

VanDerveer Condemns Mayor for 'Key Presentation' at Rojay Homes

Councilman James VanDerveer said last night that he was "shocked at the actions and statements of Mayor Charmello in connection with the violations of the City Subdivision Ordinance and state laws by Rojay Homes, Inc., on Raritan Street, in allowing people to move into homes in said said development before final approval had been obtained from the Planning Board and also before Certificates of Occupancy were issued by the Building Inspector.

"The Mayor as chief executive of the City of South Amboy, also a member of the Planning Board and who also appoints all members to the Planning Board, knows that no final approval had been granted by the Planning Board to this development and also knew that if the developer sold any of the homes before final approval was granted that both the state and local laws would be violated and subjected the developer to possible severe penalties, and even imprisonment.

"In addition, the mayor could of had called a special meeting of the Planning Board to take care of any emergency."

"The Mayor states that in this situation an emergency existed and that it was imperative that the laws be broken. Yet the Mayor, who attends the meetings of the Planning Board and who is a member of the Board did not see fit to attend the last meeting of the Planning Board when the developer submitted his plans for final approval and advise the board of any such emergency.

"I am very sorry for the people who purchased the homes as certainly they are innocent of any wrong doing but were certainly ill-advised by the Mayor who should not only apologize to these people but all the people of the City of South Amboy for his condoning and sanctioning the violation of the ordinance of this municipality, which was passed for the protection of the welfare of the citizens of the City of South Amboy.

"The Building Inspector must operate under the laws of this municipality and could not issue Certificates of Occupancy until final approval had been obtained from the Planning Board. The Building Inspector has been complimented many times in the past by both the Council of the City of South Amboy and the Planning Board and should again be complimented for not endorsing the violation of the law."

THE KEYS TO A HOME AND THE BEGINNING OF A CONTROVERSY — On Saturday afternoon when Mayor Charmello presented the keys to the first home in the Rojay development, little did he know that the same keys would open an avalanche of criticism from the Planning Board, Building Inspector, and city officials.

The stem of the controversy is in the fact that no occupancy permit was issued — which makes it a violation to the city's ordinance.

Rojay Homes-Planning Bd. Fracas in High Pitch

They say that the most furious arguments occur in one's own household. Such a mettle has in recent weeks developed in our municipality involving Rojay Homes, Inc., a local building firm, and the City Planning Board over a 36-home development which the contractor is in the process of erecting on Raritan Street.

The issue has taken on a political coloration which can very well decide the local election on November 8. Some political spokesmen have entered the arena wielding thrushes of charges and countercharges and deliberate moves have been made which only intensified the dispute. In the center of the fray is the building inspector, Joseph Kudelka, who has the unpleasant task of upholding the legal ends of the issue.

The most recent clash has evolved out of the developer's insistence on having the purchasers of two of the homes move into them before certificates of occupancy have been obtained. Political figures and spokesmen for the Planning Board regard this as a direct violation of the municipal building code which can subject the builder to severe penalties.

The insurgent move on the part of the developer was further complicated by a ribbon-cutting ceremony Saturday during which Mayor Joseph Charmello presented Mr. and Mrs. John Korupchak with the keys to their home on 433 Raritan St. The mayor, as a result of this act, received a burst of criticism from members of the Planning Board, city officials and particularly Kudelka, who had threatened to institute court action.

To all this the developer, Mr. Walter Rogers, Jr., replies "I've waited long enough for the board's approval. The people who purchased the homes have waited long enough. They are in their homes to stay."

Development Plan Submitted

In January the pandemonium which is taking place is, perhaps, an unfortunate incident which could have been averted if patience were exercised and passions were harnessed. In the early procedural stages there was every indication of harmony and welcome in regard to the development. These mutual feelings, however, have deteriorated in recent days until now they are a hotbed of discord and animosity.

