

Mayor Urges Action Against Sand Company

In a letter to a state Department of Environmental Protection official, Mayor J. Thomas Cross urged action be taken against McCormack Aggregates to eliminate fugitive emission from the sand company site.

In his letter to Anthony McMahon, Assistant Director of the DEP's Division of Environmental Quality, Cross said more testing should be done on the sand.

"I believe that you should proceed to sample the sand in order to verify that there are no pollutants contained therein."

"I also want you to take whatever steps are necessary to control all the potential fugitive emissions caused by the piles, conveyors, and roads."

Cross also stated he is in favor of any penalties against the sand company to be substantial in order to serve as a deterrent from

McCormack Aggregates or any other company from causing such problems within the city.

Vincent Mackiel, Augusta Street, said he appreciated the mayor writing the letter. "Any cooperation we get is appreciated," said Mackiel.

George Forrer, also an Augusta Street Resident, said its a tragedy the problems caused by the sand company are taking place. "The company should be relocated to a more suitable area with some sort of bumper zone," said Forrer.

"The residents around the sand company view this as a serious problem," said Mackiel, "the city government has to conceive the problem on all three levels."

"We should be contacting people on the federal level bringing forth this information," Mackiel said federal officials should be informed because a federal channel is being dredged.

Hills Letter Documents Violations

In a letter to City Director of Law Clark Convery, Richard Hills, Air Pollution Control Program Coordinator sent copies of nine notices of violations issued to McCormack Aggregates for air pollution violations.

"To date we have documented 106 violations and forwarded 40 to the New Jersey DEP for action upon," said Hills in the letter.

Hills said those violations were written prior to July 1, 1986 are to be incorporated in the order currently being drafted by the DEP. "Subsequent violations will be handled either under the order, or on a case-by-case basis depending on the settlement being negotiated by the McCormack Aggregates and the DEP."

Last month, Hills met with the council and was adamantly opposed to reductions in the fines levied against the sand company.

Complementing the Scottish Accent will be perennial favorites the Mary Stewart Highland Dancers, the Loch Leven Country Dancers and the Scottish Heritage Festival Pipes and Drums. Action Sought Against Loitering

The condition placed on a liquor license for Krauszer's has been reviewed and approved by the state Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control. The conditions require the management of the store to police the area and move along people loitering on the premises.

John T. O'Leary addressed the council and said the loitering in front of the store has been constant. "When will the area be cleaned up?" questioned O'Leary.

Council President Bruce Richmond said the ABC agreed with the stipulations placed on the liquor license and police will be notified they can enforce the regulations.

Manhole Collapses, Repairs Made

Repairs were made on a collapsed manhole on Henry Street, between Pine Avenue and Feltus Street. Mayor J. Thomas Cross estimated the cost for the repairs to be $9,000.

The problem occurred September 3 and repairs were completed September 5 by Ace Manzo Contracting Co., Matawan.

St. Mary's to Sponsor Spirituality Lectures

St. Mary's has announced it will sponsor a Mini-series in Spirituality four Tuesdays in October from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at St. Patrick's Hall. Lecturer will be Rosemary Kerr, who holds an M.A. in Education from New York University, M.A. in Spirituality at Fordham and D. Minn., New York Theological Seminary.

October 7 lecture "Evolution of Spirituality - 1980's" emphasis is spirituality, but new and different, in the context of Vatican II. Find out the development of the person of Jesus and what it means in the context of your Christian life.

October 14 Lecture, "Personal Development of Spiritual Life" shows any true spirituality is both personal - social - and political. This lecture will deal with the personal development of a disciple of Jesus.

October 21 lecture "Social Development of Spiritual Life" deals with social development from spirituality. The lecture will deal with salvation in the context of personal relationship.

October 28 Lecture "Political Development of Spiritual Life" shows any authentic spirituality requires a political response. Tob. epistolical is to be concerned about the Kingdom of God. Reflect on how to be concerned about His Kingdom.

There's "Something for Everyone." The Logo, "Come Back & Come Deeper" reflects the concept that the more we know about anything, the more we accept it and make it our own.

"The police department will make sure they (Krauszer's) live by the stipulations," said Richmond. O'Leary asked if the regulations aren't obeyed, can the liquor license be revoked.

"It is not that easy," said Richmond, "you have to issue summonses and you have to build a case against them. You have to have proof. It might probably take over a year."

The city council approved the renewal of the Hubbard's Cupboard liquor license and the transfer to Krauszer's in July.

Prior to the transfer, residents circulated a petition asking the council to block the transfer due to problems caused to nearby residents by groups congregating on the store's premises. The council agreed to the transfer after Krauszer's agreed to control the loitering and littering.

