TAX TONICS

Don't look now, but there is rather a sharp contrast between the way things are going, or coming, in two of our southeastern states, New York and Massachusetts.

A report of the State Tax Commission in New York is taken to indicate that the Legislature will not need to enact any increases in taxes this year.

However, in Massachusetts, Governor Dever is reported to be preparing recommendations for a series of increases in the state income tax, the gasoline tax, and new levies on real estate profits or rents, to total more than $40,000.

At this time, when federal taxation must be made still more severe for defense, there is a great deal of attractiveness about a state government that can make its existing revenues cover the reasonable needs of the state budget.

It may be that the city council of Spalding, England, has hit upon the perfect device for making their motorists behave. If Spalding motorists don't pay their 25 cent municipal parking lot charges, a policeman will detain their tires.

The Spalding city fathers have a sense of proportion worthy of the great Mikado, in the famous Gilbert and Sullivan play, who proposes to make the punishment fit the crime, and the Spalding officials under such a system, could work out a list of penalties for various offenses for which motorists are noted. Policemen, whose lot has not been a happy one, will then begin enjoying themselves.

When the United Nations finds so apt a penalty for aggressors, and so delightful for law enforcement agents to apply, wars will become as rare as Spalding motorists with an unpaid parking lot charge soon will be.

Mrs. Smith's son is dying out there, and thousands of other mother's sons are doing likewise. It's time to stop fumbling.

To die bravely in the service of one's country is a glorious thing, a noble destiny that millions of American youths would accept if duty calls, but to sacrifice brave young lives through the unfitness of swivel-chair fumbler is a crime against this nation.

The United States is at war. It has been under lethal attack for more than a decade. But

Nagle Says Test Shows Air Raid Signal System Lacks Efficiency

Not only is there much work to be done locally, before South Amboy can be reasonably certain of being fully alerted in the event of an air raid alarm, but a more dependable relay system for sending the alarm from the county headquarters must be set up.

Local Civil Defense Chairman Michael P. Nagle made a statement along these lines following the state wide test of siren equipment held on Saturday.

The carefully laid plans for the test made here were hampered considerably because for some yet unknown reason, the word to begin the test, which was to have come from Perth Amboy, one of the links in the communications chain, was never received. As the result, not only were the local plans thrown off balance, but lacking official authorization, Nagle, who was to have passed the warning along to Madison Township did not do so. However, fearful of what might happen in this city, if people heard sirens going off in surrounding territories, but none here, Nagle explained, he ordered the sirens sounded. He said also developments appeared to reveal a lack of proper planning and supervision at the state as well as the county level generally, and orders were being given that were in considerable variance with instructions previously issued, by which local units were expected to make their plans.

While expressing the belief that the local temporary warning system is better than most in the area, Nagle said, the test proved it could not be depended upon too greatly, and neither of the signals was heard in many sections. The police department made a tour of the city while the tests were being conducted and their report revealed many "blind spots."

The signals were sent out on both the fire siren and over the amplifying system in the First Methodist Church over which a recording of a World War II siren call was sent out.

Nagle listed a number of reasons why neither of these signals could be depended upon too much, and among other things, pointed to the fact that the fire siren proved incapable of maintaining the prescribed steady blasts for the periods required, and at the conclusion of the test it was in such condition as to be useless until a power reserve had been built up. Again, there was danger it might not function in the event it was necessary for a fire or First Aid Squad alarm to be sounded.

Schools With Many Traditions Doomed To Pass Into Oblivion

In order to make it possible to present its budget requirements to the city for inclusion in the 1951 budget, the Board of Education plans final action with regard to the abandonment of Public School No. 2 on Fourth Street, and School No. 1 on George Street, when the monthly meeting is held Wednesday night.

Previously the Board advertised for bids for the tearing down of School No. 1, but they were rejected, because none met with the approval of the Board. It is believed that the Fourth Street School building will be offered for sale.

With the passing of these two school buildings, it is likely incidents of past school days will be recalled by many who during their youth, were students there. Both buildings are closely associated with the development of the local school system over the years.

According to a history of the schools prepared in 1934, by former Mayor Andrew N. Kvist, who was then a member of the Board of Education, work on the construction of the two schools, considered the first modern ones in local history, began about the same time in 1873, and in those days they were known as the "Park" school on George Street, and the "Raritan" school on Fourth Street.

South Amboy acquired the land on which School No. 1 and Hoffman High School buildings are now located, in the early fifties, when a local resident named Clinton, who had purchased the property bounded by John and George Streets, and Clinton Place and Stevens Avenue, for a clay mine he never worked, deeded the property to South Amboy Township for park purposes, exclusively, and stipulated in his will that if the plot was ever used for any other purpose, it would automatically revert to the heirs of his estate. However, his wishes in this respect were not carried out, but no one ever made a claim for the premise the grant had been ignored.

At first, the Fourth Street school consisted of but four rooms on the first floor. The upper floor was not partitioned off until some time later, due to a shortage of funds. Because it was located in what in those days was a heavy wooded section, this school became known

Survey For Housing To Start Here Monday

Will Be Made To Determine Local Needs

Councilman Woodrow McCarthy, administrator of the South Amboy Housing Authority, has announced that on Monday morning, a survey of the entire city will start with a door to door canvass conducted by the Economic Research Agency, for the purpose of gaining a clear picture of the local housing situation seriously affected by the explosion, which resulted in some people moving from the city others moving in and families forced to "double up" because of conditions.

McCarthy said it is expected the survey will be completed in about a week, and for the purpose of making it, the Agency will hire about 25 local people at City Hall.

He added that a similar survey, taken by the government about eight months ago, was rendered useless as a basis for public housing activities, because of the conditions which followed the catastrophe, and he asked that local people cooperate with the surveyors in every way possible, when they call at their homes.

Henry Kurtz To Again Lead March Of Dimes

Board Of Health Member Will Be Leader For 13th Year

For the 13th consecutive year, Henry Kurtz, local Board of Health member, will head the March of Dimes here.

Kurtz has announced completion of plans for a house to house canvass by the Girl Scouts on the last Saturday of this month. He has asked that donations from area factories and business firms be sent to him at 361 Conover Street.

Pointing out that this effort deserves the full support of all residents of the city, Kurtz said that Middlesex County is particularly fortunate in having its own hospital to which any local polio sufferer can be transferred in 20 minutes.

EXTEND DATE FOR BLAST CLAIMS

United States District Judge T. P. Meahy signed and order January 16, 1951 extending time for filing claims for damage against Healing and Sons, and James Healing Company, until March 23, 1951.

The extension was granted on the motion of David T. Williams Esq., Marshall Crowley Esq., and J.P. McGuire, Proctor of the City of South Amboy and South Amboy Disaster Committee, Inc.

Another order was filed on the same day of the motion of Attorney by Judge Meahy allowing all claims and pleadings in the Healing matter to be verified by Proctors of the people involved. This eliminated the necessity for having each claim verified by each individual.

A Blow to Unity

HERE IS NOT one of you who would not see the country ruined if you could turn out toward."

This was the wrathful answer of Abraham Lincoln to the Republicans of his day who were urging upon him the dismissal of Secretary of State William M. Seward. And, however a number of Republican senators and congressmen were sent about Secretary of State Dean Acheson, or even, however a large segment of the people may feel, the resolution signed by these Republicans in the congress calling for Acheson's dismissal is most certainly a disservice to the nation.

And even as this cabal sought to justify its action by inserting a clause pleading fullest cooperation with the President and the administration, there is no way to hide the blow to the nation's unity in this time of national danger.

Sen. Alexander Smith of New Jersey declared his fellow Republicans might instead be wiser as to "the fundamental unity of the American people." And Sen. Charles Tobey, Republican of New Hampshire, said: "God help the American people, if we do not all stick together and support the President of the United States in this critical emergency."

The facts are, these Republican members of the congress are seeking to culminate their pre-election campaign to "get Acheson." There is no question but that this campaign, spearheaded by Senators Joe McCarthy, William Jenner, Kenneth Wherry and others, was effective, marked as it was by a degree of distortion and falsehood, seldom equaled in a political campaign.

There is little doubt but that this campaign shook the confidence of many people in the country concerning Dean Acheson for it offered the people and these GOP leaders a convenient scapegoat for fears and criticisms of our foreign policy. Despite this campaign of smear and hate, the record shows what actually most of these accusations against the secretary of state are unnamed and unproved.