Rogers, the developer, asserts that he had submitted his plot plan on January 14, 1960 when it was classified as a major subdivision. On January 20, the Board of Public Works, on advice of the City Engineer Edward Reilly, asked that certain changes in the preliminary plans be made. Rogers maintains that he had complied with this request.

On February 11 the County Planning Board withheld verification of the plans until the storm drainage problem was corrected. Rojay asserts that an agreement had been reached with the county board by which approval had been granted him to proceed. Approval by the local Board of Public Works followed April 20. No objections, he says, were raised at a public hearing held May 16, 1960, and the Planning Board issued its approval to the preliminary plans subject to contract signing May 26.

Rojay Objects To Agreement

Then in June, Rojay contends, he received an agreement to be entered into with the board which the board insisted in before it would grant final preliminary approval. This agreement, Rojay says, had within it several provisions which were outside the jurisdiction of the board. He objected to the posting of a performance bond for which, he maintains, there was no legality since there was no ordinance in existence requiring it.

Members of the board determined that the home development would place a burden on the Raritan St. pumping station for which Rojay should be assessed. The $128 per home assessment, Rogers charged, was in effect a demand from him to pay for the repair of the pumping station which he called unjustified.

Rogers further contends that the delay and illegal actions have caused him financial and mental hardships. He threatened to institute suit as a means of compensation unless the board gave immediate approval to his plans.

The contract submitted by the Planning Board to Rojay requiring the surety bond according to a subdivision ordinance passed June 14 said in part:

"As it has been determined by the board that the construction of the aforesaid homes will cause additional sewage to be absorbed by the present facilities now existing in that section of the City of South Amboy known as Mechanicsville, and whereas said increase will cause expenditures on the part of the Board of Public Works in the City of South Amboy in order to maintain said sewage facilities, the developer agrees to deposit with the board the sum of $128 for every house to be constructed in the aforesaid development to be used by the Board of Public Works in order to maintain and repair the present sewage facilities now existing in the Mechanicsville section of the City of South Amboy."

In another part of the contract agreement are the following conditions which were to have been met by Rojay.

"The parties hereto agree that the developer shall pay to the board $100 when each of the building permits are issued for the construction of the eight homes on Raritan St. and shall pay the sum of $186 when each of the building permits are issued for the construction of the remaining residences in the aforesaid development. It being understood that no building permit shall be issued until the payment of the aforesaid sums."

Planning Board Charges Lack of Cooperation

Spokesmen for the Planning Board are unanimous in their contention that Rogers has given them little cooperation during the course of the proceedings. Some say that he was exceedingly ebullient and high-handed in presenting his objections to the board.

One spokesman remarked that Rojay's preliminary plans were in the hands of county officials for a period of several months for study during the time in question and as a result confirmation of the plans on the local level could not be expedited. Another spokesman said that Rojay began constructing his homes prior to getting preliminary approval which contravened the building code.

On the other hand Rojay contends that he had met every requirement and that he had been purposely delayed in his building, maintaining that the board went against the advice of its counsel, its engineer and Rojay's own engineer. He asserts that he had already paid $972 in fees for the privilege to proceed with building. In toto, he said, the board has been obstinate in its actions and determined to harass him.

In reply board spokesmen responded that Rojay had been relieved of the assessment of $128 per home since the City Engineer disclosed that the pumping station had the facilities to handle the added burden. However, they say, Rojay was not present at a recent meeting to present his objections nor did he have someone there to represent him.

Under law, the spokesmen say, the board has up to 45 days to act on the plan approval, but this does not mean that Rojay would have been required to wait out the 45 days as he had surmised.

Problem Expected To Be Resolved Tonight

At the next meeting of the Planning Board, which is scheduled for tonight, definite action is expected to be taken on the problem. Meanwhile, board members are smarting

Contract For Raritan St. Pumping Station Granted Fourth and Fifth Sts. Extensions Get Lighting

A number of work contracts were awarded by the Board of Public Works at its session Tuesday including renovation of the pumping station on Raritan St., street lighting for the Fourth and Fifth Sts. Extensions and the building of an office room in the water works plant.