Streets Targeted For Repaving

City officials met last week to determine which city streets will be repaved this year.

The streets slated for resurfacing are Pupek Road completely; Catherine Street, from Stevens Avenue to Broadway; George Street, from Mason Avenue to Rosewell Street, and a 40 foot section of Gordon Street north of Pine Avenue.

Cost of the project has not been determined. The city spent $50,000 in 1985 for repaving several city streets.

Last month the council selected three other streets to be repaved under an $88,000 grant from the State Department of Transportation.

These streets are Augusta Street, from Stevens Avenue to Mason Avenue; Mason Avenue, from Augusta Street to John Street, and John Street, from Stevens Avenue to Mason Avenue.

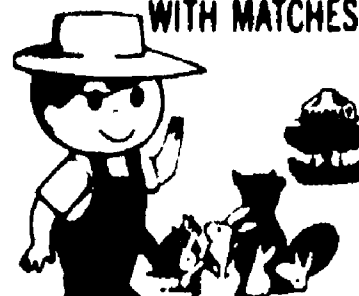

The City Council is scheduled to introduce an ordinance at the September 17 meeting designating the four streets for the city funded project.

CITY SERVES STRATHMORE WITH SUIT — (5 years ago) September 10, 1981

In yet another round of the City of South Amboy versus the Strathmore Clinic, the city is legally challenging an order that it issued a certificate of occupancy to an alcohol and drug detoxification center in its limits.

The suit, against the Middlesex County Board of Appeals and the clinic was brought by the city and its Code Enforcement Officer, Frederick H. Kurtz, alleging that the board did not have a right to order Strathmore Clinic owner Gerhard Bass be given the certificate of occupancy needed in order for the state to allow the operation of such a treatment center.

Kurtz could not issue a certificate when Bass first applied, and has, with City Law Director Clark Convery since maintained the clinic was not a "permitted use" at the Broadway location under the city zoning law.

Bass, on the other hand accused city officials of "trying to zone me out" and appealed his case to the County Construction Board August 12.

The board's decision, having found in favor of Bass was his basis for a suit against the city and three city officials late last month for refusing to inspect the premises and complete state forms showing compliance with city regulations. However, this suit was withdrawn without comment before any of the officials were served.

In their suit, the city and Kurtz have asked the court to declare the board had no right to issue the order because the city has jurisdiction in zoning matters.

Convery contends the city's position has been the same all along, that this is a zoning matter, and the clinic is not allowed at its present site, while Bass insists that the clinic is indeed an "allowed use."

A city ordinance, passed in July to amend the city's Comprehensive Development ordinance to deal with detox centers spells out particular areas within the city where such a clinic may locate and operate from, specifically, limiting the maximum hours of operation to 8 hours a day, and 5 hours on Sunday. Further, at the meeting 2 months ago the Council made provision for the clinic to operate only in the B-2 highway commercial zone.

WORK ON FIELDS RESTORED, GIRLS RAP SETUP — (10 years ago) September 9, 1976

South Amboy Council restored the work on the four playing fields and the rest rooms at the landfill to an active project Tuesday after such work had been ordered suspended Aug. 31 because of excessive vandalism against such construction as had been done. Kilfoyle, Woodbridge, had been directed to stop work on the rest rooms, a $17,000 job, and Justin Rosato, Matawan, the electrician had been ordered to suspend preparation for his $18,000 electrical contract, a $30,000 project stalled thereby.

The councilmen were in disagreement whether they had called for rebidding the work after they had received only one bid Aug. 31 on six sets of specifications taken out by contractors. Fred Kurtz, city engineer had ascribed the reluctance of contractors to bid the work on the field to the evidence of damage wrought against what had already been done. Nicholas Smolney, business administrator, said he had not been ordered to rebid.

Councilman James Inman averred the Council could rebid now as he had assurance from Mayor Theodore Lewandoski that a police officer would be stationed in the landfill nights as a guard against the vandals. And Inman opined that this also allowed resumption of work by Kilfoyle and Rosato. The council agreed.

James Holovacko, president of the Little Fellas League, decried the need of posting a police officer in the landfill and called all the talk of vast damage uncalled for. When Council President Thomas O'Brien said it was time to "get tough" with the vandals, Holovacko insisted there was a total misconception of the vandals, that he had taken four small boys into custody that day for mischief and he was sure they were not the type to do damage to cement or steel work. As for the rest rooms, Holovacko declared Kilfoyle had left open a section in the rear and that was the only way vandals could have gotten into the rest rooms as reports of stripping locks on the doors was false. As for drinking parties and thefts by older youths, Holovacko said this might exist on the Sayreville stretch of the landfill but he knew of little about which to talk in South Amboy.

