On motion of Mr. Slover, the council will meet Friday night with finance committee to prepare budget.

On motion of Mr. Manhattan, the clerk was instructed to notify the water superintendent and street commissioner to present full report of employees recently injured while in the employ of their departments.

On motion of Mr. Slover, the council will meet Friday evening to meet Vice-President Brown, of the Jersey Central Traction Company, and clerk requested to notify him of the same.

REV. GEORGE KANE RECEIVES A CALL

Information has reached us that the Rev. George Kane, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of this city, has received a call to take up the work in another field. We understand that this is the third opportunity that has come to Rev. Kane since January of this year to take up the work in other fields, but owing to the extensive repairs which had been undertaken by the members of the Presbyterian Church here, he has not felt free to consider the offers. Rev. Kane is seriously considering this last call.

Steamer Collins Gets Stays Caught in Bridge

The freight and passenger steamer John B. Collins is having its troubles at the new county draw bridge at Morgan station. On Sunday, when coming down the creek the stays of the masthead were caught in the draw and considerable damage was done. On the following night the tug "Marion" left a scow filled with buoys near the bridge in a manner to interfere with the "Collins" again and a similar accident occurred.

Captain Collins claims that the bridge is not properly built in regard to the raising of the draw, and has reported the matter to the War Department.

FREEHOLDERS VISIT STATE ROAD COMMISSIONER

The Board of Freeholders of Middlesex County went to Trenton on Tuesday afternoon to confer with State Road Commissioner Stevens relative to some roads in this county which are to be repaired.

The board held a joint meeting with the Somerset county board for the purpose of taking over the Franklin Park Kingston road. The road commissioner refused to accept the road so the two counties did the same thing. An effort will be made to get the engineer, contractor and Col. Stevens to meet together and straighten out the matter. W. H. Ely was given a contract to lay a platform on one of the bridges between the two counties.

The New York Telephone company was given permission by the board Monday to open Rahway avenue road so that they could lay conduits to protect their wires underground.

WILL REFUND MONEY TO THOSE HOLDING RAIN CHECKS

Al. Waters, recently manager of the Athletics wishes to announce that he has a small balance on hand from tickets sold for last Saturday's game. Those holding rain checks may redeem them by presenting them at John Sullivan's confectionary store on Broadway. Mr. Waters also wishes to thank the local fans for the way they turned out on Saturday, and regrets very much the failure of the Newark Colored Giants to show up.

Further he wishes to announce that he will refund such money as he has collected from local merchants as contributions toward a score card which he had intended to get out, and extends to them his hearty thanks for their support and interest.

STEPPED ON A LIVE WIRE

William Webber Instantly Killed as 6,000 Volts of Electricity Passes Through His Body—Two Other Men Are Seriously Injured at Morgan.

Coming into contact with a stay wire charged with 6,000 volts of electricity, William Webber was instantly killed at Morgan on Wednesday, while John Weber and John Parker, who went to his assistance, met with severe injuries. Only for the very strong condition of John Weber's heart, his injuries would have proved fatal.

The accident occurred about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. William Webber, who was employed as a teamster by Michael Welsh, was hurrying toward the temporary county drawbridge, which had caught fire. He stepped on a support wire which had been accidentally charged with electricity, and with a loud outcry he was seen rolling over the embankment of sand which had recently been placed there to fill in the approach to the new bridge. In falling he grabbed the wire with his hands. Not thinking of any danger, and supposing that William Webber, had injured himself in falling, John Weber, who was working a scow at the scene of the accident, ran to his assistance and grabbing William by the wrists, his body also became a conductor for the electricity and he fell unconscious. John Parker, an iron worker for the Owego Bridge Company, who was working on the new county bridge, received several very bad burns about the arms and wrists when endeavoring to rescue the men, and get the deadly wire out of contact with them.

Hundreds rushed to the scene, among them Drs. E. Eulner and E. A. Meacham. No hopes were given for William Webber's recovery, but by energetically working with John Weber, he regained consciousness and was taken to his home on Augusta street, in this city, later in the afternoon. He is still suffering greatly from the shock and is under the attendance of Dr. Eulner who says that but for his strong physical condition, recovery would be impossible.

The body of John Webber was brought to this city in the automobile of J. J. Scully and after the arrival of Coroner Morgan, was removed to Stillwell & Mason's morgue. On Thursday Undertaker Arrowsmith of Matawan took the body to the home of Webber's brother at that place.

John Parker, the iron worker who was injured, received medical attendance at his boarding place at Morgan, and from latest reports is getting along nicely.

The deadly wire proved to be a loose support wire which, coming into contact with the main feed wire of the Middlesex & Monmouth E. L. H. & P. Co. rubbed off the insulation and became charged with 6,000 volts of electricity.

The victim of the unfortunate accident was no relation to John Webber, who was so seriously injured in going to his assistance.

Mr. Webber was employed as a driver by Michael Welsh and has two brothers and two sisters who reside at Matawan. The funeral took place at Matawan Friday afternoon.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

On Saturday evening Constable Roberts arrested Adam Sadowski and Paul Sadowec for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They were taken to the City Hall and in the morning were given a hearing before Police Justice Birmingham. The men stated that they hailed from Sayreville.

Sadowec was fined $5, while Sadowski was let off with a $3 fine. Sadowec was more severely dealt with on account of disorderly conduct during his night's lodging at the City Hall. He wrought his vengeance on the city by smashing up the cell furniture during his brief stay.

Justice Birmingham warned the men that they would be more severely dealt with for their next offense in this city.

Life is just one fool thing after another. Some people's breakfast is nothing but a cereal story.

CARNIVAL AND WATER SPORTS

Committee Making Arrangements For Big Day at Morgan Beach—Canoe, Swimming and Running Races—Comical Dress Parade at Night.

The campers at Morgan Beach have arranged for a big day on Sunday next, weather permitting. All the visitors at the beach are taking a great interest in the event, and have contributed liberally toward the expense of successfully carrying out the program.

There will be a carnival and water and land sports under the management of the campers. Music will be furnished by the Tall Cedars Band, of New Brunswick.

The water sports will consist of single canoe race, double canoe race, tilting canoe race, in and out canoe race, Salome race, ladies' and men's swimming long and short distance.

The land sports will be broad jumping, last race, Salome race, 100-yard race, club relay race and a three-legged race.

In the evening there will be a carnival dress parade, and the camps will be decorated with Japanese lanterns and bunting.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of contests. Any person wishing to enter any of the sports can do so by sending their names to Morgan Lambertson, chairman of sport committee, 123 Broadway, this city; Edward Wheeler, chairman, of New Brunswick; or Henry J. Klein, secretary, Perth Amboy.

The full program issued by the committee is as follows:

Afternoon Program.
Four canoe events, Salome race, tub race, swimming race for men, 100 and 440 yards; swimming race for ladies, 50 yards. Events to start at high water, 1.30 p. m. Beach events to consist of jumping, 3-legged race, Salome race, relay race for clubs (4-men teams), fat man's race, etc. Suitable prizes will be given in various events.

Evening Program.
Grand grotesque costume parade, prizes for best lady's and gentleman's costume, also prize for best costumed club. Grand display of fireworks. Every camp is requested to decorate their tent or bungalow, as a handsome pennant, suitably inscribed, will be awarded to the best decorated camp. Clubs and individuals are requested to enter in advance in the various events and to assist the various committees to make the carnival a huge success. For any further information apply to Mr. Wheeler, chairman, of Mr. Kline, secretary.

DELIGHTFUL LAWN PARTY.

A delightful lawn party was given by Miss Vera French on Saturday evening in honor of her cousins, the Misses Helen and Adeline Voorhees, of Philadelphia. The party was held on the lawn adjoining Miss French's home on Bordentown avenue. Japanese lanterns were arranged in a tasteful manner to form the decorations. Refreshments were served and all present had a delightful time. Among those present were: Misses Adeline and Helen Voorhees, of Philadelphia; Marion Thom, Ruth Newton, Vera French, John Shaw, Russell Hardy, Frank Grace, Alexander Parison, John Thorpe, Arthur Ingraham, William Disbrow, Charles Straub, Willis Slover, Elsie Applegate, and Evelyn Cassidy.

Alonzo L. Grace Atrociously Assaulted

Early Monday morning, Alonzo Grace of this city, general superintendent at E. Furman's brickyard, was atrociously assaulted by Alex. Sowatski, an employee in the yard.

Grace was making his way about the yard when Sowatski stealthily crept up behind him, and struck him a blow with a cordwood stick and when Mr. Grace turned around to defend himself he was struck again on the arm, causing a bad fracture. It is said the assault was unprovoked.

Chief of Police, Boyle, of Sayreville, arrested Sowatski shortly after the assault, and took him to the county jail, on commitment of Justice Esser on charge of atrocious assault and battery.

Mr. Grace is able to be about, and is attending his duties at the yard, although handicapped by his injuries.

Chicken Coop Fire Calls Out Firemen

About 4 o'clock last Saturday morning the fire department was called out to extinguish a blaze in the chicken coop of Luther Tice on Second street. While a small building, it made some blaze, and its reflection could be seen from all parts of the city. Hundreds of people arose earlier than usual and went to the scene. The coop was totally destroyed, and after the fire it was found that eight chickens were missing, probably roasted to death. How the fire started is a mystery, but it is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

CAPT. HECKMAN HAS OPEN AIR MEETING

Captain Eli Heckman and his band of Salvation Army Workers from Perth Amboy were in this city on Tuesday evening and held an open air meeting at the corner of David street and Broadway. A large crowd soon gathered about, and it is said that the collection received was a substantial one.

CAUGHT A MANTOSH SHRIMP.

Charles Liming, of Newark, who is an enthusiastic fisherman, made a catch on Sunday that he is very proud of. The fish was a peculiar looking object, with fins which extended out from its body like wings. Lee Clark, the Morgan taxidermist, said that Liming's catch was a Mantosh shrimp. Its captor will preserve it as an oddity and will have the undisputable proof for a good fish story.

FUNERAL OF CAPT. JOHN TICE.

The funeral of Captain John Tice took place at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Cheesequake, last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was well attended. The service was conducted by Rev. Rowland Hill, the pastor, who delivered an impressive sermon, taking his text from I. Peter 1st chapter, 3-4: "Our Lord Jesus Christ which according to His abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you." Three hymns were sung by the Cliffwood Church choir. Interment was made in the graveyard adjoining the church.

Capt. Tice had been a great sufferer for three months at the home of his son, where his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorcas Ann Tice, with the assistance of two nurses and his son, Ervin, administered to his needs.

Capt. John Tice was born in St. Louis, Mo. His mother died when he was eighteen months old. His father then came East and made his home in New Jersey. At the age of twelve years, Captain John took up sea-faring work, which he followed until a few years ago, after which he made his home with his son.

SHOPPING FOR A FARM.

The New York Daily announced that Governor Sulzer and his wife were going to take a day off to go shopping for a farm. If anybody reads this notice and desires to make a tour of that kind, by calling or sending a request to The Citizen office they will be informed where a nice farm of about 35 acres can be purchased right in this vicinity.

The young man who is looking for promotion should consult a promoter.

TROLLEY CAR JUMPS TRACK

Runs Into Building of H. Wolff & Co.—Mrs. Smith, of New Brunswick, on Way to Navesink, Badly Injured—Other Passengers Escape With But Slight Injuries.

Last Saturday afternoon a trolley car of the Public Service Street Railway Company jumped the track at Washington avenue and Feltus street, and did not stop until it ran into H. Wolff Co.'s store building.

The few occupants of the car were badly shaken up, but Mrs. Herbert Smith, of New Brunswick, was seriously injured. She was thrown from her seat, and on the rebound when the car struck the building, her back was thrown into contact with an iron portion of the seat, causing injury to her spinal column. She was rendered unconscious, and taken to the home of Frederick Pety, on Main street. Dr. Meacham was summoned, and finding the extent of her injuries, ordered her removed to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hampton, at Jamesburg, where she was taken on the evening train.

Mr. Smith also suffered numerous bruises about the body and head.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were on their way to visit relatives at Navesink at the time of the accident.

Congressman Scully on Governor Fielder

Congressman Scully has come out strongly for Acting Governor Fielder as the nominee on the Democratic ticket this fall. He thinks Fielder will have a walk-over both at the primaries and at the general election in November. In speaking of Gov. Fielder, Mr. Scully said:

"Governor Fielder is a man well fitted by experience, education and temperament for the high position which he now holds, and to which he will soon be elected by the largest majority ever given a candidate for Governor in the history of New Jersey.

"In offices of public trust, which Mr. Fielder has filled, he has shown himself a capable servant of the people, intent only upon public good. He will not be a candidate for any office that he has not the ability to fill. He possesses in a marked degree the qualities of independence of judgment, personal initiative, common sense and fidelity to the interest of the people. We need such men in the public service of the State, and it is, therefore, the general hope of our citizens that the claim of Mr. Fielder will be duly recognized.

"He never occupied a position of trust in his life that he did not fill to the full satisfaction of his constituency. The cause of the common people has always been his cause, and men and women of our great State believe in him and rely on him, because they know he is right. Mr. Fielder is universally esteemed for his high character, his integrity, his public spirit, his interest in all that makes for good government and the betterment of society. He is progressive, earnest and tireless in promoting all forms of civic righteousness. He is justly credited with intellectual ability, broadness and clearness of vision, gentlemanly instincts, loyalty to conviction, large sympathies and incorruptible manhood.

"He has represented his county in the Legislature with unusual dignity and influence. He has always been an earnest, loyal Democrat, and it would be a source of profound gratification to a multitude of good Democrats to hear of his having received almost a unanimous vote of our party at the primaries, and back of whom will be found solid Democracy on November 4th.

"Everything that is being done and said by the Democrats of the State and nation is surrounded by an atmosphere of personal responsibility to the party, which certainly bespeaks the high hope for a splendid victory."

If a young man tells a girl she's all the world to him, she thinks he is justified in trying to get the earth.

M. P. CHURCH NOTES

Rev. F. F. Craig and family returned after an absence of one Sunday and attended the mid-week service of last week and the pastor officiated at the services last Sunday, when there were interesting and appreciative meetings held.

The pastor met Rev. C. S. Miller, former pastor in this city, and enjoyed a very pleasant time together. Rev. Miller informed us that he intended visiting South Amboy the last week of this month, and all will be glad to greet him.

The pastor was pleased to see visitors from other churches and places with us last Sunday, both at Church and Sunday School. An invitation to worship with us is extended to all and especially to those who are not having regular services in their own churches.

Our faithful organist was missed last Sunday, because of the illness of Mr. Storer, and her Sunday School class was taught by Mrs. Annie Hulse.

In the absence of Supt. Bloodgood, the assistant supt., P. A. Stuts, had charge, and in the review of the lesson said some things that it would have been well for all of South Amboy to have heard. A goodly number was present for a hot August Sunday.

The Junior C. E. held its regular meeting at 2 o'clock, and although it was very warm, there were twenty-five present. The superintendent addressed them in a very helpful manner. The Juniors are doing well.

In a short time arrangements will be made for the Junior C. E. outing at which time a number of the adults will enjoy the time with the children.

Miss Ethel Dill will have charge of the Junior C. E. meeting next Sunday at 2 p. m. Come and hear this young lady speak on the topic.

The Senior C. E. service at 7 p. m. was nicely led by Mrs. Joseph Martin when the topic, "Perseverance," one of the Christian Ideals, was ably discussed.

Next Sunday, being the second in the month, is the regular day for the Sunday School offering to the parsonage fund. While this is the great vacation time, a number away, yet an effort will be made this Saturday evening when a Lawn Social will be held on the church lawn under the auspices of the Little Gleaners' Class, of which H. Bloodgood is the teacher, when all the good things will be for sale. If it should prove stormy it will be taken into the basement of the church. Help them to swell the fund.

Several selections led by the choir preceded the preaching service in the evening, when the pastor discoursed on, "God the Desire of the Soul." A deep spiritual service was enjoyed.

It is to be hoped that the attendance at the first Sunday in August will be as good each of the remaining four Sundays, or better if possible. Let those who are at home attend the services in God's house as much as possible.

Let those who may be away on their vacation find a church and attend the same.

During the week of the pastor's absence, he attended a prayer meeting, Bible study, a Sunday morning service and preached at night in a country church, among many old friends.

During the absence of the pastor Sunday, July 27th, the services, both morning and evening, were conducted by Mr. Howard Bloodgood, who served with a marked degree of acceptability and many were the comments of praise that we heard on our return of his service.

Bombay an Island City.

Bombay, the capital of the Bombay presidency and the principal seaport of western India, is an island which forms a low-lying plain about 11½ miles long by three to four miles broad. Two parallel ridges of low hills flank the island; the larger ridge protects the harbor, the other terminates in Malabar hill, on which stands the famous Hindu temple of Walkeshwar, to which pilgrims resort from all parts of India. The city covers 23 square miles and has 979,445 population.

Situation Sized Up.

The young girl had been engaged as an amanuensis by a society woman. She discovered that nearly every day the husband and wife had a quarrel, so she gave notice that she was going to leave. "Why?" inquired the lady, in surprise. "Oh, you don't need an amanuensis, madam," replied the girl. "What you want is a war correspondent."

Drowned Girl's Strange Burial Is Being Probed.

On Monday Prosecutor William J. Kraft, of Camden county, sent two detectives to Clementon to investigate a mysterious drowning in Pilling's Lake. Two weeks ago a party of young men and young women passed through Camden from Philadelphia in an automobile on their way to the lake. When they returned one of the girls was missing. That night the clothes of a young woman were found in a bathhouse on the lake, but the matter was not reported to the authorities. The following day a fisherman pulled a human body from the lake on his line, but, frightened, permitted it to sink back. Thunder storms last week brought a girl's body to the surface, and a grave digger in Berlin Cemetery tells a story of burying in a pine box the body of a young woman in a bathing suit. There was no report made either of the finding of the body or its burial. Prosecutor Kraft Monday assigned detectives to learn why the companions of the girl supposed to have been drowned left hurriedly without reporting the affair and why the body was buried in such a mysterious manner.

Fatally Scalded, He Walks Home.

Michael Whalen, a steamfitter, died Monday night at St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, more than 24 hours after he was so terribly scalded that physicians wondered that he did not succumb immediately. Whalen was repairing a hot water pipe in the Lackawanna roundhouse at Hoboken Saturday, when the pipe broke, flooding the pit in which he was working. Although he was in agony he walked to his home, 366 Newark street, Hoboken, a quarter-mile, where he collapsed and was sent to the hospital.

Funeral of Perth Amboy Musician.

Arnold A. Nicholson, a musician of Perth Amboy, was buried Sunday in Alpine Cemetery, that city. The services were attended by five lodges and nearly 100 floral pieces covered the grave. Nicholson was born in this country and educated in the public schools here and in Denmark. Although only twenty-two years old, he was leader of an orchestra and in charge of the music in a local theatre. He was president of the Young People's Society of St. Stephen's Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church and a member of Valhalla Lodge of Odd Fellows, the Dana Relief Association, the Danish Brotherhood of America, the Dana Singing Society, the A. B. C. Club and the Musicians' Union. Death was due to appendicitis. Mr. Nicholson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Soren Nicholson, two sisters and two brothers survive him.

Greet Fielder as "Next Governor."

