

McCormack Problems Top Republican Campaign List

The city's Republican Party kicked off their 1986 campaign October 2nd with a fund raising cocktail party at the one time home of former New Jersey Governor Harold G. Hoffman. Robert A. Hoffman, the Republican candidate for mayor, is the grand nephew of the late governor.

Hoffman is joined on the ticket by Councilmen at Large candidates Vincent Mackiel and Kenneth Benson.

According to Hoffman, the problems attributed to the McCormack Aggregate Sand Company is one of the major issues in this year's campaign.

controversial waterfront development. The candidates see the development of citizen-oriented recreational facilities including the establishment of a natural environmental preserve, the creation of a center for cultural programming, the enhancement of the city's docking and launching facilities, the encouragement of recreation-supporting commerce and the development of safe parking facilities.

The question of the waterfront development has been one of the central issues this past year, especially since the forming of the Redevelopment Agency, the

"McCormack Sand has been an environmental threat to our waterfront for sometime," said Hoffman. "I am very concerned about the stress the operations of McCormack puts on the residents who live in their neighborhood."

Mackiel has been directly affected by the conditions at the sand facility. The huge sand piles are clearly visible from his front door. Mackiel and neighbor, George Forrer, are co-founders of the Resident Opposition for a Safe Environment Committee, which was recently formed to bring attention to the problems caused by the company's operation. Mackiel has also campaigned for more direct involvement in the matter by the local government.

Hoffman agrees more direct involvement is needed as problems and complaints multiply.

"It seems to me that the city officials could be more effective in convincing McCormack they must obey the law for the welfare of the residents nearby and for the sake of the environment," he said.

City Police Report Several Drug Arrests

South Amboy Police have reported several Narcotic related arrests in the first two weeks of the month.

After a two week investigation, police obtained a search warrant to search the premises of a local juvenile. Police would not disclose the address or identity of the youth.

On October 2, Detective Sergeant Ray Durski and Detective Bernard Mackiel obtained the search warrant from Judge Joseph Hoffman. Seized in the search was 300 "hits" of mescaline, which is a mild hallucinatory substance, which gives an effect similar to LSD.

According to police, the street value of the substance is over $1,200. Police also recovered related drug paraphernalia and over 25 grams of marijuana.

The juvenile was charged with possession of a controlled and dangerous substance and with intent to distribute. He was released in his parents' custody.

Husband and Wife Charged with Possession

Following a six week investigation police arrested two Broadway residents in another drug related matter.

Robert Fitzgerald, 39, and his wife, Carolyn, 34, of 112 S. Broadway were charged with possession of a controlled and dangerous substance and intent to distribute.

Judge Hoffman issued a search warrant of the premises October 3. Police confiscated a quantity of marijuana in excess of 25 grams and assorted paraphernalia used in distribution.

Investigating the case were Det. Sgt. Durski and Det. Mackiel, Sgt. Kenneth Szatkowski and Patrolman

Robert Krzyndzinski assisted in the raid.

Resident Charged With PCP Possession

At 9 p.m. on October 9, Patrolman Thomas Brinamen stopped a vehicle on the 200 block of First Street for a motor vehicle violation. While the two occupants were detained, it was learned there were active warrants for their arrest.

David Rabucha, 19 of Old Bridge was arrested on a Sayreville warrant. Patrick McNeal, 20, of David Street South Amboy was arrested on a Raritan Township warrant.

During transportation to the police station and processing, Det. Mackiel and Det. Sgt. Durski recognized a strong chemical odor, which they recognized as PCP emanating from McNeal's person.

A thorough search was conducted and a large quantity of PCP was found inside his clothing. Police estimate the street value to be over $700.

McNeal was charged with possession of a controlled and dangerous substance and with intent to distribute. He was taken to the Adult Correction Center in North Brunswick in lieu of $10,000 bail.

According to Captain Robert Kelly, the investigation into the matter is continuing and more arrests are expected.

Taverns Checked for ABC Violations

The South Amboy Police department has stepped up enforcement in the past week, of local taverns looking out for ABC violations.

Within the past week, 12 local taverns were randomly checked by the Patrol Division for violations. Police found two taverns to be in violation. Police would not release the names of the taverns as charges are pending at this time.

Ten of the taverns were in compliance. "Tavern owners are making an effort at running a straight ship," said Captain Robert Kelly.

More spot checks of city taverns are expected.

Cats, especially black ones, and other animals, often suffer as victims of careless Halloween pranks or deliberate evil rituals. As responsible pet owners you must keep your pets inside a fenced yard so they won't roam. But, during Halloween day and night, it is very important to keep pets inside your homes. They may be in danger if left in the yard. Let's help our pets have a healthy, happy Halloween.

