Council Moves on Senior Citizens' Housing

In a follow-up on action initiated last year, the council voted to apply for state funds to provide housing for the elderly citizens of South Amboy. At the Tuesday night meeting, a resolution was passed authorizing the South Amboy Housing Authority to file an application for the necessary preliminary funds.

A request of $40,000 to provide for the survey and planning of about 100 housing units will be made. According to Council President Fred Henry, these units will provide moderate-cost facilities for those with a fixed income. Henry stated that this project "is long overdue and I hope that it will move along quickly. It's long overdue."

In other action, the council passed a resolution authorizing the city clerk to advertise for bids for the purchase of two police cars. These bids are to be submitted at the meeting of March 17.

The council had previously rejected bids for the rental of cars, but at the suggestion of Mayor Rush, these bids will be held for further study.

Ordinance No. 836, which provides for the revamping of the fire alarm system, was passed on its final reading. Ordinance No. 837 was introduced for its first reading. This ordinance opens the police ordinance for the possibility of adding more patrolmen to the force, as requested by Chief Edward O'Leary.

Both of the above mentioned ordinances are printed in full elsewhere in this issue of the Citizen.

Councilman James Inman informed the mayor and council that he has met with the city engineer and discussed plans for the repair of storm drains on Dayton St. and Conlogue Ave.

In his remarks to the council, Henry said that the March 17th meeting of the council will be devoted largely to the discussion of the new form of government which will begin January 1971. He stated that a committee will be formed to help in the transition of the administrative problems that will arise.

The councilman also reported that the various city inspectors, health, building and fire, are making a much needed survey of Broadway buildings in order to avoid anymore fires, such as those that have occurred in the past two years.

Mayor Rush informed the councilmen that acts of vandalism are becoming too prevalent in the city, "and if the violators are apprehended, I will do everything in my power to have the parents pay for the damage."

The mayor's warning came after Councilman O'Leary had reported that several Henry St. residents had complained that clothes lines and pool covers had been cut by persons unknown. Most of these acts took place adjacent to the parking lot of the Board of Education on John St.

Henry, noting that Inman "had already done some ground work on this project," asked that he continue to follow up on the problem of abandoned cars left on the streets of the city. Inman will check with the chief of police and city attorney on the legal aspects connected with this action.

City Treasurer John Leonard told the council that he, after several talks with the city auditor, was of the opinion that the city should group several outstanding notes and bonds into one new issue, "because the local banks are interested in this."

Henry, in rejecting this suggestion, said, "The bond market is not too good and with the trend (interest) going down, perhaps it would be best to hold off on this for awhile. We may get a better interest rate." City Attorney Mullane agreed with Henry's thoughts.

STATE POLICE TO TEST

Major Eugene Olaff, Acting Superintendent, urged all young men interested in becoming career police officers to take the State Police entrance examination on Wednesday, March 11. He emphasized the fact that NO PRIOR APPLICATION is required.

Council, Board Of Education To Meet

The City Council and Mayor will meet with the Board of Education members at 8 p.m. Monday, March 9, to discuss the existing school problems.

At the last council meeting, it was decided to meet jointly with the board so that all avenues of solutions could be explored without any misunderstandings on the part of either body. At the insistence of Councilman Frank Zebro, the council, at that meeting, voted to invite the press. At Tuesday's meeting, the council again extended this invitation to the press.

In a letter to the council, at the meeting of Feb. 17, Thomas A. Vail, the architect for the Board of Education, stated that an inspection of the high school showed it to be structurally suitable for renovation and/or expansion.

The Board had, at one time, hoped to be able to add extra rooms by converting the old auditorium of the school. Last week the board received notice from the State Department of Education that plans to install eight modular units, for temporary school-rooms, would not be approved by the state board.

Council President Fred Henry, in commenting on the proposed meeting Monday night, said that the council would enter into the discussion with open minds. He added, "We must go in there and be willing to accept ideas other than our own and not try to force our own opinions down someone's throat."