Governor Fielder was greeted as "the next Governor of New Jersey," by Dr. Aaron E. Ballard, president of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association, at the Auditorium, Ocean Grove, Saturday night. The Governor was present to attend the children's festival of song, in which a chorus of 1,000 took part. At the doctor's suggestion the audience arose and gave the Governor the "Ocean Grove salute," waving handkerchiefs. Besides the choruses there were many special song numbers, in addition to spectacular features. The singing of Mary Vaughn, ten years old, who was "found" as a singer last week by Tall-Essen Morgan, director of music, was loudly applauded.

Death of John Whitehead.

John Whitehead, brick manufacturer of South River until he retired ten years ago, died Monday night in his eighty-third year. He was the son of Samuel Whitehead and owned considerable real estate in South River. One hundred men were employed at the Whitehead Brothers brick plant. Mr. Whitehead married twice, his brides being sisters. Three children survive, Mrs. Silas Butler, of Meriden, Conn.; Alvin and Vernon Whitehead of South River.

Elizabeth Man Ends His Life.

William Hasenauer, aged sixty-three years, committed suicide on Sunday morning by inhaling illuminating gas in the bathroom of his home, 645 Monroe avenue, Elizabeth. The body was discovered by Hasenauer's stepdaughter, Miss Teresa Haury. He had attached a gas tube to his mouth by holding it in place with a towel, which he coiled about his neck. Hasenauer had complained recently of feeling nervous. He had worried over the death of a stepson, Anton Haury, less than a year ago. Precautions were taken by Hasenauer to prevent any alarm to the rest of his family, consisting of his wife and stepdaughter. He left a note warning them not to light a match in the bathroom. The note also stated that he was afraid he would not "awake in time." Hasenauer left letters to several friends, apologizing for his act and telling them how to manage his affairs. He had been employed in the Singer factory twenty-eight years.

Found House In Flames.

Charles Kuntz and members of his family on returning from the field Monday afternoon on their farm at Piscatawaytown found the house in flames. The house could not be saved and burned with the contents. The house was a ten-room structure owned by Michael Fedak. It was insured. How the fire started is a mystery.

Veteran Dies in Barber Shop.

Theodore Wooley, a Grand Army veteran, of Long Branch, who was retired by the Central Railroad a few months ago, after serving many years as flagman at the Liberty street crossing in that city, died in a Broadway barber shop Monday morning. He had just left a barber's chair, when he was stricken with heart disease, and he died before a doctor could be summoned. Mr. Wooley was a member of James B. Morris Post and for years was its surgeon. He was seventy-two years old and is survived by a widow.

Attempt to Burn Railway Building.

An attempt was made Sunday night at 11 o'clock to burn the Railway Auditorium in Irving street, Rahway. A fire was started from the inside under the stage, the incendiary escaping by a front door, which was left open. Word was telephoned to Fire Chief Kennedy, who found where a fire had been started and gone out. The building is owned by the Craftsman's Club, connected with Lafayette Lodge No. 27, F. and A. M. For years it was the only public amusement hall in the city.

Metuchen Receives Paving Bids.

Bids were received by the Borough Council Monday night for paving Main street, at Metuchen, between the Pennsylvania Railroad and Amboy avenue, and also for laying curbing on the thoroughfare. The paving bids were as follows: T. F. Dunnigan, Woodbridge, $6,226.30; Liddle & Pfeiffer, Perth Amboy, $5,965.52; Collins & Gundrum, South Amboy, $7,526.20. The Wilbert Blue Stone Company had the lowest bid for curbing. The contracts were held up until the Council can get the Public Service Railway Company to make some arrangement regarding its share of the paving.

Governor Steps On Nail.

Governor Fielder Monday limped about the executive offices as the result of scratching his foot on a nail at Sea Girt. The Governor was walking from the "Little White House" to the Ocean Beach for a plunge when he injured his left foot. The nail was hidden in a piece of driftwood that had been cast on the beach by the tide. After dressing the wound the Governor was able to put a shoe on. No serious results are anticipated from the injury.

Railroad Sinds Injured Man Home.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has just sent home Silver Smith, a negro, whose legs were cut off last May, when he fell under a train at Monmouth Junction. He had been confined in St. Peter's hospital at New Brunswick since the accident. The company gave him a ticket to Weingar, Ga., and $50 in cash. This action followed correspondence between Overseer of the Poor Arthur O'Neill, of New Brunswick, and officials of the company.

Scottish Night At Boynton Beach.

All the residents of Sewaren and many in Woodbridge are interested in the Scottish evening being planned for St. John's Church, Sewaren, on August 15 at Boynton Beach. An able committee, consisting of Mrs. W. Faber Turner, Mrs. F. F. Grant, Mrs. C. M. Cooper, Miss Stoddard, Mrs. W. H. Demarest, Mrs. Montgomery Balfour and a general committee of such well known men as L. J. Barrett, J. C. Fowler, F. F. Grant, W. H. Demarest, Montgomery Balfour and F. H. Turner should ensure the success of any undertaking. But the ladies have two more drawing cards in no less well known men than Senator William Ramsay, of Perth Amboy, and John G. Walker. Dr. Ramsay is to be the speaker of the evening and Mr. Walker, being a really, truly "hoot mon," should be able to move more than interest his audience with Scottish readings. The thistle and bag pipe will be in evidence everywhere. The dancing will open with the Virginia reel and there will be a Scottish reel and Highland fling with Scottish music throughout the evening.

Summer Schools Big Success.

The four summer schools maintained in New Jersey this summer for public school teachers, have been unqualified successes, according to statements made Tuesday by Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, state commissioner of education. Dr. Kendall visited each of the schools, and is enthusiastic over the work accomplished. The schools were at Cape May City, Rutgers College, New Brunswick; Phillipsburg, Warren county, and Collingswood, Camden county. The Cape May school closed last Saturday, the Rutgers College school will close this Friday, while the other two will continue until August 15. There were nearly 900 teachers enrolled in the four schools. The purpose was to give training to teachers and to those who intend to become teachers, and, in addition at Cape May and Rutgers training has been offered in school supervision and school principalship. Every county in the State is represented in these schools, and besides many teachers in the populous sections of the State near New York are attending the summer schools in New York. Others in the southern part of the State are attending the summer school at the University of Pennsylvania. "About one teacher in ten in the State is attending a summer school somewhere this summer," said Dr. Kendall Tuesday. "This is an excellent showing for the teachers of the State. Every one of these teachers will take up her work next fall not only with increased scholarship, but with new inspiration and ambition. It is probably not too much to say that the school work of 50,000 children in the State will be made better by the work of these schools."

Fish Unhurt by Frost.

During several months of each year some of the great rivers of Siberia are frozen solid to the bottom, but the fishes imprisoned in the ice maintain their vitality and resume their active life when the ice melts in the spring.

Fielder's Memorable Work in vitalizing the Geran Election Law

The Bill Was Very Bad as to Form and Literary Effect When It Arrived In the Senate; Was Unwieldy and Lacked the Power of Its Intended Purpose—Fielder, Then a Senator, Devoted a Greater Part of an Entire Session to Making It Workable and Purposeful.

ONE of Governor Fielder's most valuable pieces of legislative work was in connection with the Geran election law, which was written upon the statute books during Woodrow Wilson's first year as governor. Governor Fielder was then in the senate, and he was one of the senate committee to which the bill was referred.

When the bill arrived in the senate after passage in the house of assembly it was, as afterward generally admitted, very bad as to form and literary effect, though all right in the main as to purpose.

SENATOR FIELDER REFUSED TO ACCEPT THE DOCUMENT IN ITS UNWIELDY AND OBJECTIONABLE FORM, AND THE PART THAT HE TOOK IN REVISING IT AND MOLDING IT INTO A LAW THAT WOULD VITALIZE ELECTIONS WITHOUT DEMORALIZING THEM IS A MOST ILLUSTRIOUS PART OF HIS LEGISLATIVE CAREER.

For weeks during that session, the session of 1910-11, he gave practically all of his time and study to that one piece of legislation—in fact, he gave so much time to it that he freely admits that he had to take the corrupt practices act "on faith," not wholly, but to a great extent. The corrupt practices act was in better shape than the Geran law, and he was able, by less study, to accept the work of others in casting his vote for it.

TIMELINESS IN THE THEATRE.

(By Arthur Hopkins.)

The character of the entertainment afforded by the theatres of the country is shaped by the demand of the theatre goers of the country. If that demand remained stable, changeless from season to season, supplying it would be an easy matter. But it is never the same two seasons in succession. The producer, of course, finds this fact discovered to him immediately. The play that he selected at the height of last season, when he was influenced and gulled in his selection by the prevailing display of popular taste, is a failure this season. Sometimes he wonders why; generally he knows. He misjudged the future.

He is often in error, and his errors are costly; but, proportions considered, he is not so often in error as the playwright. Now and then, to be sure, we see a playwright who is writing ahead of his time. As a rule though, the playwright is not looking ahead at all. And in this matter of writing plays or of producing them both playwright and producer must be fairly sure that their product is neither behind the times nor ahead of the times. One is as bad as the other. Both mean failure.

No sooner is a successful play produced than managerial offices are crowded with play scripts which reflect the general character of the successful production. For example, "The Poor Little Rich Girl" was no sooner generally acclaimed a success than my office was flooded with plays which, while not specifically the same, were, in a general sense, almost identical in theme and in treatment with "The Poor Little Rich Girl." Naturally these scripts did not interest me. They did not interest any producer. But I encountered difficulty on every hand when I tried to explain to their authors why they did not interest me. "You produced 'The Poor Little Rich Girl,'" said they. "Why not this?"

In other words, they believed that if one play of the kind would achieve success all plays of the same sort would do the same thing. It is obvious, of course, that this does not follow, but about a thousand ambitious young authors seemed to think that it did. If all the energy and enterprise, to say nothing of the ability, that went into these works had been devoted to an effort to probe the public mind, to find out what the public is interested in, what it is thinking and what it is feeling, there would have been, no doubt, some half dozen unusually successful plays for the new season.

In other words, the successful playwright must have his ear to the ground. The foundation of his success rests on the fact that he is able to interpret the public demand, to anticipate it a few months and not a few years, to crystallize today what will be tomorrow's emotions, interests, thoughts, hopes and ambitions. That is his problem, and from its consideration he should not be deterred by either the spirit or the substance of the success of the present.

Time in Teheran.

"Time is a difficult problem in Teheran," says the Baroness d'Hermalle in "Peeps Into Persia." "At approximately midday a cannon is fired on the Cosack parade ground, but the approximation depends entirely on the soldier who fires it. We all think he fires it when he feels hungry, as it is very erratic. Anyhow, when invited out to dinner we always inquire of our host whether he keeps legation or gun time. Sometimes there is half an hour's difference. Neither of these times is ordinarily correct. Correct time, not a commodity in request in Teheran, is kept by the Indo-European telegraphs, for whom it is telegraphed from London every morning at day-break, when the line is clear, so that connection is practically instantaneous."

"Shouting" in Australia.

"Treating" is a form of hospitality that is perhaps more common in Australia than anywhere else. There it is known as "shouting." It is a legacy from the "flush times" of the gold-fields—the "roaring times"—when to refuse to drink with a lucky digger meant running a risk of being shot on the spot. A writer says: "To shout means to insist on everybody present, friends and strangers alike, drinking at the shouter's expense, and as no one will allow himself to be outdone in this reckless sort of hospitality each one shouts in succession with too frequently deplorable consequences."

Evidently Had Marrying Mania.

Probably the world's marrying record for men was created by George Witzoff, the notorious bigamist, whose marriages have variously been estimated at from 50 to 500. It has been said, however, that 100 is nearer the real mark. This man caused a great stir a few years ago, and it was reported that in the space of a single week he went through marriage ceremonies with seven different women.

LOVEMAKING IN SPAIN.

It is Done Right Out in the Open, and No One Seems to Mind It.

The best of the Alcazar is the Alcazar gardens. But I would not ignore the homelike charm of the vast court by which you enter from the street outside to the palace beyond. It is planted casually about with rather shabby orange trees that children were playing under and was decorated with the week's wash of the low, simple dwellings which may be hired at a rental moderate even for Seville, where a handsome and commodious house in a good quarter rents for $60 a year.

One of those two story cottages, as we should call them, in the antecourt of the Alcazar had for the student of Spanish life the special advantage of a lover close to a ground floor window dropping tender nothings down through the slats of the shutter to some maiden lurking within.

The nothings were so tender that you could not hear them drop, and, besides, they were Spanish nothings, and it would not have served any purpose for the stranger to listen for them. Once afterward we saw the national courtship going on at another casement, but that was at night, and here the precious first sight of it was offered at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Nobody seemed to mind the lover stationed outside the shutter with which the iron bars forbade him the closest contact, and it is only fair to say that he minded nobody. He was there when we went in and there when we came out, and it appears that when it is a question of lovmaking time is no more an object in Spain than in the United States. The scene would have been better by moonlight, but you cannot always have it moonlight, and the sun did very well; at least the lover did not seem to miss the moon.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine.

CURIOUS FISHING.

Gathering in Eels With Brushes and Shrimping on Horseback.

In the Hawaiian Islands some of the native fishermen literally go into the water and chase the fish into their nets.

The sea round the shores of the islands is studded with coral reefs, in which are numerous holes and tiny caves in which the fish hide. The natives row out over these reefs, taking with them a brush about three feet in length, with very long bristles, and shallow nets, somewhat resembling a paper bag, as they are closed at one end.

As they row over the surface, seeking a likely spot, they chew a very oily fruit known as the candle nut. When they consider they have reached a good fishing ground they spit out this nut, which forms a thin film on the top of the water, over which the wind passes without leaving a ripple. This enables them to see right down into the clear sea, and if they are satisfied with the outlook they prepare to fish.

Taking the brush in one hand and the net, the mouth of which is propped open by means of a twig or two in the other, they dive noiselessly and quietly overboard. Having arrived at the face of the coral reef, they literally brush the frightened fish out of their dens, endeavoring to catch them in the net as they dart away.

There is one place at least on the coast of Belgium where they go shrimping on horseback. The trawling nets are attached to the sides of saddles carried by horses or big donkeys, and on their back men, and women, too, for that matter, ride into the sea until the animals are almost under water, when they drag the trawls behind them, walking parallel to the shore.—Stray Stories.

The right hand doubtless owes something of its prominence to the Bible. The Hebrews singled it out for special honor, and the Scriptures contain quite a hundred references in which "the right hand" is made the type and symbol of everything noble, praiseworthy and desirable. It is worth noting, however, that the tribe of Benjamin once boasted 700 left handed slingers who "could sling stones to a hair's breadth and not miss" and that among the "mighty men and helpers" of King David were many who "could use both the right hand and the left in hurling stones and shooting arrows with the bow."—London Standard.

Plain and Painful Talk.

During a senatorial investigation one time Senator Clapp experienced great difficulty in getting some information from a nervous witness.

"Now," said the senator somewhat sharply, "out with it, my man; out with it!"

"If the committee will excuse me," said the lawyer representing the witness, "I do not like the term 'out with it.' This is not the office of a dentist."—Popular Magazine.

Merely a Matter of Spelling.

"Yes," said the very severe maiden lady, "the word 'mule' is only 'mule' spelled wrongly."

"I suppose so," responded the crusty bachelor, "but according to the Latin dictionary a woman is 'muller.'"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Human Incredulity.

Tell a man that there are 270,100,025,481 stars and he will believe you. But if a sign says "fresh paint" he will have to make a personal investigation.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Modest.

"So you want to become my son-in-law, eh?"
"Y-yes, sir—that is, if you can afford it."—Boston Transcript.

NOVELTY IN BELTS.

A Military Suggestion Has This Nifty Frock.

BECOMING MODEL FOR GIRLISH FIGURE.

Decidedly new is this belt arrangement, which should be particularly becoming to a slender, girlish figure. Alternate straps on skirt and bodice button upward and downward over a wash of bright colored furthest silk, the gown being of neutral colored material.

A Clover Party.

The hostess who has a clover dotted lawn should not let the opportunity slip by to entertain with a "clover party." The invitation should be done in water color, or real pressed leaves may be pasted on. The hostess may receive her guests on the veranda, which has been prettily decorated with large wicker jardinières filled with quantities of the long stemmed clover blossoms. Over the main porch entrance suspend a large horseshoe made of the pink and white clovers.

Partners for the clover hunt may be found by matching numbers on little brown twig baskets. On the lawn or in the adjoining orchard, wherever the clover patch happens to be, swing seats and cushions should be in evidence. At a given signal from an old time dinner horn the hunt for four leaf clovers should start. Naturally the little baskets are for holding the finds.

During the counting of the good luck emblems lemonade may be served. At 6 o'clock a supper served at small tables on the veranda or under the trees could carry out the clover idea. On each table have quaintly shaped white wicker or pink baskets filled with the long stemmed clovers, and plenty of the foliage around them. The supper might consist of cold meats prettily garnished with the clovers, and the salad could be molded to represent a large four leaf clover. The sandwiches could be cut clover shape, and also the little cakes, while the ice cream might be the individual pink blossoms or the green leaves. The prizes given for the lucky clover hunter might be a silver picture frame, with the clover design engraving. The couples with the empty baskets might be rewarded with a corsage bouquet and boutonniere of clovers.

Activities of Women.

New York now has a women's walking club.

France has over 4,150,000 women workers.

Baltimore is the latest city to provide for women police.

New York actresses are going to have a club with a billiard room and a bar.

Despite the vote of the women, Phoenix, Ariz., will continue to be "wet."

Schoolteachers in Cincinnati will soon receive an increase of 10 per cent in their salaries.

Miss Hazel Schmitt has been appointed assistant instructor of biology at Vassar college.

It is estimated that over 200,000 women voted at the recent election for mayor in Los Angeles.

A $100,000 contract has been let for the first buildings of the new Allentown (Pa.) College for Women.

Woman Champions Man.

Miss Beulah Kennard, a member of the board of education of Pittsburgh, proved that women will not always vote for one another when suffrage is granted them by her speech for the superintendent of schools. Women teachers had borne testimony before the board against the superintendent, implying that he had flirted with them. Miss Kennard bravely faced the accusers and declared the whole thing a political plot.

Fielder Did His Own Thinking.

Even When Wilson Was Governor of New Jersey—Believed In Wilson Policies Because He Himself Had Fought For Many of Them Before Wilson Entered Public Life—Works For the Public With All Men, BUT IS DOMINATED BY NO

WHILE President Wilson's voucher for Governor Fielder's character and for his valuable services to the state in the legislature will no doubt play a rather important part in the gubernatorial campaign because of President Wilson's strength in his home state, the service itself is the factor of factors, for it would be an insult to Fielder's record to forget the eight years' relentless service for progressive measures for the glory to be derived from words of praise from even so great a man as the president of these United States.

WHILE OTHERS WERE DOMINATED BY THE MASTER MIND OF WOODROW WILSON AS GOVERNOR, AND WHILE FIELDER AS SENATOR WAS A STaunch SUPPORTER OF THE WILSON POLICIES, EVEN THE WILSON POLICIES HAD TO MEASURE UP TO SENATOR FIELDER'S PERSONAL CONCEPTION OF RIGHT BEFORE HE WOULD ASSENT TO THEM.

It is a well known fact that many legislators bowed to the will of Governor Wilson without going so far as to know their own minds, but it is equally well known of Senator Fielder that he did his own thinking all the time and that his sound mental equipment brought Governor Wilson to Fielder's way of thinking on numerous occasions.

Governor Fielder was in active politics six years before Governor Wilson got started. In fact it was from the work of such men as Fielder and Silzer and Tumulty and Sullivan that Wilson got his inspiration to do the great things that made for his own national career.