And a lesser man, a man not possessed with the strength and moral fibre of Dean Acheson, likely would have been hounded out of office. Aside from the damage done to the nation's unity there is the constitutional question that neither house nor senate has anything to do with the President's cabinet.

Loyalty Is Strength

President Truman can either ignore, or do as President Lincoln did, tell them exactly what he thinks of them. The house does have the power to impeach for cause, and the senate tries an impeachment brought by the house. But it is significant that such a procedure has not been broached for it never would be voted. Despite this evidence of disunity, many here in Washington are breathing a prayer that President Truman was right when he said in his address to the nation:

"Because our freedom is in danger, we are united in its defense. Let our aggressor think we are divided. Our great strength is the loyalty and fellowship of a free people. We pull together when we are in trouble and we do it by our own choice, not out of fear, but out of love for the great values in our American life, that we all have a share in."

It would be helpful, however, to the cause of that loyalty and fellowship exhibited right now in the congress.

Washington Silhouettes

At a recent press conference by Margaret Truman the men were supposed to be seen and not heard with the women reporters doing the questioning. A tall lanky reporter in the back row stood, and said: "It looks like there's a gag rule here." It was Joe Short, of the Baltimore Sun, who was named the President's press secretary the following day. Even Vice President Barkley now sports a round-the-clock body guard of three secret service men. And heard at the National Press Club bar apropos of Margaret Truman—"Every Republican is now a music critic." A courageous group of amputees engaged in a volley ball game at Walter Reed general hospital.

Farm Receipts Up

Cash receipts from farm marketing in November were $3.3 billion dollars, 14 per cent more than a year ago. Volume was less but prices averaged 16 per cent higher than November, 1949.

Also farm real estate advanced four per cent from July to November in contrast to a three per cent decline during the same period in 1949 with the east north central states showing the largest gain.

First Mississippi Span
The Rock Island railroad bridge at Davenport, Iowa, opened in 1856, was the first to span the Mississippi River. Built of wood, resting on stone piers, this 1,532-ft. structure was described as "the mechanical wonder of the West." The locomotive "Des Moines" was the first to cross the bridge, on April 21, 1856.

Canadian Mining
The mining industry is Canada's third largest primary industry from the standpoint of gross value of products, agriculture being first and forestry second. Canada today leads the world in the production of nickel, asbestos and platinum, and is the second largest producer of gold, zinc, cobalt and aluminum.

Danger of Blindness
Blindness is almost certainly in store for about 800,000 persons in the United States because they do not know they are suffering from glaucoma. Everyone more than 40 years old should be examined for this disease. In which the eyeballs harden. If detected in time, it can be cured.

PRISON INMATES HELP FIGHT JAIL BLAZE Prisoners of a West Berlin youth prison help firemen subdue a fire that swept the prison recently. American and German firefighters got the fire under control before serious damage was done. Authorities believe that the fire may have been deliberately started and have begun investigations to determine the cause of the blaze. They have commended the cooperation of the prisoner firefighters and their willingness to save their prison from the flames when they might have used the confusion to have escaped from the walls that held them.

LOOKING BACK 22 YEARS

ISSUE OF JAN. 18, 1929

On Tuesday evening January 18, the Italian-American Society held a meeting at which the annual installation of officers took place for the coming year.

Antonio Nicorvo, one of the dignitaries of the society, after being Treasurer for ten years was unanimously elected President, after declining the office of president several times. He is one of the best known and well liked Italian-American citizens of this city and has made it his home since arriving here from Italy.

The following officers were installed:

President, A. Nicorvo; Vice President, B. Chuffi; Corresponding Secretary, G. Pissillo; Financial Secretary, L. Credico; Treasurer, R. Cokucci; Trustees, F. Tedesco, Y. es Romeo, C. Nicorvo; Counsellors, A. Capelli, J. Spina, M. Milano, S. Fazio, D. Correntino.

Master of Ceremonies, R. Nicorvo; Sergeant of Arms, E. Vena.

Fire wardens were designated by Chief Joseph Stanton and confirmed as follows: Independence Engine and Hose Company, John Compton, Thos. Palmer, Edward Fleming, Chas. Grover, Enterprise Hook and Ladder Co., J. Conroy, M. Nagle, S. Conners, J. Minnick, Protection Engine Co., P. Connor, Charles Clark, G. Bachmann, Ed. Dooling, F. Kelly, Mechanicsville Engine Co., G. Gamble, T. Dooling, Fire Co., M. Nelson, C. J. J. Hwinger, A. Weber.

A list of officers for the Progressive Fire Company and the Mechanicsville Hose Company to serve for 1929 were reported by the secretaries of the respective fire companies and the action ordered confirmed by the council.

In a communication to the council, Mayor Andrew N. Kvist advised that by and with the consent of the council he appointed George Gundrum Sr., to the Board of Public Works to fill the unexpired term of the late Thomas N. Vall.

The annual election of officers of the Children of Mary Sodality of the Sacred Heart Church was held on Sunday afternoon and resulted in Miss Valeria Witkowska being elected president for the ensuing year. Other officers chosen were: Miss Frances Nebus, vice president; Miss Catherine Pryga, secretary; and Miss Helen Lagoda, treasurer. Rev. Zenon Lesniowski, pastor of the church, and Sister Mary Angela, in charge of the sodality, gave interesting talks to the members.

All the plans are completed for the big reamer and confetti dance which is to be held at the Sacred Heart Auditorium on Washington Avenue, by the S. Cecilia's Club of the Sacred Heart Church.

The committee has worked hard to make this the outstanding feature of the year with many surprises for all who attend.

The committee is headed by John J. Kukulski, Otto Jablonka, Louis Plockonka, Ross Zawacki, Agnes Barthowski and Joseph Janikowski.

A woman's helmet, lost by a member of the Independence Engine and Hose Company, was made shortly.

that company was answering an alarm on upper Bordentown Avenue some time ago, was returned this week. The helmet had been found by a truck driver working for Mr. Arthur Oswald of Newark, who in turn turned it over to his employer. The helmet was returned this week by Mrs. Oswald to D. E. Mahoney, of Broadway, a member of the company, and the finder was thanked by him in behalf of his company.

Mayor "Andy" Kvist was given quite a prolonged bit of applause at the meeting of the Tri-County Municipal Association at the Elks Club in Perth Amboy Wednesday night when he introduced the South Amboy delegation, which was by far the largest of any in attendance. The affair was the regular monthly meeting of the co-operative organization that started a few months ago at the suggestion of Mayor Heuser of Metamora, and the delegates Wednesday night were the guests of Mayor Frank Dorsey, of Perth Amboy, at a satisfying and well served dinner. The South Amboy delegation consisted of the Mayor, Chief of Police Gleason, Councilman at Large J. Raymond Malloy, Councilman Frank D. Stanton, City Clerk G. Frank Disbrow, City Treasurer George A. Kress, T. A. McNicholas and a Citizen representative.

Installation of county officers elected to serve the association for the coming year, was the feature of the monthly meeting of the Middlesex County Past Councilors' Association held at K. of P. Hall last Friday evening with J. el Parker Council acting as the host.

Wyat R. Thistle, of New Brunswick, was installed as County Councillor, with the following staff of officers: J. E. White, of Plainsboro, County vice councillor; William E. Applegate, of New Brunswick, recording secretary; Walter Pearson, of New Brunswick, assistant recording secretary; Fred Amer, of Perth Amboy, warden; Otto H. Miller, of the local council, conductor; William O. Newton, of Milltown, inside sentinel; John Drews, of Woodbridge, outside sentinel; John E. Bernard, of Perth Amboy, county marshal and Clarence M. Haight, retiring County Councillor, county past councillor.

State Council Treasurer Frank K. Muth acted as installing officer, assisted by the entire state staff.

After the ceremonies, addresses were made by the various state officers and refreshments were served by the entertainment committee of the local council.

St. Mary's High School varsity basketball team scored a big victory on Wednesday night, when they defeated the strong Cathedral High School team of Trenton, by a score of 36 to 26. The game was played on the Augusta Street court before a large gathering of fans. Carroll, Grimes and McGonigle led in the scoring for the local team.

Through the efforts of Congressman Harold G. Hoffman, the rural sections surrounding this city, may have mail-delivery service in the very near future. Postmaster Robert B. Chapman and Inspector G. E. Bachmann, of the post office department, made a survey of the territory last week and another survey is to be made.