Last year the State Health Dept. reported that 146,225 dogs and cats were placed in shelters. Almost 52%, 76,000 animals, were killed after being kept 7 days as required by law. Need more be said to you pet owners who do not have your animals (dogs and cats, male and female) spayed or neutered. Please call Virginia Stillwagon 721-7257 and she will make all the arrangements, or if you work, she will take the animal there for you.

The Raritan Bay Area YMCA on Washington Road in Parlin will hold an open house on Sunday, October 19th from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The Y's olympic sized heated swimming pool will be available for free recreational swimming.

The highlight of the day, according to Thomas E. Zeiga, Executive Director, will be the drawing for a free family membership.

YMCA staff will be on hand to provide program information and tours of the facilities which include a New Jersey State Licensed Day Care Center.

Time to settle all the rumors circulating. The Citizen will not become a Sunday paper. The South Amboy Citizen will continue to be available on Thursday. The Sunday paper scene is far too competitive at this stage of the game.

Why doesn't anyone put out a good Saturday paper? There is nothing to read on Saturdays. It would be a good idea to have one of those Sunday papers not print on Sunday, instead compile all the features and specials for a Saturday edition and get a jump on weekend reading.

We'd like to express get well wishes to Citizen municipal court police reporter Elise Sattilaro, who is recovering at home from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Get well soon!

CBS recording artist John Eddie will be returning to the Stone Pony in Asbury Park October 25 and 31. Eddie, a Laurence Harbor resident, recently made the national charts with his hit "Jungle Boy". The follow-up "Stranded" was recently released.

With election day less than three weeks away, the campaign is well underway. It seems the amount of lumber used now is considerably less than that for the primary.

An appearance by the Mets in the World Series would mean a field day for local taverns.

Looking forward to the popular autumn motorcycle touring season, Harley-Davidson dealers across America have chosen the most scenic road in each of the 50 states. According to a recent poll of Harley-Davidson dealers, Route 29, north of Trenton along the Delaware River, was voted the most enjoyable road to travel in New Jersey.

FLASHBACKS

COAL, NOISE POLLUTION TESTIMONY SOUGHT (5 years ago) October 15, 1981

Councilman Robert Noble Tuesday night requested the more than one dozen neighbors of McCormack to not openly discuss McCormack and the problems surrounding the coal company for fear of jeopardizing the civil action filed earlier that day.

While saying he was "not at liberty" to discuss the continued problems with the residents, Noble did say all those who wanted to submit an affidavit to the court concerning McCormack activities should do so on Monday, October 20, at 6:30 in City Hall.

Vincent Mackiel, Augusta Street resident, took exception to the request by Noble, saying as a citizen he felt he had every right to comment on the continuing dust storms and noise levels from McCormack, and did just that.

"The dates always seem to change," Mackiel said of the elusive court dates.

Councilman Noble again cautioned all those with complaints and requested they come before City Attorney Clark Covery and himself on October 26, and advised Mackiel the court date set for the suit hearing was November 20, 1981.

Noble also promised to look into the postponed municipal court charges and will ask for these matters to be disposed of as soon as possible.

SMOLNEY WALKS OUT UNDER INMAN ATTACK ON 27TH PAY PERIOD DEFECT (10 years ago) October 14, 1976

City employees gathered with the Council Tuesday on the matter of getting paid on the 27th payday of the year, Dec. 30, when only 26 paydays had seemingly been provided for. They were given assurance by Councilman James Inman that there was money in the budget for the Dec. 16-Dec. 30 work-and-pay period, that there would be no reason to walk off the job in protest Dec. 16. Councilman J. Thomas Cross verified the employee would get paid but did not accept Inman's version of it.

HOFFMAN SOCCER NOTES — The boys varsity soccer team last week swept through P.V.T. 5-3, Highland Park 4-2 and Henry Hudson 3-2. The team has tied an 8-year-old record for most wins in a row. The governors are now 8-0. Our next home game is tomorrow, Friday, at 3:45 at Veterans Field. Come on out and support the only undefeated team in the county!

Business Administrator Nicholas Smolney walked out of the meeting in angry protest against Inman's assertions that Smolney had been misleading the employees in his solutions for the situation. At Inman's demand that Smolney outline his three means of coping with the matter, the business administrator traced it back to a change in the mode of payment in 1972-73 from a biweekly basis to an annual salary basis in which employees receive 1/26th of their annual pay every two weeks on Thursday, but that this year the first pay had come Jan. 1 for work performed under the 1975 budget and to be paid out of the 1976 budget.