It's Wrong to Wear a Misfit

Perhaps if Royal Tailoring cost more than ready-made clothes, you could excuse yourself for not securing Royal garments on the plea of economy.

But when you consider that you can order a real Royal-Tailored-to-Measure, fit guaranteed, All Wool Suit—and tailored into your selection of 500 exclusive fabrics at a price no higher than the slipped-from-the-shelf-kind—WHAT excuse can you possibly make?

Suits $16.00 to $38.00.

Our Footwear for Men, Women and Children is the best that you can get anywhere at the prices we ask. We aim at all times to give you full value for your money—value in Comfort, Fit and Goodwear. If you are not yet acquainted with our Shoes we would like an opportunity to "make good."

Discipline.

The rigor of discipline seems undesirable to many in the present generation. They are unaware that obedience is strengthening and peace giving. A military regime, with its iron-clad discipline, does not break spirit. It makes men ready for forced marches and to meet death. If discipline hurt the human spirit, then soldiers would never win battles. Battles would be won by mobs. Discipline does not diminish life. It enhances life, and so confers a sense of peace.—Collier's Weekly.

Wrote His "Leaders" at Home. Alfred Austin, while British poet laureate, was lucky in his work as a journalist. For many years he did his daily task at home with the assistance of a telegraph wire run into his study sixty miles from the London Standard office. His instructions came over the wire and his editorial article went to town by train. Sometimes he would telegraph the whole article.

Got No Sympathy from Him. Fort Scott has a citizen who is a dyspeptic and therefore has a grievance against anybody that has an appetite. Recently a hobo met him on the street. "Mister," said the hobo. "I haven't had anything to eat but a sack of peanuts in four days." "That's all you need, you glutton," exclaimed the Fort Scott man.—Kansas City Star.

ODDS AND ENDS

Items of Interest Presented in Short Paragraphs for Busy Readers.

Preparations are being made for the further dredging of Cheesequake creek.

Joe A. Sexton motored to Union Valley Thursday night where he attended the Harvest Home.

The work at the Woodbridge Creek Bridge has been completed, much to the satisfaction of the traveling public.

R. P. Mason, of First street, will occupy the pulpit of the First M. E. Church of John street, Sunday morning and evening.

Street Commissioner Connors has had Church street brushed up this week, and its improved appearance is very noticeable.

John Salmon, of Mechanicsville, has accepted a position as clerk with Samuel Medinets in the latter's hardware store on Broadway.

Clarence H. Edwards, carpenter and builder, has moved to No. 36 John street, where his residence and shop will be for the future.

The Jersey Central Traction Company has placed Belgian block between their rails at the junction of Main street and Broadway. A much needed improvement.

Before Justice Mason on Friday on complaint of Game Warden Steuervald William Bucklew was fined $20.00 for gunning without a license. The fine was paid.

The old benches in the local New York and Long Branch railroad station have been taken out and wall seats, stained a stone color, substituted in their stead.

A house service water pipe has broken at First street, near Broadway, and as the water oozes through the ground it presents the appearance of a bubbling spring.

The piece of road from Stevens to Pine avenues on Borden town avenue is certainly in wretched condition due principally to the Public Service Street Railway Co. not keeping the roadbed of their tracks filled in.

The young lads in the vicinity of Stevens avenue and Henry street had a masquerade parade all of their own Thursday night, and attracted considerable attention by their tooting of horns and comical costumes. They paraded to drum up patronage from the younger set to a show they proposed giving in a tent in one of the yards.

About 10.30 p. m. Friday of last week a large Knox touring car was completely destroyed by fire on the Keyport road near Seidler's. It was occupied by four people. The car was valued at $4,500 and was insured in the Williamsburg Fire Insurance Co. On orders from the company, the car was taken to Littell's garage, where it now is.

The crowd of curious sensation seekers at the Nolan trial in the City Hall Monday evening was probably the largest that ever attended a similar case. The boisterous interruptions were so frequent and prolonged that the court was eventually forced to detail an officer to maintain order. The case furnished a lot of amusement at least, regardless of the satisfaction obtained by the contesting parties.

TWO METHODIST CLERGYMEN BEQUEATHED $500 EACH. Rev. J. Morgan Read, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Church, New Brunswick, and Rev. Dr. H. J. Zellely have been made beneficiaries under the will of Mrs. Chester, late of Camden. Each of the clergymen was bequeathed $500.

Mrs. Chester was one of Rev. Dr. Read's parishioners when he was stationed at the Union M. E. Church at Camden in 1897. Dr. Zellely was also at one time pastor of the Camden Church.

MISS SARAH IBBS. Miss Sarah Ibbes suddenly departed this life on Wednesday morning, at the home of her niece, Anna Ibbes, on Augusta street, at the age of 64 years. The funeral took place from her late home at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon, the Rev. W. E. Grimshaw conducting the service. Interment was made in Christ Church cemetery, Stillwell & Mason being funeral directors.

DEMOCRATIC OUTING TO COLLEGE POINT

The mid-summer outing of the Democracy of Middlesex County promises to be a big affair, and the demand for tickets has been so great, that the committee has chartered a larger boat, than the one at first selected.

The outing will be held at Donnelly's Grove, College Point, Long Island, on Tuesday next. The steamer Point Comfort, running between Keansburg and New York, with a capacity of 1,400 will convey the party to College Point.

The boat will leave New Brunswick at 8.30 a. m. and stop at Sayreville at 9; South Amboy at 9.30; Perth Amboy at 9.45 and Roosevelt at 10. It will reach Donnelly's Grove at 1 and leave at 5 and under the charter must dock at New Brunswick not later than 9.30 p. m.

United States Senators Hughes and Martine and Congressman Scully have accepted invitations to the clambake.

The following will be the menu for the Rhode Island clambake:

Bisque of Clam Hard and Soft Clams
Fish
Sheepshead and White Potatoes
Honey Comb Tripe and Sweet Potatoes Lobsters Hard Crabs
Spring Chicken and Corn
Water Melon
Ice Cream
Boston Brown Bread
Celery
Olives

Mrs. George Voorhees.

Isabella W. Voorhees, wife of Geo. Voorhees, passed away at her home on Main street on Thursday morning, at the age of 68 years and three months. She had been ill since May last.

Mrs. Voorhees was the daughter of the late Peter Journee, who for many years ran the flour mill at what is now known as Runyon, the Perth Amboy water works plant being situated on the property. She had resided in this city over forty-five years, and had a large circle of friends, who now mourn her death. Besides a husband, she is survived by two sons, Frank, of Newark, and Carleton, of this city; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Brown, of Spotswood, and Mrs. Elizabeth Butler, of this city; and one brother, Albert Journee, of Union Hill.

The funeral will be held from her late residence at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon next, to which relatives and friends are invited. Rev. W. E. Grimshaw will conduct the service. Stillwell & Mason have charge of the funeral arrangements.

THIRTY DAYS TO SOBER UP.

A man who gave his name as Edward Doyle, and his home as the wide, wide world, but lately hailed from Keyport, was apprehended by Officer Gleason Monday evening and taken to the City Hall.

When given a hearing before Judge Birmingham on Monday evening, the man said that he had been drunk and that was his reason for lying around sleeping in the streets and becoming abusive and disorderly when requested to move on by the officer. The man said that he had bought and paid for a suit of clothes in Keyport, and that he had only been on this debauch one day. He stated that he had never been arrested before and that he was sorry he had torn the officer's coat. The man was rather delapidated looking, and said he had no money, having spent all of his pay which he had received for working for Doctor Robinson, of Morgan Heights.

The Judge gave him thirty days in the county jail expressing the hope that he would get sobered up before the expiration of his term and would take a fresh hold upon himself and endeavor to straighten up and do better.

MADE COUNTER CHARGES.

Judge Birmingham released Charles Kane and Richard Sullivan under $100 bond to await the action of the grand jury Wednesday night when these two men waived a hearing on charges of assault and battery. The charges were preferred by William Ryan, of Henry street, who had been held for the action of the grand jury on similar charges preferred by Kane the night before. No counsel appeared for either party and the proceedings were extremely short. John Cosgrove of John street, signed the bonds for both Sullivan and Kane. The charges themselves were simply counter charges to those preferred by Kane because of the alleged assault against him by Ryan last Saturday night.

He is a rich man who can buy wearing apparel for seven grown daughters without missing the money.

Lock-Jaw Set In.

John Parker an iron worker, who was so seriously burned by electricity at Morgan last week while trying to rescue the late William Webber, is now in a very serious condition, lockjaw having set in. On advice of his physician, Dr. Hardman, of Keyport, Mr. Parker was taken to the Monmouth Memorial Hospital at Long Branch on Thursday morning. His recovery is doubtful.

Spend Your Money Where You Make It

By HOLLAND.

MONEY that is kept in the community helps every one in that community. It is a part of the common fund on which any one with anything to sell—merchandise, labor, farm products—can draw. Money that is sent away from home is withdrawn from this common fund. It helps to impoverish the entire community. Send all the money away and all the people in the community would be "broke."

The dollar that you spend with the local merchant will continue to circulate in the neighborhood, paying lawyer, doctor, blacksmith, carpenter, teacher. Ultimately it may return to you to be again started on its journey of purchase and payment. The dollar sent to the mail order house goes to swell the bank account of a concern in Chicago or New York. It is lost to your community forever. Your neighbor can't get it, and you will never see it again.

Can't you see that self interest tells you to do your buying at home? Can't you see that it is the part of wisdom to spend your dollar where you are likely to get it again?

The advertisements in this paper will aid you in deciding where to make your purchases. Only the more reliable merchants can afford to advertise continuously, and only the better grade of goods can stand such publicity.

Bit of Scientific Information.

If the earth were to revolve seventeen times faster than it does bodies at the equator would lose their weight and remain stationary in the air without support.

Charity.

"Do you think $20 will be enough to give the minister?" inquired the prospective bridegroom. "You'd better make it $25," replied the best man. "He is going to be married himself next week."

Often a man has a lot of good traits that you would never suspect if he didn't tell you about them.

Ideal Working Clothes

A man spends more time in his working suit than he does in any other sort of clothes. What does a man most require in overalls?

First of all he wants comfort; that means full cut, roomy garments. Next he wants lots of pockets, and they should be big enough, too, and conveniently arranged. He wants his overalls to be double sewed with the strongest sort of strong thread, so they will never rip, no matter how great the strain. And of course he wants the buttons on so that they never will come off.

All of these good points, and more too, he finds in SWEET-ORR union made overalls, famous all over the world as the best working clothes for every trade. That's why we sell them. You'll find your size at our store waiting for you. Come in today and see.

Sam Jinks

He Was Everybody's Fool

By F. A. MITCHEL

Sam Jinks was an abnormal individual. It was uncertain whether he was man or boy. He was undersized; he had only a few stray hairs on his face, but there were as many gray ones in his head. He spoke when he did speak, which was seldom—with a squawky, high pitched voice.

Sam lived by doing odd jobs in the settlement. How he came to be there or who he was no one knew. The settlers usually gave him the jobs out of charity. They gave him, too, their castoff clothes, which were not only threadbare, but altogether too big for him. He went about everything he did with great solemnity, and it was tempt and could scarcely refrain from kicking him.

"Sam," he said, "you're too stupid to live. You should have run up the road to Martin's and told him."

"Now, why didn't I think o' that?" said Sam reflectively.

"Because you were born a fool and will never be anything else than a fool. You have missed the opportunity of your life. If you had given the alarm and saved my goods I would have looked out for you for the rest of your life."

The two proceeded on their way for some distance silent and with mournful countenances. Bunkers' indicating that the hopes he had cherished were blighted, Sam's indicating that he was ruining having missed the opportunity of his life. Presently the former asked:

"Did you get a sufficient sight of the robbers to see what kind o' lookin' persons they were?"

"Not last night when they come, but I seen 'em this mornin'."

"This mornin'?"

"Yes, they was there this mornin'."

Bunkers groaned. What a trial to have to deal with such a numskull!

"You don't mean they didn't have time to get away with all the stock in the night?"

"I dunno; they was there at sunup this mornin'."

"Had they gone when you came away?"

"Reckon."

"Do you mean that they were permitted to do as they liked with my store from 10 o'clock at night till sunrise this mornin'?"

"Reckon."

"And not a neighbor interfered with them?"

"The neighbors didn't know they was there."

"After you saw them break in what did you do?"

"I listened for awhile to find out what they was about."

"What did you hear?"

"Nothin'."

"Did they have a light?"

"First off, but they put it out."

"What did you do next? You didn't stay there all night, did you?"

"I went home (I think) I'd come here in the mornin' and break the news to you."

Bunkers, not being able to make head or tail of this incoherent statement, concluded to hurry on and find out for himself what had really happened—whether any of his stock had been left and why his neighbors had not taken any action in the matter. He had shut up his store, since he had no one to take his place while he was gone. Now he regretted taking such a chance. Martin was his nearest neighbor, about an eighth of a mile distant. The next, Saunders, lived on the other side of a hill. It was very easy for robbers to pry up a window, go into his store and appropriate what they liked. On second thought he was not so much surprised that they should take their time about it.

The wayfarers plodded on in silence till they came to a rise in the ground whence they could see Bunkers' store. Smoke curled from the chimney. The owner stood looking at it in astonishment.

"It can't be," he said, "that the rascals are strong enough to defy the whole settlement."

"There was five of 'em," suggested Sam.

"Five desperate men, well armed, might be too formidable to warrant an attack—that is, by any force that could be collected within a few miles. Maybe they're waitin' to git in more men from a distance."

"Like enough," Sam put in.

"Shut up," growled Bunkers, irritated that Sam, too stupid to give an alarm when he saw a store broken into, should offer an opinion.

There was another silence while the two descended the declivity. Presently Sam said:

"Air you goin' to tackle 'em all alone by yourself?"

Bunkers made no reply to this. He was trying to think what it all meant, what to do. The truth is, he was badly rattled. He walked on in silence.

"How would it do," asked Sam, "for me to go ahead, see what they're doin' and come back to tell you? They wouldn't do nothin' to a measly chap like me."

Bunkers uttered an exclamation of contempt. He was not the man to put a fool into danger he would not encounter himself.

As they drew nearer a girl about fifteen years old came out of the house and stood looking up the road.

Bunkers stopped stock still.

"By jings!" he exclaimed; then added, "If that don't look just like my Emeline!"

From this time he forgot all about Sam, who dropped behind and disappeared. As Bunkers drew near the store he hastened his steps, for he saw his daughter, and before he reached her his wife came out, holding his boy, Jim, by the hand. They saw him and flew to meet him.

Mrs. Bunkers had got a legacy and used it to surprise her husband by taking herself and children to John. She had arrived in the night and had been obliged to break into the house for shelter. There was a happy reunion.

But where was Sam?

Bunkers found him and said to him: "Sam, anybody who calls you a fool again I'm goin' to lick him. You got it on to me splendid. I said if you had given the alarm I'd 'a' taken care o' you for the rest of your life. You come into my store and I'll give you a salary. If you're smart enough to fool me you can make somethin' of yourself. Anyway, you'd better try."

Sam tried and succeeded far beyond his employer's expectations.

HEDGED ABOUT BY DIGNITY.

Trials and Tribulations That Beset a New Ambassador—Ceremonies in Which He Must Participate and For Which He Must Give Lavish Tips.

An unofficial American can live more economically abroad than at home—that is a fact. Food is cheaper. Servants work for less money. This being so, why is it not possible for an unpretentious Yankee diplomat to live in Europe for the same money as in America? I put the question to a former ambassador who has lived in London, Paris and Rome.

"They tell me one can go to the market and buy a part of a chicken—a wing or a drumstick. Think of it! Food must be cheap there."

"But the ambassador cannot sally forth with a market basket on his arm," said the retired diplomat.

"That sums up the difficulty. An ambassador cannot do anything for himself. So he is a shining mark for everybody. There is nobody so helpless in America, except the poor taxpayer. Let us look into it."

International law, which is as full of the spun distinctions as common law or domestic law, regards an ambassador as the direct personal representative of the ruler of his country and ordains that he be treated in a manner befitting such a very important person. This accounts for the ceremony attending the ambassador's presentation of the president's letter of credence to the sovereign. In detail the function varies in different countries, but the continental custom is in general as follows:

At the day and hour fixed by the king, emperor or president a court functionary of high degree in gorgeous uniform appears at the abode of the new American ambassador. He is accompanied by numerous other personages, somewhat lower in rank, but uniformed in equally bright colors. He is provided with three court carriages, together with attendants and outriders. He is in command of a mounted escort and, last, but not least, of a white plumed band, accoutered with instruments of glittering brass.

The American ambassador, probably flustered by the ceremony, is conducted to the first of the carriages, which is drawn by eight horses. He is politely waved to the back seat, while his personal escort, instead of sitting by his side, takes the seat facing him. The Yankee diplomat wears a frock coat—Prince Albert, he calls it—and a silk hat, and his gloves, dictated by his wife, are of gray suede.

Across from him sits the chief functionary, attired with a brilliance seldom seen outside of comic opera.

In solemn stately procession the carriages and outriders, preceded by the mounted troop, with the resonant band in the van, take up the march to the palace. On both sides of the thoroughfare is a curious, gaping crowd. At that the many corps de garde soldiers come out and present arms, and when the American ambassador, a plain man, perhaps, arrives at the palace there is an elaborate presentation of arms and a beating of drums that completely take the gimp out of him.

Unexpectedly simple is the sovereign's reception of the new diplomat, but after it is over the American must again endure the ceremonious processional back to his domicile. Then comes the shock.

The first secretary explains that the sun must not set before the portbore is distributed. This, the ambassador learns, is French for tip. He also learns that the transportation to and from the palace has a purse string to it. The keeper of the royal stables must be tipped.

"It is an inviolable custom," insists the first secretary.

"How much?" asks the fledgling diplomat.

"For an ambassador," says the first secretary, "the rule is $200."

There is probably an explosion, but in the end the ambassador pays.

A London editor, who was born in America and received his newspaper training on this side of the water, once said:

"You can safely give a present, if not a gratuity, to any official below the sovereign on the continent."

"How about England?" I asked.

"The present should be more expensive, the gratuity larger."—Henry Beach Needham in Saturday Evening Post.

Paint Saves Money.

Why not use a little paint occasionally? It prolongs the life of the buildings, adds value to the price of the farm and helps to make a "home beautiful." Buildings last 25 to 50 per cent longer if painted. That means that a building which would last fifty to seventy-five years unpainted would last 75 to 125 years if painted. It is the same with fences and farm implements. It is easy to see that paint saves money.—Kansas Farmer.

TRYING OUT THE RECALL.

The first recall election in New Jersey is to be held at Atlantic City, and the second will quickly follow at Long Branch. The necessary petitions under the provision of the commission government act have been filed. The Atlantic City one is directed against Mayor William Riddle and Directors William H. Bartlett and Albert Beyer. Other petitions are in course of preparation, and it is likely that when the recall election is held the voters of Atlantic City will have the opportunity of saying at the polls whether they want to oust or retain five members of the commission, for the second group of petitioners are opposed to Directors Harry Bacharach and J. B.
Thompson. In fact, the recall petitioning in this instance is a game of politics. The commission is split, three to two, and the enemies of "the big three" have practically been notified by the opponents of "the little two" that the recall of one faction will mean the recall of both.

So the result of the coming elections, unless they should be held up by legal technicalities, will give the people the opportunity of saying on which side of the contention the majority stands.

