TOWN TOPICS

We Americans are a race of extremely individual persons in most respects, but in one, we are pretty much alike, our love for the old home town. Other places may be larger, or more ideally situated, and they may be more beautiful, but in our minds the hub of the universe is the old home town.

How strong this home town devotion can be is demonstrated by a woman in Pennsylvania, who has donated millions from her estate to the old home town.

The woman had not been a resident of the town for sixty years, but it was still dear to her heart, and she said, "I was born and lived there, and my father and mother lived there and also my grandfather and grandmother". Away from it, she must have spent many hours dreaming about the old home town and planning how she could help it.

What is true of this Pennsylvania town, is true of our own, and every summer, large numbers of former residents, devote part of their vacations to a trip back to South Amboy to visit their former home and old friends.

Babe Ruth, who will probably always be known to Americans as "Mr. Baseball," has passed on to his final reward.

News of the "Great Babe's" death caused a tug on the heart-strings of Americans young and old, for he was an institution, loved by all, for his big heart and for his contributions to the history, and growth, of the great American sport.

Probably no player who ever lived, made such a big contribution to organized baseball. He broke records galore, and when the "Black Sox Scandal" threatened to end big league baseball, it was "The Babe," who almost single handed saved the day, and brought the sport back into repute. It was said of him that because of his popularity with the fans, he built and paid for the Yankee Stadium. No one who ever saw this genial moon faced, too heavy man, stroll up to the plate, point his bat to the place in the outfield where he planned to knock the ball, then bat out a home run, can ever forget the thrill, or the man who produced it.

However, there are other reasons why "The Babe" will be long remembered. Because he was the hero of countless small boys.

Low Flying Plane Causes Commotion Here Monday

Police Learn It Was Marine Corps Craft

Assurance has been given to Chief of Police David Quinlan, that the New Jersey Bureau of Aeronautics will investigate the low flying of an airplane over this city Monday afternoon, that frightened a number of people, and brought forth a flood of protests.

The plane first soared over the city, only about 200 feet high, and traveling at a fast pace, at 1:24 P. M. People ran from their homes, and children playing in the streets and yards, ran screaming to their parents. Meantime a large number of protests were telephoned to police headquarters at City Hall.

Several minutes after the plane had made its first mad dash over the city, it returned. Chief Quinlan succeeded in securing the number and immediately reported the incident to the Bureau of Aeronautics.

The preliminary investigation has disclosed that the twin engine craft belonged to the U. S. Marine Corps, and its home field was at Cherry Hill, North Carolina.

Further details and a report on the result of the investigation are expected within a few days.

Coal Dumping Facilities Here To Be Increased

Program Of Improvements To Thawing Plant To Cost $450,000.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's tidewater coal dumping facilities at South Amboy, will be substantially increased during the coming winter months as the result of a $450,000 program of improvements to the thawing plant here, it was announced today by J. B. Jones, General Manager of the company's New York Zone.

"More prompt and efficient delivery of anthracite and bituminous coal in the Port area will result from this expansion of our coal thawing facilities, and replacement of old equipment," Mr. Jones said in describing the project.

"Through addition of two new coal fired boilers of 50,000 lbs. per hour rated steam capacity each, replacing six smaller boilers, and through use of four new automatic stokers to serve these and two older boilers being retained, our total rated con-

Democrats Have Conference To Stifle Rumors

Insistence Of Mayor Candidate.

Tuesday evening, a meeting unique in many respects, in local political history, was held by the members of the local Democratic party, at City Hall.

Opening the meeting, Mayor and local Democratic Municipal Chairman, Joseph P. McKeon, declare it had been called at the insistence of John D. Leonard, the party candidate for mayor, who had charged a number of untruths, calculated to injure his candidacy, and that of other party candidates, were being circulated permiscuously. Attending the session, besides the Mayor, or other Democratic city officials, were the committee men and women, and the candidates in the coming election.

Mayor McKeon, at the outset of the meeting, hinted that charges had been made that he was one of the parties responsible for the stories, but he made a flat denial of any grounds for such allegations.

Following through with a plea for harmony and a united effort to kill such rumors, McKeon, in his capacity as municipal chairman, declared plans are being formulated for the coming campaign, and Councilman at Large William Kurtz, candidate for reelection, and Woodrow McCarthy, the candidate for Councilman in the Second Ward, will be assigned to the task of answering all charges made against the party or its candidates, either by members of the Republican opposition, or by members of their own party.

Council President William Kurts took the opportunity during the meeting to level criticism at several local problems, and for one thing charged "gross inequality" is being demonstrated in the handling of property assessments in the First Ward, and residents of the Bergen Hill, and Mechanicsville sections, are being discriminated against, and taxed unfairly, in proportion to the assessments in other sections of the city.

Kurts also leveled blasts at the water situation, and recalling the number of complaints that have been made against the "muddy" appearance of the water, because of the heavy iron content, declared the city should make arrangements to grant refunds to taxpayers who have recently received larger than usual water bills, for he said these were due to the fact that it was necessary for them to draw off considerable water, before they could get

Robert Holsie's only parolee of World War II, Robert Holsie, 22 year old ex-Marine is to receive a home from the citizenry, "for services rendered." Ground will be broken on Monday, in suburban Edgebrook, after the deed to the land is formally presented to Mr. Holsie, who was wounded in Okinawa.

When efforts to raise $20,000 were unsuccessful, a volunteer committee enlisted the services of building trade unions, merchants, and other residents, to erect a house designed so that Mr. Holsie can move around with ease in his wheel chair.

After the plan is finished, Mr. Holsie plans to marry Frances E. Nott, of Highland Park, whom he met after he was discharged from hospitals where he was confined for months.

Vice-Chancellor Charles M. Egan, issued an order at Jersey City, indicating that a family's health is of greater importance than the softball games played by members of the Green Village, N. J., Fire Department. Fred Gilmer had complained that that the department's games, played on a field adjoining his home, often went on until 11:30 p. m., accompanied by loud cheering, and the popping of fire crackers, and that the health of members of his family was impaired. Charles Egan ruled that the games may be played only two nights a week, may go on no longer than 9:30 p. m., that loudspeakers may not be set off to celebrate home runs.

Last winter's heavy snows are doing New Jersey's hay fever sufferers no good. Dr. Frank L. Rosen, publication chairman of the New Jersey Allergy Society, has declared. Dr. Rosen said the snows left the soil "all too fertile," for the growth of ragweed, and that the weed's pollen — which causes most of the discomfort for hay fever victims — will be worse than usual this year.

The State Department of Agriculture, has said that apple eaters are eating more and more winter apples — Staymans, Delicious, Rome Beauties, Red Rones, McIntosh and Golden Delicious — and less and less of the old summer and fall favorites — Yellow Transparents, Duchess, Williams, Early Reds, Grimes Golden and Jonathans. The department said this is shown by figures indicating that New Jersey apple growers are planting more and more of the winter variety trees, to keep up with the increasing demand, and less and less of the others.

A bolt of lightning knocked a spoon from the hand of a woman stirring soup at the Audubon Hospital last week. She was not injured.

The lightning struck a second floor window of the hospital broke the glass pane, and dashed off into a diet kitchen, immediately below. The spoon was jarred from the hand of Mrs. Eva Muncey, and the pot of soup was hurled from the stove.

Fire Marshall Edward Hull inspected the hospital later, and pronounced it safe. He said it was a "very rare" occurrence of electricity in the bolt was grounded by a metal fire escape.

People in northern New Jersey are drinking less hard liquor and more wine and beer, according to a report released by the Alcoholic Tax Unit of the Treasury Department. The report showed that the government income from distilled spirits in this area, dropped from $888,874 for July 1947, to $849,904 for last month. At the same time beer taxes in Northern Jersey jumped from $5,036,600 to $5,173,490 and revenue for wine sales showed a similar gain.

Mr. Magnus, a two year old stray dog, that looks part beagle, and which showed up on the front door of the Magnus Chemical Co., Inc. at Garwood, three weeks ago, and refused to go away, has been appointed an honorary vice-president of the company. It was announced by W. M. Campbell, President. Dr. Robert W. Mitchell, a working vice-president said: "Mr. Magnus was put on the pay roll as an assistant watchman, but such work was obviously not his forte. He was more of the executive type. His ability to get along with any one, his prompt response to a pat on a back, his interest in watching others work, his great knack of looking wise, and saying nothing, made him a natural for quick promotion."

Harry Jeffers, of Midland Park, N. J., won a preliminary decree of divorce from his wife, Myrtle, in Paterson Chancery Court, on grounds of extreme cruelty. In his petition to Advisory Master William A. Hegarty, Mr. Jeffers, who works as a mason, said his wife insisted on putting jelly sandwiches in his lunchbox every day, and had caused him embarrassment when fellow workmen began to call him "Jelly Jeffers." The 145 pound petitioner, also said his 200 pound wife had beaten him, and once had threatened to shoot him.

FIVE STORY APARTMENT HOUSE ON VAN WYCK BOULEVARD Life in these United States is getting so crowded, it seems, that anything new can be built something old has to be moved or torn down. This three story, five-story apartment house, complete with full quota of tenants, is shown as it was moved on Van Wyck boulevard in New York to make way for the new highway to Idlewild International Airport. Photo shows the arrangement of blocks and rollers on which the big building of brick and masonry was moved. Tenants, meantime, went about their business as usual. Flexible waterlines and emergency services kept regular services up to par.