The districts which Congressman Hoffman has been working for include Melrose, President Park, Morgan Heights, Morgan Beach, upper Bordentown Avenue and upper Main Street. All mail going to these sections will be under the jurisdiction of the local office and another carrier will have to be added to take care of this route. It is said that it will also be necessary for the new carrier to be furnished with an automobile to deliver the mail.

Residents living in these sections must now call at the local post office to secure their mail and packages, and this new plan would certainly be welcomed by them. Congressman Hoffman is spending much time working on this proposition, and no doubt an announcement will be forthcoming shortly to the effect that the route has become a reality.

St. Mary's Parent Teachers Association will sponsor within a very short time a musical comedy hit of the New York stage. The cast will be made up entirely of members of St. Mary's parish, many of whom have been seen in former amateur productions here.

The last play presented at St. Mary's Hall with local talent scored a great success, and it is expected that the proposed play will meet with probably more success.

"The O'Brien Girl," "Little Nellie Kelly" and "The Whole Town's Talking" are a few of the many plays presented to satisfied audiences here. Mrs. Joseph O'Brien is president of the association and is personally interested in the coming show.

Hundreds of local people have at some time or another the past two weeks flocked in droves to Keansburg, where on the door of the Church at St. Ann, an image is reflected. To some the apparition appears very clearly. To others the reflections seemed to be marred, and it is difficult to make out the figure.

Some days ago the lights of Keansburg were put out in an effort to determine whether or not the street corner lights had anything to do with the strange phenomena. The dimming of the lights apparently made the image plainer.

Since the strange figure had first been seen thousands of persons have journeyed to the little church for glimpses of the strange vision. People of all faiths made the visit to the church in order to satisfy themselves as to the reality of the figure on the door.

On some of the evenings during the past two weeks it was almost impossible to get near the church. Steady streams of cars and people came and went far into the early morning hours. At midnight the crowds seemed to be the largest.

Tuesday night marks the opening of the local interschool basketball contests when St. Mary's High School will meet the John Street High in the first game of the series on the John Street court.

This year there is unusual interest manifested as both teams have been very successful in their games this season and they should match up well. St. Mary's defeated the fast Trenton Cathedral High last week, which proves their ranking this year.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By G. WILSON HARDER

A significant victory for those sincere leaders of small business during the past years has been gained by the passage of the anti-merger bill. This bill plugs loopholes in the old established Clayton Act.

The need for this new bill just passed by Congress is interesting. The original Clayton Act prohibits monopolies from swallowing their smaller competitors by buying up the stock in these companies.

But the problem still existed despite this prohibition due to a curious legal maze based on a Supreme Court decision.

That decision was that the Clayton Act did not prohibit a monopoly from buying up the assets of a small competitor. Then, after the assets were bought, if the monopoly acted before the Federal Trade Commission acted, the stock control would be taken over. Thus, mergers were completed with no recourse by the public, for whose protection all anti-trust laws are written. This loophole is now plugged.

Don't be misled by the first official public apathy to the pre-Christmas speech made by Herbert Hoover on the need for this country to prepare to defend itself militarily and economically, and to stop trying to carry on with a global WPA.

Hoover's speech hit deep; will be referred to again and again in debates coming up in the new Congress convening on January 3.

Monday. His speech was well received by the majority of small business, especially when he so strongly pointed out that if Europe and America are to be united in joint defense, Europe must put up an equal share. In the meantime, American boys should be kept at home.

As it stands now, America is at an economic crossroads. But signs are encouraging.

Strongly organized independent business could become the key factor in the defense program. The new Congress may take steps to assure that the nation's independent business receives a greater share of government orders.

There are some who take the viewpoint that the appointment of the head of a big corporation to head up defense production, Charles Wilson of General Electric, makes such a move doubtful.

But Wilson, hailed as a production genius, is accustomed to operating mass production lines that depend on hundreds, thousands of parts suppliers. Besides, in the past, Wilson has been very cooperative with small business. He could engineer a plan whereby thousands of small manufacturers in towns all over the nation would turn out the production.

This would not only mean local payrolls, happier workers, but also greater national security in event a few large production centers were A-bombed.

It is not believed the new Congress will continue to allow so many security eggs to nest in one basket. Leaders of organized independent business may make even greater progress in this Congress.

MAUCH CHUNK, P. — The Central Railroad Company of Pennsylvania's board of directors voted today to enlarge and modernize the railroad's Allentown freight yard at a cost of $3,500,000.

Plans approved by the directors provide for extending the yards and equipping it with many modern devices and systems designed for the faster handling and movement of freight cars.

When completed the yard will be 3.4 miles long and it will be one of the most modern and largest freight yards in the East. The enlarged yard will have 56 tracks, several of them capable of holding 150-car trains, with a capacity of 4,176 cars. The present yard has 46 tracks, none large enough for a 150-car train, with a capacity of 3,077 cars.

Dinets, quarters, dorms are being arranged as possible.

H. M. Krumwiede Chairman For 1951 Heart Group Appeal

Will Seek To Raise $25,000 During February Drive

Appointment of Howard A. Krumwiede, of E. R. Squibb & Sons, New Brunswick chairman for the 1951 appeal of the New Jersey Heart Association was announced by Dr. Jerome G. Kaufman, president.

Middlesex volunteer campaigners will be seeking to raise $25,000 toward the state goal of $500,000. The campaign will be staged during February, traditionally known as "Heart Month."

Contributors to the Heart drive, Dr. Kaufman explained, will be used to expand heart clinic facilities in the state and to defray the cost of research projects to find the cause and treatment of such allied ailments as high blood pressure, rheumatic fever and hardening of the arteries.

In addition, the funds will help pay for an educational program alerting New Jersey citizens to heart disease's danger signals and to the best ways to avoid heart trouble.

Dr. Kaufman, pointing out that heart disease is New Jersey's number one killer, said that dollars contributed to the Heart fund are the most effective weapons in the fight to bring it under control. Last year, he said, heart disease and allied ailments of the circulatory system and blood vessels claimed 25,406 New Jersey lives—more than all other causes of death combined.

These figures amply illustrate why every New Jersey citizen should contribute generously to the Heart appeal in February," Dr. Kaufman said.

Mr. Krumwiede, a native of New York City, is active in Middlesex County community affairs. A vice president of the New Brunswick Board of Health, he is a past President of the Chamber of Commerce and holds directorships in the Community Chest, the Y.M.C.A., the New Brunswick Savings Institution, and the Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of Columbia University and veteran of the First World War, he resides with his family at 146 Graham, Highland Park.

PHARMACIES SUPPLIED MORE VETS WITH MEDICATIONS IN 1950

Medications supplied by local pharmacies for disabled veterans of New Jersey under the Veterans Administration program increased 21½ per cent during 1950, it was revealed in a report today by John J. Debus, secretary of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association.

Debus said a total of 26,478 VA prescriptions were compounded by members of the association, at a total cost of $79,480. He credited the gain to wider appreciation of the opportunities for medical treatment offered by the Government to its disabled GI out patients.

He commended the pharmacists who are participating in the program, and urged full cooperation by others for greater service to deserving veterans.

Far Reaching Effects Of Nov. 25 Storm Just Now Apparent

Insurance Companies In
11 State Area Expect
More Than 500,000 Claims

The far reaching effects of the great windstorm which swept the North-East sections of the United States on Nov. 25 are just becoming apparent, according to word reaching this community.

Local insurance offices have received an unprecedented number of windstorm claims. Local repairmen are hardpressed to complete all orders for repairs and materials needed to restore damaged property.

From the entire 11 state area fire insurance companies are expecting more than 500,000 claims, which is about five times the number of claims normally expected from this section in an entire year. The dollar loss to the capital stock fire insurance companies will be more than $100,000,000.

The fire insurance companies are well prepared to pay for all damage for which they are liable, and already have paid many millions of dollars, but it may take a little time to complete the sheer physical task of adjusting the huge number of claims. So great is the damage, however, that shortages of labor and materials also will tend to prevent rapid restoration of all properties.

"The enormous number of claims has placed an unprecedented burden on insurance adjusters and agents. Never before have so many policyholders sustained insurance losses in so short a time and over so wide an area," says Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the public service organization of 200 capital stock companies.

"Winning efforts are being made to handle claims as quickly as possible. The neediest claims, of course, have priority wherever possible.

"The disaster was so widespread that delays in adjusting some claims are inevitable. But we are certain that policyholders, when they know the facts, will understand the size of the job facing their agents and companies."

In most cases, fire insurance companies home offices have gone on a seven-day week in effort to process the flood of claims that arrives with every mail. The companies have brought adjusters from all parts of the nation. Independent adjusters from all over the country have been directed to this area as well.

