MAYOR'S REPLY TO EDITORIAL

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CITIZEN

Dear Sir,

On October 15, at the Planning Board meeting, Mr. Sheehan represented Mr. Carr and presented two maps to the board so that they could approve one or the other so that the HUD program could get off the ground. Before the vote was taken, Mr. Sheehan was asked if the approval was given, could the map be changed without affecting the program, and he said yes. With this answer in mind I voted for Map #2, keeping in mind that if the right ratable came along and was for the good and welfare of the city, that I would be able to support it. So I feel before an editorial is written like it was in the CITIZEN last week, all of the facts of the meeting should be checked out first.

Sincerely,
Peter J. Rush, Mayor

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Mr. Mayor, if this newspaper or any other newspaper were ever to lose its right to criticize, or question we all will be in serious trouble.

Whether or not you agree with a newspaper's editorial views, you have to defend its right to publish criticism... that is, if you value your own rights.

A free press is a guarantee of all the other basic freedoms. It is one of the strongest weapons a free people have with which to protect their rights against totalitarianism. Witness the fact that the press is among the first things tyrannical governments must control if they are to remain in power.

The CITIZEN respects and defends your right to reply to our editorial but we do feel that you made an irresponsible statement when you accused us of being partial to the Democratic Party.

The CITIZEN has always been objective (especially during the past 12 years under the present ownership) with its dealings with the political parties and its candidates. We followed our policy to print verbatim all releases, letters, etc. from Democratic and Republican candidates alike. Since you entered politics, Mayor Rush, we printed every release submitted by you without any deletion or change. The same courtesy was extended to every Republican candidate during the past 12 years. We are a one paper town -- we assure you and our public that we intend to adhere to our fair-play policy in the future as we did in the past.

We are sorry you injected politics in the vital question of the landfill area by accusing us of being political in our view points. Not so, Mr. Mayor.

We have tried to present all the view points of all interested parties. We unsuccessfully tried to obtain a statement from your fellow Republican, Councilman-elect James Inman, regarding the steel mill.

Inman saw fit to give his release to the two daily papers, and promised to give a copy of it to a reporter of this paper. As of this date, Mr. Inman has not done so and we still don't know where he stands regarding this vital issue.

So you see, Mr. Mayor, we again say you are wrong in trying to inject politics in this most vital issue.

Even though we may not agree with you occasionally-- we'll openly defend your right to say it -- please grant us the same courtesy.

BOARD RECEIVES LAND OFFER

Board of Education President William Kurtz revealed last night that the Penn - Central Railroad plans to sell a 23-acre tract of land on Main St. and would give the board first option of purchase if they are interested.

The board made no commitment to meet with railroad officials but plan to meet Sunday afternoon to inspect the site on Lower Main St. across from the former city dumping area. Supt. Eugene Dobrzynski said it was one of four sites recommended for a new high school by a Citizens Committee on Education in 1965. At that time, it was inspected by state officials who favored the landfill for a new school. Kurtz said the railroad had not stated a specific price for the land but that he estimated it would be in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

Member Joseph Keenan said the board should at least look at the land since a letter received from Spotswood Supt. Stewart W. Landrum called for a "temporary" termination of regionalization studies between the two districts. In his letter Landrum said the Spotswood board could not make a commitment on regionalization with South Amboy until the State Dept. of Education terminates the sending-receiving relationship Spotswood now has with South River. The letter further said that while the Spotswood board does not "wish to close their minds completely to the regional idea" that for the present

Rush Replies to Editorial Questions

Mayor Joseph P. Rush, in answering a series of questions put to him in editorial form by this newspaper, said that it was an unfair thing to do because "the owner and editor of the CITIZEN is the municipal chairman of the Democratic Party and anything I might say will not be printed anywhere in that paper, let alone on the front page."

The mayor expressed his regrets that the Republican Party did not have a publication of its own whereby he and other Republicans could be given the opportunity to fully express their views.

He claimed that the CITIZEN'S views and questions were misleading and that his own actions were for the purpose of "getting the HUD program off the ground."