GLAMOROUS SIDE OF THE OLYMPICS With American athletes running, jumping, pole vaulting and swimming away with almost every gold medal in sight in the 1948 Olympic games, press photographers were kept so busy recording these events that they hardly had time to take pictures of some of the finer elements of the big sports show. Well, hardly. One of them ran across some of the U. S. girl gymnasts having a practice session and he let his aesthetic sense run away with him. This picture was the result. Cavorting on the fence rail are (left to right) Anita Simons of New York, Helen Schiffano of Newark, N. J., and Meta Elsie.

LOOKING AHEAD
by GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College

Labor Needs Profits

Have you ever heard talk about "fair" and "reasonable" profits? The suggestion is that any amount of profit higher than "reasonable," whatever it is, would be unwholesome and bad for everybody. If you have ever fallen for that old line, repent at once. This may shock you back to reality, but I say it sincerely. What America needs is big profits, the largest profits that can be earned honestly! I say this with the confidence of a clear mind.

The Worst Crime

Once a great labor leader wisely said: "The worst crime against working people is a company which fails to operate at a profit." A survey has shown that people agree with this, in principle. Yet, they think profits much higher than they are today. The survey showed that most people thought profits to be more than four times what they actually are. Most people said that 10 per cent of the sales dollar would be about right. The fact is that last year corporate earnings averaged less than 6 per cent of sales.

Then there are those who are always trying to kill the goose that lays golden eggs, by calling for more wages to be paid out of "increased" profits. Except for taxes, the biggest portion of last year's profits went for better plants and tools. If every dollar of the profit which went to stockholders last year had been turned over to workers, it would have brought a wage increase of only 6.8 per cent.

Cut Down Profits

It is false to assume that industry could make wages higher and prices lower by cutting down on profits. That way, profits would no longer be the incentive for healthy competition. Government would have to step in and control the whole economy. This would mean the end of free enterprise and the high standard of living we enjoy.

To some people, it may seem like a good thing to soak the "rich" or lambast capital at every opportunity. But they will stop doing that when they begin to realize how much it hurts the worker. Our workers are depending upon the profits of capital to supply the tools that mean so much to them and to every consumer. How can we have tools and plants, unless we encourage profits? How can we have jobs and prosperity, then, unless we encourage profits?

Dangers to Workers

We have gone through a long period of danger, but we're not out of it completely. The period 1930 to 1940 was the first decade in our history during which our stock of tools did not increase. We allowed 25 per cent of them to wear out and didn't replace them. In 1930, America's stock of tools amounted to $1,646 per person. By 1940, this was down to $1,302. To get back to the 1930 level at once, we would have to spend perhaps 75 billion dollars.

Do you see our danger? Modern man is completely dependent upon good tools. We cannot afford to eliminate profits, and do away with the rewards that come from taking risks. If we do, the American workers will have to bear the brunt of a dangerous mistake. We need more Henry Fords and Thomas Edisons. Did they make profits? Yes, and they built America. With profits, they made it possible for millions to enjoy a more productive America.

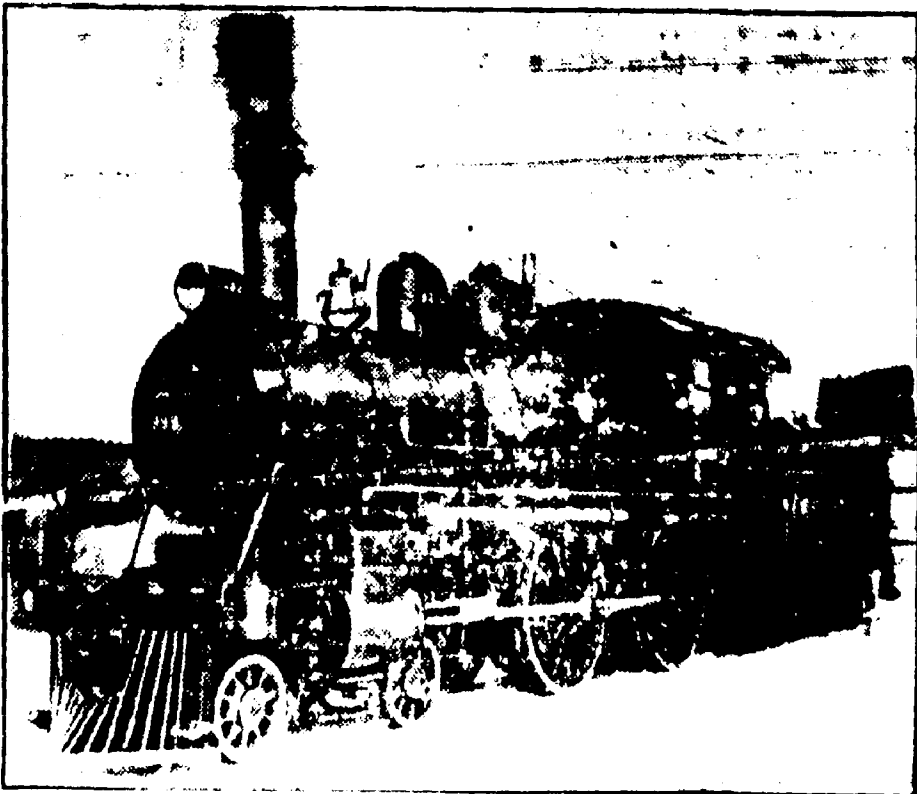

Red Cross Activity

During 1947 the American Red Cross recruited 404 nurses to supplement nursing staffs in 35 cities of 18 states where outbreaks of infantile paralysis occurred.

Famous 999 At Railroad Fair

THE first locomotive in America to pull a regular passenger train at more than 100 miles an hour, the New York Central's famous old No. 999, is fired once again for appearance in "Wheels A-Rolling," a pageant of American railroading that keynotes the current Chicago Railroad Fair. The 999 became world-famous when, on May 10, 1931, while hauling the Empire State Express between Syracuse and Buffalo, N. Y., it attained 112 1/2 miles an hour. The Chicago Railroad Fair will be open to the public until late in September.

New Clipper America's First Flight

Juan T. Trippe, President of Pan American World Airways, announced that the new Clipper America is now flying. The $1,500,000 Clipper, the first of a fleet of 20 Boeing Stratocruiser-type Clippers, will be delivered to Pan American in November. It carries 75 passengers and is the only airliner with a double deck, having a spacious lounge and bar on the lower deck. The largest, fastest commercial landplane, the Clipper America will be used in service between San Francisco and Honolulu, cutting present flight time from 12 hours to 8 1/2. It will also be used in the New York-London service where it will cut flight time from 14 1/2 to 12 hours. Later the new-type Clippers will be used extensively in the company's proposed system of domestic routes and also elsewhere on PAA's world wide service.

UP-TOWN-DOWN-TOWN
NEW YORK VIGNETTE by John Skinner

PASSING PARADE: The facts that the receipts of New York City hotels are estimated to be over $1,500,000 daily and that the city mails 70,000,000 letters every 24 hours, would suggest that it is hardly an agitated community. Yet sometimes to an out-of-towner who has come to visit or to stay, it does seem rather lonesome—until he finds that remarkable newsstand at the north end of the old Times Building on Times Square. We stopped at this dispensary of papers from other cities the other noon as we have many times in the past and watched a never-ending line of people waiting turns to ask for the St. Petersburg Times or the Harrisburg News or the South Bend Tribune or the New Brunswick Home News or any one of the almost 350 dailies they keep on tap.

WHADD'YE READ? Maybe they read a small item in a New York paper which they know would receive much more attention in their home press, maybe they saw news from back there in the lighted bulletins constantly moving about the girth of the Times Building, or perhaps heard one of those "Newsreel" programs designed by Mutual's A. A. Schechter to bring listeners "news from where it happens as it happens," with a portion originating at the scene of a news or feature event near where they live.

There are many reasons why these thousands of men and women come weekly to the newsstand there. All this necessitates trucks rolling to railroad terminals at least once an hour from 6:30 a.m. to midnight in order to get the latest paper deliveries from points all over the U. S. The man in charge of this invaluable service is one of the biggest buyers, the proportion being larger the nearer they live to N. Y. C. However, he observes that there is a sharp rise in papers purchased from such vacation states as Florida, California and Arizona during the heights of the vacation seasons in those areas.

FURTHER AFIELD: The same company maintains in a neatly and efficiently kept shop, within the building itself, a constant supply of newspapers from Mexico, Central and South America, Asia, Australia, New Zealand, Africa, England, Ireland and those portions of continental Europe in which they are at present available. It was interesting to note that in this city which has a large proportion of persons of Irish descent, there were no less than 16 different papers from the old country. And if you want reading material a bit more up to date from over there, both the London Times and London Telegraph give two-day service by flying over editions printed on almost tissue-like airmail paper. Anyhow, whether you come from Lima, Ohio, or Lima, Peru, or Athens, Greece, or Athens, Georgia, you'll very likely feel a glow of warmth at finding your home town paper right in Times Square. Many do.

TOO MANY ROAD HOGS FOR SAFETY, SAYS AUTO CLUB MANAGER

Road hogs are riding "down the middle" in too great numbers for the comfort and safety of less selfish motorists.

These particular hogs are a dangerous breed, being responsible for many more accidents than ever show in gory statistics, according to Joseph C. Oaman, Manager of the Trenton Division of the Keystone Automobile Club. Taking their half of the road right out of the middle, they apparently even believe no one else has a right to what's left.

What can be done about it? Well, the Club official points out, signs understandable enough for anyone old enough to be driving a car hedge the highways and advise quite simply: KEEP TO RIGHT, CENTER LANE FOR PASSING ONLY. So, enforcement really becomes a police matter. But there's one other way, an appeal to reason.