Whatever the outcome, it will not mean that these resorts have tired of commission government. The change in the form of municipal rule has brought about many changes for the better. This is admitted in Atlantic City by the most bitter of the opponents of the two groups in the commission. Those who think mistakes have been made place the blame on the instruments chosen rather than on the scheme of government. The "recallers" have been able to find out definitely the individuals responsible for weak spots in the administration. The Mayor and the directors have been unable, had they so desired, to shift the burden of responsibility for specific acts that have been objectionable to many of their constituents. They have been forced to act in the open, and now their acts are to be passed upon by the men who elected them a year ago.

When the election is held, therefore, the good and the bad acts of the individual commissioners will be considered by the voters. Each will stand on his own merits, not judged by any one particular act, but by his course in the conduct of the department under his charge. The issue on each individual will be plain.
The question will be as to whether he has averaged up to the job as a representative of the public interests. If he hasn't and a better equipped candidate is nominated against him, then the commissioner will be recalled. In other words, he will have been prevented from serving unfaithfully for three years because his unfaithfulness or inability has been discovered at the end of one year. Furthermore, the counting of the votes will demonstrate just how much stock is taken by the people in the attacks being made on the commissioners.

Commission rule is democratic.
New Jersey is testing out the law very thoroughly. The recall will give another demonstration of the working of the act that will be watched with interest and with interest.—Newark News.

T. J. SCULLY MAY BE
STATE COMMITTEEMAN

The Newark Evening News says Representative Thomas J. Scully has his eye on membership in the State Democratic committee. Mr. Scully would be willing to serve as the representative of Middlesex county, where there will shortly be a vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of "Ollie" Kelly, of Metuchen, if his constituents demand it.

Mr. Kelly was appointed to the State Board of Health by President Wilson, then serving as Governor.
He has announced that he will not run again, and so far as Mr. Scully has heard there is but one other possible candidate for the office, George A. Viehmann, of New Brunswick. Mr.
Viehmann, who is managing the finances of the Fielder campaign, has been quoted as disclaiming any wish to serve on the State committee.
He is said to be in favor of Mr.
Scully taking the place.

"I have no desire to go on the State committee," said Mr. Scully Tuesday, "but if my constituents feel that I can be of service to them there I will give my time to the work. The framing of a State platform is the principal duty of the State committee now, as I understand it. I shall certainly, whether on or off the committee, fight to have the Democratic State platform thoroughly progressive, worthy of the party and deserving of the support of the people. Greater executive and legislative efficiency are needed, and we

CANAL ACROSS NEW JERSEY IS URGED AT ONCE

From the engineer's office of the War Department the House of Representatives on Wednesday received estimates for the construction of an inter-coastal waterway from New York Bay to Delaware Bay. This is part of the long proposed scheme of inland waterways to extend from Boston to Beaufort, N. C.

The report recommends that the federal government begin at once to construct a twelve foot lock canal across New Jersey to cost $20,000,000, for which an appropriation of $100,000 should be made immediately available.
Brigadier General William H. Bixby in making the report, urged federal purchase of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, between Chesapeake and Delaware bays, at a cost not exceeding $2,514,290, and its enlargement to a sea level canal of twelve feet depth and ninety feet bottom width. In this enlargement, he said, there would be followed the methods indicated by a special engineering board at a cost which, including the first year's maintenance, would amount roundly to $8,000,000, of which $3,000,000 should be made first available, with subsequent appropriations of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a year.

General Bixby, reviewing the $2-000,000 project for a waterway from the Delaware River across New Jersey to New York Bay, for which he proposed that New Jersey and Pennsylvania contribute $3,000,000 and $7-000,000, respectively, advocated early construction of a lock canal with twelve feet depth and ninety feet bottom width in earth sections and about fifty-six feet width in locks from the Delaware to New York Bay. This would be along lines indicated by the special engineering board, but modified when necessary so as to provide for future enlargement of the canal to twenty-five feet depth and 125 feet bottom width and for future reduction to sea level at the $20,000,000 total cost.

The War Department in a previous partial report on this inland waterway scheme recommended an immediate improvement between Beaufort and Norfolk, immediate purchase of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal and its early enlargement, and advised against federal construction of any inland route between New York Bay and Fishers Island.

Cadet Life at West Point.

Briefly, at 3:45 p. m. the academic work is over for the day and drills for all classes occupy the hour from 4 to 5.
Followed by a dress parade at 5:25, excepting Wednesdays and Saturdays.
This is the schedule from Sept. 1 to Nov. 1 and from March 15 to June.
On Saturdays academic work ends at 12:30, and with the exception of inspection at 1:50, the afternoon of the cadet is free until 6:25 supper call. His amusements are much like those of college students generally. Football is perhaps the most popular organized sport. Games are played on the West Point grounds with teams from many colleges, and the season closes with the annual army-navy game, when the West Pointers meet the midshipmen from Annapolis on Franklin field, Philadelphia. Basket ball follows during the winter months, many contests with teams from other schools occurring during the season, and then in the spring comes baseball of course.—Popu-

ANNUAL CONVENTION
FORESTERS OF AMERICA

The Foresters of America are planning to have upwards of 25,000 members in attendance at the biennial convention of the Supreme Court of the order, which is to be held at Atlantic City August 26, 27 and 28.
The first day, Tuesday, will see the opening of the proceedings in the Music Hall on the Steel Pier. The Mayor of Atlantic City will preside and at 2 p. m. Governor Fielder is to make a half-hour-long address.
Thursday, closing day, will be the day of big events. There will be an exhibition drill for prizes at 9
a. m. in the Music Hall. That afternoon an elaborate street parade in which it is said 20,000 members in full uniform will take part, will be the feature.

Two of the order's past supreme chief rangers are residents of this state. They are John F. Kelly, of Jersey City, and William A. Kitts, of Maywood, Bergen County.

At the coming convention some important changes in the legislation affecting the order will be brought about. The death benefit may be raised from $100 to $200 and the sick benefits from $6 to $8 a week.
The constitution will be so amended that none but citizens of the United States will be eligible for membership. It is also proposed to amend the constitution so that in the future only one court of the order will be allotted to each town or city.
This will bring about amalgamation of all the courts existing in each community into one large body.

SENATOR PIERCE ON TAX REFORM

Candidate For Governor Discusses Platform Plank.—Would Have Burden of Taxation Fall Equally.

Cranford, August 15.—Pursuant to his promise to discuss the five planks of his gubernatorial platform, Senator Pierce issued a statement to-day explaining his second plank. The statement follows in full:

To Equalize Tax Assessments.
"It is a first principle in taxation, that the burden shall fall equally. It does not fall equally at the present time in New Jersey.

"To illustrate, from cases presented to the recent Tax Commission: In Camden county, a highway separates taxing districts assessed at different ratios; the lower assessed side has been built up and developed, while the land across the road remained unimproved.

"In Elizabeth, the main street is the boundary line between districts.
The commission was informed the less valuable side of the street is assessed higher than the more valuable side.

"In a rural community, two assessors assessed the same parcel, each supposing it to be in his district.
One returned it at $350 and the other at $1,050.

"In Asbury Park, according to an estimate given by the Mayor intended as conservative, small properties and cottages are assessed at seventy per cent. of value, business and hotel properties at from thirty to fifty per cent.

"The above cases are types of conditions existing generally through the State. The Tax Commission, after visiting every county, made this Statewide finding:

"The ratio of assessment to value varies in different districts, and frequently between taxpayers in the same district, the variance ranging from thirty per cent. of value to full value and above.

The Cause.
"The fundamental trouble is the fact that the present system of assessment in New Jersey is less a system than an aggregation of detached units. The units (taxing districts) are working largely independently, with imperfect control by the county boards, and less by the State Board of Equalization. There is no proper continuity of authority from top to bottom. The result is lack of equalization.

The Remedy.
"In applying a remedy, the tax commission adopted the principle that the work of assessment should be put upon a business basis, and conducted efficiently as a private business is conducted; a central authority at the top subject to change of administration, but the routine work to be kept in the hands of a permanent body of trained employees, secure in their position and free from political or other influence.

"Like a private business, the authority at the top to issue uniform rules, and instructions, with power to enforce them; books and papers to be standardized; a State Supervisor to be responsible for general efficiency and for equalization between counties;
a county assessor to be appointed instead of elected, to have a district sufficiently large to require his full time, to give his full time, to be properly paid, and to be removable only for cause.

Bills Offered.

"The bills offered by the tax commission represent the combined study of experts, local officials and men of practical experience within the State.
I am advised by A. C. Playdell, secretary of the New York Tax Reform familiar with methods in other States —that the proposed legislation, if adopted, would give New Jersey the best system of assessment in force in any State in the Union.

"I am proposing, whether I win or lose the gubernatorial race, to use all honorable effort to place the substance of the legislation upon the statute books."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

The Old Painter.

An anecdote which Charles Francis Adams told years ago to the young Henry Cabot Lodge was retold by him in Scribner's. It was one of Gilbert Stuart and of Mr. Adams' grandfather. Stuart painted a portrait of John Adams in extreme old age, when he was nearing his ninetieth year. It is a very fine portrait of the old man leaning on his cane. Charles Francis Adams, a boy of eighteen, used to keep his grandfather company during the sittings and watch the painter at work. He said that Stuart, who was old, too, and near the end of his career, was physically feeble. Both his hands shook violently. From a quivering palette he would take his color, and with his brush shaking and trembling he would touch the picture. Mr. Adams said it looked as if he might dash the paint on anywhere, but the brush always touched the portrait, extraordinary as it seemed, in exactly the right spot and in the right way. Despite his shaking hands and trembling fingers the old artist never made a mistake.

Bear Hunting in India.

Among the sports of India is the capturing of bears, and to this end curious means are sometimes devised. For example, four or five sturdy men are armed, two with long spears cross barred on the handles close to the sharp two edged blade, and two or three with ten foot bamboos, of which the ends are smeared with bird lime. These hunters sally forth with dogs before dawn. They pass along the base of the hills with the fresh morning wind blowing up the plains below. Should the hunters be lucky it is not long before the dogs find the bear. The dogs are slipped and disappear in the semidarkness. Soon their roaring and growling indicate that they have found the game. The hunters run up to the spot where the bear is fighting with the dogs. The men with the lined poles poke the bear in the ribs and adroitly twist the ends in its long hair, thus holding it fast on each flank. The spearmen complete the operation by repeated spear thrusts.

Modern Witches.

Centuries have passed since "witches" were executed in England, but in very recent times they have suffered physical harm. Dr. Jessopp knew a Norfolk man who died in 1883, and in the sixties had joined with his two brothers in a night expedition to the house of an old woman. They took her out of bed, and in the presence of a dozen other people threw her into a pond, "where she would infallibly have been drowned, but that some who were not so mad as the rest cried out that she was sinking to the bottom and must be saved." The conclusive evidence against her was that she kept a black cat and wore a black silk dress on Sundays. In 1882 there was still alive, and master in an elementary school, one who, as a young man, had scratched a "witch's" arms till the blood poured down, because she had "overlooked" him, and only so could his health be restored.—London Chronicle.

Compulsory Illuminations.

The west end of London is always ablaze with lights on the evening of the king's birthday, but no living Londoner can claim to have seen a general illumination of the metropolis. In his "Recollection and Reflection" J. R. Planche writes: "The last general illumination of London was that celebrating the battle of Waterloo. Now there are more beautiful displays, but this one was really general. Not a window in the smallest court but had its candle stuck in a lump of clay, while in houses of more pretension one blazed in every pane. Mobs paraded the metropolis from Hyde park corner to White Chapel with cries of 'Light up!' and every window that did not swiftly display a dip in answer to the summons."

Charm of the Nutmeg Tree.

The nutmeg tree has all seasons for its own. Every day in the year it shows buds, blossoms and fruit in every stage of maturing. The shell of the nutmeg is like a bit of polished ebony, and the mace it exposes when it bursts is of a bright scarlet. With all these varied features upon it at the same time, the nutmeg tree is one of the most beautiful exhibitors of the odd and beautiful in vegetation that the world possesses.—Brown's Magazine.

No Fancy Shaves For Him.

The weather was warm, and Pat decided to shave on the back porch. Mrs. Casey, across the way, observed this. "Pat," she called, "shave an' Ol see ye air shavin' outside." "Begorra," he responded, "and did ye think Ol was fur lined?"—Judge.

Going the Limit.

Jones—If Mr. Oldboy makes any such assertion I will denounce him as a liar. President—Mr. Jones, I will call you to order. Our bylaws do not allow you to go that far. Jones—Then I call Mr. Oldboy a liar as far as it is permitted by the bylaws of this association.—London Telegraph.

Minister Praises This Laxative.

Rev. H. Stubenvoll, of Allison, Ia., in praising Dr. King's New Life Pills for constipation, writes:—"Dr. King's no home should be without them." New Life Pills are such perfect pills. No better regulator for the liver and bowels. Every pill guaranteed. Price 25c, at all druggists.

SNARES IN ENGLISH.

Puzzles For Foreigners Who Are Learning the Language.

It is hard for the person to whom English is his native tongue to realize what a struggle the foreigner has to understand some of the peculiarities of our spelling and pronunciation. One foreigner gives the following description of his first lesson in an English class.

We have been given a book to learn the letters. I arrive at the class, having learned them perfectly.

Soon, in the course of the lesson, we have the word lo-w. "Love," I pronounce it, thinking the w has the sound of v.

"No; it is pronounced 'lo,'" says the teacher.

"Then why is the w there?" I inquire, mystified.

"It is there because that is the way the word is spelled," responds the teacher, "but it is silent. Never mind why; it is sufficient to know that it is there."

Before long we come to n-o-w.

"Pronounce it," says the teacher.

"No," I reply.

"Why will you not?" she asks me.

It is some time before she understands that I am trying to pronounce the word when I say "No." Then she declares that, although lo-w is lo, n-o-w is now.

"If you want to make it no," she explains kindly, "you put k before it."

You may believe I am bewildered.

However, I memorize that n-o-w is now. The next word is s-n-o-w. I pronounce it like now with an s before it. The teacher laughs. The w is again become silent, apparently for no reason, and the word is called sno.

But that is not all. Later I find that if you drop the n from snow you can pronounce it whichever way you like.—Youth's Companion.

LONDON'S QUEER MARKET.

All Its Wares Are Strawn Upon the Cobbled Pavements.

There are many queer markets scattered over the face of the globe, but London, among its many other unique features, is the proud possessor of what is perhaps the strangest and most extraordinary of them all.

At the Caledonia market, Islington, whence the great metropolis draws a large proportion of its meat supply, the cobbled pavements, with their countless rows of white fenced pens, are usually given up to the display of fat stock, but Fridays "a change comes over the spirit of the dream." The cobbled pavements are there, the white pens still break up the wide expanse, but no cattle or sheep are to be seen.

On that day the great market is given over to a throng of miscellaneous traders, whose wares provide the most amazing contrasts imaginable. There is nothing in the whole gamut of human devices and needs which one may not come across displayed in some odd collection set forth on the cobbles. The traders use few counters or stalls. Each of them, whether he has a stock worth three or four hundred pounds or a few rusty old bolts and spindles which one might reasonably expect to purchase for a shilling or two, dumps his wares on the pavement of the market. Moreover, at this remarkable place there are markets within markets, each taking its regular turn and place during the day and then packing up and vanishing. The market was opened by Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, about sixty years ago.—Wide World Magazine.

Wager of Battle.

In 1817 one Richard Thornton, called to the bar of the king's bench charged with the murder of Mary Askeford, in open court threw down his glove and defied his accuser, whereupon there was a pretty do. Wager of battle. It was supposed, had died a natural death in the dark ages, but Lord Ellenborough after much consultation of precedent held that it was still the law of England and ordered a field to be prepared. Thornton's accuser thereupon declining combat, the prisoner was discharged. Next year parliament passed an act abolishing this privilege of appeal to the strong right arm.

Conceited.

"So you broke your engagement with him."

"Yes."

"What for?"

"He's a conceited thing. I simply couldn't stand him."

"I never heard him brag. What makes you think him conceited?"

"All the time we were engaged he never once told me that he was unworthy of my love."—Detroit Free Press.

Provisional Government.

"Father," said the small boy, "what is a provisional government?"

"Well, my son, my impression in a general way is that a provisional government is one that has to keep hustling from day to day for provisions."—Washington Star.

The Best of Friends.

"Are you good friends of the Browns?"

"I should think so. We're taking care of their canary, bulldog and goldfish while they're abroad."—Detroit Free Press.

Difficult Feat.

There are a lot of difficult feats, but probably the most difficult of all is that of remembering the name of the man to whom you have just been introduced.—Philadelphia Ledger.

ever hold on life with both hands, hold that mayest solve it. It is resting.—Goethe.

For the Children

Dog Knows His Master's Favorite Music.

MASTER TOMMY WITH HIS PET COLLIE.

Most of you children have seen the advertisement of a certain talking machine which shows a clever little fox terrier dog listening to his master's voice as it comes through the transmitting horn.

Well, here's a splendid, fine collie puppy who not only recognizes his young owner's voice, but is perfectly familiar with the music played on the piano by his talented master.

There is a spirited march that makes the dog come from under the piano and walk about the room to the stirring strains, sidestepping and prancing about in wonderful dog fashion.

He never whines and yelps as so many of his kind do at the sound of music, but seems to appreciate it in a remarkably intelligent manner.

Master Tommy is something of an all round sport, and he and the dog have many an exciting wrestling match in which it is hard to find out which is the winner.

Consequences.

One of the most popular games at a party is consequences. It is an old favorite, but has lost none of its charms with age. The players sit in a circle.

Each person is provided with a half sheet of note paper and a pencil and is asked to write on the top (1) one or more adjectives, then to fold the paper over so that what has been written cannot be seen. Every player has to pass his or her paper on to the right hand neighbor, and all have then to write on the top of the paper that has been passed by the left hand neighbor (2) "the name of the gentleman."

After this the paper must again be folded and passed as before; this time must be written (3) one or more adjectives; then (4) a lady's name; next (5) where they met; next (6) what he gave her; next (7) what he said to her; next (8) what she said to him; next (9) the consequence and lastly (10) what the world said about it.

Be careful that every time anything has been written the paper is folded down and passed on to the player on your right.

When every one has written what the world says the papers are collected and one of the company proceeds to read out the various papers, and the result may be something like this:

(1) The horrifying and delightful (2) Mr. Brown (3) met the charming (4) Miss Phillips (5) in Westchester park; (6) he gave her a flower (7) and said to her, "How's your mother?" (8) She said to him, "Not for Joseph." (9) The consequence was they danced the hornpipe and the world said, (10) "Just what we expected."

A Little Bird Told Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Robin have just returned from their annual trip to Florida.

The newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Thrush, have been looking for furnished apartments in the Grove. It is to be hoped that they will soon be settled and give us all a "house warming" party.

Our friend Mr. Blue Jay has laid in a lot of horsehair and straw for building purposes. He will sell them to the highest bidder. Come early and avoid the rush.

Friends of the Wrens will find them at home hereafter in their new quarters at the junction of Old Fence and the Stone Wall.

Mr. Robin is organizing a police force to drive out the unruly sparrows who have taken up their summer abode in the Park Trees. Good for Mr. Robin!

The Kind Word.

Some of the older boys and girls doubtless studied cancellation in school last winter. But there is another kind of cancellation that can be used by boys and girls of all ages, says Apples of Gold. For example, two boys were speaking of another boy. "He is slow in games," said one.

