RUSH PRESENTS INDUSTRY PLAN FOR LANDFILL

Mayor Joseph P. Rush, in his remarks to the Council at last Wednesday's meeting, presented an industrial proposal for the landfill area.

The mayor read the following letter from the New Jersey Steel Corporation: of 500 Blair Road, Carteret:

"The New Jersey Steel Corporation is interested in thirty acres of land in the South Amboy landfill area for the establishment of a modern continuous casting steel mill facility.

This electric furnace mill will employ approximately 200 people in the production of light section construction steel only; reinforcing bars from 3/8" diameter to 1 1/8" diameter. The valuation of the mill in stage 1 will be approximately $8 million for land, building, and machinery. The second stage will develop another facet of light steel section production of hot rolled rods for the wire industry and the mill buildings and equipment will require an additional investment of $4.5 million and subsequent employment of another 100 people.

The mill will use the electric arc furnace principle for melting steel and will employ all modern pollution devices for air and water meeting all New Jersey state and municipal requirements for manufacture as well as noise -dampening equipment."

The mayor assured the council that this company was well prepared to meet all financial requirements and is ready to do business with the city as soon as possible.

The council agreed to set a date for the company representatives to meet with city officials.

In July of this year the mayor presented another plan to the council which called for a precast concrete plant that would yield about $70,000 per year in taxes. The council rejected this offer feeling that the landfill area would bring in a better rateable.

Councilman William O'Leary pointed this out at Wednesday's council meeting by saying, "Our decision, of that time, is now vindicated. This new proposal sounds much better."

There was no estimate made of the taxes the steel industry would pay for the landfill area.

In other business, the council ordered the city attorney, John Mullane, to attend a hearing in Perth Amboy to object to any curtailment of services by the Marathon Bus Lines. This meeting will be held in the Perth Amboy City Hall on Nov. 12.

The Municipal Warden Service informed the city officials that next year's rates for the housing of stray dogs have been increased. Owners of the dogs will pay $5 for the first day and $1 for each day after.

Previous charges were $3 for the first day and $1 for each day after.

The attorney for the Gillette Company on Gordon St. asked the city to withhold taking any action on the two disabled trucks located on the Gordon St. property.

According to the lawyer, these vehicles are now in the process of being investigated for insurance coverage and that the vehicles would be removed as soon as the claims are resolved.

O'Leary remarked that while he could appreciate the feelings of Gillette, Ordinance No. 724 must be enforced. The mayor informed the council that Gillette's 30 day period of grace would end on Nov. 8 and that he would order the police department to take appropriate action.

Fire Marshal Chester L. Meinzer reported that he investigated the operation of the MacArthur Petroleum installation in South Kearny and approved that company's request to use the Sunoco property, at the foot of Augusta St., for the same purpose.

Meinzer recommended that special foam liquid be furnished by the company and kept in an accessible storage shed.

The council accepted Meinzer's report and authorized James F. Coan, city building inspector, to issue an occupancy certificate.

City Engineer Edward Reilly, at the request of Coan, had examined the grading plan of the Mountaineer Construction Company on Portia St. and approved their proposed grading of the plant site.

The council indicated that they would give approval for this operation after checking with the Board of Public Works for any possible conflict with existing water and sewer lines.

The council passed an emergency resolution approving $2,000 for public buildings and grounds.

In another resolution passed by the council, the president of the council was selected as the chairman

INMAN AND ZEBRO — THE WINNERS

JAMES W. INMAN

Tuesday's General Election returned incumbent Frank Zebro to the 1st Ward Council Seat and placed James Inman in the 4th Ward chair, formerly occupied by Al Clark.

Zebro won handily over his opponent, Independent Candidate Edmund S. Kaboski, by a margin of 484 votes, 746 to 262. All three of the districts in Ward 1 went to Zebro with only the 3rd showing any signs of a trend towards Kaboski, this district being Kaboski's home area.

Inman succeeded in unseating Clark by a majority of 263 votes, the count being Inman 770 and Clark 407. Clark, who had been appointed to the 4th Ward council seat vacated by Joseph Rush when he was elected mayor last year, ran far behind the normal Democratic ticket as shown in the race for the county offices.