The editorial had questioned his reason for approving the Planning Board's Master Plan which called for light industry, municipal usage and housing on the land-fill area, and within a month "courted heavy industry by presenting the proposal of a mini-steel mill in this same area."

Rush explained that he "wanted to keep things flexible. I did not change my mind. When something good comes up, this is what I am for. At the time the Master Plan was presented, I didn't know that the steel company was going to apply for this land."

The mayor continued, "According to Mr. Sheehan of Carr's office, the consultant to the Planning Board, this action was not fraudulent. My action was not arbitrary. It could have been capricious because it was subject to change."

Rush, in commenting on the question of compatibility among the communities of South Amboy and Sayreville, and the county of Middlesex, had this to say, "South Amboyans are proud people and we don't need to bow to anyone."

Councilman William O'Leary informed the mayor that he didn't agree with his (Rush) remarks concerning the editor of this paper and added, "We are happy to have a responsible citizen and business man, such as Joe Wojciechowski as an editor and head of the Democratic Party."

When informed of the Mayor's charges, Wojciechowski stated, "we always gave Mayor Rush's statements and releases front page coverage in the past, and we'll gladly do again at all times. It's the same courtesy we have extended to all public officials regardless of party affiliation." The mayor's letter is in this issue of the CITIZEN.

In other business, the council received a request from the Recreation Commission for lights around the skating pond at the water works. This request was referred to the Board of Public Works.

The telephone company informed the council that they will install three more telephones in this city, in accordance with an agree-

Steel Mill Ratable Disappointing

To many of the better-informed officials at the meeting, the ultimate fate of the mill became apparent when Commissioner Thomas O'Brien, of the planning board, upon questioning the president of the corporation, Norman Geller, brought out the fact that only an approximate $78,000 in gross taxes would be realized by the city.

The figures of $8 million for the initial stage and another $4.5 million, for future development, as reported to Mayor Rush in a letter from the company, lead many people to believe that the city would benefit greatly from a most appreciable tax ratable.

Geller explained that only an estimated $2.3 million would be invested in the land and building in the first stage of construction and another $1 million in the second stage. The remainder of the $12.5 million would be invested in machinery and equipment which would not be taxable.

Council President Fred Henry pointed out that the $78,000 was gross and not net income inasmuch that streets, sewers and water lines would have to be built and maintained, thus reducing the revenue to the city.

Rush opened the meeting by explaining that only the councilmembers, the Board of Public Works Commissioners and representatives of the various city committees, along with the press, had been invited to attend. People from the Perth Amboy Citizens Advisory Committee and representatives of concerned Morgan groups were turned away by the police, acting under the orders of the mayor.

The mayor conducted a most orderly and business-like meeting by calling upon the councilmen, commissioners and members of the press, in that order, and limiting each round of question to only one topic at a time. This enabled all to be completely satisfied before moving on to another subject.

Before the questioning began, Geller was allowed to explain the operation of the steel mill and stated that there would be about 200 employees who would work at an average of $5 to $5.50 per hour.

According to Geller, the plant would produce about 120,000 tons of light structural steel per year, in its first phase, and double that amount in the second stage within three years, if conditions warranted it.

"This process is entirely different from steel mills, as we know them," explained Geller, adding, "the new electric arc furnaces eliminates much of the mess and there will be only 1% air pollution in the form of steam coming from an 80 foot high stack."

Geller promised to furnish the state with the exact amount of this emission, along with the amount of thermal pollution caused by the return of the cooling water to the bay.

He (Geller) stated that there would be about 40 diesel trucks, each carrying a 20 ton load of the finished product or scrap steel, making roundtrips via either John or Augusta St., up Bordentown Ave. to Route #35.

An alternate route laid out along South Broadway and up Gordon St. to Bordentown Ave. was also suggested. Geller indicated that this proposed road to ment made in 1962. The new phones will be placed at Main and Stevens; Post Office and Broadway and Augusta.

The formation of a new Senior Citizens Group was given approval by the council. Council President explained that there were no other charters outstanding for a group such as this.