The contract for the pumping station was awarded to a local contractor, Adam Sadowski, in the amount of $2,218.28. The work there involves removing the roof and replacing it with corrugated aluminum, replacing the door and the window frames, including brickwork, with heavy duty commercial screen enclosures, cement plastering of the entire building, painting of all wood work and erection of 98 feet of 8-foot high chain link fence with a 10-foot drive gate.

The pumping station will be adorned with eight low-lying coniferous shrubs and the entire land area will be given a fertilization and lime treatment and finally seeded.

Following a survey by James J. Mitchell of the JCP&L Co., the company's commercial sales representative, the board voted to have 16 poles erected on the Fourth and Fifth Sts. Extensions. Two poles now in the area will be removed. The company's charges for the installations are $268.00.

Supt. Michael Nagle explained that the new lighting on the streets will not be of the mercury vapor type but, nevertheless, will be of a better grade than those now in existence throughout the city.

New Office, Heating, For Water Plant

Mr. Nagle informed board members that the installation of an office room at the water works plant is about three-quarters completed. The office room is being insulated and a fan-forced heating system is being installed. The board agreed to purchase a 4,800 watt, 220 volt thermo-static heating unit for the office at a price of $49.50 which board members revealed was a very reasonable cost.

Concerning the water treatment plant, Mr. Nagle suggested that the over-hanging ornamentation around the roof of the building be cut away for reason of safety and economy. The superintendent said that the Spanish type decorations around the circumference of the roof, however attractive, is rotted at the base and may yet injure someone in falling. He also added that the cost of painting it is expensive.

Another matter which was brought to the attention of the board was a 3-inch conduit pipe leading to the sewage disposal plant. The line extends underground from the street to the plant and on several occasions gave off sparks when struck with shovel or hit with metal objects.

Philip Sullivan at first recommended that the work on the conduit be put on next year's budget since it was a costly project. Thomas Vall, however, explained that the situation was a hazardous one and should be taken care of immediately. Mr. Sullivan thereupon amended his motion on the basis that a life might be lost in the delay. Supt. Nagle added that water puddles and heavy moisture complicated the threat around the conduit. Vall and John Stolts made plans to investigate the matter.

Storage Tank Painting Completed
Board Receives Safety Awards

Board member Thomas Vall reported that the painting of the storage tank on Conlogue Ave. had been completed and that the finished project looked good. Some members disclosed that minor incidents of paint spraying of passing vehicles and adjoining homes had occurred but that that they were resolved at the scene. Beautifying of the tank area with grass and shrubbery is to follow.

A discussion of the progress in acquiring an additional storage tank at the water treatment plant followed. Several architectural designs were evaluated.

Supt. Nagle, who substituted for Board Secretary John Triggs, disclosed that he was visited by a federal government representative regarding the possibility of selecting South Amboy's waterfront as a site for the erection of a salt water treatment plant.

A number of questions were asked by the representative, but the superintendent was of the opinion that South Amboy had little chance of gaining the plant because of the coloration and pollution of the water in the surrounding bay particularly after a storm.

Board members said that the condition of the bay water was affected by the flow of matter down the Raritan River from the New Brunswick area, mostly mud, which cleared up after a day or two but which would be one of the determining factors in the selection of a site for the saline plant. Clear water was more evident, they said, in areas fronting the open ocean.

An invitation was extended members to attend the annual meeting of the American Water Works Association at the Madison Hotel

Annual Pulaski Flag Day Inaugurated Saturday Kolodziej Reviews Patriot's Record

The 181st anniversary of the death of General Casimir Pulaski, Polish patriot for freedom and American Revolutionary War hero, was observed locally with a flag-raising ceremony Saturday at the City Hall Plaza. A large number of residents attended the ritual which took place during one of autumn's bright sunny days.