"It's much better to give the other fellow his bit of the road," Mr. Oaman concludes, "than to receive baleful glances, angry horn-blowing, or even a bump in the rumble seat. Courtesy is more than one of Webster's words, it's a grand old American custom."

Democrats Urge Special Manager For Campaign

Former Sheriff Nehrhorn Suggested To Lead Fight

Local leaders of the Democratic party are giving considerable thought to a rather unique plan for this city, to be followed during the coming campaign.

Some time ago, it was suggested that since this is a presidential election year, and it is important that complete control of the Mayorality and Council in this city be retained, the party deviate from the customary practice of having the Municipal Chairman, also act as general campaign manager. Former Sheriff William Nehrhorn has been suggested as the manager.

Leaders point out that Nehrhorn has had a much wider experience both as a candidate, and as an office holder, than the average person who might be assigned to the post, since he has been Councilman, Mayor and Sheriff, and has established valuable contacts in the party and with the voters in the city and throughout the county as well.

One extremely desirable feature in connection with the plan, its advocates point out, is the popularity of Nehrhorn with all factions of the party locally. They declare that despite his years in politics, and the number of times he has been a candidate, he has few political enemies, has been able to avoid becoming involved in party differences, and is extremely popular with all factions. This they claim would be a big factor toward bringing about the complete harmony they declare so necessary for the party's success at the coming elections.

Although there have been several informal meetings for discussion of the plan, there has been no official action by the party in this direction to date.

HEALTH BOARD REELECTS VONA

lers was reported received from the Middlesex County Tuberculosis and Health League. There was only one suspicious case in the 27 persons examined, it was reported. Vona announced plans to extend the program to every person in the city next year.

It was announced that the board here is considering a meeting with health authorities of South River and Bayville, in an effort to establish a uniform code for the three municipalities, and to "adjust" plumbing fees.

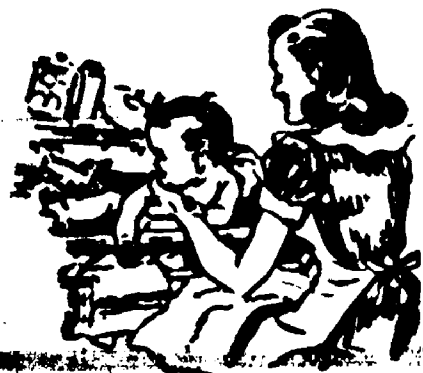

President Vona declared that when the next meeting takes place on September 16th, consideration will be given to the revision of the local health code. Stricter regulations, extension of the code to cover more persons serving the public, and a possible increase in the license fees, will be considered, he said.

Former Local Resident Vice-President Of Veteran's Group

Gerald Hackett Named At 78th Division Reunion.

At the three day annual reunion of the 78th Division Society, which opened Friday at Fort Dix, Gerald Hackett of Nutley, a former resident of this city, was elected vice president. Many former members of the division from this city, veterans of both World Wars, attended the reunion.

Alfred H. James, of Jersey City, who served as a first lieutenant in World War I, was elected as president. James, who has three Army decorations, served with the 309th Infantry Regiment. He resides at 1991 Hudson Boulevard, Jersey City.

Attending the reunion was Major General Edwin P. Parker, provost marshal of the Army, and wartime commander of the 78th. Reminding the gathering that the 78th was activated at Camp Butner, N. C. just six years before, the general said:

"It is groups like these, comprised of men experienced in war, and resolved to their desire for peace, that contribute to a sound foundation for our country."

Delegates from New Jersey, New York, Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and Connecticut attended the sessions, which included a business meeting, church and memorial service, and a get-together.

The men also tested their skill on the firing range, with World War I and 2 veterans competing for honors. Fred H. Hoffschlager of Lowville, N. Y., and Ben Ornstein of Newark, veterans of the first World War, defeated the World War 2 contenders.

However, in a softball game, veterans of the last war won 16-5.

Dean Norman C. Miller of University College, formerly director of the Rutgers University Extension Division, has been given the additional appointment of dean of the University Extension Division. Prof. Maurice A. Chaffee, formerly associate director of the division, has been promoted to director. Both are Highland Park residents.

Walter T. Elder of Highland Park, former associate director of University College, was appointed treasurer and director of students of both University College and the University Extension Division.

Dr. Richard H. Wood of Rocky Hill, formerly in charge of the research activities of the Rutgers Institute of Management and Labor Relations was appointed acting director of the Institute.

LOOKING BACK 22 YEARS

ISSUE OF AUG. 20, 1926

Thursday evening next, August 26, the members of the Catholic Daughters of America will enjoy an evening of pleasure by motoring to Dreamland Park. A very good time awaits all who make the trip. This outing will be restricted to members only. Buses and cars will leave the R. of C. rooms at 6:30 sharp. Chaperone Mrs. Clara O'Connor, assisted by Miss Modest Kennedy, has made definite arrangements to have members of Court Seton of Newark meet the South Amboy ladies at the park and a special supper will be served at the newly erected purple and Gold Tea Room, situated within walking distance from the park.

Regarding that the State Highway Commission exceeded its authority in ordering the City of South Amboy to remove the traffic posts at important traffic intersections in this city, Mayor Harold Hoffman stated this morning that he would favor the replacement of the concrete "silent policemen" until such time as provision is made for other traffic control.

The Mayor stated that he is opposed to remotely controlled traffic light, but that he will favor light operated by manual control within the vision of the operator.

The concrete posts were removed by action of the Council without reference to the Mayor, who is virtually the head of the Police Department. "The State Highway Commission is not responsible for the lives and property of our citizens, and is concerned directly only in the maintenance of State Highways, their construction, and in efforts to expedite traffic upon these highways," declared Mayor Hoffman.

"In ordering the removal of the concrete posts it is my belief that they exceeded their authority, and if the matter had been referred to me they would never have been removed until they had proven their right to do so. I understand they acted under an amendment to the municipalities act of 1917, passed at the last session of the legislature. This act was approved March 29th, of this year, but prior to that any municipality had the right to establish safety zones, and to construct and maintain silent policemen, beacon lights and guideposts on any thoroughfare within the municipality. The amendment provided that the right to establish such regulators should not apply to any portion of the State highway."

Burying both railroad tracks and the automobile roads into this city from the north under tons and tons of sand, the storm which broke here about seven o'clock on Monday night paralyzed for several hours all traffic of all kinds through here. Sand washing down from the high ground of Stevensdale buried the railroad tracks and the State Highway to a depth of several feet near the foot of Main Street and also clogged the passageway to Mechanicsville so that no cars except the very light or small, low ones could get through. It was near midnight before one railroad track was uncovered sufficiently for trains to use it safely and was late in the morning the other track was fit for use and then it was occupied for hours by a work train removing the sand.

Throwing all traffic onto the Marham Street-Deep Out bridge route quickly cut that road up so bad that truck after truck became stuck and that route too was soon closed to traffic.

In the passageway under the railroad tracks on the State Highway rout down Main Street a big Mack truck loaded with empty berry crates was caught in the first reaches of the flood and became buried so deep that after the storm seven other trucks pulling together failed to budge it. The seven trucks were hooked to the rear of the truck by means of a steel cable borrowed from the railroad. Another attempt was made to pull the truck out head foremost by attaching four heavy machines to the cable without success. The stuck truck had the road blocked so that even light cars could not pass. It was finally gotten out late Tuesday morning after a road to it had been shoveled out by Highway employees.

The one hundred and twenty first anniversary of the Methodist Episcopal church of Chesapeake (formerly known as Jacksonville), was celebrated in a magnificent manner on last Friday night when a large gathering of the residents of that place and many visitors attended special service held.

A large band from New Brunswick gave a delightful program of music during the evening. The Rev. Harry D. Drummer, pastor, Dr. Herbert Belling and Dr. F. Duncan, were the speakers of the evening. The Rev. Drummer together with his wife and daughter, sang several songs during the program.

The church was built in 1806 on August 13 and later re-built in 1842. The high center pulpit was then removed and in its stead the present above pulpit built. Mrs. Dorcas Tice one of the oldest members of the church, was in charge of the beautiful decorations that adorned the interior of the church for the occasion.

Many local and visiting firemen were greatly interested in a splendid display of firemen's medals in the window of the South Amboy Trust Company on the day of the firemen's parade. The collection was that of one of the guests of the Independence Engine and Hose Company, John H. Langstine, who is a former chief of the New York Volunteer Fire Department. Chief Langstine has one of the most interesting collection of fire trophies in the country, his collection of metal badges and ribbons numbering several hundred. The boys of Independence were very proud of their distinguished visitor, who appeared in uniform with them. Chief Langstine was entertained at the home of former Councilman at Large Charles Stockton, on David Street.

Together with Scoutmaster J. T. Dill, Assistant Scoutmasters Carl Skow, Arthur Skow and John Parker, twenty eight members of Boy Scout Troop No. 1 left this morning for High Bridge, N. J., where they will spend a camping trip of nine days. This is the eleventh annual camping trip for the local scouts, the former camping trips all having been at Avon, N. J.

Scoutmaster Dill has set aside Sunday and Wednesday as visiting days. The troops will return to this city next Saturday. Beside those mentioned above the following scouts made the trip: Raymond Marisa, Elmer Bulner, Everett Sheppard, Arthur Semonett, Frank Hause, Jr., Oliver Lockhardt, E. Applegate, Marvel Applegate, Akon Davis, Roy Mathis, Malcolm Kirk, William Chassy, Thomas Peterson, Charles Oliver, Fred Weldon, William Baronaki, Merrill Condit, Truly Blodgett, Herbert Bonhary, Howard Hoffman, Wm. Feigelsbeck and brother, M. Peterson, J. Johnson, Leon Gamble, Casper Footsch, Ansel Morris and P. Sneider.