Councilman Frank Zebro reported that the developer of Amshore has submitted a request for a seven day delay in planting vegetation on a hill that is eroding into the playground of that development. Heavy rains have prevented the contractor from meeting his commitments. The council voted to extend the time period of this program.

O'Leary asked the mayor to have a study made of the need for a traffic light on the corner of Stevens Ave. and Bordentown Ave. Citing several accidents that have occurred there recently, the councilman urged that action be taken immediately.

Rush informed the council that the state had previously denied such a request and he asked the city attorney, John Mullane, to re-apply.

According to O'Leary, the city prosecutor, John Lucitt, has promised that definite action will be taken this week concerning the controversial truck situation on Gordon St.

The councilman also reminded the mayor and other councilmen of a meeting to be held on Monday, November 24. At this time the city fathers will consider the application of Redevelopment Associates Inc. of Iselin.

According to O'Leary, this agency has submitted a proposal that calls for 70 percent of the landfill area to be used by light industry, and 30 percent for residences. The company wishes to purchase the land, construct the necessary structures and then rent, sell or lease the buildings.

This hearing will be conducted by the mayor, council and members of the various city boards and commissions. The press has been invited to attend.

The commuter parking problem was again brought up by O'Leary and he called for stricter enforcement of the city ordinances that govern this.

they preferred to continue their relationship with South River.

LAWYER HIRED

The board announced that they will hire George J. Otlowski Jr. as their counsel for a retainer of $1500. His salary for the remainder of the school year will be prorated from December 1.

On the recommendation of Principal Chester Zamorski the board will purchase new report cards for the elementary school. There will be three sets of report cards: one for the kindergarten, another for grades 1-2, and a third for grades 3-6. Mr. Dobrzynski said he feels these cards will be a better indication of the individual student's progress.

The board approved a contract with the General Electric Co. to supply three ranges and a clothes dryer for the Home Economics class under their Educational Program. Under this plan, the initial products were purchased by the board but are replaced, without charge, by GE appropriately every two years.

The board also approved two field trips for high school students. On Nov. 21 Mr. Moran's history class will see a film, "Battle of Britain," and on Dec. 10 Miss Bishop's Home Economics class will take a tour of Koos Bros.

A revised policy on promotions and failures for high school students was adopted by the board. Under this system, students failing one or two subjects may go to an approved summer school or tutor to make up two of the subjects and change his course level. In all final determination on a student's class standing will be made by the principal. Approved for the 1969-70 school year, the new policy will be implemented on July 1, 1970.

The board's next meeting will be on December 17.

the land - fill area would benefit any future buyers and that its cost should be a city undertaking.

Woodrow McCarthy, president of the board of works, suggested that this item, along with the laying of necessary sewer and water lines, was negotiable in the sale of the property.

Apparently there was no set price on the 30 acres of land under consideration since Geller said that a survey would be needed to determine how much it would cost to stabilize the site for the heavy equipment and building.

It was through the questioning by Councilman O'Leary that Geller admitted that the $500,000 furnaces were portable and not attached to the building thereby making this equipment untaxable.

Liver Pate' In A Shell

Tempt sophisticated palates with perfectly-seasoned, gourmet fare.

Tasty meat fillings baked in pastry crusts kept French housewives busy for hours. But streamlined Liver Pate' in a Shell offers the same good eating, without the fuss.

No elaborate molds are necessary. Just hollow an unsliced bread loaf and fill with a flavored blend of mushrooms, liver sausage, cottage cheese and butter. Liver Pate' in a Shell provides its own garnish, too — a center row of hard cooked eggs surrounded by green scallion bits adorns each slice.

To equal the nutritious filling, prepare this party loaf with "enriched" bread. Only bread that clearly states "enriched" on the label offers the much needed and often neglected B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCES SET AT SAYREVILLE HIGH

Dr. Marie Parnell, principal of Sayreville War Memorial High School, has announced that from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, November 24, the school will be open for parent-teacher conferences. The program has been arranged to coincide with the return of the students' report cards. Thus, it will enable the parents and teachers to discuss the students' first marking period work and to determine ways in which all concerned in the learning process can work together to further the students' progress.