The moving ceremony was under the direction of Richard Schultz who introduced the speakers, Mayor Joseph Charmello and former county assistant prosecutor Edwin Kolodziej of Sayreville. Other officials presented to the audience were Council President James Harrigan and Councilmen Al Jankowski and James VanDerveer.

Charter members of the Citizens Club conducted the flag-raising led by Frank Jablonski. The American and Polish national anthems were sung by Mrs. Marie Nebus accompanied by Walter Kowalec. Assisting Mr. Jablonski were Mr. Julius Zaleski, Mr. John Skarzynski, Mr. Michael Zamorski and Mr. Joseph Gendek. Rev. Francis Grabowski gave the invocation and the benediction.

Restoration of Poland's Freedom Predicted

Mayor Joseph Charmello welcomed the spectators who came to pay tribute to Pulaski. He called the event a memorable one and a significant one since Poland, he said, is again wrapped in the fetters of political and religious oppression.

"We of America who enjoy complete freedom sympathize with the European Poles who are denied these God-given rights by their oppressors," he said. "We reverently praise the sacrifice Pulaski made in giving his life to guarantee us these freedoms, and we are certain that the spirit of freedom will never be extinguished in his native land, which is also the native land of many of you."

Principal speaker Edwin Kolodziej remarked that the surge of pride and gratitude within him in being selected to lead the Pulaski Day Parade delegation of the county on Fifth Avenue in New York last Sunday was evidence of the great esteem and affection which he has for General Casimir Pulaski. "He is in fact a hero of two continents, a protagonist of individual rights and human dignity, a man whose memory is revered in history because of his bravery, courage and convictions."

"Before coming to America," Kolodziej continued, "Pulaski won continental praise for his remarkable gallantry and heroic actions in battle against overwhelming odds. Compelled to flee in to exile, he met Benjamin Franklin in Paris and offered his services to the American cause through him."

"Pulaski communicated his intense love of freedom to the American colonists and fired them with his zeal. He distinguished himself immeasurably when on two occasions he personally saved the life of General George Washington during British ambushes which, because of the stealth of the British, the Americans were unable to detect."

"As a cavalry officer Pulaski was unsurpassed and thanks to his superb training of the American cavalry, the colonists of America were able to distinguish themselves against the enemy on the battlefields. For these feats America gratefully has honored him with the title of 'Father of the American Cavalry.'"

"We owe a great debt to this Polish patriot who brought the spirit of freedom to the shores of America when America lay prostrate and in a desperate struggle for liberty. Now, in our generation, a constant appeal from the people of Poland, his native land, reaches our ears. It is an appeal to help restore the freedom of Poland and repay a debt which was incurred almost two centuries ago. It is the torch of liberty which Poland gave America through Pulaski, the torch it now needs. We will not ignore these pleas."

In charge of the arrangements for the flag raising was Adam Rzepka assisted by Chester Ciszewski and Theodore Midura.

Moore Displays Undaunted Courage In His Cross-Country Hike Attempt

There are not many 18-year-olds today with the courage of Bob Moore, 312 George Street who last week was forced to yield to severe blisters on his feet before discontinuing his transcontinental itinerary. Even so, testifying to the determination he had in his heart not to give in, he walked two days on feet which cried out in pain for relief with each step he pressed forward.

South Amboy is proud of its youthful Explorer Sea Scout and welcomes him home with garlands of praise. It is unfortunate that physical distress had shattered his hopes of completing the trek, but of this we are assured that his spirit was dominant and would have been sufficient to propel him to San Francisco as he had planned had the blisters not intervened.

Moore in his zealotness, started out at an unprecedented rate having reached Illinois in record time. It is calculated that he walked at the rate of 10 miles per hour, a rate of speed which was twice as fast as the average rate of 4.48 mph compiled by his British contemporaries. At this rate he would have easily shattered the time established by the British walkers.

Showing acute concern for the success of Moore's adventure was Councilman James VanDerveer, for many years an organizer and promoter of St. Mary's Boy Scout Troop to which Moore belonged. VanDerveer recalls that he often had to restrain Moore from getting too far ahead of other scouts on periodic hiking trips, such was his vigor and walking enthusiasm.