PUBLIC SCHOOL RANSACKED BY VANDALS (15 years ago), October 15, 1971

Thirteen hours after the local public schools were vandalized, local police apprehended three of the four youths responsible. One youth is still being sought.

The entry and damage was discovered by Superintendent of Schools Eugene Dobrzynski when he made an inspection of the school buildings on Sunday morning. Most of the damage was done to the elementary school floor which the vandals used in the attempt to open the school safe.

The break in the case occurred when two youths were picked up on Sunday night in the Masonic Temple. They were eating sandwiches and drinking soda pop when they were apprehended.

The youths are being held in the Juvenile Detention Home in North Brunswick awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges of juvenile delinquency.

Entry, according to Dobrzynski was gotten through a window on the roof of the elementary school, which leads to a lecture room in the high school building.

Tools used for entry into other rooms in the building were taken from the school's manual training room. In the principal's office, a window was shattered and the vandals tried to gain entry into the school safe with a hacksaw and later with two half gallon jugs of sulfuric and hydrofluoric acids.

A storage closet adjacent to the lecture room was broken into, after the door to the room was torn out of the frame. In all ten doors were jimmied or windows smashed, in an apparent search for money and valuables, Dobrzynski said.

The police made a rough estimate of $5,000 in damages.

Supt. of Schools Dobrzynski, when questioned on the extent of the damages stated that on Wednesday, it was still difficult to make a full estimate of the damages in that the effects of the acid could not be determined. The adjuster from the insurance company, did not arrive at a figure as yet. He will return in two weeks to make his report. No personal items belonging to the teachers as yet were reported missing. Many of the tools were damaged, and some are still missing, according to Dobrzynski.

Officers working on the case were: Detectives Raymond Durski and John Duggan, Sgt. Leroy Kurtz, Patrolmen: John O'Leary, Frank Dziekan and Joseph Dooling.

Operation Mail Call

Two million service men and women are too many to forget—especially at Christmas.

"I wish to express my gratitude for the Christmas greetings this command received through Mail Call. We have distributed the Christmas greetings to soldiers assigned in the area as well as to patients and staff at the Hospital. You have added a special touch to this Christmas that these soldiers will never forget. Thank you for your good work," wrote a lieutenant general in the U.S. Army in response to a bundle of mail sent through the 1985 Christmas Mail Call.

Commented one of the USOs which receives mail each Christmas, "You are to be congratulated as well as deeply appreciated for your consistency. We were able to advertise the joy of cards and holiday wishes well in advance with the assurance you would once again, as in so many years past, shower us with seasons greetings." These sentiments are extended in a special THANK YOU to those who have been so faithful over the years with Christmas mail. Concerned, thoughtful Americans have for a number of years shown that two million servicemen and women are too many to forget—especially at Christmas (as well as at other times during the year). Mail received from across the nation this past Christmas was sorted into more than 650 bundles and sent to destinations all across the U.S. and around the world for distribution to members of our Armed Forces.

Participating from SOUTH AMBOY: Christ

Church

Our sincere thanks go to all the other wonderful folks who had a part in making the 1985 Christmas Mail Call by far the most successful ever.

Mail Call is an exciting project for groups, organizations, churches, families, individuals, and schools from kindergarten through college. In short, for just about everybody! For complete information on how you, your family, and your group can have a part in this unique, patriotic program please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope (business size if possible) to Military Mail Call, Box 14397, Norfolk, Virginia 23518. Thank you!

Middlesex County College
To Hold Fair Saturday

The state's largest College Fair is slated for Sunday, October 19, 1986.

Representatives from more than 200 colleges and universities from all over the country will converge at Middlesex County College for a college fair that has been called "the largest educational event in the state" by its organizers. Participation is expected to surpass the 12,000 visitors who attended previous fairs. This year, the event will take place in the College Center from 1-4 p.m.

The event is being co-sponsored by Middlesex County College and the Middlesex County Guidance Council, which consists of guidance directors of the County's 34 high schools.

The event is open to the public and free of charge. It should be of special interest to college-bound high school students and their parents.

Representatives from institutions such as Penn State, Marquette University, Cornell, Boston College, and University of Delaware will be on hand to offer up-to-date, first-hand information about entrance requirements and application procedures.

In addition to these out-of-state institutions, all campuses of Rutgers and nearly all private and public colleges in New Jersey will be represented.

"It will be an excellent opportunity for Middlesex County and area residents to find out, under one roof, about the offerings of New Jersey's colleges," said Diana Michelle Goffe, Dean of Student Services at Middlesex County College. Goffe noted that college-bound students would typically have to travel to Philadelphia or Long Island for college fairs of this magnitude. In Middlesex County alone there are nearly 10,000 high school seniors who could be spared traveling out of state.