While answering what proved to be a false alarm last Saturday night, the new fire truck that is to be assigned to the Progressive Fire Company hit a pole a bad skid near the corner of Stevens and Bordentown Avenue. The machine was driven by the demonstrator that made delivery for the manufacturers and it is said that the accident was the outcome of an attempt to avoid striking another automobile which pulled into the path of the truck without warning. Only two members of the Progressives were on the truck although there were many other chaps riding on it at the time. None were hurt much and the extent of the damage to the machine, if any, has not been determined. The truck has not yet been accepted by the city, nor taken over by the fire company was not required to answer the alarm in question.

The program of athletics featured last Friday evening in connection with the Old Home Week Celebration proved one of the delightful events of the week.

Jack McGuire was in charge of these events, and was assisted by Charles Eppinger.

Local people fared well in the meet and they copped a number of first places. Roland Kennedy's defeat in the distance runs by Totten of Parlin was the big surprise of the meet. The local boy worked faithfully training for the event, but lacked the speed to keep him in the fore during the half mile and mile events.

Frank Gahnon, last year's star track performer at St. Mary's, proved to be the outstanding star during the meet. His running in the 100 yard dash, against great opposition, and on the short end of the odds, proved that the David Street boy possesses great speed.

McGuire was well pleased with the success of the meet, and announced that there is a great deal of talent for track meets in this city. It is estimated that more than five hundred persons attended the meet which was held at the Y.M.C.A. field on lower First Street. Prizes were liberally distributed to the winners, who were well pleased with the handsome assortment awarded by the Old Home Week committee.

FIRE'S BEST TARGET

Fire prevention must begin in dwelling places.

The last annual report of the State Fire Marshal of Oregon backs that up. In 1947, more than 74 per cent of all insurance claims in the state had to do with fires in dwellings, apartments and flats. By contrast, the second category—losses in mercantile and office buildings—accounted for but 6.5 per cent of the claims. From the standpoint of money loss, the home fires came to nearly 30 per cent of the total for the state—about double the figure for the next highest classifications.

These proportions will vary from state to state. But, the home is fire's most effective target. Rundown heating equipment, substandard electrical facilities, carelessness with smoking materials and flammables—these causes alone are responsible for thousands of home fires each year. And in many of those fires, lives are lost.

The authorities can't inspect every home. They can't make you put your heating system in order before fall comes, or replace frayed wiring, or clean the junk out of attics and closets and basements, or do any of the other simple things that will go a long way toward making your house safe. All they can do is advise, and tell you what precautions to take. From there on, it's up to you.

If you think fire prevention is worth while, start checking on your own home now. The chances are you'll be amazed at how many hazards you find.

DEAD LEVEL ON MEDIOCRITY

A few months ago Governor Thomas E. Dewey gave his views on governmental domination of matters affecting the public health. He said: "I am profoundly convinced, after 18 years in government, that government can never do any job as well as private enterprise . . . I am against relegating the cure of sick people to the dead level of government mediocrity. Three years ago, in the belief that government action could procure a better health program for our people through health insurance, I procured authority from the New York Legislature for a 19-man commission to make an extensive study and produce a program."

"I read the hundreds of pages of research data and the hundreds of arguments, and became absolutely convinced that, in the face of all known experience of man, such a program would be a costly failure and might also tear down the standards of the medical profession in the process. If that is correct for a state, it is even more correct for the National Government."

Carried far enough, the idea that the government can stand between us and every hazard of life could destroy the independence and self-reliance of the American people. And it would do that at an incredibly large cost in dollars, of which a handsome proportion would inevitably be used to create and maintain an insatiable bureaucracy. It is not a coincidence that many of the most vocal advocates of compulsory health insurance are always behind every movement which would advance socialism in this country. The hope is that an alert population, working through its elected representatives, will turn thumbs down on the trend.

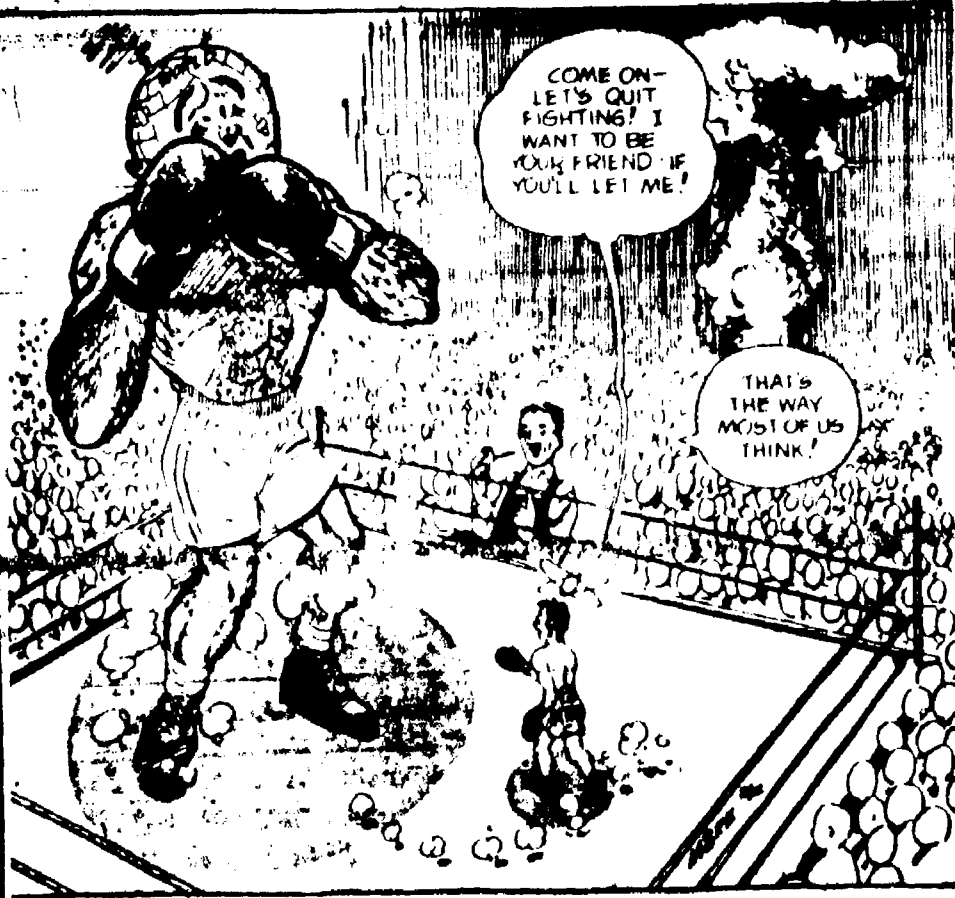

WE NEED FAITH

In a recent speech, Martin F. Gainsbrugh of the National Industrial Conference Board, dealt with the all-important and little understood topic of how far this country—which is supposed to be the leader of the anti-Communist forces of the world—has gone along the road which ends in Communism, dictatorship, and the destruction of property rights. Here are some examples.

One plank of the Communist Manifesto, the century-old document which summed up in precise detail the principles of Communism, calls for a "heavy progressive or graduated income tax." We have an income tax so severe that the accumulation of substantial savings is virtually impossible, and the incentive to take chances, to build up new enterprise, to further develop the nation, has been destroyed.

Another plank calls for "abolition of all rights of inheritance." Our present inheritance tax laws approach that. In case after case, when the owners of a business die, the enterprise must be sold to satisfy the tax collector.

THE INNOCENT ATOM

Still another plank demands "centralization of credit in the hands of state by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly." Today our Federal government, in one way or another, completely dominates the money supply, credit, and interest rates.

Another plank advocates the "extension of factories and instruments of production owned by the state; the bringing into cultivation of waste land, and the improvement of the soil generally in accordance with a common plan." It is estimated that the Federal government owns $50,000,000,000 of our national wealth. It has tremendous land and other holdings. It has gone into commercial business on a grand scale—as witness the Tennessee Valley Authority, and the various government-owned electric projects around the country.

Many more planks from the Manifesto which we have unwittingly adopted in part could be cited. In Mr. Gainsbrugh's words, "The disciples of capitalism need faith . . . In too few can there be found a view that capitalism contains within itself the same seeds of expansion as in the past century. What is needed is a favorable environment for further capital accumulation of private property and a greater degree of voluntary, personal control over its use and disposition." Let that happen, and we will effectively oppose Communism at home even as we oppose it by diplomatic means abroad.

WHERE YOUR MEAT DOLLAR GOES

When a meat packer takes in a dollar, what happens to it?

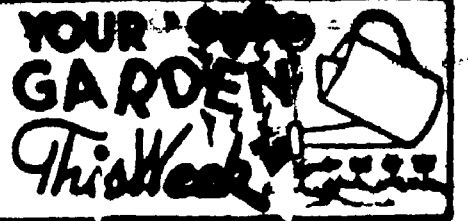

The answer to that question will probably come as a surprise to a good many consumers. As anyone can guess, part of the revenue goes to livestock producers, part for the expenses of carrying on the packing business, and a part is retained as profit—earned for performing an essential service and for necessary improvement and expansion of facilities. But, in all likelihood, relatively few people have an accurate idea of how that dollar is divided.