We are certain that Moore's recent cross-country attempt was just a warm-up for a second attempt in the near future. The "Citizen" was informed by Moore that such was his intention and ambition. In any event, we the publishers of the "Citizen" are proud to have helped sponsor Bob Moore and stand in readiness to sponsor him again when he begins the second phase of his endeavor.

Speaking of Pets

A Boy and His Dog

There are a lot of tricks a boy can teach his dog—to sit, shake hands, roll over and beg. But a dog teaches a boy a few things too. Consideration for others, responsibility, patience and kindness are some of the attributes a child acquires through the care of a pet.

According to the Pet Food Institute, a child should have a pet that he can play with and cuddle. Dogs and cats are responsive pets with distinct personalities. They love people and show it. They require care and inspire it.

In taking care of a dog, a boy learns consideration and thoughtfulness. He knows that the animal must be fed every day to be healthy. He soon learns that there are other ways in which he can contribute to his pet's comfort. Regular combing and brushing, bathing and clipping, and care of eyes and ears are important to the dog's well being. Pet care is bound to make a boy more thoughtful of the needs of others.

Responsibility for the pet's care should be acquired as early as possible. Even a toddler can carry a feeding dish to the dog's eating place. At 6 or 7, a youngster can take complete charge of the dog. Feeding, grooming, exercising and training should be a part of the young pet owner's regular schedule.

The importance of discipline in all things is graphically demonstrated in dog obedience training. In training a dog to obey a command, a child participates in disciplinary action. Patience is learned as schooling progresses.

CURRENT MARKET CONDITIONS AND PRUDENT INVESTMENT PROCEDURES

In a period of uncertainty often the wisest course to pursue is one of compromise or even watchful waiting. For example, the quarterback of a football team will observe the maxim, "When in doubt, punt." The bridge player defending a contract when uncertain as to what to lead will switch to trumps passing the offensive to the opponents. A military leader when uncertain of the enemy's position and activities will hold a large portion of his troops in reserve. Likewise the investor will be well advised in maintaining large purchasing power reserves in the form of cash and fixed income securities. Easier money may still be used to combat falling stock prices and a further recession to business and this would cause higher bond prices. Compromise comes because no market analyst is infallible in predicting the future and therefore some funds should be employed in common stocks. The issues we have recommended here we feel have the best prospects under current market conditions.

Under the category of special situations we would recommend some of the gold stocks which have created investor interest in view of the flight of gold out of this country. Honesty, Dome Mines and Campbell Red Lake are all worthy of consideration. Also, under special situations we should consider companies which benefit from high military expenditures. Two of these which are particularly attractive are: General Dynamics and Garrett Corp.

In the growth category we have selected some stocks on the N.Y.S.E. selling at price/earnings ratios of less than 20 times and having shown a continual improvement in earnings for the past five years. These include: Diners Club, Emerson Electric, First Charter Financial, Georgia Pacific Plywood, McDonnell Aircraft, Revlon and Tractor Supply.

Finally, we have selected some stocks offering yields of better than 5% whose dividends are well protected by earnings. These include: American Seating, Atchafson, Topeka & Santa Fe, Drawings, Newport News Shipbuilding and United Artists Corp.

JERSEY JOURNEY No. 16

A TRIP TO RUTGERS STADIUM

With the 1960 college football season just a few weeks old, pressmen throughout the nation are beginning to acclaim this year's Rutgers University squad as 'what might be the finest Rutgers football team of all time'. Last Saturday in their first home game, the Scarlet ran roughshod over Colgate, defeating the visitors from Hamilton, New York, 49 to 12, before a homecoming crowd of 15,000 people in Rutgers Stadium. If the rave notices over the 1960 edition of the Rutgers squad have wet your appetite to see a good football game, there is still plenty of time for you to be among the thousands of people to be seated in the Rutgers stands this fall. The home games remaining are with Bucknell on October 13th, Villanova on October 29th, and Lafayette on November 5th. All three games begin at 2:00 P.M.