In other business, the council received a letter from Library Director Miss Sadie Dowdell stating that she is retiring from her position March 15. Henry stated that her retirement comes as a shock

Department of Education Rejects Modular Units

At their meeting last week, the Board of Education revealed that their plans to install eight temporary modular classrooms had been rejected by the State Dept. of Education.

A letter from Dr. Edward A. Spare, director of the School Planning Services, to the board architect, Thomas Vail, stated that "Obviously, there are many educational inadequacies in the proposal for the district."

The proposal for installation of the pre-fabricated rooms had been reviewed by Mr. Pisaurro, an educational consultant on the state's staff.

Spare's letter also said his department had "been examining the proposed solution" to South Amboy's school problems for many years and that it found "that the proposed solution does not provide suitable educational facilities in accordance with provisions of New Jersey Statutes Annotated 18A:33-1."

Outgoing board member Frederic Reese said that Dr. Spare had been in South Amboy five years ago and was well-informed on the school situation here.

Contacted yesterday, William Kurtz, outgoing president, said he had talked to Dr. Spare since last week who had suggested a meeting with County Supt. Robert Blunt for discussion of a permanent solution of South Amboy's school problems. He said no date had been set with either the county or state officials.

COUNCIL REQUESTS MEETING

The board received another letter from the city council requesting a joint meeting of the two boards and the school's architect to which members of the press were invited. This meeting is now scheduled for Monday, March 9, at 8 p.m.

Held for further study were letters from two high school teachers requesting sabbaticals to continue graduate studies. They are history teacher George Mahoney and English teacher John Oleyar.

The board approved expanded immunization requirements for pre-school and students effective in September 1970. These will include DPT booster, smallpox, Sabin vaccine, measles, for children entering school for the first time and a D1 or DPT booster for all eighth grade students.

The board hired Stephen P. Braunstein as a language arts teacher for the seventh and eighth grades at a salary of $6800, to be prorated for the remainder of the school year.

PRESENTS CHECK - Ed Hayes, president of the South Amboy Rotary Club, presents check to David Bonge, director of the Kingston School, South Brunswick, in behalf of local Rotarians.

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

A concerned taxpayer, who chose to remain anonymous, in a letter to the editor of TNT, has attempted to be critical of my desire to get a better picture of our educational needs. In my thinking, the best way to determine these needs is to go to those who are closest to the problem. Mr. Zebro and I went to the teachers. Between us we talked to eight teachers, all agreed on the pressing need for additional space and facilities; of the sites available, seven approved the city hall site, and all opposed regionalization.

The two teachers that Mr. Zebro and I talked to at length were recommended to us by their fellow teachers, as being dedicated, open-minded, and exceptionally aware of their student's needs.

They gave credit to the administration, they gave credit to the Board of Education, and they said nothing about the State Department of Education. They impressed me as the type of people who wouldn't say something about another person or group if they couldn't say something good. Their criticism was constructive and polite, always attempting to see the other party's point of view. And most important, they could rationalize the reasons for their views.

Mr. Zebro and I spent a very enlightening evening with them. They feel that the teachers in our system have the children's interests at heart, and that is most important in a qualified teacher. They feel the children are receiving quality education through the personal touch that our teachers are giving to our boys and girls. They feel that space is the only problem confronting them now. They feel that the school complex should be centralized. They feel that with some additional space for recreation, the closing of either John or George St. would provide this, that the city hall site is the place for the additional school facilities.

They feel that additional overhead costs that would be encountered if we had a de-centralized school system would be wasted money that could be put to work for our children. They pointed out the exceptionally high costs involved in transporting if we regionalized, this cost in no way contributes to our children's education and is wasted money.

These two teachers in no way indicated that they are superior to the administration, to the Board of Education or to the State Department of Education, and neither does Mr. Zebro or myself. But these two teachers did have sound reasons for their views, they also recognized this plight of the local homeowner, and most important, they recognized the problems that are facing our children when they graduate.

I'm thrilled with having them in our system, and I'm very happy with their evaluation of the other teachers in our schools.