"Yes," replied the other, "but he always plays fair."

"He is so stupid in school," said the first boy.

"But he always studies hard," answered the second.

Thus, you see, every unkind word spoken by the first boy was canceled by a kind word from the second.

Fielder for Governor

Union County Man Indorses Acting Governor

"BECAUSE HE HAS MADE GOOD"

GENERAL D. F. COLLINS of Elizabeth, Democratic state committeeman from Union county, is one of the most ardent supporters of Governor Fielder in the state. General Collins was originally a Wittmann man, but that was before Fielder became a candidate. His decision to support Fielder was not a political "flip" in any sense of the word, but was rather a recognition of the present acting governor's superior training and mental equipment for the office. In the words of General Collins:

"Fielder's advent into the race effected a complete change in the situation, and I was immediately impressed with his availability and splendid equipment for the position.

"His service of eight years in the legislature—two years in the lower house and six years in the senate—has naturally put him in close touch with the great questions at issue in our state and in the solution of which the public is so vitally interested.

"DURING THIS LONG SERVICE HE HAS LOYALLY STOOD WITH THE PARTY AND WAS, IN FACT, THE LEADER IN THE LEGISLATIVE CONTESTS FOR THE ENACTMENT OF THOSE PROGRESSIVE LAWS WHICH, UNDER THE MASTERFUL HAND OF WILSON, HAVE BEEN WRITTEN INTO STATUTE.

"Upon the election of Governor Wilson to the presidency Mr. Fielder succeeded him in the gubernatorial chair by reason of his position as president of the senate.

"Every fair minded person must admit that he assumed this great responsibility under most trying conditions and surrounded by many difficulties and pitfalls. Yet, to his credit, be it said, he has measured up to the situation splendidly and discharged the duties of the position in a manner creditable alike to himself and his party and justified the splendid indorsement given to him by President Wilson when he turned over to Fielder the governorship.

"I am heartily in favor of the nomination of James F. Fielder for governor because he has made good. His experience and training particularly qualify him for the position at this time.

"TO MY MIND HE IS THE LOGICAL CANDIDATE TO NOMINATE. TO DO OTHERWISE WOULD BE A SERIOUS MISTAKE. HIS PRIVATE AS WELL AS HIS PUBLIC CAREER IS WITHOUT A BLEMISH.

"Honest, unassuming and easy to approach, he is favored with a natural dignity and reserve which go to make an attractive personality. His candidacy is growing in public favor. Union county will give him a decisive majority at the primary in September, and I predict his nomination and election as the next governor of New Jersey."

On motion of Mr. Slover, the council will meet Friday night with finance committee to prepare budget.

On motion of Mr. Manhattan, the clerk was instructed to notify the water superintendent and street commissioner to present full report of employees recently injured while in the employ of their departments.

On motion of Mr. Slover, the council will meet Friday evening to meet Vice-President Brown, of the Jersey Central Traction Company, and clerk requested to notify him of the same.

REV. GEORGE KANE RECEIVES A CALL

Information has reached us that the Rev. George Kane, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of this city, has received a call to take up the work in another field. We understand that this is the third opportunity that has come to Rev. Kane since January of this year to take up the work in other fields, but owing to the extensive repairs which had been undertaken by the members of the Presbyterian Church here, he has not felt free to consider the offers. Rev. Kane is seriously considering this last call.

Steamer Collins Gets Stays Caught in Bridge

The freight and passenger steamer John B. Collins is having its troubles at the new, county draw bridge at Morgan station. On Sunday, when coming down the creek the stays of the masthead were caught in the draw and considerable damage was done. On the following night the tug "Marion" left a scow filled with ballast near the bridge in a manner to interfere with the "Collins" again and a similar accident occurred.

Captain Collins claims that the bridge is not properly built in regard to the raising of the draw, and has reported the matter to the War Department.

FREEHOLDERS VISIT STATE ROAD COMMISSIONER

The Board of Freeholders of Middlesex County went to Trenton on Tuesday afternoon to confer with State Road Commissioner Stevens relative to some roads in this county which are to be repaired.

The board held a joint meeting with the Somerset county board for the purpose of taking over the Franklin Park Kingston road. The road commissioner refused to accept the road so the two counties did the same thing. An effort will be made to get the engineer, contractor and Col. Stevens to meet together and straighten out the matter. W. H. Ely was given a contract to lay a platform on one of the bridges between the two counties.

The New York Telephone company was given permission by the board Monday to open Rahway avenue road so that they could lay conduits to protect their wires underground.

WILL REFUND MONEY TO THOSE HOLDING RAIN CHECKS

Al. Waters, recently manager of the Athletics wishes to announce that he has a small balance on hand from tickets sold for last Saturday's game. Those holding rain checks may redeem them by presenting them at John Sullivan's confectionary store on Broadway. Mr. Waters also wishes to thank the local fans for the way they turned out on Saturday, and regrets very much the failure of the Newark Colored Giants to show up.

Further he wishes to announce that he will refund such money as he has collected from local merchants as contributions toward a score card which he had intended to get out, and extends to them his hearty thanks for their support and interest.

STEPPED ON A LIVE WIRE

Coming into contact with a stay wire charged with 6,000 volts of electricity, William Webber was instantly killed at Morgan on Wednesday, while John Weber and John Parker, who went to his assistance, met with severe injuries. Only for the very strong condition of John Weber's heart, his injuries would have proved fatal.

The accident occurred about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. William Webber, who was employed as a teamster by Michael Welsh, was hurrying toward the temporary county drawbridge, which had caught fire. He stepped on a support wire which had been accidentally charged with electricity, and with a loud outcry he was seen rolling over the embankment of sand which had recently been placed there to fill in the approach to the new bridge. In falling he grabbed the wire with his hands. Not thinking of any danger, and supposing that William Webber, had injured himself in falling, John Weber, who was working a scoop at the scene of the accident, ran to his assistance and grabbing William by the wrists, his body also became a conductor for the electricity and he fell unconscious. John Parker, an iron worker for the Owego Bridge Company, who was working on the new county bridge, received several very bad burns about the arms and wrists when endeavoring to rescue the men, and get the deadly wire out of contact with them.

Hundreds rushed to the scene, among them Drs. E. Eulner and E. A. Meacham. No hopes were given for William Webber's recovery, but by energetically working with John Weber, he regained consciousness and was taken to his home on Augusta street, in this city, later in the afternoon. He is still suffering greatly from the shock and is under the attendance of Dr. Eulner who says that but for his strong physical condition, recovery would be impossible.

The body of John Webber was brought to this city in the automobile of J. J. Scully and after the arrival of Coroner Morgan, was removed to Stillwell & Mason's morgue. On Thursday Undertaker Arrowsmith of Matawan took the body to the home of Webber's brother at that place.

John Parker, the iron worker who was injured, received medical attendance at his boarding place at Morgan, and from latest reports is getting along nicely.

The deadly wire proved to be a loose support wire which, coming into contact with the main feed wire of the Middlesex & Monmouth E. L. H. & P. Co., rubbed off the insulation and became charged with 6,000 volts of electricity.

The victim of the unfortunate accident was no relation to John Webber, who was so seriously injured in going to his assistance.

Mr. Webber was employed as a driver by Michael Welsh and has two brothers and two sisters who reside at Matawan. The funeral took place at Matawan Friday afternoon.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

On Saturday evening Constable Roberts arrested Adam Sadowski and Paul Sadowski for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They were taken to the City Hall and in the morning were given a hearing before Police Justice Birmingham. The men stated that they hailed from Sayreville.

Sadowski was fined $5, while Sadowski was let off with a $3 fine.

Sadowski was more severely dealt with on account of disorderly conduct during his night's lodging at the City Hall. He wrought his vengeance on the city by smashing up the cell furniture during his brief stay.

Justice Birmingham warned the men that they would be more severely dealt with for their next offense in this city.

CARNIVAL AND WATER SPORTS

Committee Making Arrangements For Big Day at Morgan Beach—Canoe, Swimming and Running Races—Comical Dress Parade at Night.

The campers at Morgan Beach have arranged for a big day on Sunday next, weather permitting. All the visitors at the beach are taking a great interest in the event, and have contributed liberally toward the expense of successfully carrying out the program.

There will be a carnival and water and land sports under the management of the campers. Music will be furnished by the Tall Cedars Band, of New Brunswick.

The water sports will consist of single canoe race, double canoe race, tilting canoe race, in and out canoe race, Salome race, ladies' and men's swimming long and short distance. The land sports will be broad jumping, last race, Salome race, 100-yard race, club relay race and a three-legged race.

In the evening there will be a carnival dress parade, and the camps will be decorated with Japanese lanterns and bunting.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of contests. Any person wishing to enter any of the sports can do so by sending their names to Morgan Lamberton, chairman of sport committee, 123 Broadway, this city; Edward Wheeler, chairman, of New Brunswick; or Henry J. Klein, secretary, Perth Amboy.

The full program issued by the committee is as follows:

Afternoon Program.
Four canoe events, Salome race, tub race, swimming race for men, 100 and 440 yards; swimming race for ladies, 50 yards. Events to start at high water, 1.30 p. m. Beach events to consist of jumping, 3-legged race, Salome race, relay race for clubs (4-men teams), fat man's race, etc. Suitable prizes will be given in various events.

Evening Program.
Grand grotesque costume parade, prizes for best lady's and gentleman's costume, also prize for best costumed club. Grand display of fireworks. Every camp is requested to decorate their tent or bungalow, as a handsome pennant, suitably inscribed, will be awarded to the best decorated camp. Clubs and individuals are requested to enter in advance in the various events and to assist the various committees to make the carnival a huge success. For any further information apply to Mr. Wheeler, chairman, of Mr. Kline, secretary.

DELIGHTFUL LAWN PARTY.

A delightful lawn party was given by Miss Vera French on Saturday evening in honor of her cousins, the Misses Helen and Adeline Voorhees, of Philadelphia. The party was held on the lawn adjoining Miss French's home on Bordentown avenue. Japanese lanterns were arranged in a tasteful manner to form the decorations. Refreshments were served and all present had a delightful time. Among those present were: Misses Adeline and Helen Voorhees, of Philadelphia; Marion Thom, Ruth Newton, Vera French, John Shaw, Russell Hardy, Frank Grace, Alexander Parlsen, John Thorpe, Arthur Ingraham, William Disbrow, Charles Straub, Willis Slover, Elsie Applegate, and Evelyn Cassidy.

Alonzo L. Grace Atrociously Assaulted

Early Monday morning, Alonzo Grace of this city, general superintendent at E. Furman's brickyard, was atrociously assaulted by Alex. Sowatski an employe in the yard.

Grace was making his way about the yard when Sowatski stealthily crept up behind him, and struck him a blow with a cordwood stick and when Mr. Grace turned around to defend himself he was struck again on the arm, causing a bad fracture. It is said the assault was unprovoked.

Chief of Police Boyle, of Sayreville, arrested Sowatski shortly after the assault, and took him to the county jail, on commitment of Justice Esser on charge of atrocious assault and battery.

Mr. Grace is able to be about, and is attending to his duties at the yard, although handicapped by his injuries.

Chicken Coop Fire Calls Out Firemen

About 4 o'clock last Saturday morning the fire department was called out to extinguish a blaze in the chicken coop of Luther Tice on Second street. While a small building, it made some blaze, and its reflection could be seen from all parts of the city. Hundreds of people arose earlier than usual and went to the scene. The coop was totally destroyed, and after the fire it was found that eight chickens were missing, probably roasted to death. How the fire started is a mystery, but it is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

CAPT. HECKMAN HAS OPEN AIR MEETING

Captain Eli Heckman and his band of Salvation Army Workers from Perth Amboy were in this city on Tuesday evening and held an open air meeting at the corner of David street and Broadway. A large crowd soon gathered about, and it is said that the collection received was a substantial one.

CAUGHT A MANTOSH SHRIMP.

Charles Liming, of Newark, who is an enthusiastic fisherman, made a catch on Sunday that he is very proud of. The fish was a peculiar looking object, with fins which extended out from its body like wings. Lee Clark, the Morgan taxidermist, said that Liming's catch was a Mantosh shrimp. Its captor will preserve it as an oddity and will have the undisputable proof for a good fish story.

FUNERAL OF CAPT. JOHN TICE.

The funeral of Captain John Tice took place at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Cheesapeake, last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was well attended. The service was conducted by Rev. Rowland Hill, the pastor, who delivered an impressive sermon, taking his text from I. Peter 1st chapter, 3-4: "Our Lord Jesus Christ which according to His abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you." Three hymns were sung by the Cliffwood Church choir. Interment was made in the graveyard adjoining the church.

Capt. Tice had been a great sufferer for three months at the home of his son, where his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorcas Ann Tice, with the assistance of two nurses and his son, Ervin, administered to his needs.

Capt. John Tice was born in St. Louis, Mo. His mother died when he was eighteen months old. His father then came East and made his home in New Jersey. At the age of twelve years, Captain John took up sea-faring work, which he followed until a few years ago, after which he made his home with his son.

SHOPPING FOR A FARM.

The New York Daily announced that Governor Sulzer and his wife were going to take a day off to go shopping for a farm. If anybody reads this notice and desires to make a tour of that kind, by calling or sending a request to The Citizen office they will be informed where a nice farm of about 35 acres can be purchased right in this vicinity.

The young man who is looking for promotion should consult a promoter.

TROLLEY CAR JUMPS TRACK

Runs Into Building of H. Wolff & Co.—Mrs. Smith, of New Brunswick, on Way to Navesink, Badly Injured—Other Passengers Escape With But Slight Injuries.

Last Saturday afternoon a trolley car of the Public Service Street Railway Company jumped the track at Washington avenue and Felts street, and did not stop until it ran into H. Wolff Co.'s store building.

The few occupants of the car were badly shaken up, but Mrs. Herbert Smith, of New Brunswick, was seriously injured. She was thrown from her seat, and on the rebound when the car struck the building, her back was thrown into contact with an iron portion of the seat, causing injury to her spinal column. She was rendered unconscious, and taken to the home of Frederick Pety, on Main street. Dr. Meacham was summoned, and finding the extent of her injuries, ordered her removed to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hampton, at Jamesburg, where she was taken on the evening train.

Mr. Smith also suffered numerous bruises about the body and head.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were on their way to visit relatives at Navesink at the time of the accident.

Congressman Scully on Governor Fielder

Congressman Scully has come out strongly for Acting Governor Fielder as the nominee on the Democratic ticket this fall. He thinks Fielder will have a walk-over both at the primaries and at the general election in November. In speaking of Gov. Fielder, Mr. Scully said:

"Governor Fielder is a man well fitted by experience, education and temperament for the high position which he now holds, and to which he will soon be elected by the largest majority ever given a candidate for Governor in the history of New Jersey.

"In offices of public trust, which Mr. Fielder has filled, he has shown himself a capable servant of the people, intent only upon public good. He will not be a candidate for any office that he has not the ability to fill. He possesses in a marked degree the qualities of independence of judgment, personal initiative, common sense and fidelity to the interest of the people. We need such men in the public service of the State, and it is, therefore, the general hope of our citizens that the claim of Mr. Fielder will be duly recognized.

"He never occupied a position of trust in his life that he did not fill to the full satisfaction of his constituency. The cause of the common people has always been his cause, and men and women of our great State believe in him and rely on him, because they know he is right. Mr. Fielder is universally esteemed for his high character, his integrity, his public spirit, his interest in all that makes for good government and the betterment of society. He is progressive, earnest and tireless in promoting all forms of civic righteousness. He is justly credited with intellectual ability, broadness and clearness of vision, gentlemanly instincts, loyalty to conviction, large sympathies and incorruptible manhood.

"He has represented his county in the Legislature with unusual dignity and influence. He has always been an earnest, loyal Democrat, and it would be a source of profound gratification to a multitude of good Democrats to hear of his having received almost a unanimous vote of our party at the primaries, and back of whom will be found solid Democracy on November 4th.

"Everything that is being done and said by the Democrats of the State and nation is surrounded by an atmosphere of personal responsibility to the party, which certainly bespeaks the high hope for a splendid victory."

If a young man tells a girl she's all the world to him, she thinks he is justified in trying to get the earth.

PRESBYTERIAN ITEMS.

On August 1st, the pastor will leave for his vacation. The preaching service will be omitted during the month. However, all the other services will be continued as formerly.

Don't forget we are making preparations on a large scale for our Harvest Home on August 27th, the first one of its kind to be held in this city. There will be a band engaged to give us some stirring music; also chicken supper, ice cream in abundance and all other things which go to make up a successful Harvest Home. The weather permitting everything will be served under large tents on the lawn. The date is August 27th.

ELECTION LAW DATA ISSUED.

The annual compilation of the election law with the instructions to election officers and a chronological index of duties relating to the primary and general election was issued Wednesday by Secretary of State David S. Crater. The publication also contains the constitutional provision concerning the rights of suffrage and other data relative to elections.

Instead of being published in two separate documents as heretofore the entire work has been combined into one volume of 342 pages. This will be sent out to all election officers and municipal clerks throughout the State.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE received by the Board of Chosen Freeholders at their room in the County Record Building at New Brunswick, N. J., on Monday, August 11, 1913, at 2.30 o'clock, P. M., for building a concrete and steel culvert on Hanson Avenue, in the city of Perth Amboy, according to plans and specifications on file at the office of Alvin B. Fox, Perth Amboy, N. J., and at the office of Thomas H. Hagerty, New Brunswick, N. J.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check in the amount of $200 payable to the order of Thomas H. Hagerty, without any conditional endorsements, which check shall be forfeited if the successful bidder fails to enter into contract and bond within ten days from the award of the contract.

A deposit of Five ($5.00) Dollars will be required for copies of specifications which will be refunded upon the return of same in good condition to either of the above offices.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids if in their opinion it is to the best interest of the County so to do.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Thomas A. Wise and the company who will appear in "The Silver Wedding" at the Longacre Theatre are rehearsing under the direction of Edward Locke, the author of this original comedy.

Preliminary performances will be played in Asbury Park August 4 and in Long Branch, August 5 and 6. In the cast are Alice Gale, Frank McCormack, Mary Mallon, Guinio Soela, Edna Temple, Calvin Thomas, Violet Moore, Carl Hemmann, Lillian Ross, Harry McAniff and others.

More than 300 members of the Rand School of Social Science have arranged to attend the New York premiere on Monday evening, August 11.

H. H. Frazee has engaged Lydia Dickson to succeed Amelia Sumers as the maid in the all star cast of "Fine Feathers" when that play opens the new Cohan & Harris Bronx Opera House Saturday night, August 30. This is the only change in the original cast, which, with Robert Edeson, Wilton Lackaye, Rose Coghlan, Max Pigman and Lolita Robertson, will terminate its first season (fifty-two weeks) in Long Branch on Saturday night, August 9.

Active operations are in progress for the production of the new Victor Herbert operetta, in which Anne Swinburne will be featured under H. H. Frazee's management next season. A cast of unusually capable and well known principles is being engaged, together with a chorus of smart looking young women. Miss Swinburne, who has been abroad since she closed her engagement as prima donna of "The Count of Luxembourg," will return to New York shortly to begin rehearsals, which will be conducted by Fred G. Latham. Max Hirschfeld has been engaged as musical director.

Following the presentation of the new Victor Herbert operetta Mr. Frazee will immediately begin preparations for the production of "Iole," the libretto of which has been made by Robert W. Chambers from his novel of the same name. Frank Lalor of "Pink Lady" fame is to have the principal comedy role, and the music is now being written by William Frederick Peters, composer of "The Purple Road" score.