To reach the Rutgers Stadium, we follow Bordentown Ave. to Old Bridge, where we turn right on Route 18. We stay on Route 18 into New Brunswick, where we turn right on Route 27 and cross over the Raritan River bridge. Immediately on the other side of the bridge, we turn left and resume our travels on Route 18. (While crossing the bridge, be sure to get into the left hand lane). Soon after passing Johnson Park on the left, we come to Sulphur Road on which we turn right and proceed to the stadium on the right side of the road. Plenty of parking area is available for the beautiful stadium which is in a semi-natural bowl.

This season the boys from the State University, under their new coach Dr. John Bateman, are sporting a double-wing T formation, replete with split ends and flashing backs. The new set up is relatively easy for them to absorb, especially in the light of their single wing experience. Much of the line play is the same, the chief difference being in the backfield, where a T-formation quarterback is the key performer. The result of the formation is a wide-open brand of football which is a delight to the eye.

Bateman also uses the two teams interchangeably. The first is the "Scarlet", the second is the "Blue" (for whom a better name is being sought) — and there is virtually nothing to choose between them. On Saturday, the "Scarlet" and the "Blue" had the ball ten times between them. They scored seven times which is a pretty fair average.

Under lineman Captain Les Sent, the Scarlet Riders have displayed a dazzling display of gridiron art thus far this season. In rolling to victories over Princeton, the University of Connecticut, and the aforementioned Colgate, they have done everything well. They have blocked, tackled, and run with extraordinary vigor, and there is every reason to expect that 1960 will not only be Rutgers fourth consecutive winning season, but that it might be also an undefeated one.

An interesting historical sidelight to Rutgers football is the fact that the first intercollegiate game in our country was played in New Brunswick on Nov. 6th, 1869 between Rutgers and Princeton, Rutgers being the victor by a score of 6 to 4. (A return match was played on November 13th at Princeton with Princeton winning 8 to 2). In commemoration of Rutgers' part in the birth of the sport, a National Football Hall of Fame building is planned on the campus and funds are presently being sought to further this project. This museum would be similar to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., and would contain items of interest related to the history of the game and its heroes.

The price scale for seats at Rutgers Stadium is as follows: Reserved Seats are $3.00 each, and General Admission is $1.50. General Admission seats are at the end of the stadium. They are fine for a cloudy day, but they are almost due west and on a sunny day are facing directly into the autumn sun. Reservations may be obtained in advance by calling CHarter 7-1766, Extension 493.

Don't delay — Get up a party of your friends and spend one of these beautiful fall Saturday afternoons at the Rutgers Stadium seeing this year's excellent team from our own State University in action. If you have friends at Douglas College, perhaps this Saturday's game with Bucknell is made to order for you since that is Douglas Day at the stadium. But whichever game you attend, you will be seeing good college football and supporting your state's own educational institution. NEXT WEEK: A visit to a Newark historical museum...

New Baggage Claim Installation at Newark

South Amboy residents travelling through Newark Airport early next year will find a new $100,000 self-claim baggage area serving passengers arriving through the West Arcade, according to a recent announcement by the Port of New York Authority, operator of the airport.

The new baggage claim area, which will double baggage claim facilities, will be located in a 35x-20-foot addition near the inner end of the West Arcade. It will have a 120-foot-long counter in the center so that bags can be loaded from one side while passengers claim their own baggage on the other side. Porter service will be available for passengers who wish to use it.

Automatic doors will be installed between the claim area and the arcade and between the arcade and the main passenger concourse to speed the flow of passengers with luggage.

Like Hand X-Rays

An X-ray picture of a person's hand is individually distinctive enough to serve in place of a fingerprint, according to Dr. William W. Greville of the Stanford University Medical School. His research, supported by the Army, is aimed at finding a better way than fingerprints of identifying war dead.