Oh, the fickleness of fashion! Now that we're on the eve of the Seventies what do we do? We toss the lunar look to the wind and reminisce about a 1930's we never knew. The model in the photograph captures the '30's to a T. From the wee wrap of her head to the breakaway leg and clog shoe, she's today's fashion darling... and you know what...she looks great! Know Clothes' wrappy coat and trousers are a stunner.

Chippy Irvine has designed them beautifully in a consumer guaranteed COIN bonded wool plaid. The reason why clothes from the Thirties are being made of bonded fabrics is because despite their interesting design, the original fashions often sagged and looked limp. Now thanks to bonding, 30's fashions for the Seventies have the benefit of an extra supporting fabric inside the surface one. The result with COIN is a fashion shape that's guaranteed to stay that way cleaning and wearing after wearing. So be sure you look for the COIN guarantee hangtag when you shop.

Here is the only known (to my knowledge) picture of Stevensdale in its heyday. Georgine and Bill Hanson found this picture in the effects of her mother, Dot Mack, and gave it to me. They also loaned me others and copies of them will be used in subsequent columns.

The driver is identified as Georgine's grandfather, Frank DeGraw, and the horse is "Dandy." Taken sometime around 1890, the picture includes a fountain-like structure in the background.

According to Mike Nagle, this was a fountain and was incorporated with a small lake, or pond. Mike said that part of this structure was still kicking around as late as five years ago.

Mike remembers a bicycle race track around this pond, in the early 1900's, and said that Fred Wheeler and a Mr. Norton (first name unknown) were the promoters. Entrance to the track was on the corner of 4th St. and Stevens Ave.

Mike said that this main gate was for the adults, the kids used to sneak in by using a sort of alleyway alongside the old Christ Church Parish House.

There may be other pictures of the Stevens estate, but so far I haven't been able to find them. Can any of you help?

It is difficult for many of us to imagine the glories and beauties of the Stevens Estate, as it once was. We remember the sand dunes of yesteryear and now know it as Amshore, a sprawling inner-community of South Amboy.

Enjoying a scenic panorama of the Raritan River, and bay, this tract of land was once the site of a huge two and a half storied structure with a basement which, apparently, was used to house the servants. The front of the building had a porch and according to the late Edna Agan, the house was built after 1830, when the Stevenses were constructing the Camden-Amboy Railroad.

"The style of architecture bears this out," said Miss Agan, "the periods of the lovely and dignified Georgian and Greek Revival houses were over and that of the fussy, overly ornate Victorian period was popular. The east end of the Stevens House had an enormous amount of scroll work. The outer walls of wood were laid out in panels like wainscot. Evidently the builders intended that the structure should be the last word in what constituted up-to-dateness. At the west end of the building there was a remarkable section about two stories high which must have been the ballroom. It had two doors or gates which went almost to the roof and were also decorated elaborately with scroll work. These were opposite each other and were opened to receive guests arriving by coach. But most remarkable of all was the floor of yellow glass about three-fourths of an inch thick. It would be interesting to know who made that glass floor and how such a large expansion could be made and laid inside a room without breaking. Or was the room built around it?"

Miss Agan noted that a Mrs. Wilbur Postel of Atlantic City, who formerly resided in South Amboy, once had a piece of the glass floor of the ballroom.

The basement had underground passageways leading to two circular structures a short distance away, according to Miss Agan. (One can't help but wonder if there are connotations of the "Underground Railroad" in that statement.)

Miss Agan's account tells of a hot-house, which remained for a long time, and a barn which was near the bend in Stevens Ave. (Most likely the site of the Knights of Columbus building.)

She makes mention of the pond by saying, "There was a small pond with a tiny island not far from the Mechanicsville Road. The late Frank Disbrow told me that the island had a pump on it and the lake supplied water for the house. To me, it has other connotations. It was a favorite spot for small boys. Often they came back to the Fourth Street School after recess laden with tin cans filled with tadpoles and the window sill held their treasures until school's end. Wet stockings draped the steam pipes under the windows. Once, my small naturalists returned to duty with scores of turtles the size of a fifty-cent piece. They were put in the storage closet for safekeeping -- in order that there might be no distraction from school work. Work proceeded; turtles were forgotten. Needing paper, I went to the closet and started back to the front of the room. Hearing muffled giggles, I turned to behold small turtles in pursuit and making good speed up the aisle."