There are several things that the policyholder himself can do to help get a quicker settlement, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

1. He should examine his windstorm policy or extended coverage endorsement of his fire insurance policy, and report his loss to his local fire insurance agent.

2. Temporary and permanent repairs are encouraged, so long as those repairs are confined solely to the protection of property from further damage and are made by a repairman favorably known to him. Keep a record of these expenditures.

The National Board has sent a bulletin to all local fire insurance agents in this area showing what further steps agents can take to expedite the repair of damage. For instance, in many cases contractors have advanced sizeable funds for repair work, yet have not been paid immediately by the insurance companies because of the vast flood of claims. In these cases, insurance agents are asked to assist contractors in obtaining short-term bank loans to keep the repair work going.

"The major problem involved in the adjustment of these losses is that in spite of all that is being done, it is physically impossible for agents and adjusters to inspect every loss and visit every insured," Mr. Vincent says. "Nor would it be economically sound to maintain throughout the year a staff of adjusters large enough to deal with such a tremendous volume of losses as promptly as ordinary day-to-day loss is handled."

Council Gives Final Sanction To Ordinances

Appointments Approved
At Wednesday Session

Final approval of three appointments ordinances was given when the Common Council met in a public session Wednesday night.

The measures name Mrs. Catherine Everitt as Overseer of the Poor, for a three year term at a salary of $587, per annum, Dr. C. W. Hoffman, City Physician for three years, with the annual salary $300, and John E. Mulane, City Magistrate, at annual salary of $1,455.

The matter of the New York and Long Branch Railroad's apparent attempt to eliminate the crossing over the tracks at Fortia Street, near the bathing beach, reported to the Council by Street Commissioner Michael F. Nagle, was taken up, and ordered referred to City Solicitor McGuffey for study and recommendations.

City Engineer John A. Conlogue reported he had made application for the extension of Raritan Street to the County authorities and had been advised to submit the matter later, because there are no funds available at present for this work, under the present budget.

Army Engineers informed the City that they intend soon to dredge the Raritan River and Jay and will deposit the silt from the dredging on the local shore front, and a conference with Mayer Olsen, Street Superintendent Nagle, City Engineer Conlogue, and Fred Leale, president of the Board of Public Works, will be arranged to discuss the matter and select suitable points on the shore front for the depositing of the silt so that it can be used to best advantage to prevent local shore erosion.

By resolution, the salary of the Lieutenant of Police, omitted from the ordinance recently passed, was fixed at $3,500 per year.

The thing is...

What is "The Thing"?

You hear people singing about it.

You hear them whistling about it.

And also humming about it.

But no one seems to know

Just what is "The Thing."

But we have idea

We know what it is

"Sneezing Pigs"

Belief that pigs with short snouts are more susceptible to "sneezing disease" than long-nosed breeds appears to have no foundation, according to a report from the Ontario veterinary college in Canada. The malady, technically known as infectious or atrophic rhinitis, has been causing increasingly heavy losses in swine herds of the United States and Canada. Poor sanitation in hog lots is said to be an important factor in its spread.

Citizen Galley Citizens' Group Sup- ports Driscoll's Air Raid Shelter Stand

Want Dual Purpose
Structures That Would Pay For Themselves

Governor Driscoll's insistence on dual-purpose air raid shelters that would pay for themselves over a period of years this week drew the support of the New Jersey Citizens' Committee for the Hoover Report.

The Governor recently expressed opposition to President Truman's $3,100,000,000 federal

9 civil defense program, which asks New Jersey to put up $47,000,000 as its share of the cost of civilian bomb shelters. That sum would be matched by the government, but according to the Governor's interpretation, federal funds would be denied for construction of shelters that could double as underground garages. Such dual-purpose shelters would

"The whole idea of erecting pay for themselves in 50 years, costly bomb shelters that would be useless after this emergency is unsound," declared Donald V. Lowe of Ridgefield, chairman of the Citizens' Committee. "However, if we've got to have shelters we feel the federal government should sanction a type that would pay for itself eventually."

"Rather than spend millions on 'white elephant' bomb shelters, we feel the government might better invest in improvement of the radar ring about which we've heard so much, and in strengthening of interceptor and anti-aircraft defense. If we were to erect an impenetrable wall, enemy bombs, which must be delivered by plane or submarine, couldn't get through and thus we'd have no need for costly shelters.

"To paraphrase the preamble to the Constitution, 'we the people' pay the bill for these expenditures. Therefore, it is our responsibility to demand careful budgeting even in emergency situations. Reckless spending for defense is just as dangerous as it is for domestic purposes. The New Jersey Citizens' Committee calls upon New Jersey taxpayers to urge economy upon their legislators . . . not only in domestic phases covered by the Hoover Commission's report, but in appropriations for national defense as well."

SERVING IN AN EMERGENCY

Late in November, the Northeastern section of the United States was swept by gales which caused tremendous damage. It has now been announced that the stock fire insurance industry will pay $50,000,000, and possibly more, to some 500,000 policyholders in the affected area. This is the largest number of claims ever to be paid as the result of a single disaster, and only the Chicago and San Francisco fires of 1871 and 1906 caused greater dollar losses.

Insurance adjusters from all parts of the nation were rushed to the Northeast. They have worked days, nights, Sundays and holidays, to adjust the claims with top speed. No policyholder need fear that a just claim will not be paid in full. The industry has ample reserves to meet this emergency, thanks to prudent underwriting policies and conservative dividends to stockholders.

It may seem strange that fire insurance bears the brunt of paying for damage primarily due to gales. This is due to the fact that the industry issues straight wind-storm policies and, in addition, offers what is known as an extended coverage endorsement to the standard fire policy. This includes various perils in a single insurance "package"—including windstorm, hail, riot civil commotion, aircraft, etc.

More than mere dollar values are at stake here—the prompt payment of claims, in many cases, prevents much human want and misery. And this disaster shows, in addition, the wisdom of carrying policies which guard not only against fire, but against related risks.

"THE PUBLIC BE DAMNED"

Some time ago the investor-owned light and power industry formulated a program and published it under the title, "Eight Goals for Business-Managed, Tax-Paying Electric Utilities." The goals included abundant power and good service; betterment of communities; expansion financed by investors rather than taxpayers; efficient and satisfied employees; fair treatment for all users of electricity; equal taxes for users of electricity; wise use of natural resources; safeguarding of American freedom.

These goals fall into two categories—those which the industry can achieve within itself and those depending upon cooperative governmental policy. The former have been substantially realized. There is abundant power and excellent service. By the end of 1953 our power supply will be 80% above the World War II level. And while general living costs have risen over 70% in the last 10 years, the average price of electricity in the home has dropped 25%.

The goal of expansion by investors rather than by taxpayers is also being realized. Every nickel of the $20,000,000,000 invested in the plants and machinery of the business-managed utilities has come from the savings of the millions of private citizens who own the bonds and stocks of the electric industry. This industry is now paying over $800,000,000 in taxes each year.

On the other hand the "goals" of the electric industry, requiring a measure of governmental cooperation before benefits can reach the public, seem to be as far away as ever. Customers of the tax-paying utilities must help support competing nontax-paying public power agencies. One-fifth of all money paid to the electric companies for electricity goes to pay taxes. Government power projects are exempt from tax laws which apply to private citizens and business. How long the general taxpayer will stand this remains to be seen. The administrators of the Federal power program show no indication or desire to cooperate in a genuine effort to supply "abundant power and good service." They are not interested in the eight goals of the electric industry which would prevent needless government duplication of facilities and waste of billions of tax dollars at a time of national emergency. They are interested in only one goal—regardless of cost—the extinction of the investor-owned utilities and the establishment of a socialized power industry.

THE WRONG DOORSTEP

When prices go up, a great many people still place

We Can Dig Through This Drift, Too

the blame on the wrong doorstep. For instance, it is commonplace for consumers to take out their resentment on retailers. Not so very long ago, consumers actually pick-stopped retail stores demanding that the price of this commodity or that be reduced at once by some arbitrary figure. No one involved seemed to understand that the retailer makes, as profit, only pennies out of each dollar spent in his store, and that if he cuts prices as demanded he'd soon be bankrupt.

As a matter of fact, the retailer is as much interested as anyone else in keeping prices down. During a recent period, as an example, increases in retail prices ran substantially below the increases in wholesale prices and wages that had gone into effect. That was the case only because the retailer voluntarily abandoned the chance to make the maximum profit per sale, as a break on inflation in the interest of both himself and the consumer. A price structure which drives millions of people out of the market, forcing them to sharply lower their living standards, is a menace to business as well as to the country, and the retailer knows it.