Your letter, "concerned taxpayer", was full of snide remarks. I.E. "uninformed teachers"; "authorities superior to", "in their wisdom", "our learned authorities", etc., which I refuse to comment on. Your letter does indicate a person of intelligence. Please use this God-given-gift of having a good mind to help your mayor and council to resolve the problems that face us. We would appreciate your constructive criticism and I'll bet you would be proud to sign your name to a letter of that calibre.

Sincerely,
/s/ William E. O'Leary

Letter to the Editor:

This is an open letter to the parents of South Amboy. I can't understand how you can raise children without teaching them respect for other people's property. Why do people like me have to live with this malicious vandalism that has been going on. The gall of these brats to go into a person's yard which is completely fenced in and slash a pool cover, a clothes line to pieces. Not only mine but my neighbor's as well. I have never been so disgusted with a town and its people. Don't you care? If you don't try keeping a home and playthings for your children and see how you feel when these infantile savages destroy and mutilate your property. The only thing that really bothers me is that the parents are more to blame than the kids themselves. Where are they at ten or eleven at night? Not at home I'm sure because for the past few nights they have been walking around the streets with a knife cutting clothes lines, slashing pool covers, basketball nets and swings.

You are all guilty of this vandalism, every last one of you. You just don't care, but you're the first to say "not my child." You're the one who yell the loudest when the "darlings" are arrested for something, because the police "pick" on your kid. Maybe the police better start picking on some of them a little more.

PATTEN BACKS DAV LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

The legislative program of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) was backed on Friday, February 27, by U.S. Rep. Edward J. Patten (D-15 Dist. -N.J.).

Patten attended the Mid-Winter Conference of the DAV in the nation's capital. The Middlesex County DAV was represented by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Benyet, of South Amboy. Benyet is the National Service Officer (New York Region) and his wife is past Department Commander.

Patten expressed support for legislative proposals of interest to veterans. Among them, were measures that would:

Provide service-connected death benefits for widows of veterans rated totally-disabled.

Provide War Orphans Educational assistance for children of service-connected veterans rated 50% or more, disabled.

Authorize direct admission of veterans to nursing homes.

Establish a National Cemetery System within the Veterans Administration. Presently, the Department of the Army has jurisdiction.

Patten disclosed that there is no longer available cemetery space for veterans and their families and that an urgent need exists for additional land, especially in view of the heavy casualties of the Vietnam war.

The congressman was lauded for his support of legislation advocated by the DAV leaders. "Those who have fought for this country deserve the greatest consideration," Patten declared, pledging his continued support of the DAV legislative program.

UNREASONABLE SPENDING The increase in Federal government expenditures from $135 billion in fiscal 1966 to an estimated $192-195 billion by fiscal 1970 "defies sound reason and judgment" and is a contributing factor to the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) said at the annual meeting of the Tax Foundation. He added, "We need hardheaded expenditure control to hold the budget in the coming year well under $200 billion and to keep expenditures from absorbing the revenue increase generated by rising income levels."

Councilman James Inman moved "that we receive this news with great regret" and the council voted its approval. Councilman William O'Leary amended this motion by asking City Attorney John Mullane to draw up a suitable and framed resolution to be presented to Miss Dowdell.

The Protection Fire Company asked for permission to remove a part of the curbing on the David St. side of their building to facilitate the parking of cars. Zebro's motion to grant this request was approved by the council if the city engineer approved this action.

Two other requests by the Fire Department were to be put on the agenda for the next council meeting; a parking ordinance is to be drawn up that will eliminate the parking of cars across the street from the Broadway firehouse, and benefits for the widows of deceased firemen will also be discussed.

SENIOR CITIZENS HEAR TALK ON CUTTING ESTATE TAXES

Joseph T. Karcher, Sayreville Attorney and Chairman of the Middlesex County Council on Aging, was the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of Madison Township Senior Citizens Club held at Community Church, Laurence Harbor, on Wednesday, March 4, 1970. His subject was "Wills and Estates." The talk was given as part of the informational services of the Council which seeks to provide all the senior citizens of the county with full information on the various public facilities available to them at all levels of government.

