apparently the ladies thought Gypsy Rose Lee or some other burlesquer was in the place.

What's really going on inside when those words float out through the thiratorium door, is a shuffle board game with one of the place close to the line, and the spectators rooting for the opposition player to knock it out of position.

It's the same with the expression "Little Boy Blue". When you hear that, Little Boy Blue is not in the place leaning against the mahogany. The expression is used when a player "blows" a shot, by missing the mark he aimed at.

Also when you hear a player yell, "I've got the hammer", don't think he's planning to do some carpenter work. He simply means that he gets the last shot and can clean the board with it.

We don't know whether or not you can call a fellow a "rounder" because he continues driving around a traffic circle for about five minutes before he settles down, but we do know that a local man and his heart patter go out to Old Bridge traffic circle, and he drives around it two or three times to make sure he coast is clear, before he drives down the road toward Englishtown to park.

The blackout that was predicted for twelve minutes past ten on Tuesday night did not come, but although the noise of the sirens was not heard, there was the same amount of noise, for the "Windy Warden" was out expostulating at his favorite thiratorium.

The warden was raving about the way things are being run and presented a rather unusual spectacle as he complained about his Uncle Sam to his real uncle. It was some sort of a demonstration of relativity, that only Einstein could fathom.

All this week, local and imported cops have been snooping around, trying to locate the two accomplices of the man who held up the card game Saturday morning, but the lads they're looking for seem to be like duces running wild.

Tuesday afternoon a local cop whose nickname is the same as a well known fish, was seen at the foot of George Street, standing in the water with his trousers rolled up and a cigar in his mouth.

Maybe during his investigation, he was told that one of the aird players, with a good hand, "went overboard", during the game, and he was walking around in the water in the hope that he might find him.

Vegetables Produce Varnish Oils Pumpkin, tomato, asparagus, currant and blueberry oils for use in varnish are reported as subjects of experiments by European chemists to cope with wartime shortages of other oils on the continent.

Melrose-M'ville Old-Timers Ball Game Planned

Proceeds Will Be Turned Over To First Aid Squad

Several sports fans of the Melrose and Mechanicsville sections have been busy this week with plans for an old timers baseball game they declared will be "something different," bringing out not only players who have hung up their spiked shoes in recent years, but players who played the game when "Murphy's Corner" was a ball field, there was one glove to a team and brake-sticks were used for bats.

The players one of them at least, who stood at bat the last time in 1896, will don their ancient uniforms to appear in the contest which will bring together representatives of Melrose and Mechanicsville.

The game will be played on St. Mary's Field on Sunday, August 15th and will be for the benefit of the First Aid and Safety Squad.

Bill Erickson, who last appeared in baseball uniform when he played with the Melrose Elks, will manage the team representing that section while Frank "Hank" Bloodgood, star on many old time teams in this section, will pilot the representatives of the Mechanicsville section.

A WAC Takes Over

Staff Sgt. John Hollars (top) advertised for a WAC to take over his desk job so he could go into active duty. Corp. Elsie J. Mahler got the job. Hollars (bottom) shows her where he hopes to fight.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

"Smoke Eaters"

A battlewagon loaded with various explosives, bombs, torpedoes, oil and gasoline is not the safest place to be with a fire raging, so all but the smaller ships of our Navy are equipped with elaborate fire fighting apparatus.

It may be that this equipment never will be used during the entire course of the war, but it must be paid for out of the War Bonds and Stamps that we are setting aside each payday. U. S. Treasury Department