Where, then, does the blame for high prices belong? Well, this quotation from the Christian Science Monitor provides part of the answer: "It has been estimated that half the cost of a loaf of bread, a ton of coal, or a pair of stockings is due to taxes on producers, processors, and sellers." And the rest of the answer is found in the fact that wasteful, excessively costly government, such as we have now makes inflation inevitable and unavoidable.

"POLITICAL WINDOW DRESSING"

Dr. Malcom McNair, Professor of Retailing, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, recently addressed a meeting of food chain associations. He congratulated this industry on the remarkable progress it has made in lowering distribution costs during the past quarter-century, and observed that its efficiency is "little short of astounding."

On the subject of inflation, he pointed out that the device of government controls is far less effective than is increased production, and said, "Present and proposed government controls are for the most part fake controls set up for purposes of political window dressing."

The war emergency is being used in an attempt to condition the public to acceptance of all-out controls on practically everything. And the main danger in this is that it may make the people feel that controls are really a solution to an economic disease, rather than what they truly are—an attack on the symptoms instead of the disease itself. By edict, the government can say that a loaf of bread or a pair of shoes or a piece of machinery shall sell for so much and no more. But no manufacturer can produce it if the price is too low—and it usually is—and no merchant can stock and sell it if it is not available.

Inflation can be fought effectively in the free market—by harder work and greater production all along the line. At the same time it must be fought with all the all-important weapon of rigid government economy, and the elimination of all costly "political luxuries" the politicians have sold us. Controls hamstringing economy, and create worse dangers than those they are supposed to correct.

Public Service Starts Delivery Of Natural Gas

Will Replace Oil In Manufacturing Operations At Five Plants

Delivery of natural gas in quantity through the Transcontinental gas pipe line to various gas manufacturing plants of Public Service Electric and Gas Company has started. The natural gas will be used as a replacement for oil in the making of manufactured gas at the Public Service plants in Harrison, Jersey City, Raritan Township, Camden and Trenton. Later this month, when it is expected that construction of a pipe line to that plant will have been completed, the Paterson gas plant will also receive a supply of natural gas for use as a replacement for oil.

The schedule for daily deliveries of natural gas to Public Service through the Transcontinental pipe line will gradually be increased until the maximum contracted for, 70,000,000 cubic feet daily, is reached. A relatively small supply of natural gas has been coming into the Central Plant of Public Service Electric and Gas Company in Raritan Township since July, 1949, through the Big Inch pipe line of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

The utilization of natural gas as a replacement for oil in the gas manufacturing process will not necessitate any change, for the present, in the adjustment of domestic appliances. Plans call for gradually increasing the heating content of the gas to 600 BTU (British Thermal Units) and when these changes are made adjustments to some appliances may be necessary. These will be made by the company without charge to the customer. Public Service points out that its residential customers will note little or no difference in the appearance of the gas, except for a longer and slightly softer blue flame.

H. D. Polhemus Asked By Directors To Continue Service For Another Year

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT HAS NEW PLAN FOR SANDING ROADWAYS

TRENTON. — A plan by which the State Highway Department hopes to overcome delays in sanding icy roadways was announced today by Commissioner Stanford J. Abbott.

He said that arrangements had been completed with Ernest J. Christie, meteorologist in charge of the New York Weather Bureau, whereby hourly revisions in weather forecasts would be made available immediately to the State Highway Department.

Abbott felt that through the cooperation afforded by the new set-up, it would be possible to anticipate freezing conditions and save valuable time in get-away.

"The difficulty experienced in the past in maintaining around-the-clock ice control," he said, "was often in assembling our section crews and getting sanding equipment out on the highways as soon as ice begins to form."

"Supported by up-to-the-minute bulletins issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the special use of the State Highway Department, it will be possible to alert our forces in advance and have them actually on the highways when icing conditions begin," he said.

Easter Seal Drive Will Be Headed By Former Freeholder

Chester A. Lydecker, member of the Middlesex County Sewage Authority and a former Middlesex County freeholder will be chairman of Middlesex and Somerset counties for the 1951 Easter Seal campaign of the New Jersey Chapter of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

This campaign held annually to finance the organization's "year round" statewide program of treatment and other services for the physically handicapped, will open February 28 and continue through March 28, Easter Sunday. The Chapter is the only affiliate of the 29-year-old National Society for Crippled Children and Adults in this state. Announcement of Mr. Lydecker's appointment was made today by Deputy State Attorney General J. Raymond Tiffany, chapter president, as the organization's executive committee and board of trustees completed plans for expansion of the 1951 fund drive to meet the constantly-growing need for treatment and other services for disabled children and adults throughout New Jersey. To facilitate the drive this year, the state will be divided into eleven campaign areas, instead of three as in the last year's drive.

TOPICS

fumblers, and worse in our government, prevent most Americans from knowing this fact.

It is sickening to cite the record, but this is a time for facing essential facts unless we are willing suddenly to witness the destruction of our nation.

Enemy agents, with the active aid of traitors, stole our formula for making the atom bomb. They looted the State Department of secret documents by the sale. They scuttled our defenses.

These facts, substantiated by the record, were clearly stated by Senators and Congressmen in faithful performance of their duty, but President Truman confined himself to a mere retort, "Red Herring."

Our traitors and our enemies duped us into rebuffing and hamstringing allies upon whom we could best count to fight effectively against the Red masters of the Kremlin. We mean China, under the leadership of Chiang Kai-shek, and Spain, led by General Francisco Franco.

Money was belatedly appropriated by Congress to aid the Chiang Kai-shek forces and more belatedly moved to correct our misguided attitude towards Spain.

If your football team had a quarterback who fumbled frequently and especially where it helped your opponents, you would expect him to be benched, or you would demand that the coach resign. If a top executive permitted his company's trade secrets to be filched by competitors, he'd be fired. Acheson should go.

The wheels of American industry this year will be turning faster than ever, and the assembly lines will spew out machines of war at a rate to dwarf the 1940-45 effort. All this will entail many dislocations in the domestic economy. All the controls in the world will not stop inflation, although they may slow it up.

The one move Washington could make that would be of greatest benefit to the war effort, and which at the same time would help to keep the civilian economy on an even keel, would be to toss the 40 hour week into the ash can.

No one expects Washington to do that, for the usual reasons.

High on the list of things people are discussing concerning the new Congress is its possible attitudes on foreign policy and related matters.

One thing is certain, isolationism, in the full sense of the word, made no gains at the last election. In fact, there are almost no real isolationists in Congress any more. A true isolationist policy would have us withdraw from the UN, drop Europe like a hot potato, and forget about the rest of the world.

However, this does not mean that the new Congress is apt to write blank checks for all the proposals that will be made in the name of Western security and world peace. The so-called bi-partisan foreign policy is dead, in fact, it never worked very well, and it may be that it is basically unworkable. The chances are that Marshall plan aid will be sharply reduced, in the belief that the participating nations are now able, if they will, to carry more and more of the load themselves. Also, appropriation bills of a military nature will be sharply scrutinized.

"There is a strong feeling, throughout the country, no less than in Congress, that in the postwar period we did not get full value for all the billions of dollars we spent on the military. The Hoover Commission estimated that sheer waste in the Department of Defense ran to $1,000,000,000 a year, and some think this is a low figure. Moreover, the course of events in Korea, has raised a strong question, rightly or wrongly, as to whether our defense chiefs both military and civilian, are as wise as they might be. The Congress will look on all defense measures existing and proposed, with a critical eye.

In foreign policy and national defense, as in other matters, the administration will no longer have its own way unchallenged.

On a recent speaking tour of the South, Senator Earl Woldt of South Dakota, favored North Carolina with a visit. Speaking in Asheville, he offered what he called "disaffected Southern Democrats" a novel solution to their problems. There was nothing in the news reports to indicate that the Senator was being humorous or that his audience thought the speech was

If one peels away the layers of Senatorial rhetoric that surrounds the address, there seems to remain this bit of distilled wisdom: the South can find its heaven on earth by voting in 1952 for the presidential candidate nominated by the Republican party, thus enabling the GOP standard bearer to gain the office he seeks. This sort of reasoning, deserves a special term to describe it. It might be termed sound "Southern" state-manship, South Dakota style.