Political observers attributed Inman's victory to many factors, all of which added up to the Republicans regaining ground lost in previous campaigns. It was pointed out that although the late Joseph Charmello had always carried the 4th Ward by about 500 votes, the Republican candidates, of late, had been hard put to keep their majority up to 200.

When questioned, at a post-election party, the newly elected councilman admitted to being stunned over "This unexpected majority. It's real good and I want to thank all those who made it possible."

Inman went on to concur with mayor Rush in his promise to work to make the newly adopted form of government be successful. When asked about his plans for future programs in the city, Inman stated that it was too early to make any statement at this time although he does have some very definite plans which he hopes to carry out when he assumes the council seat in January.

C. Leslie Batchelor, Republican Chairman, was elated over the 4th Ward victory and said, "The people of the 4th Ward have issued an edict in Inman to carry out a forceful program."

Councilman Clark congratulated Inman and promised his cooperation in the continuance of good government in South Amboy. Clark also expressed his appreciation to all those who worked on his campaign.

CITIZENS OF THE SOUTH AMBOY AREA

Once again, the bloodmobile will visit South Amboy to collect the precious, vital blood from donors who care enough to donate so that their families and other members of the Community might be prepared should the need become acute.

Due to the flu epidemic last winter, the blood shortage has become a major issue in the health program of our Community, as well as throughout the State. So please consider donating when the bloodmobile arrives Nov. 8, 1969, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Christ Church Memorial Hall, Fourth Street, South Amboy.

Care enough to give an hour.

RADAR UNIT - Through the cooperation of Police Chief Edward O'Leary and Driver Education instructor Woodrow McCarthy, demonstrations of the Police Department Radar Unit were conducted

The three Driver Education classes were given demonstrations in the basic theory and use of the unit and its application in local use.

Charter Change Slated for South Amboy

The voters of South Amboy went to the polls last Tuesday and voted to have their city charter changed to a strong mayor-council form of government.

By a vote of 1,444 to 1109, the referendum for the change passed by a margin of 335 votes thereby assuring the city of a new type of government beginning in 1971.

According to the schedule timetable, issued by the Charter Study Commission, political party primary elections of candidates for the offices of mayor and councilmen will be held in April, 1970.

This means that the boundary lines of the present 2nd and 3rd Wards will have to be consolidated into one ward to be designated as the 2nd Ward.

The present 1st and 4th Wards will remain as they are with the 4th Ward being designated as the 3rd.

By April, the political parties will have selected candidates for each of the three council seats plus candidates for two councilmen-at-large and a candidate for the office of mayor.

In November, 1970 the General Election will select the five councilmen and mayor. The two councilmen and mayor. The two councilmen-at-large will be elected for a term of four years, and the ward councilmen for a term of two years.

This two year term for the ward councilmen will be in effect for only the first election under the new charter. Subsequent elections to the post of ward councilman will be for a term of four years.

This procedure will allow for a future stagger system that will have the two councilmen-at-large and mayor running for office in 1970, and 1974 and the three ward councilmen running again in 1972 and then 1976.

The recently elected councilmen, Zebro and Inman, will have to face the voters again in 1970 if they wish to retain their council seats, along with the candidates for the newly formed 2nd Ward, and the two councilman-at-large and mayor.

Tuesday's election also saw the city voters approving the Water Bond referendum by a margin of 973 votes; the State Lottery by a margin of 2,356 votes and the defeat of the 18-year-old referendum by a margin of 814 votes.

While the city voters gave the Republican candidate for governor, William Cahill, a majority of 1,048 votes, they supported the county Democratic candidates by a majority of about 250 votes.

It is interesting to note, as pointed out by an astute political student of the South Amboy scene, that the 1st district of the 3rd Ward gave Cahill a majority of 86 votes thereby fulfilling an old political proverb, "As this district goes for the governorship, so goes the state."

and secretary of the Re-development Agency in this city. He would be empowered to sign all contracts, deeds and other instruments made by the agency.

Ordinance No. 834 was passed on its second and final reading. This ordinance, printed in full elsewhere in this issue of the CITIZEN, describes the duties of the tax assessors.