Miss Agan's account concludes with, "Many of the Public School Field Days were held at Stevensdale. While its glory has now departed, it has been a playground and joy to many of our younger generation. From it we watched Charles Lindberg fly over on his way to the celebration in New York which marked his triumphant return after his flight to France. In its open spaces many of our townsmen found refuge when driven from home by the Morgan disaster. The little lake which was the Walden Pond of our Sixth Grade Thoreaus has disappeared and, of all that was once a show place, only a bare expanse of sand and gravel remains. The glory has departed."

MIDDLESEX IN CONGRESS

by U. S. Rep. Edward Patten

In a recent letter to U.S. Senator James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), chairman of the Judiciary Committee, I deplored the full committee's delay in approving real Electoral College reform. A Senate sub-committee approved "district" reform on May 26th, but the committee headed by Sen. Eastland has not taken any action in this important area. The "district" reform plan modifies the present Electoral College system, but the proposal is not a significant improvement.

I expressed great disappointment over the full committee's failure to report a proposal that would abolish the Electoral College and elect the President and Vice-President by a direct popular vote. I introduced such a bill in January with the hope that both the House and Senate would pass it this year. The House did approve it in September, but the Senate is lagging behind. I hope it receives a high priority on the agenda of the Judiciary Committee, which has been busy considering the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Haynsworth since September 3rd.

There is strong public support in the Nation for Electoral College reform. A Harris survey disclosed that 79% of Americans advocate such reform and a legislative questionnaire I mailed to Middlesex County residents revealed that 86% favor abolishing the Electoral College and replacing it with a direct popular vote.

I often point out to those who are reluctant to change the Electoral College system that the College has chosen a President three times who failed to receive the most popular votes. This could happen again.

I firmly believe that only the voters should have the right and power to decide who their President should be - and not electors they know very little about.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

You've been receiving a social security benefit check for some time and you depend on getting it on time. What can you do to insure that your checks will continue to arrive on time?

The most sensible course of action is to keep the Social Security Administration informed of any change in your address or any change in your working arrangements that may affect the payment of your checks.

As soon as you know when you're moving, you should notify social security right away. If your notice is given early enough in the month, your next check should arrive at your new address on time. It also makes good sense to advise the post office of your move in case social security doesn't have enough time to catch your check before it's sent to your former address.

If you're leaving the country for over 30 days, you should let social security know the date you'll leave. And if by any chance, your business will take you into an "Iron Curtain" country, you should let social security know ahead of time, no matter how long you're planning to be gone. Treasury regulations prohibit the sending of checks to certain Iron Curtain countries.

A second way to keep the benefit checks coming on time is to let us know when you're working, even if it's only on a part-time basis. Your total yearly earnings and the number of months you work determine the amount of benefits that can be paid to you. You may earn up to $1,680 a year and still receive all your social security benefits. Even if your annual earnings are more than $1,680, you may still be eligible for some benefits. Let social security know when there is a significant change in the amount of your earnings. If you earn less than you expected, you may have more benefits coming to you. If you made more, it's better to have benefits withheld. Also, complete the earnings report form that social security will mail you at the end of the year.

If you've ever wondered what you could do to insure that your benefit checks arrive on time, now you know. If you follow these suggestions, you'll find that your checks will continue to arrive on time.

ROSES IN AUTUMN

Plant roses in late autumn and even into early winter. They'll live outdoors. Sometimes a nurseryman's supply of a desired rose becomes depleted before all orders are filled for spring delivery. He then may ask his customers to wait until fall when the next crop is ready for distribution.

MULCH PLANTS

Fall-planted roses need soil mounded about them six to 12 inches deep. When winter weather becomes severe, a mulch of leaves, straw, peatmoss, evergreen boughs or similar material is added for extra protection.