TENNIS COURTS STIR BIG "RACKET" — (15 years ago) September 9, 1971

Two records were broken at Tuesday's Council meeting — one for attendance, the other for the duration of the meeting which lasted until 11:15 p.m.

A majority of those in attendance expressed concern either pro or con on the tennis court issue, which fizzled into a minor blow after a letter from A.D. DiMattia, owner of the Sixth Street property withdrew his offer to sell the lots to the city. The council okayed the purchase price of $11,500. In his letter DiMattia stated that the reason for his withdrawal of the land for sale was "due to undue criticism."

Mayor William O'Leary, apparently annoyed by the laughter from the audience when DiMattia's letter was read, rebounded by giving comparative costs of putting the tennis courts at the three different sites considered, according to engineers estimates.

O'Leary said, if the tennis courts were put on the land fill, the estimate costs for four courts would be $34,500, plus $10,000 for the value of the acre of land, would be $44,500. If located on Jersey Central Power and Light Co. property on Sixth Street, it would require the erection of two courts and the repair of two courts. The price would be $33,200, and the city would not own the property. Whereas, if constructed on the property offered by DiMattia, the price would be $34,034.

The Mayor further stated that he considers the Sixth Street property the most ideal location for tennis courts. He enumerated a list of about ten different acts of vandalism that has occurred at the landfill during the past year which included several break-in and entries into the candy stand at the Little League field; broken electric meter, theft of plywood, fencing equipment and fencing, etc.

Recreation Director John Zdanewicz, said he was the party who asked DiMattia to consider selling the Sixth Street lots to the city for tennis courts, because he felt it was a good location and being near the other courts it would be an asset when playing matchines with other schools. Zdanewicz said that at least 5 courts for school teams would be the desirable because it would permit 3 single matches and two double matches to be played at one time.

Councilman James Inman assured the council and audience that he is not anti-tennis courts, but he is anti-purchase of property. Inman said his choice of location would be on Rosewell Street between John and George Sts. adjacent to the basketball courts. It is property that was deeded to the city for recreational purposes. The place has adequate parking facilities.

A city park was once considered at that location, but the cost of $147,000 was too much of an expenditure for current budgets. Inman said, "The land-fill has been laying without any revenue and little use for the past 15 years. From reports I read, this is a prime piece of property and I am surprised that we didn't locate any desirable industry for it."

NO BATTERIES — This lightweight, custom fit hearing aid requires no batteries to work and is now available for the first time in Central New Jersey through John F. Kennedy Medical Center in Edison.

Unlike traditional hearing aids that improve hearing by using batteries or electronics to amplify sounds, the "Innovald" uses acoustics. Mimicking the design of old-time ear trumpets, the walls of the much smaller Innovald and the air within it vibrate in a way that amplifies important speech sounds.

People with mild to moderate hearing loss can use the new "Innovald." Once a patient is referred to the Speech and Hearing department at the Medical Center, his or her hearing is evaluated to determine the level of hearing loss and what type of device would best meet his or her needs. The effectiveness of the bubble in correcting hearing loss can be accurately measured while it is in a patient's ear thanks to a newly acquired computerized hearing aid filter in the department.

For more information on the Bubble, interested persons may contact Kennedy Medical Center's Speech and Hearing Department at (201) 321-7063.

Offers Electronics Certificate Program

A new non credit program to prepare participants for entry level positions in the electronics field will be offered this fall for the first time by Union County College.

The first course in the Electronics Technology Certificate Program will begin on September 16 and continue through November 20. The 20-session course, "DC Circuits," will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Scotch Plains Campus.

The student will be introduced to Ohm's Law, Kirchhoff's Current and Voltage Laws, series and parallel circuits and elementary algebra, according to Prof. Alfred Hartman of Warren, coordinator of the electronics technology program at UCC. Students may take the first course now and follow up with future courses or enter the workforce with qualifications to advance in the field.

The new program is a segment of the College's A.L.P. (Alternative Learning Program), designed specifically for individuals who want to take credit and non-credit career programs at more convenient times and during condensed shorter sessions than the normal college semester. A.L.P. gives students an opportunity to receive hands-on laboratory training leading to a certificate or gain career skills for quick entry into technical careers.

For registration information on the Electronics Technology Certificate Program, call the College's Office of Continuing Education, 276-7301.