"Middlesex County College is happy to provide this service to the residents of Middlesex County. We are confident that this opportunity will allow parents and students to see how favorable New Jersey colleges compare to out-of-state schools," Goffe said.

Representatives from the colleges will be welcomed at an introductory continental breakfast Sunday morning by Jeanne Polinski, President of the Middlesex County Guidance Council and Director of Guidance at St. Mary's High School, South Amboy.

There is plenty of parking space available, and the College is easy to reach by car or mass transit. Further information regarding this major college air can be obtained from high school guidance departments or by calling the Middlesex County College Admissions Office at (201) 549-8000.

National Arts Week

In celebration of National Arts Week, the Middlesex County Arts and Education Council will sponsor ARTS/SUNDAY, a program for youth on November 16, hosted by Middlesex County College.

ARTS/SUNDAY is a daylong event designed to offer 500 teenage artists a chance to meet exciting adult artists and be instructed by them in challenging projects, to meet students with a common interest in the arts from throughout the county, and, not least, the option to tryout for Middlesex County Arts High School, which starts in January," says Estelle Hasenberg, executive director.

Students in grades 9-12 will be offered program choices in the literary, performing and visual arts, while younger students, grades 7-8, will be given an introductory program limited to theater arts. Advance registration is required, deadline October 25th.

Arts High School, now in its seventh year, functions as a nonprofit adjunct to 35 public and nonpublic schools in Middlesex County. Accelerated curriculums taught by some of New Jersey's finest artists serve more than 170 gifted youth annually.

Each Arts High School student, selected by qualified arts judges through an audition/portfolio review, attends the program one day a week from January to May. Certificate courses include creative writing, modern dance, theater arts, visual arts, vocal music, and instrumental music for brass, woodwinds, and strings. Round trip transportation is provided.

News from Trinity United Methodist

Phrases from Scripture shape themselves with whimsy sometimes as the writer struggles to express himself. This week's message is one of those phrases, entitled "Itching Ears." Join us for the 10 a.m. service preceded by church school. There are two adult classes for you to choose from while your children are in class.

We have a busy week and weekend ahead of us. The United Methodist Women will have their Hobo Dinner on Monday at 6:30. On Tuesday at 10 our Bazaar Workshop will meet with Choir rehearsing on Wednesday at 7:30. Next Saturday, October 25, we will have our annual Roast Beef Dinner, starting at 5 p.m. Tickets are available from the United Methodist Women NOW for $8.00 (children under 10 at $4.00). You can expect a better dinner for the price than you would get in any restaurant!

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be praised, honored, adored and glorified now and forever. Most Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on us and help us. Holy St. Jude, hope of the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer 9 times a day. By the 9th day your prayer will have been answered. It has never been known to fail.

Publication must be promised. My prayers have been answered.

Matters of Health Osteoarthritis of the Spine

My doctor says if I don't go on a diet and get some exercise I'm at risk for osteoarthritis of the spine. Is that the same as "regular arthritis," and how much weight do I have to lose?

Osteoarthritis of the spine, sometimes called "degenerative osteoarthritis of the spine," is caused by many of the same factors that cause osteoarthritis of any other joint. A more descriptive term might be "wear and tear of the spine."

The spine is a complicated structure including large bones, the vertebrae, linked together by joints and cushioned one from another by the shock absorber-like cartilage discs. The back is further strengthened by tough supporting ligaments and muscles. We all use the joints and soft tissues of our back literally millions of times over the course of a lifetime. As we age, the discs become thinner and less flexible. Unlike other tissues of the body, we have no natural mechanisms to help new cartilage grow back. The body responds by forming new bone, some of which is in the form of abnormal spurs which may in turn interfere with the spinal cord. Although many people can have a great deal of wear and tear and never experience back pain, the unlucky among us can get intermittent or chronic back pain or stiffness.

Over 90% of people experience some form of back pain at one time or another. Most back pain is due to strains or pulls of the supporting muscles or ligaments of the back and can frequently be rapidly relieved by rest, local heat and medications to reduce the pain, inflammation or muscle spasm. In osteoarthritis of the back or neck, the mechanics of the spine are permanently disrupted and recurrent pains of a variety of types are the rule. Shooting pain down the back of the legs to the foot (sciatica) frequently indicates pinching on the nerves from a damaged disc or from a bony spur. Chronic discomfort, either sharp and localized or dull and widespread, begins to occur and seems to be worsened by more use of the back. Simple tasks of daily living become difficult and painful.