In addition to explaining the history, origin, nature, form and purpose of Wills, the speaker pointed out the pitfalls to be avoided in following "do-it-yourself" forms or books on the subject. He explained in detail the four principal tools used in estate planning to keep N.J. Inheritance Taxes and U.S. Federal Taxes down to a minimum. These included the use of jointly held real estate, the annual gift tax exemption, the once in a lifetime gift tax exemption, the marital deduction and the use of trusts to prevent double taxation on several generations. Special tax concessions and advantages to the senior citizens were explained, from the $80 a year real estate exemption to the tax free sale of a home under $20,000.

A lively question and answer period followed. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Joseph Lewis, a member of the Middlesex County Council on Aging. Refreshments were served.

Get Ahead In Your Job

Here Are Seven Ways To Get A Raise

Turn out more work? Beat your deadlines? Of course. Come up with an idea that earns or saves a tidy sum for the company? No doubt about it — you're in line for a raise if you do any of these things.

But, how do you do it? If you're already doing a good job, how can you do a sufficiently better job to make the big difference?

These seven steps, taken in many a successful career, may help.

1. Listen with both ears. Speech experts estimate that the average man hears only half of what's said to him! By getting all the facts the first time around, you avoid costly mistakes and time-wasting back-tracking. A busy boss prizes the employee who has to be told only once.

2. Become an idea man. It's easier than many people think. Be observant! That's the first step. Be skeptical that the "tried and true" way is always the best! That's the second. Train yourself to pinpoint areas of waste, inefficiency, needless complications in your daily work routine. Form the brain-storming habit: write down as many solutions as you can think of, drawing on everything you know from your own experience and from what you have observed. Many of the best "new" ideas are simply adaptations of procedures that worked in other fields.

3. Recognize your failings. It's fine to have faith in your abilities, but it may be equally profitable to understand what traits are blocking your path to success. What does the boss most often criticize about your work? Would certain tasks be easier if you were better organized or more highly trained?

4. Know your boss's job. So that one day when he moves up to a higher slot you'll be a logical candidate to succeed him. Also, if you know your boss's job — understand the duties of all the other people who report to him, and how he coordinates their efforts — you'll have a clearer perspective of your own job. You'll understand his problems and pressures, and how to be most useful to him. In short, you will be a more effective employee — the kind who deserves and gets a raise!

5. Make the clock work for you. Plan your time as much as possible by using calendar pads, memory-jogging notes, and methodical files. Get into the habit of estimating how long each task should take you, then trying to save a few minutes... a half hour... even several hours off your deadline. Here's where being a clock-watcher can help you — if you use the clock as a stimulant, not an escape.

6. Learn! Read as widely as possible: trade publications, professional and technical books in your field, general-interest magazines. That money-making knack of idea creation depends to a great extent on how much knowledge you can draw upon. Also, seek to acquire skills that will make you more promotable; a working knowledge of accounting, for example, will probably make you a lot more valuable to your company, no matter what type of business it is, or maybe you should consider preparing yourself for a transfer to a growth area such as accounting where the demand for qualified people exceeds the supply.

Wonder if you have an aptitude for that kind of work? Write the Information Department, International Accountants Society, Inc., 209 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill. 60606, the largest and oldest home-study school in America teaching accounting and allied subjects exclusively, and ask for an accounting aptitude test. There's no charge and you can take the test at home and score it yourself.

7. Know what courses of action to avoid. You may earn a raise as much for what you don't do as for your more positive accomplishments. Bombarding the boss with questions is not a sign of alertness; ask only the questions that are strictly necessary to get the job done. And then do it to the best of your ability and don't voice qualms or doubts even if you have them. As Donald R. Morrison, President of International Accountants Society, Inc., points out: "Companies can always find lightweights to do the easy jobs. What they look for are men and women who eagerly take on the hard job."

Is there a co-worker who "gets your goat"? Avoid voicing your sentiments, even if justified. Bosses hesitate to promote even an able man if they feel it will cause friction in a department — and you may find yourself passed over in favor of someone who has the reputation of getting along with everyone.

Follow these seven positive steps toward making a good job performance better, and you will find that you have promoted your own interests and raised more than your hopes for getting ahead.