The mayor and councilmen joined in congratulating Frank Zebro who was re-elected to the 1st Ward council seat, and James Inman who was elected to the 4th Ward council post.

O'Leary added his congratulations to Council President Fred Henry's successful campaign on the revised charter for the city.

Henry said that he was pleased to see the results of the election, adding, "it was a lot of work. It would have been impossible if it weren't for the efforts of a fine group of people who devoted many hours to this undertaking. I thank them for their faith and trust in this worthy project and I'm sure that the revised charter will be good for the city of South Amboy."

The councilman continued, "This is a most progressive step for the city. It will enable us to run a tight ship. It will prove to be economical and responsible by eliminating boards and commissions not elected by the people. Efficiencies will show in this operation and despite the claims of some employees will not be fired from their jobs. Changes will be made by attrition only."

Henry stated that he could appreciate the feelings of those who opposed the change in government and added, "but once they see the results of this change, they will like it. We will need a good group of people to run this new form of government. We want everyone to be made aware of the changes that will be made. I know that the people of South Amboy will take these changes in their stride and will benefit by them."

TOWARD THE FUTURE - Prof. Malcolm McLaren of the Rutgers College of Engineering adjusts an electron microscope for John Vondracek, much traveled Rutgers freshman whose family has been in the ceramics industry in Czechoslovakia for 12 generations. The instrument is one of many that young Vondracek may be using when he begins advanced work as an upper classman.

Three or four generations of a single family in the same business or profession is in this country something of a novelty - but TWELVE, never!

That is going back a very long way, something around 350 years.

Nevertheless, that is the family background of a member of the freshman class at Rutgers University.

He is John J. Vondracek, much traveled scion of a Czechoslovakian family who is enrolled in the College of Engineering at Rutgers as a potential ceramic engineer.

"We don't really know exactly how long the family has been in ceramics," young Vondracek said in an interview in the office of Dr. Malcolm G. McLaren, a professor of ceramic engineering at Rutgers. "But we do know through family Bibles and other family records that it extends back at least until somewhere around 1610."

Just how a youngster whose family had been in the ceramics industry in Czechoslovakia for several centuries managed to wind up enrolling in Rutgers to study that highly developed art and science is a story in itself.

Vondracek's father and mother, J.J. and Elizabeth Vondracek, fled from Czechoslovakia in 1949, one year after the Communist takeover of that troubled Central European land, to a refugee camp in West Germany.

From there, the elder Vondraceks made their way to Austria, then Italy and finally to Australia, where young Vondracek was born in Sydney in 1951. Since then he has seen a lot of the world as his father took the family from place to place while he did consulting work in the ceramics industry in one country and then another.

The elder Vondracek's reputation as a first rate man in the ceramics industry had preceded his flight from Czechoslovakia by a number of years, and by the time young Vondracek was seven he had accompanied his father and mother in their consulting work to such exotic places as Indonesia, Singapore, Thailand, Hong Kong and Japan.

Then it was across the Pacific to Canada and this country, where all three members of the family became United States citizens.

After that it was Venezuela, where Mr. and Mrs. Vondracek are living in Maracay. Both are working for the Universal Rundle Corporation. Mrs. Vondracek, a one-time medical student who was forced to give up her studies when the Communists seized the universities in Czechoslovakia, now does art and design work for the Rundle Corporation's ceramic products.

Vondracek, a slender, self possessed young man who speaks perfect American English, went to prep school in New England. In fact, he noted with a slight smile, he had been in 12 schools in as many years before he decided to go to Rutgers for his collegiate education.

Why Rutgers? Vondracek said he was influenced to come to New Brunswick after considering several universities because Rutgers has one of the largest ceramic and ceramic engineering departments in the world. The State University turns out far more Ph.D.s in these fields than any other university.

Besides, the elder Vondracek and Dr. McLaren had become well acquainted at a number of professional meetings over the years and he had suggested to his son that Prof. McLaren would be a good man to get to know.

As a result of his travels, young Vondracek speaks English, Czech and Spanish fluently. As a child he could speak Burmese but has since forgotten that language.