Here, then, is how it is spent, on the average: The farmer receives 79½ cents for livestock, etc. Nineteen cents is used to meet the payroll and other expenses. That means that only 1½ cents out of each dollar of sales—or a fraction of a cent per pound on the selling price of meat—is kept as profit.

That is certainly a modest wage for an industry which provides the farmers of this country with a daily cash market for all classes of livestock and keeps the meat supply flowing into all the consuming centers from villages to metropolises. Fresh meat is perishable. Most of it must be sold within a short time, and for whatever price it will bring. That price is established by the old law of supply and demand. It isn't fixed by the farmers, the packers, or any other group except the 145,000,000 American consumers and their collective demand for the supply of meat available.

This country's appetite for meat is steadily growing. We must have a constantly expanding livestock industry. The packers' job is to work with the farmer to make that possible.

THEY WOULD READ YOUR AD TOO, IF IT APPEARED HERE

Keep the cultivator going in the garden, if you did not maul. Weeds are usually not much of a problem at this season, but tillage kills them as fast as the seeds germinate and keeps the soil loose for water to enter readily.

It is important to thin plants to proper spacing, especially this season when rainfall is apt to be deficient, although if it keeps up as has, we shall have no fear on this score.

Now is a good time to start your compost pile. Put on it everything except plants with diseases like corn smut. Spread a little fertilizer and lime on each six-inch layer and you will produce valuable manure. You may even use fine twigs that have been pruned from shrubs.

Oriental Poppies are now in about the right stage, (the new shoots appearing above ground) to divide and reset at once. The roots are very brittle, so handle carefully.

Delphinium seed of this year's crop should now be in the stores. Seed sown now will produce plants for spring bloom.

Set out a few corms of Safron (Colchicum) and Autumn blooming crocus. These, set within a week or two, will produce blooms without any leaves in September or early October. The leaves will come next spring.

Keep the duster going with rotenone dust to keep down aphids, cabbage worms and Mexican beetle. Use sulphur on roses, delphiniums and lilacs for preventing mildew.

If you have pole beans, be sure to give them liquid fertilizer in two weeks keep them in production.

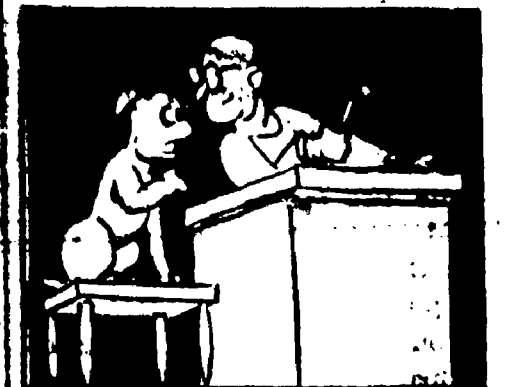

Now is the last call for making cuttings of geraniums, begonias, fuchsias to give good blooming plants this winter.

Uses of Paper

Everybody in this country uses an average of one pound of paper every day. Paper is made into such things as building materials and dish cloths, containers, waterproof maps, newspapers and magazines and hundreds of other products. This year's production may reach 22 million tons.

 he inspired them to play baseball, and to practice clean living, and there is no story more touching concerning him, than that about his trudging almost all day over wild territory, to present an autographed baseball to a sick boy. How much the children of the nation thought of Ruth, is demonstrated by the fact that they assembled outside the hospital for long hours, praying for his recovery.

There have been famous baseball players and there will be many more in the years to come, but always "The Babe" will loom up as the greatest of them all, and in the future, many will stand before his uniform at the museum at Cooperstown, N. Y., and dream of his greatness, and maybe shed a tear, as they remember the big hearted hero, who always remained a boy, interested in boys.

It might be well to add a pair of powerful binoculars to the equipment of the local police department.

The danger from low flying airplanes here, is increasing daily, and although there have been no accidents to date, any one of these planes which breaks the law, and flies low over the city, may go out of control at any time, and crash, causing either loss of life, or property damage, or both.

One of the most serious cases of this type was that on Monday afternoon, when a plane, which according to the police was not more than 200 feet high, flew over the city at a terrific speed narrowly grazing roof tops and trees, frightening local residents, and calling forth a flood of protests.

It is no easy task for police to secure the numbers of planes piloted by aviators who are breaking the law, and a powerful pair of binoculars might prove a big help.

INCREASED FACILITIES FOR COAL DUMPING

 tinuous steam capacity will be increased from the present 120,000 to 176,000 pounds per hour," Mr. Jones said, "and this should help to expedite the movement of coal from our rail lines to the dumpers, during periods of severe weather when coal has to be thawed or loosened, prior to transfer from hopper and gondola cars, into barges for waterfront delivery."

The two boilers will be fabricated by the Babcock and Wilcox Company at its Barberton, O., plant; the four stokers will be built by the Detroit Stoker Company, at Monroe, Mich.; and foundation and other construction work will be done by the Frederick Snare Corporation, of 233 Broadway, New York, N. Y., under general supervision of H. T. Frushour, Assistant Vice President and Chief Engineer, and E. L. Bachman, General Superintendent of Motive Power, New York Zone, of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Federal Funds Allotted To State For School Lunches

Will Get $1,012,341 For Use During 1948-49 Term.

New Jersey has been allotted $1,012,341 in Federal funds for the operation of the National School Lunch Program during the 1948-49 school year, according to J. J. Dittick, who is in charge of food distribution activities of the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. D. A., in the Northeast.

In a communication sent to Agricultural Extension Officials of Rutgers University, Dittick said that this is New Jersey's share of the $75,000,000 appropriated by Congress for the school lunch program, $58,800,000 of which has been allocated for distribution to the states and territories. Most of the balance is available for purchase of foods by the Production and Marketing Administration for distribution to participating schools.

New Jersey's allotment is about $54,000 larger than it was last year. Allocations are made by a formula which takes into account the number of school children and the per capita income in each state, Dittick explained.

Last year about 140,000 children in 1,038 New Jersey schools benefited from the program, he said.

 attended Rutgers University, graduating from the College of Pharmacy in 1933, and was awarded the athletic and dispensing pharmacy prizes.

He passed the examinations of the New Jersey Board of Pharmacists in 1933, and took up his employment at the drug store again, this time as a fully fledged pharmacist, and has continued as such.

Mr. Peterson, also started his career in business as a messenger boy in a drug store. He came to this country from Denmark, with his parents in 1893. He attended local schools, working after hours in the store, beginning his employment in 1904. He passed the examinations of the State Pharmacy Board, and upon the death of Dr. Albright, took over the business. He moved from the former headquarters maintained by Dr. Albright for many years, to the present home of the business, in 1918.

Despite long hours he spent in the store, Mr. Peterson has always found time to engage in local civic and fraternal activities. He is a charter member of the South Amboy Rotary Club, and also a member of St. Stephen's Lodge, F. and A. M. here.

He intends to continue to make his home here, and regarding his future plans declared, "I want to learn to play. I've been a Rexall dealer for 27 years now, and I think I am entitled to a little relaxation."

Pipe Dreams

Back from a recent vacation at Lakewood, a local man is hoping his wife don't go too much into details concerning what they did on their vacation.

Always able to get pretty much what he wanted about town, the man was considerably put out on his vacation to find that on his first try at the game, he was unable to hit a golf ball, although he dug considerable of a hole around it during the half hour he swung and hit almost everything but the ball.

A number of people have been watching with considerable interest for some time, the romance between a middle aged local business man who is married, and a young girl who works in a store in town.

About half past three every day they meet in a confectionery store, close to where she works. He has to travel five blocks and pass several other confectionery stores to get to the one where they meet, and they both walk a block more than is necessary, when he walks back to work with her.

Among those who may be frequently seen nowadays at Kennsburg, in attitudes of endearment, are two locals who are married, but have not trod the middle aisle together. The fact that they wear dark glasses, has not prevented their being recognized by a number of local people.

Even on a vacation, one must keep a tight hold on his pocketbook, and must keep his wits with him.

A normally shrewd business man can testify to that. Recently while vacationing, not far from here, he fell for the smooth talk of a man he met one evening on the boardwalk, and threw away a considerable sum when he invested in worthless stock in a company that was to be organized to manufacture a sun-burn lotion, which the smooth talker declared would work wonders.

A number of the local boys are travelling west quite frequently, lately, to spend their time shaking their right hands vigorously, then releasing two square pieces of ivory from them. Normally adept at the game, they can't understand why they win so seldom. Maybe if they would look back of that brown leather tub, they might get the answer.

It's probably not nice to spoil the romantic dreams of local young girls, but someone should tell them the truth about that handsome young man from Nutley, with a car bearing license numbers which total seven, who is not bashful about declaring he is only waiting for final word from Hollywood, to become a movie actor.

He's an assistant accountant for a firm, the initials of which are W. H., which is located not far from Wall Street, in New York City, and none in Hollywood even knows he exists.

Miss Ann M. DiBiase Wed Saturday To Stephen Jannos

Saturday afternoon, at St. Joseph's R. C. Church at Keyport, the marriage of Miss Ann Marie DiBiase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiBiase of Cliffwood Avenue, Cliffwood, to Stephen Jannos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jannos, of Main Street, Old Bridge, was solemnized. The double ring ceremony, at 3 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. Raymond Hurley.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown, made in off-the-shoulder effect, trimmed with silver beads, and a full skirt, forming a long train. Her veil of French illusion, trimmed with orange blossoms, and forming another train over that of her gown, was arranged from a coronet. She carried a cascade of white lilies.