The purpose of the soil mound and mulch is to stabilize the temperature about the plants. It's the changeableness of late winter weather with its mild days and thaws alternating with cold nights and refreezing that does harm to newly placed and shallow-rooted plants. Roses tolerate freezes, although temperatures lower than 10 degrees above zero do them harm.

FALL-PLANTED SHRUBS

Fall is a very satisfactory time to plant shrubs. However, if you want the plant to establish well, proper maintenance after transplanting is extremely important.

Heavy watering should be done to prevent the plant from drying out. This is especially important with the broad-leaved evergreens. Even though the air temperatures are low, severe drying will occur in winter wind.

Mulching with peat moss or straw will also aid in the prevention of drying.

For further information, contact your county Extension agent, County Admin. Building and ask for Leaflet 246 "How to Transplant Trees and Shrubs."

RUTGERS FACES COLGATE SATURDAY

Rutgers will conclude its year of football centennial celebrations and games when the Red Raiders of Colgate come to Rutgers Stadium Saturday to meet the Scarlet Knights. For the 16 Rutgers seniors who will be playing their last game, the season's finale will mark the end of a trying but eventful year.

The Scarlet Knights, who jumped off to a great start with early season wins over Lafayette, Princeton, Cornell, Navy and Columbia, have not fared as well recently, dropping their last two games to set the season's record at 5-3. Rutgers did not play last Saturday due to a cancellation by Holy Cross.

Under Coach Neil Wheelwright, Colgate will be trying to put the finishing touches on a fine season. With the seniors and coaches of both schools to be honored on Saturday, both teams will be anxious to end the season on a positive note and to gain possession of the Colgate Rutgers Alumni Cup, which has been held by Rutgers for the last two seasons. Since the Cup was introduced to the traditional season finale, Colgate has won the game twice, in 1965 and 1966. Rutgers won the last two by scores of 31-28 and 55-34, respectively.

The 16 Rutgers seniors who will be honored have a fine record for their three varsity years on the Banks. Including this year's mark, the seniors have won 17 to 27 games under Coach John Bateman.

Of the Rutgers seniors, nine are regulars. Of the 16, nine work with the offensive unit and seven as defensive specialists. Many of the names are easily recognizable to Rutgers fans. Rich Policastro, the record-breaking quarterback who took over the signal-calling duties midway through last season, will be starting his last game as a Knight as well as Bruce Van Ness who has played five positions.

Ends Jim Benedict, who holds the Rutgers record for season pass receptions, and Bob Stonebraker, the Rutgers co-captain who was injured in mid-season, will be bidding farewell to the Scarlet fans as will offensive linemen John Orrizzi, John Langenus, Bruce Rockwell, Jim DiGiAcinto and Joe Barone.

The seniors who have played defense for Rutgers this year are co-captain Lee Schneider and his line-backing sidekick Drew For-gash, starting tackle Len Novelli and reserve tackle John Angelillo and defensive backs Jim Renshaw, a starter, and Gary Fisher and Alan Miller.

Policastro and Benedict will be able to add to their records. Polly is one short of the Rutgers career record for touchdown passes, having thrown 24 in less than two seasons. Benedict can add to his mark of 45 receptions for 590 yards.

In the overall Rutgers-Colgate series, the Red Raiders lead 12-10.

A gentle tongue is a tree of life. (Prov. 15:4).

How many times have we wished that we could recall words said in anger or frustration? Thoughtless words and comments foster anything but the peace and harmony desired. Let us be tolerant of one another and let pleasant talk grace our homes. The Lord, in His love, can help us guard our tongue, and He can and will endow us with grace if we but let Him.

Helpful Tips for Holiday Auto Trips

Helpful tips for taking an auto trip over the holidays in comfort and safety are passed along by Danny Zack, President of Briggs Chev., a member of the nationwide Auto Dealers Traffic Safety Council.

"Whether you're on a long trip or just driving a few miles, the key word is CONTROL," Mr. Zack says. "That means control of your car, control of yourself, and control of the situation."

The "control" tips are: (1) Control your car's safe driving condition. Before your trip, get a thorough safety-check of all "active" safety equipment, including brakes, steering, tires, lights, turn signals, and other "control" items. Have any safety defects repaired immediately.