By Irv House

Here is a picture of the Daniel Sharkey Post during a Memorial Day parade about the year 1931. Ernie Weber of Asbury Park sent it in. Note the old facade of the Marathon Bus building.

Seems I'm always asking questions and usually, you're able to answer them. A few columns back Mrs. Senker said that Bob Hunt went to New York and sang with a Fritzy Sheff and I asked, "Who he?" Well, it happens that Fritzy Sheff was Fritz Sheff and "he" was a she who was quite a singer in her day. She was born in 1879 and died in 1954, this according to Dan Dunn.

Mrs. Senker's mention of the Hunt family prompted this note from Boo Oliver, down Tuckerton way, "I have a bit of information about the singers and others that may be of interest."

Boo goes on to pass this bit along which seems to have come from a publication of the early 1900's. (the CITIZEN???) "Harry Minnick entertained a stag party at his home on Henry St., Thursday evening. Some very pretty songs and selections were rendered by O. Martin, R.W. Hunt and Lee Foreman. Singing was the chief feature of the evening, although Harry Minnick entertained those present with some very good stories. Refreshments were served and the party disbanded at 11:00 p.m., after having spent a very enjoyable evening. The following were in attendance: R.M. Mack, W. Sexton, Fred Delbert, A. Mervine, J.M. Minnick, H. Minnick, John Jones, William Howell, William Chasey, J. Emileusen and W.G. Pearech."

Boo continues with, "It is my understanding that several of these young men were singing in the Trinity Church at the foot of Wall Street, under the direction of a Mr. Victor Baier."

He concludes with, "Speaking of singers, Mr. Collin Stratton's old plantation songs used to take the crowds by storm. The crowd always joined in heartily on each chorus."

Another column mentioned that "Pearl Grover built a store on the corner of Feltus St. and Chase Ave. (where's that?) and Dean Slover had the contract for it."

According to Arthur Spratford of Prospect St., Chase Ave. could have been that portion of Gordon St. that runs on a diagonal from Bordentown Ave. to Pine Ave. because Grover's store was located where Don Bennett has his dentist's office. This theory of Chase Ave. contradicts a previous one which had Chase Ave. down on Stockton St., near Augusta. "Tis confusin'!!!!

In answering my inquiries on the stations of the Raritan River Railroad, Art places Roberts near Horseshoe Lake. Roberts was later changed to Stulte's Grove. Edgars, according to Art, was a claybank near Hercules; and Vandeventer was on Jernee Mill Road, near the Al Smith brick yard.

"Only one more to be answered, "Where was Melfort"??

When I asked someone why there were so many stops between South Amboy and New Brunswick I was told, "The railroad was known for its slowness, but they decided to speed up its service, so they put the stations closer together."

It is reported that one passenger said, "For gosh sakes, conductor, let me off at the next stop, I thought this was a diner."

Seriously, the service was good. It took only 45 minutes to get to New Brunswick. It still takes about that much time today.

Apparently the railroad was a big factor in the promotion of the Arts, in 1892. On Wednesday night, March 16, a special train was put in service in order to take South Amboyans to the Opera House in New Brunswick where "A Bunch of Keys" was presented.

MIDDLESEX IN CONGRESS

by U.S. Rep. Edward Patten

Since I entered Congress in 1963, I have been deeply concerned about water and air pollution. In 1965, I co-sponsored legislation that created the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, and two years later was one of the co-sponsors of the Air Quality Act. Both increased the attack against pollution, yet much remains to be done before the air we breathe and the water we drink, are free of pollution.

I therefore recently co-sponsored 5 bills that would intensify the fight against water pollution. Former Pres. Johnson was not exaggerating when he warned, "Of all the reckless devastations of our natural heritage, none is more shameful than the continued poisoning of our rivers."

The 5 bills I co-sponsored would:

Establish an Environmental Financing Authority to assist in the financing of waste treatment facilities. The legislation would assure that inability to borrow at reasonable rates would not prevent any local or State body from carrying out any project for building waste treatment works authorized and financed with Federal grants.