Eye Specialists Fight Glaucoma Among Older New Jersey Residents

Eighty four elderly New Jersey residents might have gone blind from undetected glaucoma if they had not called 1-800-222-EYES, a public service which offers medical eye care to the disadvantaged elderly at no out-of-pocket cost.

The National Eye Care Project—which operates nationwide through a toll-free Helpline—opened in New Jersey June 2. It has received more than 2,800 calls from seniors in New Jersey who may be suffering from glaucoma and other sight-threatening eye diseases. More than 1987 of these callers have made appointments with volunteer physicians and have received treatment, including 84 found to have glaucoma. The project is sponsored locally by the New Jersey Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology and the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

"The uprose of this outreach service is to find elderly citizens who don't have a regular eye physician and who may well have significant, often blinding eye disease," said B. Thomas Hutchinson, MD, Associate Clinical Professor of Ophthalmology at Harvard Medical School, and chairman of the Academy's National Eye Care Project.

Glaucoma, with an increased incidence in those over age 65, is one of the leading causes of blindness in the U.S. today. Dr. Hutchinson said. In its early stages, glaucoma may present to obvious symptoms because initial damage occurs in the peripheral vision. One form of glaucoma, unless detected and treated immediately, can cause blindness in a day or two.

Glaucoma is characterized by elevations of pressure within the eye

South Amboy is a city rich in railroad history. This history, however, is rapidly becoming eclipsed from memory by the swift passage of time and the removal of prominent railroad landmarks.

Helping us turn back the clock a few decades on this history is retired locomotive engineer Joseph Szraga of Stevens Avenue who has an impressive collection of railroad pictures and other railroad treasures acquired over the years of his railroad career.

Picture No. 1 shows a Raritan River Railroad engine and tender, Number 16, being rotated on the turntable of the Roundhouse at the foot of South Stevens Avenue, and aligned with tracks leading into the shop entrance, for servicing. The turntable and roundhouse were destroyed by fire about two years ago. The picture was taken May 17, 1963.

Picture No. 2 shows a Pennsylvania Railroad engine, Number 5439 being "recharged" after a long road trip. The site was near the Pennsylvania Railroad Roundhouse off the yardmaster's office at the railroad yard off Augusta Street.

The picture was taken sometime after the May 19, 1950 Munitions Explosion in the City when the yardmaster's office had burned down and since rebuilt and is still in existence.

In the picture, the engine is discharging ashes into a large open bucket whose top surface was at ground level. The bucket was then raised on the conveyor seen in the picture and emptied into a gondola.

In the background can be seen the coal tower to which the engine was later backed to receive a fresh supply of soft coal and sand. The sand was used to prevent the driver wheels from slipping on the track.

Joe Szraga completed forty-three years as an engineer on the railroad in the employ of Pennsylvania Railroad, later named the Penn Central, Conrail and Amtrak, retiring in 1983.

Thanks to Joe for the loan of the photos used in this article.

VITAMIN C

Q. How does a Vitamin C deficiency affect teeth?

A. Even a minor deficiency of Vitamin C can cause tiny blood vessels to become brittle so that gums bleed spontaneously and bleed profusely. An extreme lack of C causes scurvy, the classic disease of sailors deprived of citrus fruits.

It has been found that administering a minimum of 300 mg of Vitamin C a day for 21 days to patients with periodontal disease can be notably effective in helping deal with the problem. Given in conjunction with a thorough cleaning and prophylaxis, the C can reduce gum inflammation by 58 percent. Vitamin C is known to play an important role in gum regeneration, too. Your dentist can recommend the best Vitamin C dosage for you.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,
This is in response to an article under Mile Square Talk that appeared in the August 28th issue of The Citizen.

The article very humorously depicted the tale of four teenagers caught with their "pants down" as they frolicked in the pool of a friend who was away. I'm sure your readers chuckled at the images your writer's witty descriptions invoked — dashing for freedom, clothing themselves along the way to the accompaniment of barking dogs and police spotlights. The article concludes by stating that "once the facts of the episode came to light, it seemed very funny."

Considering the above episode took place in my backyard, I'm sure you'll excuse my poor sense of humor. I do not consider trespassing a humorous issue. If charges had been pressed, would anyone find it humorous? If one of the teenagers had been hurt during their break from boredom who would be laughing?

Pool related accidents occur all too frequently under the best supervised conditions. A break from boredom frolic increases the potential for injury to not very funny proportions.

To the teenagers involved, who I know and trusted — you blew it guys.

To my aware and concerned neighbor who summoned the police — I thank you.

Lenore M. Gallery

Editors note: The sequence of events involved in the episode do add up to a humorous situation — but we are in full agreement with the writer as to the seriousness of the matter.