AUTHOR PLEADS FOR THE FARM

Eleanor Gates, author of "The Poor Little Rich Girl," and of a new play which will be seen early in the season under the direction of Arthur Hopkins, holds forth a brief for country life for children. "Children," she insists, "ought to know something of the country. A child's education is hardly complete without some experience of life on a farm—a real farm, not some rich man's plaything. And I believe that instinctively every child cries for the open. I know a little boy who can ride out every day in the biggest and newest automobiles that money can buy. But I know he'd willingly forego that pleasure for a year if he could drive a team of horses hitched to a farmer's wagon for a week. The desire is healthy, normal, and parents would do well to give it consideration."

The Use of English.

Of the 80,000 English words available for conversation purposes only 400 are said to be in common use. If these were carefully selected there would be little cause for complaint, since the combinations they make possible should provide innumerable shades of variation. Careful word selection is something that should be encouraged in and out of the schools.—Christian Science Monitor.

Strict Economy.

"Nothing is lost here but the squeal," declared the pork packer. "Are you as economical in conducting your business?"

"More so," answered the visitor, "I'm in the lumber business. We don't waste even the bark."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not Like Real Life.

"I like novels."

"Why?"

"Although the plot may thicken, the heroine always remains beautifully thin."—Washington Herald.

Revolutionary.

"Miss De Bunk insists that she is a daughter of the revolution."

"Why so?"

"Her dad is a grindstone maker."—Indianapolis Star.

MOTHER-OF-PEARL.

Diffraction Grating Causes Its Beautiful Iridescence.

The apparent color of mother-of-pearl was for a long time somewhat of a puzzle to scientists. Later it was found that the surface of mother-of-pearl consisted of fine striations or ridges, with, of course, little hollows between. This explained everything, for it was then to the scientists nothing more or less than an ordinary diffraction grating. To prove it still further an impression of the surface was taken in black wax, and the wax itself exhibited the beautiful display of color shown in the original mother-of-pearl surface. The color is not due to pigment, but to the cancellation in part of the light falling on the surface.

To understand this better it will be well to explain a diffraction grating. It consists of a piece of plate glass upon which are engraved many parallel lines. Rowland has been able to scratch lines on a glass so that there are 20,000 to the inch and the distances from one to the other do not vary by one-millionth of that distance in the 20,000.

As white light, or sunlight, consists of every color known and as light travels in waves, at certain places if light is coming from several different directions very close to one another some of these waves will meet in what are known as opposite phases and will blot one another out, and the only remaining color will be the white.

It can be easily seen what is meant by opposing phases from a consideration of waves on the seashore. If the top of a big wave meets a trough of another they cancel, and no wave at all is the result. The same takes place in light phenomena. Light consists of an ether wave, similar to wireless waves, only much shorter, and if its wave is destroyed none of that light can be seen by the eye.

Colors of silk are due in the main to the same thing as mother-of-pearl, especially shot silk. It, as with the pearl, can be perfectly reproduced.—New York Tribune.

EGGS FRIED ON ICE.

By the Use of a Peculiar but Simple Principle of Electricity.

Frying eggs on ice is entirely feasible, as was demonstrated at a recent electrical exhibition given by the University of Illinois. The eggs were placed in an ordinary frying pan, and the frying pan was placed on a pile of cracked ice on a kitchen table. Eggs were fried nicely, though it took longer than when a stove is used. No wires were in sight. The frying pan had no electrical connections and could be taken up and replaced at will.

Under the table was the secret, an electromagnet. Even with the secret divulged, the trick was wonderful enough, for between the frying pan and the magnet was a pile of ice and the board table top, neither of which was affected excepting by the heat sent down from the frying pan.

A peculiar but simple principle of electricity was used. An electromagnet, as is generally known, is a horseshoe shaped bar of iron, with coils of wire wound round each arm of the horseshoe.

When a current of electricity is sent through the coils of wire the horseshoe becomes a magnet and will attract and firmly grip any bit of iron placed near the ends of the arms or poles. This applies to a direct current of electricity. If, however, an alternating current of electricity is sent through the coils any iron near the magnet poles is heated by what are called "eddy currents."

In the egg frying trick the magnet was placed under the table, and an alternating current was sent through the coils.—Saturday Evening Post.

Advice to a Husband.

Don't kick because you have to button your wife's waist. Be glad your wife has a waist and doubly glad you have a wife to button a waist for. Some men's wives have no waists to button. Some men's wives' waists have no buttons on to button. Some men's wives' waists which have buttons on to button don't care a button whether they are buttoned or not. Some men don't have any wives with buttons on to button.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Caustic John Bright.

Many stories were told about John Bright's caustic repartees in private life. This story, says the British Weekly, is true:

"I should like to come back to this world in fifty years to see what changes have happened in England," said a gentleman to Mr. Bright.

"My good sir," replied Mr. Bright, "if you don't mind your ways you may be glad of any excuse to come back."

Quite Soothing.

"I suppose, young man, that you realize the cost of supporting two persons?" asked the stern father.

"I am sure that you will find that my income is quite sufficient for my own needs. You will not have an extra burden if I marry your daughter."—Buffalo Express.

Lacerated Feelings.

"Doesn't it humiliate you to have to go through life this way?" asked the sympathetic woman as she purchased a photograph.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the bearded lady. "If it wasn't for the wife and kids I'd throw up the job today."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

What's What in Bathing Suits.

Never has the Anglo-Saxon eye gazed upon such startling bathing costumes and accessories as those designed for this season's wear. Emerald green taffetas, scarlet satin with Scotch plaid trimmings, bishop's purple satin, black taffetas with adornments of cubist designs were some of the color schemes seen recently at a fashionable seaside resort.

For head coverings there were quaint bonnets, caps and hoods of rubberized silk or satin in the gayest of tints. Stockings of dazzling green, purple, red and blue were displayed with silk and satin bathing shoes laced with satin ribbon in the prevailing cothurn fashion, halfway to the knees.

Under these suits were worn bloomers to match, finished below the knee with a ruffle of the same or with a contrasting frill. A purple satin suit had frills of white linen printed with Joney flowers, and the unmistakable resemblance drew from scores of women the exclamation, "Pantalets!" Among the accessories pictured must be noted the corsage bouquet of rubber roses.

President Woodrow Wilson's Double-Barreled Endorsement of Governor James F. Fielder

THERE are those who have questioned the political propriety of President Wilson taking an active part in the New Jersey gubernatorial campaign prior to the primaries, and, while it is pretty well understood that efforts have been made to induce the president to come out with some kind of an endorsement for Wittpenn, it is almost as well known that the Fielder managers have made no effort to obtain any further endorsement from the White House than those already given before Woodrow Wilson went to Washington.

THE FIELDER CAMPAIGN MANAGERS POINT WITH PRIDE TO THE FACT THAT PRESIDENT WILSON, IN WRITING HIS LAST ANNUAL MESSAGE AS GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY, VOLUNTARILY—AND OF HIS OWN VOLITION—WROTE THE FOLLOWING:

"May I not in closing express the satisfaction I feel in the knowledge that when I lay down the duties of governor, I shall leave them in the hands of Senator Fielder, a man of proved character, capacity, fidelity and devotion to the public service; a man of a type to which the people of the state desire their public men to conform?"

It is a well known fact that this was written at a time when the then Senator Fielder was being urged to become a candidate for governor. That paragraph was capitalized by Fielder boomers, who dedicated it as a Wilson endorsement in case he should decide to enter the canvass.

But it remained for Wilson to cap the climax about seven weeks later when, knowing that his former statement had been so widely published as a Fielder boost and as if TO INDORSE HIS OWN INDORSEMENT, he went even stronger on the occasion of the Fielder inaugural, March 1, when in handing over the seal of the state to him as his successor he said:

"I have the greatest feeling of confidence in the man to whom I am about to hand this seal. I have been associated with him in an unusual intimacy. I have found in him qualities of honesty and courage which commend him more than other qualities, particularly in public life. The rarest thing in public life is courage, and the man that has courage is marked for distinction. The man who has not is marked for extinction and deserves his submergence, for the people of this country are going to be served by conscience, not by expedience. When you strike a man of conscience you have struck the bedrock of our institutions. It is therefore with confidence in his character and affection for him personally that I hand to Governor Fielder the seal of office."

PRESIDENT WILSON KNOWS THAT BOTH OF HIS UTTERANCES HAVE BEEN WIDELY CIRCULATED AS A FIELDER ASSET, YET HE HAS DONE NOTHING TO CONTRADICT THE BELIEF THAT HE IS FOR FIELDER AND HAS DONE MUCH TO CONFIRM THAT BELIEF.

FIGURES OF SPEECH.

Just Suppose For a Moment That They All Turned to Facts.

No situation is more difficult to deal with than that in which a figure of speech becomes a fact. I mean that when we have been using a phrase truly, but in its general and metaphorical sense, we are rather embarrassed than otherwise if we find that it is true, even in its strict and literal sense. There does not seem to be anything more to say. Suppose you heard a family remark casually, "It's madness in papa to go to Norway!" And suppose the next instant papa sprang into the room through a smashed window, with straw in his hair and a carving knife and howled aloud: "Ubbuboo! I'm going to Norway!" The incident would be disconcerting. It would not be easy to pursue the subject.

Or suppose we said to some stately, silver haired woman who was annoyed, "I think it childish of you to take offense so easily." And suppose she sat down suddenly on the floor and began to scream for her doll and her skipping rope. We would be at a loss. Words suited to the situation would not easily suggest themselves.

Of if a wife said to her husband, apropos of a luxurious friend to whom he gave expensive dinners, "He's simply robbing you," her remarks would be cut short rather than further encouraged by the sight of the friend climbing out of the window with the silver teapot under his arm. The wife would have the extremely unpleasant sensation of having said the worst thing she could and having nothing more to say.

Cases, of course, could be multiplied indefinitely, as the case of one who, entering a lodging house, should say "Rats!" in disparagement of its praises and find himself instantly surrounded by those animals, or one who should remark, "Uncle Joseph has lost his head over this," and should find him decapitated in the garden.—Illustrated London News

Our Musical Nerves.

Everybody who has been to the dentist's knows too well that the teeth have nerves connected with them. These nerves lead to certain knots of nerve tissue called ganglia, from which also proceed other nerves that pass to the auditory chambers of the ear. If you grind your teeth ever so slightly you will find that you hear the sound very distinctly. The vibrations caused by grinding are conveyed to the auditory chamber, where a series of pyramidal cells of varying lengths are so arranged as to operate like keys of a piano. These cells, each of which responds to a particular note, are connected by nerve threads, like piano wires, with the main nerve of hearing—a complex and beautiful arrangement to which we owe our power to appreciate the exquisite harmonies of music.

Starved Himself to Death.

Hunger strike records were broken some years ago by a Frenchman named Granle, who was arrested for murder in circumstances which left no doubt as to his guilt. He determined to starve himself to death in order to escape the guillotine and from the day of his arrest refused to eat. In spite of every effort on the part of the prison authorities, who first tried tempting him to eat by placing the most dainty meals in his cell and when that failed attempted forcible feeding, Granle held out for sixty-three days, at the end of which time he died.

A Renewed Struggle.

"My old barber has left the city." "You seem very regretful." "Yes; he had been trying to sell me a bottle of hair tonic for the past fifteen years, and so far I had succeeded in standing him off. Now I shall have to start the battle all over with a new man."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NEWARK COLORED GIANTS

COMING SATURDAY

The South Amboy Athletics have reorganized under the leadership of Al. Walters. Al. is an energetic sportsman and will hustle to make his boys land on top. He is planning to give the fans games again on Star Field Saturday afternoons and hopes to have them patronized liberally.

He will strengthen the team as much as possible with local talent and has carded several games which should prove classy attractions for the fans. The team will also travel on Sundays.

This Saturday afternoon the Athletics will meet the Newark Colored Giants on Star Field. The dusky nine is made up of the best colored material in the State and the fans should turn out in strong numbers to witness this game. The local team will have a strengthened lineup and the new manager hopes to launch his team out on a long string of victories.

Under the leadership of Al. Walters, the local boys can be depended upon to make a good showing. Poor support caused the team to disband and Al. deserves great credit for reorganizing it.

The new manager is now securing advertisements for score cards.

BALL GAME WITH MANY RUNS.

Fans who were present at Star Field last Saturday afternoon saw the local Y. M. C. A. team put one over on the Roosevelt Y. M. C. A. The score let it be known, was only 21 to 19, but as Secretary Deacon says, it was abundant enough for one day. John Whalen starred as official of the game and was loudly cheered by all the lady spectators. Hank Bloodgood was on the firing line for the local boys and Jacobowitz fed the South Amboy elephants. Charley Shinn played a fine game at first base and incidentally helped along the score by getting two home runs, a double and a single. The local boys hit the ball hard, getting 22 bingles. The deluge of runs reached its height in the fourth inning when the local boys scored nine tallies and in the fifth stanza when the visitors helped themselves to ten. A feature of the game was a running catch by Young, the heavy hitting fielder of the visitors. The following is the box score of the game:

ATHLETICS GET BAD DEAL.

On Sunday the South Amboy Athletics went down to defeat before the Perth Amboy Franklins, by the score of 18 to 17.

Without a doubt the local boys received the worst deal that has ever been handed to a visiting team in Perth Amboy. Missing eight runs at the start of the game, the locals continually pounded Applegate, the Perth Amboy star. The score at one time stood 16 to 4 in favor of the local boys who outplayed the home team from every point.

The fans then gave the Athletics the worst deal which they have ever received. They crowded in around their fielders and catcher and made it practically impossible to field a ball properly.

They deliberately crowded the Athletic fielders from reaching the ball although they gave away easily for the Franklin player. A fly which would have been an easy out when the South Amboy players were at bat, went for a home run in the crowd for the Franklins. The umpire also gave the local team a raw deal and was aided by the score keeper, who taking advantage of the fact that the locals did not keep a score, gave the South Amboy players only sixteen hits and credited the Franklins with twenty-one. South Amboy fans, however, kept track of the bingles made by our boys and are positive that they had at least twenty-three hits. Applegate was easy for our boys and Murray was pitching a great game until the last few innings of the game, when the umpire and the crowd proved bigger factors than his drops and curves. South Amboy fans who witnessed the game were boiling with indignation at the deal which their favorites received and all say that, without a doubt, the local boys outplayed the Franklins and deserved to win.

Several fans claim that the game was allowed to go ten innings. Our boys all played a good game, their batting being especially strong. Eddie Keating has an off day in his throwing, and luck again went against the local boys when Delaney had his hand injured. Al. Walters will take his team to Perth Amboy again on August, 17th, and has the promise of the Franklin management that the field will be roped off. It is a safe bet that at this game the attendance will be enormous. At the last game the Athletics drew out one of the largest crowds which ever witnessed a game at Perth Amboy.

Local fans are preparing to go over in big numbers, hoping to see their team get a square deal.

Y. M. C. A. JOTTINGS.

Didn't Mr. Deacon look cute in his baseball suit? He caught one fly and connected safely twice. His red and green socks must have dazzled the pitcher.

"Deats" was right on the job again Saturday. Mr. Clinton Martin, as he is known on Sundays, proved to have his batting eye with him and landed out a three bagger which brought the first run home.

Pete Megill, the noted exponent of the hook and fallaway slide, struggled bravely through eight and a half innings with a glove that was two sizes smaller than his hand.

As a baseball umpire, John Whalen is a fine bowler. The large crowd of fans (?) that witnessed the game, greatly differed with Jawm in several opinions which he ventured to express regarding balls and strikes. "What can you expect from a fella with a sprained ankle?"

LINED WITH GOLD.

Alaska's Enormous Deposits Will Last a Thousand Years.

Like a tale out of the "Arabian Nights" is the opinion given recently by an expert on the future of Alaskan gold mining, only this expert bases his opinion on facts, whereas the oriental story teller specialized in fancy. But the testimony given by Falcon Joslin is doubly interesting because it exceeds the imagination of the wildest fancy while being based on the facts in the case.

"In my judgment," says Mr. Joslin, "the placer mining industry in Alaska will last a thousand years, the area suitable for placer mining is so enormous. What we are working there now is only the gravel that will carry from $3 to $10 a yard. You cannot work gravels that carry less than that, but once we have transportation there and can work gravels such as they do in California, which carry 7 cents a yard, we have got so nearly an unlimited area of it that no man can foresee the end of that industry in Alaska."

"One great thing is that nearly the whole area of Alaska is gold bearing. There are placers and quartz. It has been said, and I believe the statistics and explorations of the geological survey show it, that you could go from the extreme southeast of Alaska at Kotchikan, where there are important mines, along this route by way of Balaus clear out to Nome, a distance of 2,000 miles in a straight line, and that in every twenty mile section along that route you could develop gold mines. It is infinitely greater than any other area of gold country that has ever been found in the world."—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Nice For the Lady.

Quite regularly a certain London school teacher invited two miserable little girls to spend Saturday afternoon at her house. Knowing how overburdened with work the mother was and how much the children's moral education was neglected at home, a settlement worker ventured to congratulate the parent.

"What a great advantage for them!" she said. "How exceedingly kind of her!"

"No doubt she's glad of company," complacently returned the mother.—London Telegraph.

STUDY YOUR NOSE

It is a Most Wonderful Organ and a Really Fine Furnace.

ACTS AS A PERFECT FILTER.

This Facial Ornament Strains, Heats and Moistens All Air Drawn Through It Into the Lungs—Its Delicate Nerves and Microbe Catching Mucus.

Ordinarily we regard our own or another person's nose from the standpoint of personal beauty. If the organ is a becoming one it wins our admiration, and unless occasion arises we give it no further thought. A delicious or a repugnant odor reminds us at times that we possess a sense of smell, and a cold in the head is apt to make us wish that there was no such thing as a nose.

Beyond these points, however, we really penetrate, and as a rule we fail to fully realize what an important part of the human anatomy is this most prominent feature of the face.

No stove or furnace that ever was made by man can equal in efficiency the human nose, for the nose, in the space of three inches and in two seconds of time, can raise the temperature of the air it draws in nearly fifty degrees and at the same time saturate it with moisture and thoroughly purify it.

The nose is really one of the most extraordinary organs of the body. Its nerves are more sensitive than those of fingers or ears or eyes, for they can perceive distinctly an almost incredibly minute amount of a gas so subtle that its presence can be detected in no other way. It is also a perfect filter and thus the most important guardian of the body against disease.

All air that is breathed into the lungs should be at a temperature of nearly 90 degrees F. It should also be moist, even wet. Cold, dry air is fine for the outside of the body, but has no place in its interior. In heating the air the nose works on the principle of a steam coil. It is not merely two tubes leading up into the head and so down to the throat, but from the bones on either side three twisted bones curl out into the passage, one above the other, each coated with elastic cushions of blood vessels and tiny glands. These form coils with a great, hot, damp surface, over which the air spreads as it is drawn up. Thus is the air warmed for its entrance to the lungs.

A furnace maker told the present writer that any man who could invent an efficient apparatus for mixing moisture with air in its passage through a hot air furnace could make a fortune, as every device now in use is only a makeshift and of very little real value. The Almighty Maker of the human—and the animal—nose solved the problem. The entire surface of the inside of the nose is composed of a membrane that pours forth a fluid called mucus. This is composed largely of salt water, which is taken up by the passing air until this is saturated before it reaches the throat.