(2) Control your carload. Remember, heavy loads put an extra burden on tires, brakes and shocks, and make a car less maneuverable. Don't stow packages on the back shelf. Don't let luggage or passengers interfere with vision. Keep children sitting down!

(3) Control yourself and passengers with safety belts. They not only can prevent death or serious injury in case of a crash, they also cut fatigue by holding you and others in the car firmly and comfortably.

(4) Control the distance you drive in one day, or at one "sitting". Take breaks frequently to stretch your legs, relax your muscles and rest your eyes. Stop for the night before you're worn out.

(5) Control any impulse to have "one for the road". Alcohol plays a part in at least half the fatal traffic accidents. Medical authorities say a person planning to drive should limit himself to one normal-size drink an hour, and allow at least one hour after his latest drink before taking the wheel.

(6) Control the situation. Learn your car's safety controls and how to use them. Keep your eyes on the road, your hands on the wheel, and your mind on your driving. And -- watch out for the "other guy"! If you must drive at night, slow down, and stay alert. Adjust your speed so you can see anything in the road ahead in time to stop. Lower headlights for on-coming or passing cars. Remember: courtesy is the code of the road.

"The Auto Dealers Traffic Safety Council has developed a series of safety education materials which go into detail on these and other aspects of safe driving and car safety maintenance," reports Mr. Zack.

"Our dealership will be glad to make these materials available to families planning trips -- or to any safety-concerned person. We'd like to see everyone in South Amboy 'Get the SAFETY Habit!'"

RECREATION NEWS

The senior basketball teams will meet on Friday, November 28, at 7 p.m. in the Hoffman High gym. All team managers must be present and bring rosters of their teams. If a team is not present and no roster is presented, the team will not be able to play in the city league.

Local DAV Observes Veterans Day

In a most unforgettable evening, the local DAV Chapter #67 of South Amboy, took an active part in observing Veterans Day thru the invitation of the Veterans Alliance of New Brunswick-Highland Park.

The program got underway with feet tapping marches provided by the very fine New Brunswick High School band. Also on hand to lend its musical charms was the tremendous Imperial Sym-phonie band and chorus from South River.

The highlight of the evening was the address given by Sen. Wayne Dumont of N.J. who deplored professors in our colleges who talk "Sedition and Treason in the classroom." His feelings were that they should not be granted the immunity of academic freedom.

Mr. Dumont specifically mentioned Prof. Genovese, former Rutgers professor, who was quoted as saying, "I welcome a Viet Cong Victory" at a teach-in at Rutgers.

Another fine and honored speaker was Col. Paul J. McClure, head of the Rutgers R.O.T.C. His feelings were expressed in that this country's "low water mark" was the recent moratorium when many people called for our government to abandon its commitment to a small friendly country.

The large crowd who attended this affair, held at New Brunswick High School, were very well rewarded to an exceptionally fine evening.

The members from Chapter #67 included John Beney, past N.J. State Commander; Arthur Holmes, Sr., Vice Commander of Chapter #67 DAV; Sgt. Jim Dudies, retired, who was part of the honoring of the services from all branches; and Col. George Favallien, retired, Post Adjutant.

Members who presented the post colors included Frank Burkhardt, Sam Graziane and Jim Campbell. Representing the Chapter #67 Auxiliary was Mrs. Bertha Brown, Gold Star Mother from South Amboy, and Mrs. Helen Dudies, Auxiliary officer.

HOPE FOR ACTION IN CLEAN AIR PROGRAM

One of the next moves toward cleaner air in New Jersey is up to local government.

This was an implication of a conference at Rutgers University on Nov. 12 at which officials of the State Air Pollution Control Program outlined a model ordinance.

Lewis Goldshore, legal analyst with the State program, suggested that communities can regulate open burning, smoke emissions from fuel-burning equipment, incineration, and air pollution in general.

Joseph J. Soporowski Jr., specialist in the Department of Environmental Sciences at Rutgers, said the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science is seeking a federal grant to establish a training program for local air pollution code administrators.