Do You Know the Cost of Driving Your Car?

Most of us consider automobile ownership a part of our American standard of living. In many cases it is a luxury. Even a low priced car that is traded in every four years costs from $30 to $70 a month to operate, maintain and depreciate.

Mrs. Anna Lewis Legg, home agent of Middlesex County, suggests you keep a record of your car expenditures to find out how much transportation is costing you.

You will want a record of the initial cost and other expenditures for such items as gasoline, oil and grease, tires and tubes, repairs, batteries, washing and polishing, parking and tolls, garage rent, taxes and license fees and insurance.

Realistically, a depreciation fund should be set up for car replacement, she says. This may vary from $15 to $30 a month.

A yearly summary of expenses will show what it costs to own and operate a car. The cost per mile is determined by dividing the number of miles into the total cost. The home agent says when the cost per mile begins to increase, it is time to consider trading the car in for a new one.

Recognizing that transportation is expensive, if the cost fits into your financial program, enjoy the luxury.

Mad Skunk

In wild animals in the United States rabies is found most frequently in the skunk, according to the World Health Organization. In 1958 in the U. S. 1,000 rabid skunks were reported. In Canada and Germany, it is the fox. In Iran, rabid wolves are the greatest danger.

MILE-SQUARE TALK

Woodrow McCarthy is the proud possessor of the hand that shook the hand "of our next president." "Woody" was visiting Pittsburg on business on Tuesday and managed to get close enough to John Kennedy at a campaign rally there to shake his hand.

It's almost two months since the Monmouth Track closed for the season, so the boys from the Hillcrest have succeeded in saving up a sock full. But now, it's itching and they are heading for the Camden track this Saturday morning. Art Glides said the buses will leave about 10:30 a.m., and there are a few seats open for anyone wishing to come along. Just give Art a call.

Speaking of horse racing—we just learned that according to the Irish Export Board, thoroughbred horses to the value of 1 1/4-million dollars topped exports to the United States which during the past fiscal year, included $750,000 in Irish whiskey; bacon and hams worth $81,300; cheeses $28,000 and biscuits, $27,440.

Among the top-notch New York Yankee fans from So. Amboy who can boast of seeing the 3 World Series games in the Yankee Stadium are: Fred Kurts, Walt Rogers, Jr., and Jack Dugan and his son.

It certainly isn't news when John Leonard is appointed as secretary of an organization. But, it did happen again. John's most recent appointment came from the executive board of the South Amboy Fire Department. Among the other secretarial posts he holds are: 28 years for the South Amboy Exempt Firemen's Assn.; 27 years as secretary of the annual Fire Chiefs elections; 26 years secretary of the Protection Engine Co.; plus a dozen others. John really can be referred to as "Mr. Secretary".

No ticks, no washie — so it happened over the week-end to John Stiggs of First Street when he left 8 shirts on his front porch for the laundry man to pick up. Well, the laundry man didn't pick them up, but someone else did.

On next Friday and Saturday when the N.J. Exempt Firemen's Association holds its annual convention here in South Amboy the visit for the wives of the delegates will be made very pleasant thanks to the interest and civic pride of the management of the Briggs Chevrolet. We understand, that 10 vehicles will be made available to wives of the delegates to show them points of interest in our town and outskirts. This we think is very nice and very generous. And this isn't the first time it happened—we know of numerous occasions where they come thru for parades, etc., in the most benevolent fashion.

Supt. of Schools James F. Tustin reported that over the week-end the local Public School was broken into and two classrooms were entered, but nothing was taken or damaged.

Joseph Nagy of 118 David Street reported to police the loss of the Model 150 Polaroid camera and $2.50 in cash—taken from his home on Friday.

Thanks to Frank S. Kaboski who picked up a very important historical note in Sunday's New York Times regarding royalty who have passed through South Amboy at one time or another.