Last summer he took his first trip to Czechoslovakia, but it must have been pretty depressing. He visited what was once the family company near Prague and found that what was once a bustling ceramics plant employing from 50 to 70 people was "just falling apart."

He said it seems that under the Communists profits from the plant are diverted elsewhere instead of being used to maintain and renew equipment.

VOLUNTEERS ATTEND MEETING

"The development of a vaccine against rubella (German measles) gives us one more preventive weapon in our fight to conquer birth defects" Mr. Joseph R. Costa, Chairman of the Middlesex County Chapter, said today.

The new vaccine and other preventive measures were the focus of a two day March of Dimes program orientation meeting held recently in Washington, D.C. Volunteers from Middlesex County attending the meeting were: Mrs. Frank Brogan, Edison; Mrs. John A. Phillips, Madison Twp.; Mrs. Vincent J. Yaede, Edison and Mrs. Harriet Van Glahn, Executive Secretary at Chapter Headquarters.

City, County Safety Committees Formed

South Amboy and Middlesex County, in response to recommendations made by their insurance carriers, have both organized safety committees to study accidents to employees and equipment for the purpose of preventing accidents.

Captain Robert N. Hudson of the Middlesex County Parks Department Police has been named as chairman of the county unit and Superintendent Charles Thompson of the South Amboy Board of Public Works was appointed president of the municipal committee.

Captain Hudson will have, as members of his committee, the heads of the various county departments who will coordinate all safety programs in the county government.

According to Hudson, the formation of this safety group will aid in keeping insurance costs from spiraling beyond a prohibitive cost to the county.

"Published reports to the contrary," the captain added, "The organization of this committee does not mean that the county is going to lose its insurance coverage. We had a meeting with representatives of the insurance companies and they strongly recommended that a safety program, such as this, will benefit the county in many ways besides lower insurance costs. The health and welfare of county employees, plus the proper care of county owned equipment, is uppermost in the minds of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, who, under the guidance of Freeholder Louis F. May, instituted this program."

The city committee members include, besides President Thompson, Mayor Joseph P. Rush, chairman; City Clerk Natalie Brennan, secretary; and members of the City Council, Board of Public Works, Board of Health, Fire Department, Police Department and the Recreation Commission.

According to Thompson, additional members may be added to the safety program if deemed necessary by the Mayor and or members of the Safety Committee.

M-e-a-c-h-A-m, Eugene A., M.D. The good doctor's name is spelled with an A, not E, as I did in a recent column. Evelyn Freeman wrote a very nice note about the item on the doctors and pointed out that I had mis-spelled Dr. Meacham's name.

Again, this emphasizes the need for a responsible committee to gather all the known facts and information on the past of South Amboy and its public figures, past and present.

Such a group would automatically eliminate such glaring errors as mine by being diligent in their research of all pertinent material.

Perhaps one of the service organizations in the city, with the cooperation of the Library Board, would be instrumental in forming a sort of Historical Society.

As mentioned in previous columns, the expenditure of a relatively small sum of money would enable this group to purchase a movie camera, projector and a tape recorder. Armed with this equipment, the committee members would be able to gather and store invaluable information to be used by the researcher of tomorrow.

If this program had been in effect during the time of Doctors Meacham, Eulner and Weber, you would never hear a scream as they applied their stethoscopes to the patients. Those instruments came from nice warm pockets in those days, not refrigerators.

A patient, of one of the doctors, complained about an ache in his right leg and asked if it could be attributed to old age. "Nonsense", snorted Doc, "Your left leg is just as old, how come it doesn't hurt?"

A well known South Amboy citizen met Dr. Weber downtown and said, "Doc, I feel terrible; my head hurts, my shoulder is killing me, it's hard for me to walk on my aching feet, and even my Adam's Apple is rotten." "Well," John Francis suggested, "why don't you come around to see me?" His answer was, "Maybe I'll just do that next week, if I'm feeling better."

One of Doctor Eulner's patients went to an analyst but was soon back to 216 Henry St. He told Doc, "It was a big let-down. I was paying him fifty dollars for a ten-minute visit and all he did was ask me the same question my father used to ask 'Who do you think you are anyway?'"

Dr. Meacham was the president of the Middlesex County Medical Society in 1918. This organization was founded in New Brunswick on June 13, 1816.