Modern Library Must Keep Abreast Of Public Trends

Rotary Hears Talk By Librarian At This Week's Session

Today's public library is far more than a building in which books are placed for safe keeping, Miss Ann Cladek, librarian of the Perth Amboy City Library explained to members of the South Amboy Rotary Club at their Tuesday meeting.

"Today the librarian must study the needs of the people of the community the institution serves, and anticipate what their requests for educational literature as well as works of fiction will be. This," she said, requires that the library staff keep in constant touch with the people of the community, to be informed on trends and preferences."

To illustrate this point, Miss Cladek said that the major portion of requests for non-fictional books at the P. Amboy Library up until a short time ago had been for those dealing with a variety of subjects which have no relation to the petroleum industry, but of late a large portion of the non-fictional book requests have been for information on the petroleum and allied industries, because of the movement of plants of that type in of the club.

She injected a humorous angle into her talk by telling of a day in the life of a librarian, the problems encountered and the different types of people contacted. She was introduced by John Sharo, program chairman of the club.

Richard Mack Sr., club secretary reported that through Rotary International the club have had secured the names of the widow of a deceased German in the Russian zone of Germany who will be furnished with packages and clothing from a fund set up by the local club.

Visiting Rotarians were the Rev. Earl Devaney, August Greiner and Dr. Malcolm Dunham of the Woodbridge club, and from the Perth Amboy club, Jay Franko, Ervin Dunsmuir, Theodore Roberts and Anthony Eckart.

Lesson From Earth

There is no reason for any part of the home to remain dull and uninteresting. No place on earth is too remote or too barren for nature to give it color. The stones and umbers with which paints are tinted come from the earth itself. Some of the loveliest, softest shades for walls and woodwork are borrowed from sagebrush, the desert sand, and the gray of lava. Even ore contains rich purples and reds.

FOOT HEALTH

By Dr. Benjamin Keith
Director,
American Foot Care Institute
Cold Weather Precautions

Statistics show that our feet are the worst sufferers from the assorted ailments and discomforts that are associated with winter. With the coldest months of winter still ahead, it is wise to take the proper precautions now in order to greet Spring on sound and healthy feet.

The key to foot health, oddly enough, is the same in winter as in summer: Give your feet proper ventilation, plenty of room to breathe, and keep them free from excessive perspiration. It is important to remove rubbers and overshoes indoors and to wear leather-soled shoes which allow your feet to "breathe."

Many persons make the mistake of wrapping their feet in heavy stockings, tight, closed shoes and rubber or canvas overshoes and figure that they are well protected. Actually, the opposite may be true. If, in protecting your feet from snow and slush, you also seal off all air, you are heading for trouble.

The experience of our troops in Korea has emphasized this fact. Frontline reports from war correspondents recently told of the many cases of severe frostbite and other crippling ailments resulting from the use by the troops of a cold-weather combat boot with rubber or composition sole. Perspiration retained on the bottom of the foot by the impermeable sole froze in the frigid temperatures of the Korean battlefield and caused thousands of casualties.

Chilblains, a condition resulting from exposure to cold, frequently occurs in winter. The symptoms are sometimes confused with other local irritations such as blisters, frostbite and athlete's foot. It is advisable, therefore, to consult your family physician or podiatrist if the irritation or inflammation persists.

A few simple rules that will help you avoid trouble this winter are: Keep your feet warm and dry; wear shoes with sturdy leather soles; remove rubbers and overshoes when you go indoors or are in a warm bus, automobile or train for any length of time; and give your feet plenty of exercise, such as toe wiggling, to maintain proper circulation.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Charming family group shots such as this can be made easily with the aid of an automatic shutter-tripper on your camera.

Are You in Your Picture?

In practically every family there is a person who is almost a complete stranger to the pages of the family snapshot album. Now this doesn't usually mean that this person is away from home—or doesn't participate in family activities. Most of the time it is the clue to who in the family uses the camera most.

Not long ago I took a picture of an attractive young couple who have been married about four years. It turned out to be quite good, so I sent them a print. In her note of thanks, the young wife commented that when she mounted that picture in their album, she suddenly realized that it was the first picture of them together to appear in the book since the first of their two youngsters was born.

In all of the others, one of them was posed with the children while the other took the picture. Now that is what is bound to happen most of the time, but I think that every so often there should be some picture that includes everyone. You can sometimes manage this by asking an outsider to trip the shutter for you. But this isn't usually possible in your own living room, for example.

The answer then is a small accessory for your camera—an automatic release. The photographer can set up the shot, set the release which is a spring-type control, and have about 10 seconds to take his or her proper place in the group before the shutter is tripped. Some of the older cameras, which are not equipped for synchronized flash, have such a timing element built in.

Check with your photographic dealer about automatic or remote control devices that enable you to take a picture—and be in it too. Some people feel that pictures so made are often better than they might be otherwise, because the subjects suddenly become less self-conscious when there is no longer a photographer in front of them.

In any event it is something that'll be fun to try and that will put you in your own pictures.

A prayer for our Soldiers

BY MAJOR GENERAL ROY H. PARKER

Chief of Chaplains, United States Army

Almighty God, the Creator and Preserver of all mankind, we commend to Thy special care and keeping those serving in our Army. Though they be in the midst of dangers, do Thou send Thy guardian angels for their protection. Walk beside them as they go through the valley of the shadow of death.

Knowing that all good things come from Thee, grant them courage and loyalty, through a firm faith in freedom's cause, in the present conflict. When sacrifices are called for, let them be made in the knowledge that Thou art the rewarder of Thy servants. Enable them to live valiantly and serve nobly, in the full realization that no man liveth unto himself. Grant them clear minds, strong bodies, resolute wills, and pure hearts free from hatred and bitterness, renewing them each and every day with strength, like strong men of old, who against enthroned wrong stood with confidence and courage.

Awaken in them a lively faith that will keep them close to Thee. Enable them to rest their cause upon Thy Word that though the foe be strong, yet knowing the cause as they battle for the right, they can never fail. Fill their hearts with the assurance that with Thee nothing is impossible and that all things work together for good to them that love Thee.

If it be Thy will that injuries be sustained, let them experience the touch of Thy healing hand and do Thou bless the means and the ministries employed for the restoration of their health.

In these difficult times, when the forces of evil are running rampant and many hopes seem about to be crushed, fill their hearts with an abiding sense of Thy reality and the certainty of Thy continual presence. Enable them to look to Thee when loneliness and longing overtake them; fulfill their yearnings by granting them Thine own companionship and fellowship. Enable them to realize the full meaning of Thy promise, "Lo, I am with you always."

Thou who are the Protector and Helper as well as the Giver of victory, grant unto them every good gift of body and soul and unite us with them in faith and love unceasing. Amen.

Ever notice a dank, sour odor to your shower cap? The sure cure should be right on your bathroom shelf. Soak the cap about 20 minutes in a soda-water solution (a fourth cup of baking soda to a quart of water). Rinse and dry in the sun.

Taxpayer Group Opposes Set Up Of Madison Budget

Attack Anticipated Expenses In School Budget

Members of the Board of Directors of the Madison Township Taxpayers Association have expressed strong disapproval of the amount of the annual school budget, which will be presented for approval at the election to take place next month. The Directors pointed out the amount of the school budget is $350,000.00, or $7,100 more than for last year, which they have described as high.

Last year, the Board points out, the budget was for $339,000 for supervisory instruction in the schools, and this year the amount asked for is $7,350, which proposes a raise for the Supervising Principal and clerk hire for $1,500.00, whereas, the salary of the Supervising Principal and clerk hire for past year amounted to only $1,970.00, an increase proposed for the coming year of $5,000.00 on this one item alone.

The Board declares also that an increase in teachers' salaries from $107,850 to $126,000 or an increase of $17,200.00, amounting to about $500.00 for each teacher is proposed. This figure they declare, is more than double the amount for three years ago, and the proposed increase is on top of a $300 increase granted the teachers only last year.

While the budget for last year set aside $5,000.00 for textbooks, the Directors say that less than $4,000.00 was spent, and $501.00 was for five sets of encyclopedias, which will not have to be purchased this coming year. The appropriation here has been raised to $5,750.00.

Other increases which have drawn the criticism of the Board members are the item under "Other Expenses" which is raised from $100.00 to $1,000.00, janitors salaries, an increase of $5,000.00, janitor's supplies, an increase of $500.00, and the "Other Expense" item, increased from zero to $100.00 last year, and this year set at $5,000.00, an increase in the Co-ordinated activities program from $2,325.00 last year to a proposed $4,200.00 this year, mainly due to an increase of the nurse's salary, for a part time job with "Other Expense," contemplating a raise from $150.00 last year to $300.00 this year.