Miss Theresa DiBiase, attended her sister, as maid of honor, and there were three bridesmaids, Miss Rose Imarelli, Miss Ann Di Paolo, and Miss Carmella Di Giambattista. Walter Jannos of Old Bridge, was the best man for his brother, and Thomas Wisniewski of Metros, John DiBiase of Morgan, cousin of the bride, and Jack Murphy of this city, were the ushers.

The maid of honor was gowned in blue faille taffeta, designed with round neckline, trimmed with silver beads and wide skirt caught up to show the hoop trimmed with French lace ruffles. She carried a cascade of gladioli in various shades.

The bridesmaids wore companion styled gowns of faille taffeta, Miss Imarelli dressed in orchid, Miss Di Paolo wearing Nile green, and Miss Di Giambattista, in maize. They carried cascades of gladioli in colors to match their gowns.

The honeymoon tour is through the New England states, and upon their return, they will reside at 40 Norwood street, Morgan. For going away, the bride wore a pink gabardine suit, with white accessories, and a corsage of white roses.

The bride attended Matawan High School, and the bridegroom graduated from Sayreville High School. He served in the U. S. Marine Corps for three years, including duty in the Pacific area, and is now employed as a millwright, at the Hercules Powder Company plant at Parlin.

DEMOCRATS MEET TO STIFLE RUMORS

Kurtz laid the blame for the condition entirely at the door of the Board of Public Works, and said a large part of the trouble at present, is that the city is ignoring the local residents who paid for the $250,000 water plant, and furnishing them a grade of water that is unsatisfactory, in order to supply other municipalities as well.

He said the practice of selling water to Sayreville and Laurence Harbor, had placed an unusual drain upon the water works facilities, and the "muddy" water was the result. He added that this selling of water outside the city had made it necessary to construct another well at an approximate cost of $10,000, and to hire another employee at the pumping station. In return, said Kurtz, the city receives only $5,000 a year from its outside water sales. He predicted that

BIDS RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT PARK FIRE COMPANY

Meeting Monday evening, at Schachel's President Grill, members of the President Park Independent Fire Company, received bids for heating and plumbing for their new firehouse. Four bids were received, and it was decided to give them further study, before awarding the contract.

Chairman Frank Durski of the building committee, reported good progress being made in constructing the headquarters. He urged members of the company to give all spare time possible to the completion of the building.

The members of the company will attend the bazaar sponsored by the East Brunswick Fire Company, Wednesday evening.

Schmeling's Heritage

Max Schmeling of Germany gathered in more American dollars, due to fistie prowess, than any other foreigner, and only four Americans—Louis, Dempsey, Tunney and Sullivan—exceeded his total. Additionally, Schmeling made money through his fights in Europe, his exhibitions there, and his showing of American-made films of his battles. Schmeling rode to fame by knocking out Johnny Rio, the "Rubber Man", in 1920.

Time Out Between Dances

JUDY GARLAND and Fred Astaire catch a breather during the shooting of one of the Irving Berlin song and dance numbers featured in the new M-G-M Technicolor musical, "Easter Parade," with seventeen famous Berlin songs keeping the action at a fast pace.

Legume Value

Good legumes such as alfalfa or sweet clover improve soils in a number of ways. Their action in fixing atmospheric nitrogen is well known. A less publicized but equally important function of legumes is their effect on the tilth of soils. Legumes increase the granulation of soils, thereby reducing their susceptibility to erosion, increasing their moisture capacity, improving aeration, and allowing better drainage.

Chicago's Wholesale Trade

Chicago's wholesale trade in 1947 approximated $10,500,000,000. Contributing substantially to the wholesale volume are more than 200 trade shows and other forms of organized merchandising events which are held in this city annually, and which in the aggregate constitute an almost continuous Leipzig Fair. Trade shows catering exclusively to retailers annually attract more than 500,000 retail store owners and buyers.

Hair Down — Prices Up?

It's a changing world. The models above show the old (left) and the new hair-dos. The new styles are down, but the price of hair styling will go up unless Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., wins a patent battle now pending in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Even keeping beautiful is threatened by the high cost of living. The cost of machineless permanent waves will go up unless Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., of Chicago, wins a battle to reverse a lower court decision. The firm has announced it is carrying the fight to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The decision affects millions of customers of the nation's 300,000 beauticians. A lower court has ruled in favor of Sales Affiliates, Inc., on two of four patents on materials for machineless permanents in an infringement suit against Helene Curtis. Court records show that Sales Affiliates has licensed the Toni Company and Halgar, Inc., to manufacture and sell pads for machineless permanents. Toni now sells only home cold wave sets. Edward Gidwitz, executive vice-president of Helene Curtis, said his firm was continuing the fight in the interests of the beauticians and the public. The additional cost would have to be passed on to the public by beauty shops, he said. "Materials for machineless waves represent only a few items among the hundreds in our lines," Gidwitz said, "and it would cost less to pay the royalties than to appeal. But since we supply only professional beauty shops, we are concerned over them and their customers. We also are concerned because Sales Affiliates has licensed two firms in competition to beauty shops. "We are advised by counsel that we may be confident of winning. In a number of patent suits affecting similar beauty products in the past, lower court decisions have been reversed."

"Pre-Shrunk" Label

Watch for the "pre-shrunk" label on cotton dresses before purchasing. Without this label, it is difficult to predict shrinkage.

Alps on Ironing

Ironing may be detrimental to a few articles such as elasticized portions of garments, fabrics waterproofed with waxes, rubber or other coatings which may melt easily. Study labels of such articles carefully for ironing instructions. Some knit garments may be pulled out of shape by ironing. Don't iron washable pile fabrics such as chenilles or corduroys because ironing will mat the pile. Brush up the pile when thoroughly dry.

Serves the nation

Here's another great industry which certifies to the diversification of manufacturing in New Jersey—the wire and cable industry!

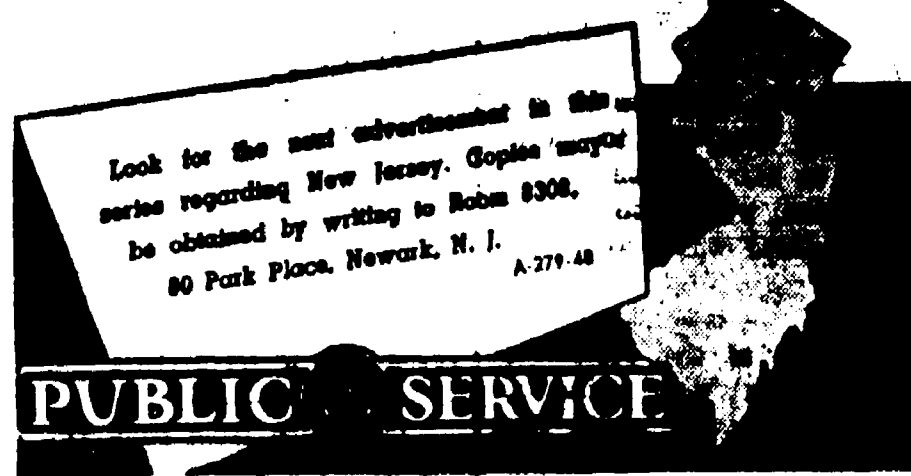

Thousands of your friends and neighbors work in local wire plants, turning out more than $52,000,000* worth of all kinds of cable every year. And this important industry has an annual payroll in excess of $10,000,000*!

These vital products play an important role in your everyday life, too, because dependable electric service is carried to you 24 hours a day over these labor-saving strands.

Yes, wire and cable, made in New Jersey, serves our great state . . . and the nation!

Public Service Electric and Gas Company, public servant of a great state, commends the wire-cable industry on its accomplishments and its plans for future growth.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

Ever wish you were a successful contestant on one of those quiz shows with the big prizes?

The most consistent winner of these and many other dollar producing events is your Uncle Sam, tax collector. Don't look now, but he is the man with his hand out to collect a share of the winnings, regardless of who wins.

When Jack L. Adams of Huntington, West Virginia, won $7,300 in prize money recently by giving the right answers in a musical quiz, he had to shell over an estimated $1,178.23 to the tax collector.

Similarly, the Champion "Yankees" thought they won the lion's share of the prize money, as well as Baseball's World Series last season. It develops, however, that about $414,000 of the proceeds went into the U. S. Treasury in the form of taxes.

Playgoers paid an estimated $15,000,000 over a five-year period to see the recent outstanding musical comedy success, "Oklahoma." Lucky winners of the show received some of this, but the Federal Government netted nearly $3,000,000.

Most consistent contributors to Uncle Sam's treasury, however, are the millions of America's wage earners and producers, even as you and I. They pay over 30 billion dollars annually in individual and corporate income taxes to the Federal Government.

It all goes to prove that you can't escape Uncle Sam, tax collector.

"Instead," says the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, "the most effective thing the taxpayer can do about tax bills, whether they be Federal, State or local, is to concentrate his fire power against unnecessary government spending at Washington, Trenton, or town hall. And," adds the Association, "this is done most effectively by the taxpayer who organizes with his neighbors for the purpose of achieving better government at less cost."

PHARMACEUTICAL ASS'N MAKES DONATION FOR RUTGERS RESEARCH

The New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association, through its Board of Trustees, has authorized a $500 expenditure for continuance of special research work at Rutgers.

The appropriation matches one provided by the Medical Society of New Jersey to continue activity of the State Formulary which since its inception in 1934, has developed 200 medicinal preparations in response to the need for standardized and less expensive preparations of modern drugs.

"This joint enterprise of the two professions has saved the consuming public many hundreds of thousands of dollars," declared R. Raymond Ricciardi, chairman of the pharmacists' committee.