The MCMS was formed when the Medical Society of New Jersey secured the passage of "a new Act to Incorporate the Medical Society of New Jersey in Trenton on Feb. 16, 1816."

This act authorized the reorganization of the State Society and provided that its annual meeting thereafter should be constituted by delegations from the District or County Societies which were to be formed under this act.

The State Society had been conceived by physicians of Middlesex County, Drs. Kean, Cochran and Bloomfield, and was one of the first of its kind in this country, being formed July 23, 1766.

Middlesex County physicians of the past were most active in the State Society and through their efforts the State Board of Medical Examiners was created in 1890.

Dr. Ezra Hunt of Metuchen, a member of the State and County Medical Societies, was the originator of the State Board of Health in 1877. Soon after that local boards were formed in New Brunswick and Perth Amboy, 1879.

The history of the state and country's medical fraternity is filled with accounts of Middlesex County doctors and much of the progress of medicine can be attributed to them.

Accounts of 1766 credit the Port of Perth Amboy "as one of the best medical centers in the country." About one quarter of the State Society's ninety-one members up to the year 1796, and of the additional fifty-five members from 1796 to 1818 were Middlesex County physicians.

An old account of the medical fraternity of Middlesex County lists Dr. Clifford Morrogh as the "Irish Doctor." He was born in Ireland in 1821 and came to this country with his father, mother and nine brothers and sisters in 1834.

His skill as a surgeon earned him a reputation that extended beyond the city of New Brunswick and the State of New Jersey. He was the first to use chloroform in this section of the country when he amputated a leg from each of two men.

Another first attributed to the doctor was the removal of a stone from the bladder of a young boy. He subsequently performed this operation 32 times. He was a skilled diagnostician and also a mechanical genius, having devised three or four surgical instruments. He also drew the designs for a sailing yacht that took two prizes.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Do you know how many Smiths there are in the United States? Or Johnsons? Or Browns? Give up? Well, there are at least 2 million Smiths, 1 1/2 million Johnsons, 1 million Browns and even 10,000 Falks. In other words, there is a good chance that someone, somewhere may have the same full name as you.

You're probably wondering what this means to you. Nearly everyone with a job has a social security number and there are approximately 180 million applications for a number on file with the Social Security Administration. Four times a year, an employer reports the wages paid for each employee showing the name and account number. These reports are sent to the Social Security Administration in Baltimore, Maryland where electronics data processing machines do the job of posting the wages to the correct record.

However, when the name and social security number do not agree with the Central Office record or the number is incorrect, the wage report cannot be credited.

How can you safeguard yourself to be sure you get all credits? Regardless of the number of people with your name, you're the only one with your social security number. Your number keeps your record separate from others. This is why it is important that your employer copies you name and number directly from your card. Don't rely on memory for the number but present your card when applying for a job.

If you change your name, let your social security office know about it besides the employer. Another card will be issued with the same number but with your new name.

Check you pay stubs and withholding tax forms (W2) to see that your name and number are correct. If not, bring this fact to the attention of your personnel office and your local social security office.

Why is this so important? For you and your dependents to qualify for benefits, you must first have credit for a certain amount of work under social security and the amount of the benefit is based on your earnings.

Don't take a chance with your future or the security of your family. If you follow these simple suggestions you can assure that your social security record will be correct whether your name be Smith, Johnson, Falk or whatever it maybe.

Sales for this period were $1.46 per share for the same period last year. Sales for this period were $690,996,000 compared to sales of $633,216,000 for the corresponding period in 1968.

In the quarter ending September 30, 1969, earnings were $11,086,000 or 46¢ per share compared with earnings of $9,829,000 or 41¢ per share in 1968. Third quarter sales in 1969 were $234,777,000. For the same period in 1968 sales were $196,757,000.

School Receives Video Tape Machine

Dr. Marie Parnell, principal of Sayreville War Memorial High School, has announced that the school has been the recipient of a new video tape machine. The machine is capable of recording classroom activities or educational television programs and may then be used to view these activities or programs at a later time. The equipment consists of two units, a smaller portable one capable of recording sight and sound, and a larger unit which can record and play back through a television monitor.