This mucus is also a microbe catcher and a dust catcher. Almost all the dirt and germs of disease that enter with the air through the nostrils are trapped by the mucus. The living enemies are killed, for the mucus is antiseptic and germicidal. Thus the air is heated, moistened and purified before it reaches the lungs.

Air breathed in through the mouth is not warmed, moistened or purified except to a very slight extent. Consequently it reaches the lungs cold, dry and laden with dust and disease. Bronchitis, tonsillitis, diphtheria and consumption are the result.

The mucous membrane of the nose is subject to diseases such as catarrh, "cold in the head" and hay fever. Adenoids grow in the back of the nose and stop up its tubes. A simple and easy operation will remove the latter, while the former if taken when they first show themselves can be cured without difficulty. If neglected they may become incurable. Thus not only do they prevent the necessary warming, moistening and filtering of the air, but they spread and cause many diseases of the throat and lungs and are the commonest cause of serious and intensely painful trouble with the ears.—New York World.

May Have Been All Right.

The angry citizen puffed into the office of the city editor.

"See here, sir," he yelled, "what do you mean by publishing my resignation from my political office in this way?"

"You gave the story out yourself, didn't you?" asked the editor.

"Of course I did," replied the angry citizen. "But your fool paper prints it under the head of 'Public Improvements.'"—Exchange.

Worse Than That.

"I know you don't like me, Miss Iphigenia, but won't you please tell me why, just to gratify a natural curiosity?"

"Why, Mr. Orkids, I have never regarded you as a natural curiosity!"—Chicago Tribune.

A Difference.

"How much do you think he's worth?"

"Are you asking about his efficiency or his financial condition?"—Detroit Free Press.

A number of P. R. R. machine shop employees went to Asbury Park on Friday to try their skill at fishing.

Miss Elizabeth Dayton is at St. Barnabas' Hospital, Newark, where she underwent a serious operation.

J. Alfred Johnson, of this city, on Sunday assisted in saving a man from drowning in Lake Ruth, at Helmetta.

T. W. Barnes, of Georgina, Canal Zone, Panama, will please accept our thanks for copy of "The Canal Record."

Campbell Strusholm has been in camp at Morgan the past week and has learned how to drink coffee flavored with cheese. Ask him.

Frank Matony, of Cliffwood, has been arrested on charge of writing "Black Hand" letters to Gabriel G. Blondi, of Madison township.

Councilman E. J. O'Connor went on the Elks' excursion to Midland Beach on Thursday. It was under the auspices of the New Brunswick lodge.

Charles S. Buckelew, the real estate man, has sold five more lots on Portia street, three to one party and two to another. It is said two fine houses will be built thereon.

The Boy Scouts of America of this city will go into camp at Rocky Hill next week, under the care of Scout Master Rev. W. E. Grimshaw. About ten boys have decided to enjoy the outing.

John Rue took the members of the Board of Trustees of the Presbyterian Church to Dayton in his auto truck on Thursday evening, where they attended the Harvest Home. All had a pleasant time.

Regina, aged six weeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Murtha, of Augusta street, died on Wednesday last. The burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery on Thursday afternoon, under the direction of Undertaker J. J. Scully.

Invitations have been issued for the Social Gathering under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of the Sacred Heart Parish at the Sacred Heart Hall on August 6, from 8 to 12 p. m. Kerr's orchestra will furnish the music.

On the afternoon of the Field Day to be held at the College Farm, New Brunswick, on Tuesday, August 5, a meeting will be held to consider the advisability of organizing a New Jersey Potato Growers' Association. It is earnestly desired that each potato district of the State should be fully represented.

Sarah, aged nine months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ware, of Stevens avenue, died on Saturday last of cholera infantum. The funeral was held from the house on Shaw afternoon, the Rev. J. E. Shaw officiating at the service. Interment was made in Christ Church cemetery, John J. Scully was funeral director.

Mrs. Estella B. Ragen, of Paterson, has been spending the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Grace. While here, Mrs. Ragen has been renewing old acquaintances at New Brunswick, Sayreville and Perth Amboy. She is well known about the State as an active worker in the Degree of Pocahontas, Improved Order of Red Men, of which she is a Past Great Pocahontas.

The popularity of the responsive services held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday evening was very apparent by the large congregation last Sunday evening. Next Sunday evening the responsive service will be the order of worship. Next Sunday morning a special sermon, "Why Jesus Refused the Wines," will be preached by the pastor, Rev. J. Edward Shaw. This sermon should appeal to thinking people.

SOME SPICY NEWS FROM Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Olsen, building attendant at the Y. M. C. A., is enjoying his annual vacation, and is taking things easy now, spending his time around home with a paint pot and brush, and also among relatives in the nearby towns.

The "Captain" was in and announced that he was still on the job but that just at present he was in "Flannigan's" class, only his story was, "In again, out again, Heckman."

Somebody said the Secretary was really beautiful in a baseball suit last Saturday and that he was successful in maintaining the masquerade for four innings before anyone discovered who the right fielder was and lunched him accordingly.

Because of the hard rains during this week and the rest that the tennis courts have had for the same reason, they are now in strictly first class condition, and in fact better than they have been so far this season. Also the back stops have been repaired and players can now devote their whole energy to playing the game and need have no fear of having to chase balls that fly out on the tracks.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team will journey to Spotswood this Saturday to cross bats with the A. C. of that place. No dope on the lineup is yet available but we are assured that it will be a pretty good one with some changes in the lineup and perhaps some new faces.

Thursday, July 24, was a big night for the bowlers at the local Y. M. C. A. Representatives of the fifteen teams entered in the last tournament were present to witness a bowling match between a picked team representing the South Amboy Yacht Club and the Commuters, who were the winners of the recent tournament, just closed.

The kids made a clean win of the first game and lost the next one by a narrow margin and then fell to pieces and let the Yacht Club men smear 'em all up. Each game was full of exciting and clever shots from beginning to end and after it was over the players together with all those present were invited to the reception room where a tasty spread of ice cream and cake was laid out and where a presentation ceremony had been planned for the awarding of the trophy to the Commuters.

The trophy, representing a bowling ball set upon three pins and mounted upon a pedestal, all of sterling silver, and engraved with the inscription: "P. R. Y. M. C. A. Bowling Tournament, South Amboy, N. J., April 8 to June 25, 1913. Won by Commuters, S. Merton Ingraham, Capt., Ralph W. Crane, Harold E. Orr."

John Whalen, Captain of the Raritan River Transportation team, holder of high average and Harry Dixon, Captain of the Round House team, holder of high score, were each presented with regulation association silver watch fobs.

Mr. G. W. Crane, chairman of the bowling committee, acted as toastmaster and made the presentation speeches on behalf of the entertainment committee.

Music was furnished by the association orchestra, consisting of Lee Larue, "Bobby" Kerr and Joe Kirby, to enable the ice cream and cake eaters to keep time.

SEWING CLUB GAVE PARTY TO MRS. J. C. JOHNSON

On Monday evening the Nonpareil Sewing Club tendered a party to Mrs. John C. Johnson, at her home on John street, in honor of her birthday anniversary. A large number of her friends gathered at the home and helped to make the event a success in every manner. Music was furnished for dancing by the Nonpareil Social Club, of South River. Dancing, singing, etc., formed the pastimes of the evening and everyone participated in the festivities. Mrs. Johnson was presented by the club with a handsome birthday remembrance.

Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. C. Freehan, Adam Freehan, of South River; William O'Donnell, Benjamin Robinson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bloodgood, and daughter Esther, of Morgan Heights; Mrs. Elmer Whitaker and sons George and Russell, of Trenton; Mrs. Louisa Nimpsch, Miss Carrie Nimpsch, Mr. Elias Force, Miss Estelle Force, Mrs. Edward Hardy, Mrs. George Glick, Miss Helen Glick, George Glick, Jr.; Mrs. George Thomas, Miss Helen Thomas, Miss Lillian Roddy, Mrs. M. E. Hoffman, Fred Bloodgood, Lorton Berlew, Robert Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson and son Hobart M.

That old co-operative furniture scheme has been worked in this city, and a number of people have been made wiser but sadder. The humbug has been repeatedly mentioned in the press, and people warned of the cunning of these men. Some people are easily gulled by any out-of-town salesman. They would not buy at home of a reliable merchant.

Cheap and perhaps popular is the crusade the Hearst newspapers are waging which will mean intervention in Mexico, an exploit that will take 250,000 soldiers two years of guerrilla fighting, according to our military officials. But if "Yellow Wil-ranks with the poor devils who will have to do the job, the sacrifice might be worth while. But we sus-

TEN DOLLARS AND AN APPLE.
If there is anybody besides a telephone man who might be expected to regard all uses of the telephone as ordinary and commonplace it is probably a newspaperman.

The editor of a Nyaack newspaper, however, was startled out of his impassivity just by being present when a citizen called up a store by telephone and recovered a ten dollar bill which he had accidentally dropped on the floor while paying for a purchase.
The falling of an apple on his head led Newton to the discovery of gravitation, and so a very ordinary use of the telephone, if properly considered, will disclose the wonderful advantages of Universal Bell telephone service.—New York Telephone to the games on Star Field, many have expressed a willingness to contribute financially toward the support of the club, and, starting with Saturday's game between the Athletics and the Newark Colored Giants, those ladies who so desire may purchase admission tickets which will be especially prepared for them. But Mr.

Waters wishes it to be distinctly understood that these contributions will be voluntary and not compulsory, and that all the ladies will be admitted whether they purchase tickets or not if they care to attend the games.

Owing to the poor support given the Athletics of late by the local fans, they have disbanded and reorganized. Mr. Waters has taken the management of the club with the determination that if such a thing is possible, South Amboy will have a representative in the ball field to feel proud of. But to do this, he must have the support and cooperation of the sportsmen of the city.

Among the most ardent rooters a good percentage of the gentle sex are to be found. They are appreciative and admiring spectators and derive as much pleasure and excitement from the National game as their brothers-in-sport. Not a few have expressed a willingness to pay the admission price. This being the case, Mr. Waters has decided that if the fair fans wish to help the club to progress, they may purchase the ladies' tickets, which will be for sale on Saturday at Star Field, at the price of ten cents each.

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms!
Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms.
Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt his mind and growth.
Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once.
It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail,

Four Widows of This City Seek Pensions

Four widows from this city have made application for assistance under the so-called widows' pension law, and on Wednesday morning twenty widows of the county appeared before Judge Daly at New Brunswick.
They found that getting help under the new law is not as easy as they thought.

The twenty widows have fifty-two children depending upon them, and they had been led to believe that support would be readily forthcoming.
But Judge Daly, however, impressed upon them that the law did not contemplate a pension in its true sense at all, but simply provided a State charity.

He pointed out that the title of the act set forth its object, "to preserve the home life of indigent widows," and explained that it meant the systematic giving of charity to indigent widows to save them from being sent to an asylum or from becoming township charges.

He announced that there would be a most rigid investigation of all applicants. He said that he had already found that some overseers of the poor have shown an inclination to urge widows who had never applied to the townships for assistance to make application under this law and he intimated that such overseers are not worthy to hold office. He thought one defect of the law was that the money is paid by the county at large instead of by the townships in which the widows live.

RAILROADS ARE NOT OPPOSED TO PARCEL POST

Ralph Peters, chairman of the Committee on Railway Mail Pay (representing the 264 leading railroads of the country traversing over 218,000 miles of line), authorizes the following statement:

"No delegation, having authority to represent the railroads of the country, has appeared before Congress or Members of Congress to oppose the extension of the parcel post. The railroad companies are not opposed to the parcel post. Their attitude is simply that as common carriers they are entitled to reasonable compensation for the services they render.
Under existing laws the railroads are forced to carry the largely increased mails due to the parcel post without any regard to whether proper payment is made for the increased service. It would seem but fair, therefore, that when the Government contemplates requiring a further largely augmented service of the railroads, some consideration be given to paying for the service.

"To determine the adequacy of railway mail pay, Congress appointed a committee to investigate the whole subject. Of this Committee, former Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., who was the author of the parcel post law, is chairman. The position of the railways is that it would be no more than just to postpone extension of the parcel post until that committee can report its findings, or until some equitable plan shall be adopted to pay the railways a fair sum for the additional service they are expected to perform.

"It is to present this view of the case that the Committee on Railway Mail Pay has requested a conference with the Postmaster General. The public should understand that this Committee will not make any recommendation intended in any way to interfere with the parcel post or prevent its natural and orderly development."

FIELD DAY AT STATE FARM.

Field Day will be held at the farm of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick, on Tuesday, August 5, 1913. Hon. James A.
Fielder, Governor of New Jersey;
Hon. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, President of the State Board of Agriculture; Hon. G. W. F. Gaunt, Master of the New Jersey State Grange, and Dr. W. H. S. Demarest, President of Rutgers College, will make addresses in the forenoon. The exercises will begin at 10.30 a. m.

Director Lipman and heads of Research Departments will devote a half-hour at 1.30 p. m. to description of the Experiment Station work and the remainder of the day will be devoted to its inspection.

The people of the State are invited to spend the day on the College Farm.
A caterer will be on the grounds to furnish light luncheon at moderate rates. Coffee will be served free to all who make this a picnic occasion.
Ladies who do not care to take all the inspection tours over the Farm will find the grounds a pleasant place for rest and a visit with friends.

VETERAN TICKET AGENT OF NEW BRUNSWICK IS DEAD

Robert L. Hoagland, of New Brunswick, who retired last November after having served the Pennsylvania Railroad forty-one years, most of the time as ticket agent at that city, died Wednesday from general breakdown.
He had been ill ten weeks but had been in bed but ten days. A widow survives him.

Mr. Hoagland early in life became a reporter on the New Brunswick Times. In 1871 he became connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad, but later went back into newspaper work. In 1872 he returned to railroading and was appointed ticket agent at New Brunswick.

For sixteen years Mr. Hoagland served as a member of the Board of Education, and for five years was its president. He had also been a candidate for Mayor on the Democratic ticket. He was a member of Liberty Hose Company and had served as president of the honorary association of the company.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE

It Excited a Commotion, but Did Not Go Off

By GROVER J. GRIFFIN

"Captain," said the third officer of the ocean liner Tartaric, saluting his chief, "the baggage-master reports a box in the hold in which there is some mechanical contrivance that ticks."

"Well, what of it?"
"There was talk of anarchists blowing up the ship before we left. I should suppose that in view of such talk it might be well to examine the box with a view to discovering if it contains an infernal machine."

"Where is the box now?"
"In the hold."

"Get it up into the baggage room, and I'll have a look at it."

Later Captain Chambliss inspected the box. It was rectangular in shape, about two feet long by eighteen inches broad and deep. On the cover was the name Ethan B. Jenkins.

"Who's Mr. Jenkins?" asked the captain.
"Nobody knew."

"Send for the pursers,"
The pursers came, and the captain asked him if there was a passenger aboard of the name of Jenkins. The pursers said there was and dispatched a steward to look for him and send him to the baggage room. Mr. Jenkins was a dapper little man, who looked no more like an anarchist than a Hottentot.

"What's in the box?" asked the captain.

"Articles picked up abroad intended as presents for my friends."

"Is there a clock in it?"
"Not that I am aware of."

"Listen."

All were silent, and the ticking was distinctly heard by all. A great change came over the face of Mr. Jenkins. He looked terror-stricken. He seemed to be thinking hard for a few moments; then, thrusting his hand into his breast coat pocket, he drew out an envelope and, you already know, the machine is set to go off in four days from the date it was packed. It was packed the day we sailed; therefore it will not explode till we are near the American coast. I'm not sure it will explode at all. It may be that it's a joke perpetrated by that fellow Burns after all. If so he wouldn't hesitate to put a clock in the box to make it worse. I wish I had him here now to punch his head. This isn't the first time he's caused me trouble by his pranks."

"What do you propose?" asked the captain. "If you think the matter a hoax you'd better open the box and find out whether it is or not."

"And blow up your ship as well as myself if it's a real infernal machine?"

The captain evidently had not thought of that. He looked confused. "I tell you what you do, captain," continued Jenkins. "Tow it."

The captain looked relieved. He told the pursers to take down a list of the articles in the box from the owner, with their values, so that in case the box were lost the amount of claim would be limited. But he did not want to have this done before getting rid of the box. He directed one of the crew to carry it to the upper deck, where the lifeboats were swung on the davits, and put it in one of the lockers intended for provisions, wedging it so that it would not slide about with the motion of the waves. This was done. The boat was lowered, a cable attached to her bow, and she was suffered to drift a hundred yards astern.

While this was being done the captain gave orders that what was in the boat, or rather what was supposed to be in the boat, be confined to those who were in the baggage room when the matter was discussed. He did not consider that a bomb a hundred yards away from the ship could endanger her.

The Tartaric sighted Fire Island on the fourth day out. She was twelve knots east of Montauk point just before daylight on the morning of the fifth day. A man stood on the after deck of the ship, where the cable that towed the lifeboat was attached. He tied loosely to the rope a pair of oars, which drifted back to the lifeboat. Then he fixed to the rope a clutch with handles like those of a pair of tinners' shears. Grasping the handles, he swung himself off the stern and let himself down slowly till he reached the water. The pressure against him exerted by the headway of the ship was so great that he would not have been able to maintain his hold had it not been for this clutch. By its use he let himself be slowly forced backward till he reached the lifeboat and pulled himself up by the cable on to its bow.

Once in the boat he cast an eye to the westward, where shone a light, which he recognized as one on Montauk point. Taking from the bow the oars he had sent before him, he put them in the boat. Then he cast off and was left astern. As the dark body of the Tartaric grew darker in the distance he smiled and raised his hat to her.

"Goodby, my friends," he said. "I think I can now get on without your valuable assistance."

Taking the box from the locker in which it had been placed, he ripped it open with a screwdriver he drew from his pocket, took out a clock, which he threw overboard, and a small package, which he concealed in a pocket of his flannel shirt. Then, beginning to shiver with the cold, he took up the oars and pulled for the light on Montauk point.

By this time a streak of gray light appeared in the east end, in due time the sun came up, but the man in the boat did not need its warmth to dry his clothes, for the heat of his body, kept up by the exercise of rowing, had already done that. He was making slow progress, for one man pulling on so large a boat could not move it rapidly. However, by 9 o'clock in the morning he was but half a dozen miles from the Long Island coast, and a motorboat passing him, he made a bargain with the man running her to take him ashore.

Once on terra firma, leaving his boat hauled up on a beach, he started inland till he came to a town, where he hired a horse and buggy to carry him to the northern coast of the island. There he chartered a motorboat to take him across the sound to Saybrook, where he boarded a Long Island east-bound train for Boston. Arriving there in the afternoon, he purchased clothing and, dropping into a diamond dealer's, took from his pocket the package he had taken from the box supposed to contain the infernal machine, unrolled it and displayed a dozen enormous diamonds. Before leaving the shop he sold a number of them to the dealer and early the next morning parted with the rest of his stock, realizing a handsome profit between what the stones had originally cost him at the diamond mines and what he received for them. He had reached the end of a series of brilliant impostures to defraud the customs.

On the morning of the day the Tartaric arrived in port an officer announced to the captain that the lifeboat astern was missing. The captain, surprised, asked if the owner of the box had been notified, and on being told that he had not, a steward was sent to find him. Later the messenger returned to say that Mr. Jenkins was missing. The captain looked astonished; then a light broke in upon his brain.