Prepare and develop comprehensive programs for reducing, or eliminating water pollution, and improve the usability of waters.

Conduct and promote the coordination of research, investigations, experiments, and demonstrations relating to causes, control and prevention of water pollution, and improve water quality.

Provide U.S. grants totaling $4 billion for building waste treatment facilities over the next 4 fiscal years.

INDUSTRIAL SERVICE ANNIVERSARIES

Service awards will be presented to the following E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Photo Products Department, Parlin, employees during the month of March:

25 YEARS
Sophie M. Grzyb (Miss), 19 Hart St., Sayreville; Simon A. Wojciechowski, 107 N. Pine Ave., South Amboy; Stanley A. Domzal, Jr., 25 Minnisink Ave., Sayreville.

45 YEARS
Beatrice Walters (Miss), Morgan Ave., South Amboy; Francis J. Bissett, 1 Harrison St., Sayreville; and Henry T. Diestel, 21 Cheesequake Rd., Sayreville.

The train left South Amboy at 7:10 and roundtrip tickets were sold for 50¢.

A building boom was underway in 1892, also. It is noted, "The new town of Maxville, located just outside of the borough limits, is receiving quite a boom. Already the erection of eight houses is guaranteed. Lots are now being sold from $40 upwards. Parties not having the ready cash can purchase lots on the installment plan. Preparations are now being made for the grading of the streets. The property is beautifully located."

Another item attesting to the boom is this one: "South Amboy is a growing town. New buildings are going up everywhere and still there are few, if any, houses for rent, unless luck should favor the house-hunter by someone moving into their own new building, they are almost impossible to be had. This speaks well for the town. Lots are cheap, and many working-men own their homes."

George Freilachnecht will build a house on Prospect St., Maxville. Dean Slover has the contract and will commence work on April 1.

Captain Amos Belton will build a cottage adjoining his residence on Main St.

years. ($1 billion for each fiscal year.)

Change the area used for discharging sewage sludge and dredging spoils into the ocean - from the present 12 miles offshore, to 25 miles.

These bills would provide vital help in the battle against water pollution. It is imperative they are enacted this year, for the need is great.

Students Attend Performance at Lincoln Center

Dr. Marie Parnell, principal of Sayreville War Memorial High School, has announced that the high school opened its doors for a presentation of this year's series of Lincoln Center Student Program performances. The students attended a lecture-demonstration arranged and performed by the New York City Ballet.

The performance was presented through the sponsorship of the Sayreville Board of Education.

The program was a collaboration between the educators and distinguished performing artists of Lincoln Center, which combined the excitement and beauty of the world of the performing arts with the cultural and social elements of the classroom.

During the performance, the various actions of the ballet were explained and demonstrated so that the students could obtain a deep insight into the grace and movement of the performers. Terminating the program, the performers exhibited in three scenes how the basic movements help explain the language of the ballet.

MYSTERY BUS RIDE PLANNED

Court Santa Maria #382, Catholic Daughters of America, So. Amboy, will hold a "Mystery Bus Ride" on April 11. Mrs. Hyacinth Burke is in charge of the arrangements.

Amateur green-thumbs will be able to get advice from the experts through a comprehensive program of educational sessions and exhibits during the 1970 New Jersey Flower and Garden Show.

Professional gardeners, nurserymen and florists will present demonstrations and films on various aspects of home gardening each day at the show, scheduled for Friday, April 3, through Thursday, April 9, at the National Guard Armory, Morristown.

Members of the N.J. State Florists' Association will present a film on flower arranging and a demonstration on the care of cut flowers at 11 a.m. each day of the show except Friday.

Conducting these sessions will be Charles Marvinny of Charbet Nursery, Jersey City; Robert Bosland of Bosland's Flower Shop, Wayne; Joe Venezia of Macdonald Florist, Summit; Ray Gefken of Gefken's Flowers, Maplewood; Frank Drab of the George Ball Co., West Chicago, Ill., and John Birnie of Birnie's Flowers, New Milford.