The various departments at the high school intend to use this multi-purpose equipment in a variety of ways, in some cases recording educational television programs for later classroom use, in other instances recording actual events within the school. The Athletic Department will be recording athletic events and practices for use in training the various teams. The speech student in the English Department will be using the equipment to improve their speaking techniques, while the drama groups will be making use of the television set-up in their rehearsals for their dramatic productions. An educational program has already been recorded by the Science Department for later use in biology classes. The Industrial Arts Department is planning to use it to enable the students to observe various machine processes close up. The History Department plans to use the device to record historical television programs and also television coverage of important current events for classroom use and to record student activities in political campaigns within the school. The students in the Business Department will have the opportunity to practice interview techniques and office procedures using the new equipment.

The major portion of the $3000 needed to purchase the equipment was donated by the class of 1969 in a check presented to Dr. Parnell at their commencement exercises last June. The remainder of the money was contributed by the Future Business Leaders of America, and the Industrial Arts Club.

MYSTERY FISH - Peter Ewtushek holds "mystery fish" while his mother, Annabelle, looks on. The fish was pulled ashore in South Amboy last Friday after being caught by the dock pilings.

The fish was first seen last Friday afternoon by children playing in the area who thought it was a shark because of a big dorsal fin projecting out of the water. At the time the fish was hooked it was caught between the pilings and was unable to free itself. It was dragged on shore and died.

Peter Ewtushek heard about the catch from his mother and went to see it. He put the fish in his car and brought it home.

Ewtushek had said that he had never seen a fish as large as this one and he had fished in the bay for 10 years. He estimated the fish to weigh between 100 and 125 lbs.

A 15-year-old Colonia boy, Jan Wolf of 7 West Warren St., who had read the story and seen the picture of the fish in an area daily newspaper, began poring through a book of pictures. Finding what he wanted, he asked his father to drive him to South Amboy to match the picture he had found to the creature itself.

He was right. The fish is not a shark, whale, porpoise, seal, carp, ray, or a skate.

It is simply an ordinary sunfish out of its normal Gulf Stream waters.

Hence, the "mystery fish" is not a mystery and more. It's a sunfish.

Waste Disposal Problems Among Tree Men's Topics

Disposal of tree wastes and the never-ending problem of insect control are among topics for shade tree commissioners at their annual meeting Nov. 15-17 in Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

Burning discarded trees and their parts has come into conflict with new anti-pollution codes. Harry Banker of West Orange will review the situation and describe the current status of the problem.

Edgar G. Rex, secretary of the N.J. Federation of Shade Tree Commissions, calls attention also to a talk on spraying insecticide to a section of the lower trunk of a tree in the hope that the tree will absorb the chemical through its bark and translocate it throughout the tree.

The closing session will offer a discussion of the gypsy moth control problem. Speakers will be William M. Metterhouse and John D. Kegg of the State Department of Agriculture. Cooperating with the federation are the Arborists Association and the Society of Certified Tree Experts.

CARDS SHUFFLE

SABRE MIDGETS 22-0

In a game much closer than the final score indicated, the St. Peter's Cardinals defeated the Sabre Midgets 22-0. With time running out in the first quarter and with a fourth down, St. Peter's had the ball on the Sabre 12 yard line. Jim Adeval passed to Fred Hermann over the middle for a touchdown. The same combination clicked for the extra points.

The second quarter proved to be a defensive struggle with neither team able to generate an offense. The quarter was played between the 40 yard line with neither team able to make a penetration.

Raymond Scupp kicked off for the Sabres where it was taken on the St. Peter's 30 yard line by Fred Hermann. He cut straight up the middle and with not a hand laid on him, travelled 70 yards and a touchdown. Manley passed to Chris Decker for the extra points.

The defenses stiffened and with time running out, the Sabres started to pass the ball. Downs hit Richmond and Thomas Mulchay for sizable gains. John McNulty of St. Peter's stepped in front of a Mike Downs errant pass and travelled 40 yards for a touchdown.

Sunday, the Sabre PeeWees and Midgets will travel to South River to close their regular season. The PeeWee game will get underway at one with the Midget game to follow.