It was in October, 1860, that Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, later Britain's King Edward VII, arrived. The son of Queen Victoria, he was the highest member of royalty that we have entertained up to that point in the U.S. The Prince, who, out of courtesy to our democratic mores, used his lowest official title—Baron Renfrew—while here traveled to New York from Philadelphia by the Camden-Amboy Railroad. So if we can't post a plaque that George Washington slept here, we certainly can boast of the fact that King Edward VII, Benjamin Franklin, and many other historical individuals at least passed through our city.

With bicycling coming into its own again—it's time to remind parents that during the past year 480 persons were killed in collisions involving bicycles—so please give your son or daughter a refresher on the bicycling safety rules, and a good bike inspection to ascertain that it is safe.

The Young Dem's are really hopping on their toes this season — on Wednesday, October 19 a Past-Candidates' Nite is on the agenda—it's to honor all former candidates who have run for any elective office in our city—whether it was for win, lose or draw—Speaking to several of the old timers, they like the idea very much.

The other Young Dem's social function is the Buffet and Dance set for November 5th at O'Malley's Cocktail Lounge. A large turnout is anticipated.

Two hit-and-run auto collisions were reported during the past week. . .

On Friday morning, on Henry Street, off Broadway, the vehicle of Mrs. Ann Komolowski of 115 S. Broadway was damaged slightly by an unknown driver.

On Sunday a.m., at 1:10 o'clock the vehicle owned by Adam Sabatini of 154 George Street was struck by a vehicle that looked like a 1954-55 Dodge.

EAGLES TROUNCE GOVERNORS 56-0

Veteran's Field was the scene of the Annual Columbus Day meeting of St. Mary's and Hoffman in the one-game, city series battle for gridiron honors, and it was St. Mary's day all the way. The Eagles, using mostly runs, connected for seven touchdowns, and ran every extra point in pulling a 56-0 victory.

Hoffman kicked-off to the Saints, who ran three first downs, highlighted by a 40-yard run of Brian Flanagan. Jack Lukie carried the ball through the weak Governor line for the touchdown, and Steve Flanagan chased through for two extra points.

Hoffman returned the kick-off to the Hoffman 30. In the next play Joe Osmanski intercepted on the Eagle 45 and ran to the Governor's 32. After three fumbles, the quarter ended.

Saints had the ball on Hoffman's own 32 at the start of the second quarter. Ducky Flanagan hit Al Ust with a pass in the end zone to make the score 14-0. Lukie again went over for the extra points. 16-0. Hoffman received on their 35. They then went to an air attack, with Alan Berry receiving two passes from Jarusiewicz for a total of 36 yards. Bob Poetsch ran the ball to the Eagle seven but in four plays they could not score.

With the ball on the Eagle six, George Keenen took a hand-off to travel to his own 40 yard line. The Saints went to the air, but Joe McCarthy intercepted a pass and carried it 10 yards to end the first half. The Saints lead 16-0.

Hoffman received the ball with Jimmy Reick taking the kick-off. He returned it to his own 48. But a fumble in the backfield enabled the Saints to set up their next touchdown. Steve Flanagan, on a reverse, carried the ball 20 yards for the TD and went up the middle to make it 24-0.

Hoffman received the ball but could make no headway, and Flanagan again went over, and Keenen carried the extra points to hoist the total to 32-0.

The Governors returned the kick to the Hoffman 36, but Tony Nacarvo intercepted a pass and ran to the Governor 25. Joe Coughlin carried the TD and extra points to end the third quarter at 40-0.

The fourth quarter was all St. Mary's as Osmanski intercepted another pass, Hoffman's opening play, on the Eagle 30. The Eagles ran the ball to the Governor 40. Flanagan then connected with a 35-yard pass to Ust on the Hoffman 5. Keenen sneaked over for another six pointer, and Lukie went around end for two points.

Hoffman again received, but the Eagle line held back Hoffman on four downs. Brian Flanagan received a pass from his brother for the final touchdown, and Duck Flanagan ran for the final two points. Final score 56-0.

Score by quarters:
Eagles 8 8 24 16 56