"By devising and making available formulas of preparations embodying the most progressive advances in drug therapy, this activity has made it possible for physicians to use modern drugs for treatment of disease in the most economical manner. It has been a boon to the people of New Jersey.

"I am delighted that funds have been provided to continue the work that has developed so many fine medications for so wide a variety of diseases, at minimum cost."

Serving with Ricciardi on the committee for the druggists are Henry D. Kehr, of Trenton; Harry Reibel, Elizabeth; Percy H. Jackson, Wildwood; Dr. Tom D. Rowe, dean of the Rutgers College of Pharmacy, and Dr. Martin S. Ulan, of the college faculty.

Corporal Pupek was killed on September 13, 1944, while serving as a gunner in a plane shot down over Belgium.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Pupek of 412 Henry street and besides his parents, is survived by a sister, Mrs. Viola Podulinski, and a brother Ignatius, both residents of this city.

The services tomorrow will take place at 8:30 from the Frank T. Kurzawa Funeral Home, 338 Main street, followed by a requiem high mass at Sacred Heart R. C. Church, at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in the soldier's plot in the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

The funeral will be military, with a detail from Camp Kilmer, taking part.

Memorial services will be held this evening by members of Lake A. Lovely Post of the American Legion, and of the Sacred Heart Post of the Catholic War Veterans.

Corporal Pupek attended Sacred Heart Grammar School, and before joining the Army was employed by the Crossman Company, at Sayreville. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of Sacred Heart Church.

A brother Edmund, serving with the U. S. Marine Corps, met his death at Iwo Jima, and was reburied recently, in Sacred Heart Cemetery here.

WEATHER AGAIN POSTPONES OPENING OF DRIVE-IN THEATRE

Unseasonal, record rain has again forced a delay in opening of Walter Reade's Drive-In Theatre No. 1 in Woodbridge, N. J., postponing the scheduled operating date from Saturday, August 21 to Saturday, August 28, the theatre organization disclosed today.

The Drive-In, which will be Middlesex County's first, and with its 950 car capacity the largest in Northern New Jersey, was originally scheduled to open in early August, but the continuing heavy rainfall, which has prevented use of heavy paving equipment, has necessitated the successive postponements. Mr. Walter Reade said. He added that once paving is completed, eliminating current drainage problems, the remaining equipment installation work will be quickly completed.

The out-door theatre occupies a 20 acre lot on the northbound lane of U. S. Highway 1 at the cloverleaf in Woodbridge, with the exit on New Jersey Highway 4.

Mr. Reade said his organization was faced with the decision of opening the Drive-In this year without completing extensive landscaping for the children play area at the base of the giant screen, due to the rain; or completing these facilities and opening next Spring. Interest in the theatre by Middlesex residents prompted the decision to open as soon as possible and have the additional services completed by next Spring, he said.

Local Man Lost Arm In Auto Accident Monday

Christopher Slusarski Injured At Morgan, When Car Hits Truck.

It was necessary to amputate the left arm of Christopher Slusarski, 31, of 311 Walnut street, this city, as the result of an accident Monday night on Highway 35, at Morgan.

Police reported Slusarski was driving along the highway, when his car collided with a parked truck. They said the man's arm was protruding from the automobile, and in passing the truck, the arm became twisted in a ladder, on the truck.

Slusarski proceeded about 100 feet down the highway, the police declared, before he was able to bring his car to a halt. A passerby summoned the Lawrence Harbor First Aid Squad, and upon reaching the scene, Patrolman Gilbert Tier found the man bleeding badly.

Slusarski was rushed to the office of a physician, where emergency treatment was administered. He was then taken to the Dr. E. C. Hazard Hospital at Long Branch, where the arm was amputated.

Police reported the truck was owned by Robert Olson, of Maple street, Bound Brook, and Chief Otto Kangetter, said it was parked without lights on the edge of the highway. Slusarski told police there was no light on the projecting ladder.

SOCIAL SECURITY IN OPERATION THIRTEEN YEARS

The thirteenth anniversary of the signing of the Social Security Act occurred on Saturday, August 1, it was pointed out by Louis J. Ritter, Manager of the local Social Security Administration field office in Perth Amboy. This law was designed, among other things, to provide workers and their families the protection of social insurance and, since that day in 1935 when the law was signed by the President, it has become a vital part of the lives of millions of Americans by giving workers a way to build protection for themselves and their families. Since 1937, when the system of old-age and survivors insurance went into effect, Mr. Ritter stated, more than two billion dollars have been paid to retired workers and their families and to the survivors of workers who have died. He further stated that the payments are now being made to more than two million persons at the rate of more than forty-two million dollars a month.

Offices like the one at Perth Amboy, are located in 475 other towns and cities throughout the country. Through these offices approximately ninety-one million account numbers have been assigned. These social security account numbers are an important part of the job of keeping workers' wages recorded accurately.

The Perth Amboy office has been operating since 1937 for the benefit of residents of Middlesex and part of Monmouth County. In addition to the services available at 313 State street, information and advice may be obtained from a representative of the Perth Amboy office at the New Brunswick Post Office every Monday and Wednesday from 9:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.

New Safety Light Installed by Truckers

A manually operated "passing light" now being installed on trucks and trailers promises to eliminate the motorist's pet gripe about being stuck at low speeds behind one of the big vans, unable to pass because he couldn't see ahead.

The light, mounted at the rear of the vehicle, enables the truck driver to signal the word "Pass" to cars behind if the road ahead is clear of on-coming traffic.

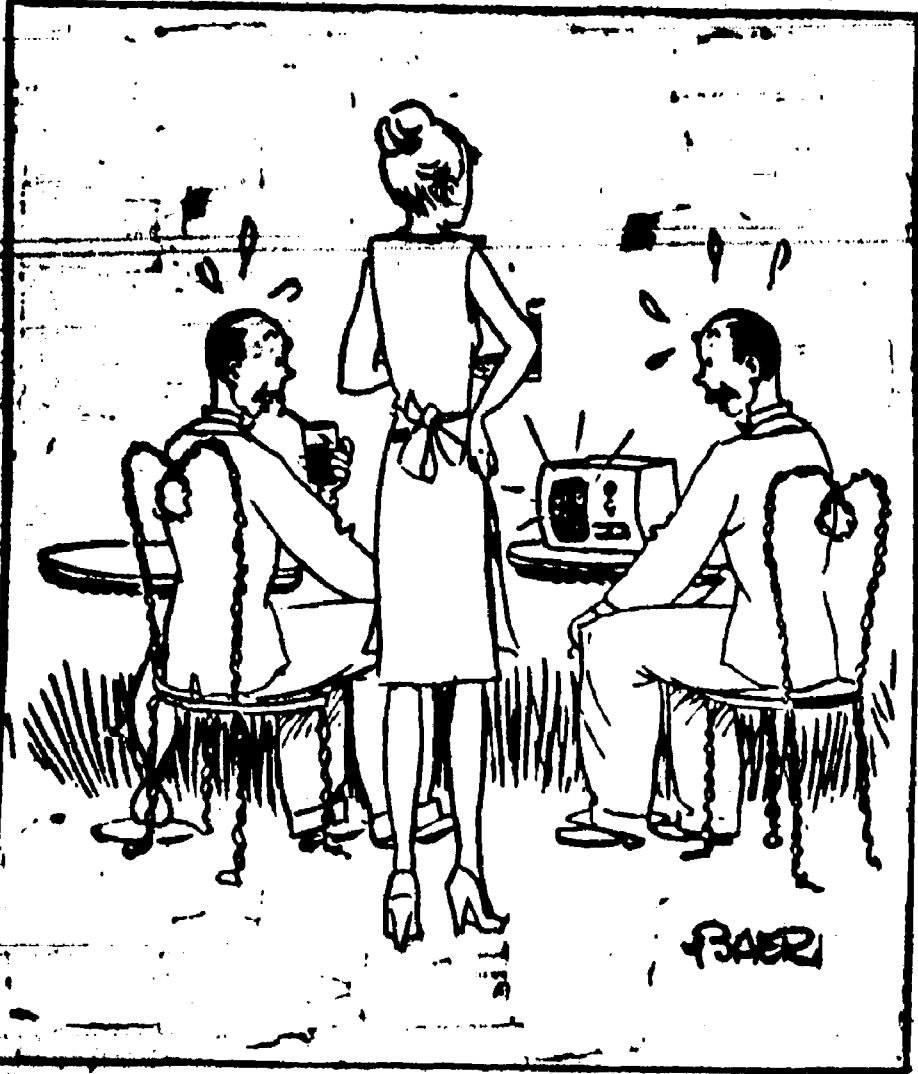

Heavy Duty Loader

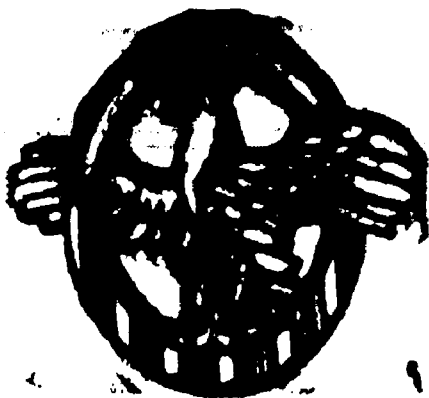

CLARKSTON, MICH.—500 farm leaders and representatives of the nation's press and radio attended the 1948 press demonstration of the Ford Tractor and Dearborn Farm equipment at the Dearborn Motors education farm near here. Among the sixty-four implements, designed to operate with the Ford Tractor, demonstrated was the heavy duty loader pictured above. It looks complicated but it's simple: drive the tractor under the frame, fasten six bolts and you have a power shovel, crane or hoist by merely changing attachments. With different attachments, farmers can excavate and move dirt, lift and stack baled hay, fork and load manure, shovel and elevate grain, or clean away snowdrifts.