There are a number of ways you can modify your lifestyle to prevent the onset of symptomatic osteoarthritis of the back. Around 90% of the muscular support of the trunk is in the abdomen. Maintenance of good abdominal muscle tone not only makes you look better but helps to strengthen the back. A protruding overweight abdomen alters the posture and puts constant strain on the back. High-heeled shoes cause strain on the back as well, since you must arch the back to maintain a good center of gravity. Learn to protect your back. If you must pick up heavy objects, bend at the knees and not at the back.

There are a number of ways your physician can help to diagnose the cause of chronic back pain. Routine x-rays can easily show the changes of osteoarthritis and can also exclude other diseases such as osteoporosis, fractures, damage from infections and other causes of chronic arthritis. If your symptoms suggest a pinched nerve, this can be assessed by electromyography and the need for surgery judged by modern techniques such as a CAT scan of the back.

Treatment approaches are many. All patients seem to benefit from rest, instruction in how to protect the back, and application of local heat. Your physician and your physical therapist can tailor an exercise program for you that helps to relieve pain and prevent further occurrences. Medication choices are many and are not necessary for all. A variety of aspirin-like drugs, the nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory agents, are now available to relieve pain and local inflammation. Muscle relaxants benefit many patients during acute flares. Dietitians can help with long term programs for weight reduction, and occupational therapists can help with clever suggestions and devices to help you reduce the stresses of daily living on your back.

The Status of Underage Drunken Drivers

The public is greatly concerned about people who drive while drunk. This group of drivers includes, unfortunately, many drivers who are under 21.

At the outset it must be made clear that these drivers are responsible for their own acts and anyone who is injured as a result of their negligence has the right to file a lawsuit against them.

The law in New Jersey expands the victim's rights to include in their lawsuit the establishment where alcoholic beverage was purchased. This is because those who are in the liquor business are aware that it is fraught with dangers and the members of the general public as well as individual patrons are entitled to receive high measures of protection from its abuses.

The group protected by this law includes even those underage drivers who purchase alcoholic beverages and are injured in accidents while driving their cars after they drink. This is because the New Jersey Legislature and Courts recognize that minors are susceptible to the inherent dangers, and not sufficiently mature to partake of alcoholic beverages.

Any driver, minor or not, who is convicted of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor faces a variety of fines, penalties, and insurance surcharges.

The penalties for a first offense mandate a minimum fine of $250.00, a period of detainment of not less than 12 hours and a loss of driving privileges for a period of not less than six months. The offender also pays a fee of $40.00, must successfully complete a program of highway safety and alcohol education, and is assessed a per diem charge of $25.00 for attendance at the Intoxicated Driver Resource Center. A surcharge of $100.00 is imposed to fund a "Drunk Drivers Enforcement Fund." There is an insurance surcharge of $3,000.00 payable at the rate of $1,000.00 per year, and lastly, the court may impose a jail term of not more than 30 days and may increase the minimum fines.

These fines, sanctions, and surcharges have probably arisen in response to the public's awareness of the devastation that can arise from drinking and driving.

With this background, it is now time to turn to an actual case which involved a 17 year old who bought two 6 packs of beer at a liquor store, drank them, and was later arrested for, and convicted of, driving under the influence. No accident was involved, but she paid various fines, fees, and the insurance surcharge.

Thereafter, she sued the liquor store claiming that it was negligent in selling her the beer in violation of state law. She sought to recover all the money she paid out and also for damages because of her license suspension. She claimed that since the liquor store would be responsible for her injuries if she had an accident, then it should also be responsible for her other costs.

How far will the court go in protecting minors? Fortunately, not this far. That no one shall be permitted to benefit from his own wrong is a well settled legal principle. Drunk drivers must be accountable for their conduct. In ruling against the minor in this case, the court continued to uphold this policy. This decision still protects innocent victims and the minor from injuries but does not allow the minor to avoid individual responsibility for driving while drunk. To decide otherwise would lessen the punitive, deterrent, and rehabilitative purposes of the motor vehicle laws.

Alice Schwankert, of Parlin, is happy to explain why she chooses to volunteer:

"It's something special. I have a soft spot in my heart for all of our patients and I'm proud of the good work we're doing at South Amboy Memorial."

By lending a helping hand, by listening, by wearing a cheerful smile, South Amboy Memorial Hospital's volunteers show they care and their involvement makes a difference for patients and for the volunteers themselves.

As Alice said, "I have a need to be busy, to be involved with people and to have variety in my life. I get all of this and more through my volunteer work... I find it very gratifying and highly recommend it to anyone."