The item for tuition, claim the Directors, has been increased from $67,835.00 last year to $82,000.00. Also questioned is an item for pensions of $730.00, which it is claimed was not included in the last budget, and $6,800.00 for insurance, an amount double that appropriated for two years ago, or $5,500.00.

Monday night, an open meeting to discuss the budget will be held at the Browntown School, at 8 P. M.

The officers of the Association are: Walter S. Becker, president; Ross Woods, first vice president; Charles R. Engle, second vice president; Frederick R. Kainig, Treasurer; Keith Pease, recording secretary; Stanley Kozinski, financial secretary, and Kasimir Szymanski, sergeant at arms.

SCHOOLS WITH MANY TRADITIONS TO PASS

as "The Brick School way up in the woods." During the passing years, both schools have undergone numerous changes and additions, and at one time or another both of them housed the local public high school department.

A report to the State Board of Education for the year 1959, classifies the schools as among those outstanding in the state. The value of school property was then set at $25,000, and the number of school children in the district between five and eighteen years of age was: Park, 637, and Raritan 462, for a total of 1,099, and the enrollment was Park 483 and Raritan 304.

Plans for their disposal, recalls that many of the figures closely allied with the development of the local public school system were teachers there. One of the most outstanding was James Curbery, the first principal. He was a man of many gifts, well versed in a number of lines of activity, including education and law. He had the habit of "bugging it out," with some of his pupils when questions of discipline arose. Others who were outstanding among the local teachers in days past were: Miss Kate L. McCoy, Miss Agnes H. Soudder, Miss Sarah McAdams, Miss Mary L. Thomas, Miss M. E. Gunning, Miss M. B. Dayton, Miss E. Albertson, Miss Kate Bogars, Miss Harriet Martin, Miss Kate Watson, Miss Florence Coaker, Mrs. William P. Nichols, later a member of the Board of Education, Mrs. Frank LaHue, and Arthur W. Bostwick, a man of many talents, who was for years a principal, and Superintendent, Russell M. Fitch and Oscar O. Barr.

While most of them have passed on, two who left the system many years ago are still alive. The former Miss Harriet Martin is now Mrs. H. W. Korts and resides in Elizabeth, and the former Miss Florence Coaker, now Mrs. Madsen, lives in this city.

Former students comprise a small army, and included among their number are many leaders in the professional and business worlds. One former student, the late James Barkalow, was one of the outstanding heroes during World War I, and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. In the field of politics, another former student, Harold Hoffman, made a name for himself in the political field, and is a former Governor of New Jersey.

The annual dinner meeting followed a reception for the new members. Ceremonies took place in the church, with Father Urbanik conducting induction ceremonies during which the entire membership renewed its Holy Name pledge.

The Foundation listed as its three objectives: (1) to get the facts on New Jersey's tax structure; (2) to inform the people of these facts, and (3) to outline various proposals for a better tax structure so that New Jersey may benefit from a sound, long-range fiscal policy able to provide for the needs of a growing state.

Serving with Lounsbury will be these officers: Mrs. Allen Pettie of Summit, Carl Holderman of Newark, and Herbert D. Rachbun of Trenton as vice presidents; J. Spencer Smith of Tenafly, treasurer; C. Colburn Hardy of East Orange, secretary.

About a year ago, Grandstaff was granted freedom to direct the playing of his composition.

FIREMEN WANT RAISE TOO

Local firemen believe they too are entitled to pay raises such as those recently granted to a number of other persons on the city payroll, and have forwarded a request for such action to the Mayor and Council.

A letter from the Protection Engine Company formally carried the plea to the city government, and the smokers ask a pay boost from $23 per year each, to $60 per year.

The matter has been referred to the Mayor and Council for consideration.

MILITARY SERVICE

Four men from the area arrived at Fort Dix, N. J. recently and were assigned to Company I, 60th Infantry Regiment, a unit of the famous 9th Infantry Division for six weeks of physical conditioning and training in small arms and combat skills.

Upon completion of this course they will move into the second phase of training, an eight week course either in the Infantry at Fort Dix, or in a technical service at another Army post.

The four men from the area are: Edward J. Sibol, son of Mr. Francis J. Sibol, 374 Fourth Street; John D. Cesare, son of Mrs. Anna Cesare, Upper Main Street; William P. Romer, and Alexander L. Krupiecki, Stevens Avenue.

Among the trainees who are the first to get basic training at Camp Kilmer since its reopening at fall are 19 area youth. They are receiving an intensive six week basic training course with the 9901st Provisional Training Battalion.

The men receive instruction in all weapons, close and extended order drill, first aid, care of clothing and equipment, and interior guard duty. They also study the make-up of the Armed Forces.

For rifle range training, the recruits spend a week of their training cycle at nearby Fort Monmouth, where they undergo a rigorous instruction and firing schedule. During their stay at Fort Monmouth, they also go through the "filtration course," where live ammunition is fired overhead, familiarize them with advanced combat conditions. The 9201st Provisional Training Battalion was formed to give the training to soldiers assigned to the 373rd and 377th Transportation Major Ports and the 37th Transportation Traffic Regulation Battalion, which were recently ordered into active military service.

Upon completion of their training the recruits will be assigned to these Transportation Corps units and given technical on-the-job training.

Among them are John F. Connors, son of Mrs. Clara Connors, 234 David Street; James H. Croddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Croddick, of 421 Conover Street, this city; and Robert E. Ritzer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Switzer, of Hillside Ave., Sayreville.

Francis Anthony F. Miller, son of Mrs. Frances Orzulski, of 524 Catherine Street, recently completed his study course in Geographic Computing at the Backus, A.F.B., Shreveport, La. He was awarded October 21, 1949. He is studying with the First Computation Technical Squadron, Ramon, A. F. B., Puerto Rico.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

ACTION NEEDED

Is Congress likely to return to the "quill pen and three-legged stool" method of appropriating for today's "adding machine age" of government?

This reference to antiquated financing is employed by Congressman Clarence Cannon, Chairman of the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee, to describe the cumbersome appropriations procedure which Congress urged prior to 1950. This involved the individual enactment of a number of separate appropriations bills to provide the billions of dollars expended annually by the Federal Government.

The 1951 Congress adopted the "consolidated appropriations procedure." It wrapped up in a single package all appropriations for the normal operations of the Federal Government. Thus the financial picture could be viewed as a whole by legislators, public officials and citizens.

Last year accomplishment by Congress under the new method included the whittling of more than two billion dollars in spending requests and the direction of another half-billion dollar slash in the overall total. In addition the measure placed the nation's fiscal plans in such order that it was possible to make quickly the adjustments that were required when the war developed in Korea.

Despite these and many other benefits, Washington information indicates there is a move to persuade the appropriations committee to return to the "multiple supply bills." This would lead back to the time when not even the Congressmen could be sure until the final days of each session how much had been appropriated.

The outspoken citizen support which helped bring about the improvement in congressional appropriations procedure last year being summoned again to encourage its retention. The New Jersey Taxpayers Association, through its Committee on Federal Affairs, is urging citizens to write their Senators and Congressmen and ask their support for the modern "single package" appropriations bill for the normal operation of government.

Bushies, said to be the toughest dogs in the world, have stomachs that match their reputation. These sturdy dogs have been known to haul heavy loads up to 50 miles a day on a diet of frozen walrus hide. Unlike coddled domestic pets, they will eat anything. In one instance, a team of the dogs broke loose and, within a few minutes, had devoured a pair of ski boots, part of a sleeping bag, the hide straps from ski boots, gloves, and a seal skin hood, plus a month's supply of dog food.

WOMEN'S CLUB FEDERATION APPROVES CANCER PROGRAM

The New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs has endorsed the over-all education and volunteer service programs of the New Jersey Division, American Cancer Society, and Mrs. Walter Faas, of West Orange, has been named Cancer Chairman by Mrs. Batt L. Spain, of Maplewood, president of the organization. Mrs. Frederick M. McIsland, of Short Hills, is chairman of the Public Welfare Department.

In an effort to acquaint the members with the cancer programs and to enlist volunteers, Mrs. Faas has sent a letter to all club presidents calling their attention to the fact that health meetings will be arranged and speakers, as well as films, provided. Particular stress is paid to the new film "Breast Self-Examination" a picture which has been prepared to train women in a new health habit and yet not alarm them.