At 3:30 p.m. each day there will be a planting demonstration and two films on trees, and at 7:30 p.m. each day another pruning demonstration and a film, "New Guide Lines for the Well Landscaped Home."

Those three daily demonstrations will be conducted by Joseph Moreau of Moreau Landscape Service, Colts Neck; Henry Bruno of Bruno's Nursery, Metuchen; Edward Wyckoff of A. Corradi & Son, Inc., Summit; John Steuernagel of Steuernagel's Nursery, Westfield; George Osterman of Osterman Nursery, Middlesex; Frank Bongarzone of Bongarzone Nursery, Shrewsbury; and Robert Weber of ABC nursery, Inc., Dover.

Concluding the programs each evening will be a demonstration at 8:45 p.m. on the care of house plants and a film, "The Annual Miracle." This program will be presented each day by Fred Herrman of Middlesex; Carl Klotz of Robbinsville; William Heutelo of Colts Neck; Jack Voorhees, Jr., of S.S. Voorhees & Sons, Inc., Maplewood; John Floden of Fred Floden & Sons, Sea Girt; I.K. "Bus" Christensen of Madsen & Christensen, Seane-Ridge, and Bernhard Seanekamp of Allentown, N.J.

In addition to these sessions, there will be many educational displays set up on the floor of the Armory, among them the exhibit of the N.J. State Federation of Women's Clubs which will highlight the state's natural heritage and illustrate how much New Jersey has to offer. Another exhibit, by the N.J. Department of Agriculture, will stress the main areas in which the Department provides assistance to the homeowner in ornamental horticultural services.

In all, there is a lot to see and a lot to learn at the N.J. Flower & Garden Show, which is one reason it has become a popular springtime event for gardeners and would-be gardeners from throughout the state.

Notice the tan Sgt. James Tedesco and his wife are sporting these days. The couple returned recently from a cruise to the Bahamas where the weather was "just great" (like 95 degrees). Jim tells us that he actually had to avoid the sun.

As many of you are aware, the Magr. Georginne and Bill Hanson have just returned from a vacation trip to Florida and they bring back greetings and best wishes from The Reverend and Mrs. Charles Kennedy.

Father Kennedy is a former rector of Christ Church and is now serving in St. Peter's Cathedral in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Father Kennedy has lost the use of his larynx and with mechanical aid, he has learned to speak from his diaphragm. During the voiceless interim, he learned the deaf-mute sign language and now conducts services for deaf-mutes, in the Chapel, as the regular services are being held in the cathedral.

Congratulations go out to big George Krzyzanowski of St. Mary's High School who scored his 1,000th point in last Tuesday's game.

Keep shooting, Georgel

Science Club To Attend Institute

On Saturday, March 21, the Sayreville War Memorial High School Political Science Club will be among the more than 60 high schools in the state that will attend the Sixth Annual Monmouth College Government Institute.

"The Urban Crisis - Poverty and Race" is the theme of the Institute this year which is sponsored by the Asbury Park Press in cooperation with high school science departments throughout the state. The day-long program is held on the Monmouth campus.

"With this theme, we want to involve the students in research and study prior to coming to the campus, and while they are here, have them huddle with public officials and discuss the current problems and conflicts facing the state and its communities," Paul Zigo, assistant director of community relations at the college, explained.

Mr. Zigo, who serves as institute coordinator, said the program this year focuses attention on all the so-called "environmental problems" confronting society -- crime, transportation, air and water pollution, in addition to the problems of poverty and race.

One of the major speakers lined-up for the institute is Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-NY, the first negro woman ever elected to Congress, who will be the keynote speaker.

Besides the principal speakers, the institute also features a panel discussion on the program theme, a straw poll, presentation of the winning student research papers on the theme, and a banquet and awards ceremony.

The purpose behind the institute include encouraging the study of political science, stimulating social science students and teachers, and making the public more aware of the many functions of government. In addition to the students and teachers, many private citizens attend the program each year.

In past years, the institute has studied such topics as the relationship of federal, state and county governments with municipal governments, the New Jersey judiciary and governmental reorganization, regionalization of government services, and the New Jersey cabinet post.