Before the Tartaric sailed again her captain had been notified that a lifeboat with his ship's name on the bow was lying on a beach on the eastern end of Long Island. He gave orders to have it shipped by water to New York, but asked no questions as to how it came there.

FAMOUS PHRASES

Origin of Some of World's Most Popular Quotations.

WORDS THAT WILL ENDURE.

"While There's Life There's Hope" Was Written by Cicero, and Cynical Old Diogenes It Was Who Told the World "Habit Is Second Nature."

It is recorded that an ignorant person, explaining her distaste for Shakespearean performances, said that his plays were too full of quotations. Yet we, too, though we may pride ourselves upon our learning, probably do not know the origin of half the common phrases we use as carelessly as verbs in our daily conversation.

No less a person than Cicero first made use of the expression, "While there's life there's hope." In a letter he wrote to Atticus. "We are in the same boat" is not modern slang, but occurs in a letter written by Clement I., bishop of Rome, to the church of Corinth in the first century. This letter is extant and is one of the prized documents of the early church.

"I never put off till tomorrow what I can do today," was Lord Chesterfield's explanation of how he managed to do so much work. "Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well" he wrote later in the famous letters to his son.

In some of the expressions we use habitually may be crystallized an epoch of history. Such is the motto of the Order of the Garter, "Honi soit qui mal y pense" ("Shamed be he who thinks evil of it"), which was given by Edward III. of England. Wishing to draw the best soldiers in the world to him, he proposed a revival of the round table of King Arthur, holding a tournament at Windsor castle on New Year's day, 1344. After the contest of arms the guests were entertained at his expense at a round table. Philip, king of France, was jealous over the interest this aroused and forbade his subjects to attend, at the same time misrepresenting Edward's motives. Several years later, when Edward founded the Order of the Garter, he chose a motto that seemed to challenge his rival monarch to think wrong of it if he dared.

Later English history has not been lagging in increasing the supply of apt remarks that have grown into everyday sayings. Lord Eldon, lord chancellor of England during the first twenty-six years of the nineteenth century, continually mispronounced the name of Henry Brougham, afterward to be a successor in the chancellor's office. Brougham objected to be called Broffam, and in this regard Eldon was the chief offender. Once, after Brougham had made an excellent speech, Eldon by way of apology pronounced his name correctly and made a proverb, "New brooms sweep clean."

The same expression occurs frequently to different people who could have no knowledge that their thought had been given utterance before. "No man is a hero to his valet" has been paraphrased by scores, from Mme. du Cernay, a witty Frenchwoman of the seventeenth century, to Dr. Johnson and Napoleon. The first record of it, however, is found in Plutarch, who states that when Hermodotus addressed a poem to Antigonus I., king of Sparta, hailing him as son of the sun and a god, the monarch replied, "My body servant slings me no such song."

It was Diogenes, the cynic, who declared that "habit is second nature." The phrase "circumstances over which he has no control" was used by the Duke of Wellington in a letter concerning some affairs in which his son was mixed up and with which he declined to interfere. Dickens also used the expression a few years later when he had Alceawber write to David Copperfield, "Circumstances beyond my individual control," etc.

"Conspicuous by their absence" has been used on many occasions in modern oratory. It was first used by Tacitus in relating that in the funeral procession of Julia, niece of Caligula, sister of Brutus, wife of Cassius, many of the images of the most famous families in Rome were seen, but "Cassius and Brutus shone pre-eminent because their images were not displayed."

"Nothing is certain but death and taxes," wrote Benjamin Franklin, stating that the constitution of the United States was in operation and to all appearances would last.

"Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones" was said by James I. of England when his favorite, the Duke of Buckingham, complained that a mob had broken his glass windows, which were at that time a luxury.

"Mind your p's and q's" is said to have been taken from an old French phrase at the time of Louis XIV. A very low bow was in fashion, and the dancing master in instructing his pupils would warn them to look out for the position of the feet and the movement of the head lest their cue wigs be disarranged. The French word for foot is pied. "Mind your p's and q's" soon came to be translated into English and abbreviated.

"GOODBY, MY FRIENDS," HE SAID.

taking out a letter, read it hastily and handed it to the captain. It was as follows:

Mr. Jenkins, I am employed in the packing room of the house of De Four Freres. I am a member of an anarchist circle and have been ordered to pack an infernal machine in a box to be shipped to America. Yesterday I placed one among articles bought by you of this house. The mechanism is set to explode the bomb in four days. The thought of causing the destruction of hundreds of persons has pained me. I am horrified at what I have done and write this letter that you may avoid the consequences of my act. Do not attempt to open the box. If you are at sea throw it overboard. I leave De Four Freres at once and cannot be found.

There was no signature to the letter nor anything by which the anarchist could be identified, for it had been written and addressed by a typewriter.

"Why did you not take action to get rid of the thing at once?" inquired the captain sternly.

"I thought it was a hoax. My nephew, Charlie Burns, is always playing practical jokes on me, and I had no doubt that this was one of them."

"Heave the thing overboard at once!" cried the captain.

"Not on your life!" interposed the owner. "There are things in that box which I would not take thousands of dollars for. What need for hurry? The letter says the machine is set to fire the bomb in four days. This is only the third day."

"I don't care if it's only the first," snapped the captain. "I'm not going to endanger the ship and those aboard by carrying an infernal machine. Take it out and heave it overboard, I say."

"I protest in presence of the persons present that if you do I'll hold the company for damages. There is no necessity to send such valuable property to the bottom. In the first place, as Glass Cutting.

The layman who is introduced to the mysteries of cutting glass for the first time is amazed at the amount of work that the workman does entirely by his eye. The first stage of the bowl which is to be cut finds it in a perfectly plain condition, not a scratch upon it and only a half dozen or more marks in red chalk, which mean absolutely nothing to the unpracticed eye. But to the workman they mean the whole pattern. Perhaps the dish is a salad bowl. The marks in chalk will run from the edge, five intervals apart, down to the center of the bowl at the bottom. In one of the divisions of the bowl thus marked there may be a little further marking in the shape perhaps of a diamond. This indicates the pattern into which the bowl is to be cut, and it will be repeated in each of the five divisions. All the intricacies of the design the workman has in his head, and they develop on the glass in a way which seems to the looker on absolutely marvelous.—New York Times.

A Fair Compromise.

A partner in one of the theatrical producing firms of the city of New York had occasion to hire an actor to play a small part in a drama he was putting out. A rather well known actor, who values himself and his art with a proper appreciation, applied for the place.

"You play a full blood Sioux Indian," explained the manager. "The salary is $50 a week."

"My dear boy," said the actor in a pained tone. "I've never worked for less than $100. A hundred dollars is my regular price."

"Fifty dollars!" said the manager calmly. "Take it or leave it." The actor thought it over a minute.

"I'll take it," he said, "but I can't play a full blood Indian for $50. I'll play him as a half breed!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Find Something New.

In 1644 the possibilities of the submarine were first propounded, while from the very earliest times men have conceived the idea of flying with wings like birds. There is no reason whatever to doubt the fact that Archytas of Tarentum, about 394 years before the Christian era, constructed an automaton pigeon that would fly. Turning to other latter day inventions, as they are generally regarded, it might be mentioned that switchback railways were constructed more than a hundred years ago, and looping the loop was a sensation in Paris in 1853, while roller skating, which came up as a new invention about forty years ago, was being indulged in by our forefathers as far back as 1829.

The Yolk of an Egg.

After the fast of Lent medieval custom insisted that an egg should be eaten on Easter day. According to the London Lancet, this rule was based on sound medical principles, for the only substance in the yolk is lecithin, and lecithin is a favorite drug with doctors who have patients suffering from nervous disorders. The quantity of the drug administered at a time corresponds almost exactly with the quantity found in a normal new laid egg.

What She Wanted to Know.

"You are going to marry a rich widower who has three children," said the fortune teller.

"Oh, I know that," replied the beautiful girl. "but I'd like to find out what we are going to do with the children, for, as he says, they certainly need a mother's care."—St. Louis Republic.

"And what did father say?"

Boy Killed in Auto Accident.

Earl Veghte, fifteen years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Veghte, of Round Brook, was instantly killed Sunday when an automobile struck the Veghte car in the Freehold road, near Englishtown, and upset it into a five-foot ditch. The boy's parents and a brother, Leroy Veghte, escaped with slight injuries. The car that struck the Veghte auto did not lessen its speed, but kept on, its occupants, a man and a woman, apparently displaying utter indifference to the accident. Beyond the fact that the machine was a heavy, red-painted runabout and the man driving it wore a Panama hat, there is no clue to the identity of the car's occupants. Monmouth County authorities are searching for them. Mr. Veghte said that he was returning to Round Brook from Freehold and turned aside to let the other car, which was approaching from the rear at high speed, pass him. The mudguard of the runabout, however, caught the mudguard of the Veghte machine and lifting it from the road, hurled it upside down into the ditch. Passersby ran to the spot and righted the machine, taking the occupants out. Earl Veghte, however, was dead when extricated.

Leaped Twice Into Lake.

Max Golden, of Boston, although unable to swim, leaped from a diving board into one of the deepest places in Lake Marguerite, Spotswood, on Sunday. He was rescued, but when he revived he broke away from those working over him and again leaped from the diving board. Once more he was pulled out, and then he was revived with difficulty.

Spotswood Child Fatally Burned.

Edith Griffon, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Griffon, of Spotswood, was fatally burned Sunday afternoon while playing with matches on her father's farm. Mrs. Griffon, in trying to beat out the flames in the child's dress, was burned about the face and arms. The child, with her little brother, found some matches in her father's pocket. Dr. I. C. Crandall, of Old Bridge, rushed the little girl and her mother to St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick, where the child died the same night.

Will Be Made a Major.

Captain Joseph C. Castner, formerly of New Brunswick, and now of the Fourteenth Infantry, U. S. A., is soon to be made a major. He is stationed at Fort Lawrence, Wash. In 1891 he was appointed a second lieutenant in the Fourth Infantry. He was stationed in Illinois, Idaho and Washington before the beginning of the Spanish-American War. He did not get into Cuba with his regiment. In June, 1898, Castner was detailed to an exploring party sent out to find a pass through the mountain range in Alaska that includes Mt. McKinley among its peaks. With two privates of the Fourteenth he marched almost 2,000 miles through unexplored country to the Yukon River, arriving at the latter place October 11, 1898.

Corner-Stone of New Chapel Laid.

Monsignor Isaac P. Whelan, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Newark, was the speaker Sunday at the laying of the corner-stone of St. Andrew's chapel, at Broadway and Fourth street, Bayonne. The chapel, which will be a branch of St. Mary's Catholic Church, is being erected for the benefit of 2,500 parishioners of St. Mary's Church who live south of the Central Railroad. It will cost $40,000. Monsignor Whelan reviewed the history of St. Mary's Church, of which he was formerly the pastor. The church has grown since it was formed sixty-one years ago until now it has 9,000 parishioners. Bishop O'Connor laid the corner-stone. Many clergymen from churches in Bayonne and other places were present. A parade of members of Catholic Churches and societies in Bayonne, with former School Trustee James Murphy as marshal, preceded the ceremony. Nearly 8,000 persons were present.

Neilson to Succeed Kelly.

Frank O. Neilson, Democrat of New Market, was on Tuesday appointed a member of the Middlesex County Board of Elections, to succeed Oliver Kelly, of Metuchen, who is now a member of the State Board of Health. Governor Fielder made the appointment on the nomination of State Chairman Grosscup. Mr. Neilson's name was sent to Chairman

Grosscup by Thomas H. Hagerty, of New Brunswick, Middlesex county chairman, and Mr. Kelly, as State Committeeman from Middlesex, endorsed the nomination. Mr. Kelly has been a member of the election board for several years and of late has been its president. He desired to be relieved of the duties, however, owing to his position as a member of the State Board of Health. Mr. Neilson is a member of the Middlesex County Democratic Committee.

Eight Speeding Autoists Fined.

Determined to break up speeding through the streets of Metuchen by automobilists, Chief of Police Flaherty Sunday set a speed trap and caught eight violators of the law. All were fined and reprimanded. One of the autoists in paying his fine declared that he was a son of John Wanamaker.

Injured in Runaway.

On Sunday Mrs. Joseph Hodapp, Jr., became frightened when the team of horses her husband, Councilman Hodapp, of Spotswood, was driving ran away and leaped from the rear seat of their carriage. Her ankle was sprained and she was hurt about the arms and shoulders. Her husband didn't know she had leaped and when he had quieted the horses he turned to resume his conversation with his wife.

Lightning Does Damage at South River.

On Monday during the heavy thunder shower and electric storm many places at South River were struck by lightning. The flag pole on the top of Herman-Aukum Co.'s handkerchief factory was knocked into kindling wood. The top of the big water tank in the rear of F. C. Bisset's hotel across the R. R. tracks from the handkerchief factory was torn off. Lesnowski's roof had a large hole torn in it and the telephone box in front of the central office was set afire, but the heavy downpour soon extinguished the flames. The streets were turned into small rivulets of rushing water. The factory people were caught in the heavy downpour and received a thorough drenching.

Woman Injured By Lightning.

On Monday Miss Kathryn Checks, of Sayreville, was sitting near a window at her home when a bolt of lightning entered the house and struck her, burning her about the face and arms. She became unconscious. Dr. Beekman revived her. The lightning had struck the roof and had passed through the house.

Church Struck By Lightning.

During the storm on Monday the bell tower of the German Presbyterian Church at Sayreville was struck by lightning. But little damage was done.

Fielder Calls Special Session.

On Tuesday Governor Fielder issued a formal proclamation calling the Legislature to meet in extra session on Tuesday, August 5, at 11 a. m., for one day, to amend the Walsh act for the benefit of Jersey City, where the adoption of the statute is endangered by litigation. He says that a session for only one day can be convened at an expense of $50 to the State and that if it will stop Warren Dixon, former Jersey City corporation counsel, from continuing his suit in the Supreme Court to test the legality of the act it will be worth that much.

Oakhurst Cottage Was Struck.

One of the Kinney cottages at Oakhurst, near Long Branch, owned by Frederick Frelinghuysen, of Newark, was struck by lightning Monday and the building for a little while was on fire. The blaze was soon extinguished.

Postmaster Mark in Full Charge.

On Monday, former Mayor Joseph Mark, who was recently appointed postmaster by President Wilson, assumed charge of the post office at South River.

Asbury Park Budget $325,245.

It will cost $325,245 to run Asbury Park the next fiscal year. That was the total of the budget adopted by the City Council Monday night, and is $68,000 over the amount required last year. Some $40,000 of the excess will be used for water expenses.

Council defeated an ordinance providing for the raising of the pay of most of the municipality's officials, excepting councilmen. The ordinance, which was introduced by Councilman Senn, provided for a raise of the Mayor's salary from $500 to $900. The Mayor objected to the proposed raise.

Will Become Pastor of New York Church.

Rev. Dr. Charles L. Mead, who has charge of the Young People's meetings at the Camp at Ocean Grove for July, confirmed Tuesday morning a report that he is to become pastor of the Madison Avenue Church, of New York. He is now pastor of the First Church, Baltimore, where he went three years ago from Hoboken. Previous to that time he was in charge of Centenary Methodist Church of Newark. Dr. Mead will succeed Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen, who is to become a teacher at Drew Seminary in October. The New York church desires Dr. Mead to take up the work in the fall, but he is doubtful whether he will be released in Baltimore until after conference in the Spring. Dr. Mead will get a salary of $7,000 in the new charge, but must furnish his own residence. His present salary is $5,000.

True American's Career Ends.

On Monday The Trenton Evening Times, of Trenton, took over a bid of $15,200 made by the Broad Street National Bank for the purchase of the Trenton True American at a receiver's sale last week. The bank's bid was above an incumbency of $26,000. The property purchased includes the building where the paper has been printed. The Times will suspend the publication of The True American.

Exchange Bazaar Saves Charter.

The Perth Amboy Sale and Exchange Bazaar, Incorporated, has been reinstated by Governor Fielder as a New Jersey corporation. The Governor had declared the company's charter forfeited because it was delinquent in the payment of its corporation franchise taxes to the State. The taxes were unpaid for 1910, 1911 and 1912. The company paid the back taxes to the State Treasurer and filed a petition for reinstatement, claiming that the delinquency was due to an oversight. Following the settlement, Governor Fielder signed the certificate reinstating the concern. It has an authorized capital stock of $10,000.

No "Old Gang" Tag Tied to Fielder

Senator McGinnis of Passaic County Makes It Clear That No Gang, Either Old or New, Has Ever Interfered With Hudson's Leading Candidate For Governor.

GOVERNOR FIELDER.

SENATOR MCGINNIS.

THOSE who have worked with Governor Fielder are the ones who have the greatest faith in him, for, having seen him in action in the legislature, they know how unflinchingly he has stood by those principles of progressiveness that made Woodrow Wilson's administration a stepping stone to the White House.

It can be said of Governor Fielder that he had been fighting steadfastly for those same progressive principles before they bore the name progressive;

in the pre-progressive days when the legislature lacked a Democratic majority to write those statutes that have since placed New Jersey in the foreground of progressive states; in the days when the fighting was lonely and when the seed fell on barren soil. IT CAN ALSO BE SAID OF GOVERNOR FIELDER THAT HE PROVED HIS SINGULARITY BY CONTINUING THE SAME FIGHT WITH A MAJORITY THAT HE MADE IN THE MINORITY.

While he has always been a party man, he has never been found putting party interests ahead of public good. In fact, he has been actuated to work for the public good so consistently and so persistently that he has always run away ahead of his party vote in Hudson county.

His independence has always been so thoroughly established that subservience to any boss has never been thought of in his home county, where his constituents have kept such close tabs on him, and with justifiable pride, too, as his remarkable runs at the polls have proved.

In other parts of the state, however, his ability to stand up for principle, regardless of boss influences, is not so well known, and it was for that reason that Senator Peter McGinnis of Passaic county made use of his intimate knowledge of the Fielder principles and his convincing admiration for his sterling manhood, and penned an indorsement for use in the primary campaign that is now being waged.

Senator McGinnis says:

"The charge that Governor Fielder is the tool of the 'same old gang' is without a shred of evidence to support it. Any one who is at all acquainted with the political situation knows that the candidacy of Governor Fielder is sponsored by the staunchest friends that President Wilson ever had in New Jersey.

"WHEN WOODROW WILSON WAS FIRST ELECTED GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY AND COMMENCED HIS RECONSTRUCTION WORK, WHO WAS IT BUT SENATORS FIELDER, OSBORNE AND SILZER WHO LED THE FIGHT IN THE SENATE?"

"Was the candidacy of Governor Wilson as president attacked because erstwhile friends of former Senator Smith had seen the light and supported Mr. Wilson?"

"Take the New Jersey delegates to the Baltimore convention; nearly two-thirds of them are avowed Fielder supporters and why? Because they have worked with Governor Fielder while he was in the senate and assembly, know that he represents the very highest type of progressiveness and has all the courage to make a successful leader.

"I can assure you from personal knowledge that Governor Fielder only became a candidate for the governorship this fall at the earnest solicitation of the Democratic senators, and it was with reluctance that he gave his consent.

"When President Wilson became the candidate for governor of New Jersey in 1910 his nomination was seconded by Hon. James Smith, Jr., and his campaign managed by Hon. James Nugent. Did this fact shatter the faith which the people of the state had in President Wilson's candidacy?"

"No. On the contrary, the people believed that President Wilson was the tool of no man or political machine. Those who are now espousing the cause of Governor Fielder believe him to be equally courageous."