Urging clubs to include the showing of this film as part of a program of an early meeting, Mrs. Faas states that "since women's organizations are estimated to include only one-quarter of the women over 40 years of age in the country, there are still the other three-quarters to be contacted."

Kentucky Rifle
The famed muzzle-loading Kentucky rifle, an unmatched weapon in early frontier days, is enjoying a well deserved comeback in popular esteem. Gun clubs and sports enthusiasts report renewed interest in the old rifle, which is again being used at target meets and in actual hunting. Marksmen interested in the sharpshooting traditions of their forebears are rediscovering the Kentucky's celebrated accuracy.

Turkey Crop
Farmers are raising a record crop of 44,550,000 turkeys this year in the United States—6 per cent more than last year.

YOUR GARDEN

Nearly all shrubs can be pruned during the dormant season. It is not a good idea to do any pruning while the wood is frozen because the wood may snap off. But usually wood is sufficiently thawed after a few days of temperature just above the freezing point.

The advice generally given for pruning spring flowering shrubs is to wait until after flowering. But if you wait, you probably will not do a real good job of pruning. However, these may be pruned during winter without removing many flowering buds, which are already formed.

These plants, the shrubs will renew themselves with new growth from the base of the plant if they are given the opportunity. What prevents this is to have the top so dense that sunlight cannot get into the center of the plant, as a result of which the newly starting canes die. The density of the top is increased when you cut back rather than thin.

As canes become older, fewer and poorer flower buds form. The favored practice is to develop the plant so that there is continuous renewal of the top. This is brought about by removal to the ground of some of the oldest canes. This means canes that are 4 or more years old. The age can be determined by tracing back the growth, and such old canes usually are large and have rough bark.

Each year or every two years, up to one third of these oldest canes can be cut almost to the ground. These should be spaced so that the plant will retain its symmetry. This will open the top somewhat so light can enter to encourage renewal growth.

KING AND QUEEN OF HEALTH . . . Just bubbling over with vim and vigor and vitality too are the pint-sized king and queen of the 1951 Junior swim for health contest held at the Flamingo Hotel, Miami. The moppet monarchs proudly display their trophies. Joyce Bambler, 8½, and Jan David Stern, 5, both of Miami, were chosen from a long line of contestants.

MET SAME FATE . . . This picture shows Gen. George Patton (left) with Gen. Walton Walker as they led the U.S. Third Army across France during World War II. General Walker was recently killed in a jeep accident near Seoul. General Walker served under General Patton at the time the photo was taken. Now, both men are dead, victims of similar jeep accidents. General Patton was fatally hurt in a traffic accident in 1945.

ONE-IN-A-MILLION SHOT . . . An alert army photographer at Camp Cooke, Calif., took this very unusual shot showing a 105 MM howitzer shell in flight (arrow). They are typical of the hundreds of other outfits in camps across the nation training for eventual war and defense of their nation and a free world.

National Football Hall Of Fame Is A War Casualty

Directors Vote To Defer Construction During Emergency

The National Football Hall of Fame became a war casualty last week when the directors of the grid shrine voted to defer construction during the national emergency but the Hall of Fame holds a bright promise of being one of New Jersey's greatest attractions. At the same meeting in Dallas, Texas, the directors approved and released tentative building plans for the shrine which will rise on the campus of Rutgers University.

Rutgers, where America's first intercollegiate football game was played between the Scarlet and Princeton in 1869, was selected two years ago as the site for the Hall of Fame. Proposed building plans indicate that the grid shrine will be the finest memorial ever to honor a sport.

The directors chose the University Heights section of the State University campus for the location of the Hall of Fame. The site is adjacent to the Rutgers Stadium in the center of a picturesque 800-acre tract near the north of the Raritan River.

Also considered by the directors was College Field, the plot where the first game was played. The directors felt, however, that the University Heights location offered greater facilities for "designing and planning a structure suitable for the needs and purposes of the Hall of Fame." The Rutgers Stadium was the scene of the first intercollegiate Hall of Fame game, between Brown and Rutgers, last fall.

Designed in Early American architecture, the proposed Hall of Fame building will be 500 feet across the front and somewhat greater in depth. The main building fronts a large cross. North from the entrance hall extends a Hall of Flags, in which official flags of all colleges will be displayed. Beyond this is the Hall of Fame, with huge wings extending east and west. Plaques and other forms of recognition for those elected will occupy the three Hall of Fame sections.

Other section of the grid shrine will contain individual college rooms, administrative offices, lounges, a football library and museum, and archives. Cost of the Hall of Fame is estimated between three and five million dollars.

Permanent headquarters of the Hall of Fame were established on the State University campus last year by Arthur L. Evans, executive secretary of the national organization. Evans' office will continue to conduct Hall of Fame business. Sports-writer Grantland Rice is president of the Hall of Fame and Admiral William F. Halsey (Ret.) is chairman of the national committee.

RENSSELAER WILL OFFER SCHOLARSHIPS TO JERSEY STUDENTS

Local alumni of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., are calling attention to the scholarships which are being offered this year to outstanding seniors in New Jersey high schools and preparatory schools.

One of the scholarships, which will be awarded through the New Jersey Rensselaer Alumni Association, will cover full tuition costs for four years, a $2,800 prize. The other will cover tuition for two years at $700 each year. Last June the association awarded a full scholarship to Francis Zunino, of Metuchen, now enrolled in chemical engineering at Rensselaer, and half scholarships to Anthony Iacoponi, Englewood, and Zev B. Rosen, Toms River. Both of the latter are at Rensselaer. Iacoponi is in civil engineering and Rosen in electrical engineering.

The Rensselaer committee, headed by Herbert Klar, 23 Park Avenue, Trenton, has distributed application forms to principals throughout the State. Committee members will be available for interview at a later date, but it is planned to close the time for application on February 1.

DUPONT KICKS PRR COURT TEAM AROUND

The DuPont Parah Club of Perth Amboy administered some unkind treatment to the local PPRR YMCA basketball team Friday night in a Middlesex County Basketball League tussle at Perth Amboy, when they handed the "Y" courtsters a 30-26 defeat. The game completed the first round of competition for the locals.

The "Y" combine finishes the first round with a record of three wins and four losses.

Beginning the second round tonight, the locals will meet the Raritan Copper Works team.

ANTIQUES TO BE SEEN AT N.J.C.

NEW BRUNSWICK.—An antiques show will be held March 28, 29, and 30, at New Jersey College for Women, Rutgers University, to raise money for student scholarships and the alumnae fund.

Sponsored by the Associate Alumnae of the women's college of the State University, the show will take place at Cooper Hall, George Street and Nichol Avenue, from 10 A. M. to 9:30 P. M. daily. Chairman of the show is Miss Edith M. Tennyson, N. J. C. '33, of Easton Avenue, New Brunswick.

In addition to antiques displayed in separate booths by approximately 40 Eastern antique dealers, the event will feature special lectures on antiques, craft exhibits, and an auction. Refreshments will be available to visitors.

Proceeds of the show will go toward the 1950-51 annual alumnae fund drive, whose $18,000 includes the establishment of a scholarship aid fund by the Associate Alumnae; maintenance of Wood Lawn, N.J.C. alumnae house, and of the Alumnae Office; publication of The Alumnae Bulletin; and the Mabel Smith Douglass Faculty Fund, used by the alumnae to bring visiting lecturers to the campus.

PRESIDENT'S BUDGET TO COST N. J. RESIDENTS SUM OF $2,405,558,400

NEWARK, N. J.—New Jersey taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $2,405,558,400 in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the Federal spending program proposed by President Truman for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, if Congress should adopt in full the $11.8-billion-dollar budget he submitted to Congress Monday, Jan. 18.

This estimate was made today by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce in a statement based on an analysis of the President's budget recommendations.

The State Chamber pointed out that New Jersey's $2,405,558,400 share of the cost of the proposed 1952 budget is almost five times the total amount of taxes collected last year in New Jersey to finance its state government, all its local governments, and all its public school districts.

The $2.4 billion figure also exceeds by more than $80,000,000 the total 1950 payrolls of New Jersey's more than 10,000 manufacturing concerns as reported by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry.

The State Chamber estimates that New Jersey residents and taxpayers presently bear 3.36 per cent of the total Federal tax burden. Since Federal expenditures are met wholly by taxation, New Jersey's share of the Federal Government's spending burden for 1952 would be 3.36 per cent of $71.6 billion, or $2,405,558,400.