IF FELIX FRANKFURTER had taken only the part that a supreme court justice normally takes in the social and intellectual life of Washington, there would be no interest in his influence on the character and the political direction of the American government, at home and abroad. NO WRITTEN REQUIREMENT FORBIDS A JUSTICE TO DO ANY OF THE THINGS FRANKFURTER DID.

He had a right to plant his proteges, friends, stooges or political and ideological agents wherever he could. He had a legal right to plant them in the war department where he finally did put his old friend, Henry L. Stimson, as secretary at the age of 73, first jostling Harold Ickes and Frank Murphy out of the way.

He had a legal right to recommend and see to the placement of men who were, to his mind and for his purposes, valuable servants of the government in the state department and in the agencies which absolutely rule the radio industry under a policy saturated with communism.

He had this right, but such interference certainly was unusual and unbecoming. And, by the standards of many Americans, it was unethical.

FRANKFURTER WAS A JUDGE UP TO HIS EYES IN POLITICS. HE WAS PUSHING, SHOVING, ELBOWING INTO BUSINESS THAT WAS NO PROPER AFFAIR OF ANY MAN SITTING ON THE SUPREME COURT. Foreign relations were none of his business. War strategy was none of his business. He was an intimate social friend and ideological comrade of Roosevelt and an avowed partisan of much of Roosevelt's violent philosophy of government.

The sly, insolent power of Frankfurter in directing the destiny of the United States never has been spotted by a better authority than Ickes, whose expose of this tip-toeing undercover agent nevertheless has gone almost unnoticed. Ickes pulled the whiskers off Frankfurter—his friend, by the way—in an installment of his commercialized memoirs in the Saturday Evening Post.

In this piece Ickes writes that Frankfurter elbowed him out of the office of secretary of war, which Roosevelt was in a mood to trust to him.

The enormity of this is that Frankfurter, a justice of the supreme court, was scurrying around lobbying and running the government.

A man who served with Frankfurter in one of the bureaus in Washington in World War I told me not long ago that Frankfurter once said to him and some associates that he envisioned a situation in which a small group of influential men, by audacity and initiative, could become the rulers of the United States by ruling the president.

Certainly in World War II and for some time before this nation formally entered the war, Frankfurter did wield power over Roosevelt and the more important departments. HIS INFLUENCE WAS EXERTED BY SUBTLETY. HE HAD HIS MEN PLANTED ALL OVER THE PLACE.

Ickes tells us that on November 21, 1939, Tom Corcoran, also known as Tommy the Cork, the prize weenie of the entire litter of happy hot dogs, came to him telling of a conversation he had had with Roosevelt. He said that he had said to Roosevelt, "Now that Frank Murphy is going to the supreme court, how about the war department?"

Ickes doesn't say so, but I say that Frankfurter shoved Murphy out of the war department.

Roosevelt was going to make him secretary of war. This was Murphy's great ambition. But Frankfurter recognized in him a stubborn, brooding Irishman who particularly hated the English for their persecutions of the Irish and therefore wouldn't send them American help if they got into war with Hitler or anyone else. Frankfurter wanted a man who would go out after Hitler.

He apprehended that he wouldn't be able to get along with Murphy and handle him and events have borne him out. Murphy now hates his very stripes for doing him out of that job. THE FEELING IS MUTUAL AND, ALTOGETHER, AN INFLUENTIAL FACTOR IN THE HYSTERIA WHICH PASSES FOR LAW THESE DAYS.

Ickes tells us that after a lot of filling in and political trimming Roosevelt actually went so far as to tell him he would make him secretary of war if he could find a good man to replace him as secretary of the interior.

Successful Season For Trout Fishermen Is Predicted

Season To Get Under Way On September 1.

The New Jersey Fish and Game Council, of the State Department of Conservation, has predicted a successful thirty-day trout season during September.

The season gets underway on September 1 and regulations prevailing during the regular trout season from April 15 to July 15 will be in effect during the new open period. The daily catch is limited to ten trout and the fish must be at least seven inches in length to be legal size.

Charles O. Hayford, Superintendent of the world famous Hackettstown Fish Hatchery, predicted today that fine fishing should result from the large amount of Brown trout which have summered over in the streams of the State during the record high water and low temperature of the summer months.

A large quantity of Brown trout, reaching approximately fifty per cent of the trout liberated during the spring months, still remains in the streams, Superintendent Hayford claims. Brown trout, many of which were twelve inches in size or better, stay in the streams much better than other species of the fish.

Dry fly enthusiasts, as well as other anglers, welcome the final chance of the year to take part in the sport before their attention is turned to the fall hunting seasons. The new season will mark the fourteenth year that the thirty-day September season has been in vogue in New Jersey.

ALAN MAYER LEADS DRIVERS AT FREEHOLD TRACK

At the end of the first racing week at Freehold Raceway Alan Myer, 20, youngest of the five racing brothers, is the leading driver of the meet. From Bridgeville, Del., young Myer started 19 times and has won six races placed twice, showed once and was in the horsemen's money, (had horses in fourth or fifth position) six times. He has a total of 124 points.

Ed. Kelly, from Burlington, N. J. is close on Myers' heels with a total of 104 points with four winners, two seconds and four show races out of 18 starts. He also was in the horsemen's money four times.

Although he only has 85 points to his credit, Lloyd James, Cambridge, Md., hasn't been out of the horsemen's money in 10 starts. And his past performance shows he is the main threat to Myer's driving crown. Out of the 10 times he has gone to the post, James has driven three winners and four place horses.

Two track records have been established during the past week of racing. Marilyn Chief, owned by the Carolina stock farm of Hobbsville, North Carolina, driven by Bob Walker, set the racing record for 4 1/4 furlongs at 1:08 and two fifths reducing the former record of 1:08 and one half, set in 1946 by Mister Morris Scott, by one tenth of a second.

In the mile and a sixteenth, Enalou Hanover, owned by Smith and Rudnick, Dover, Del., established track record of 2:13 lowering the old record of Henry Volo by one half second. Both former record holders were owned and driven by W. E. Miller of Washington, D. C.

Charitable organizations are to share in the recently concluded Monmouth Park race meeting to the sum of $25,000, according to announcement made today by President Amory L. Haskell of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club. This amount will be turned over in toto to the Monmouth Park Charity Fund, and disbursement will be in charge of a group of public-spirited Monmouth citizens, led by Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, chairman.

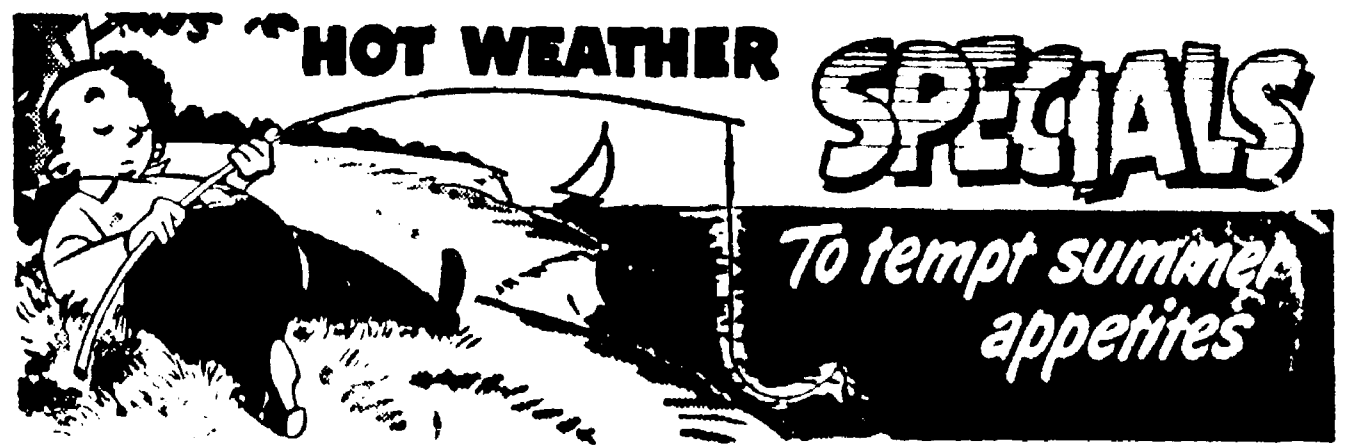

"This donation has nothing whatsoever to do with the second annual Turf Charity Ball, held last July 31," Haskell pointed out. "All proceeds from this Ball are not yet in, but when a final count of monies is available we expect the sum to total approximately $20,000 additional."

If Haskell's figures are met, it will mean that Monmouth County charitable institutions, and other non-profit incorporated institutions serving the health needs of the County, will share the $45,000.

Organizations which profited from last season's donations, and are again expected to share in this year's disbursement, include the Monmouth Memorial Hospital of Long Branch, the Pitkin Memorial Hospital of Neptune, Riverview Hospital of Red Bank, Hazard Hospital of Long Branch, Monmouth County Organization for Social Service, Monmouth County Welfare House of Freehold and the Monmouth County Tuberculosis Hospital of Allenwood.

In addition to Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, the Charity Fund group numbers Louis Burfeind, treasurer; Rt. Rev. Joseph P. Casey, Clifford J. Hemphill, George M. Bodman, John L. Montgomery and Maurice Pollak.
