NEW HIGH POWER LINE TO GO WITH RAIL ELECTRIFICATION

First step locally in the long awaited electrification of the Conrail North Jersey Shore R.R. from South Amboy south was taken Monday but it was not moved by the Department of Transportation or Conrail officials.

Jersey Central Power & Light officials met in closed conference talk with the South Amboy Mayor and Council over the need to run a new power line from the South Amboy generating plant south to Red Bank to accommodate the $288 million rail project. The talks were kept secret to enable JCP&L to negotiate for a right of way for the power line on a zoning override whereby applications for variances would not be needed and property owners could be approached for easements without turmoil. The Council was approached as one route considered would pass over the city owned landfill reclamation area.

As for the rail work itself, DOT Commissioner Louis J. Gambaccini told a contractor group in Little Silver Thursday that work has started on trackage improvement between South Amboy and Matawan but that foundations supporting structures and a distribution system for the catenary electric overhead and rebuilding of the Creekside Creek Morgan and Travis Creek Bridges must get under way for a target completion late in 1980.

On the electrification side, Gambaccini commented that an 11 kilovolt power line between South Amboy and Matawan must be operational in 1980 to get limited electric train service extended from South Amboy to Matawan. In 1982 the commissioner felt a new signal and communications system between South Amboy and Matawan could be reached that the service between the two points could be on a normalized scheduling.

However, Gambaccini felt that the project was not totally a shore line one, that, by 1984, a new signal and communication system would have to be installed between Rahway and South Amboy, a Public Service Gas & Electric area to the Raritan River Bridge and the same will have to be completed between Matawan and Bay Head in that year. A full 25 kilovolt power line which have to be completely operational by then between South Amboy and Long Branch. The Long Branch storage yard must have been rehabilitated by then to take much of the train storage from the South Amboy yard.

State Sen. Thomas Gagliano, R-Mon, questioned how the terminus of electric train operations from South Amboy to Matawan could be effected by 1980 even on a limited basis because of the lack of commuter parking facilities at Matawan. And a grade crossing condition there even worse than the ones at John St. and Augusta St. in South Amboy.

But a dubious note was struck Monday when a report by Gambaccini on the 1980 bonding for mass transit showing only $7.4 million in state funds and $6.8 million in federal funds remaining for ongoing electrification of both the North Jersey Shore Line and the Erie Lackawanna Morristown line. The commissioners saw these funds disbursed by the end of this year. The commissioner is agitating for the passage of a $475 million state transportation bond issue in the November, 1979 election. If it is defeated, the State Department of Transportation will have to depend on $120 million to be taken from Port Authority toll funds and getting a price of $480 million in current federal public transportation funds available.

Closing Alley Used As Gang Hangout Asked By Citizens

Closing off the alley that divides the block between First St. and Second St. at east from Broadway north was put before the Council Tuesday by Pat Moran, a spectator who lives by it in the North Broadway area, as a means of better controlling disorders in the area. She said she had canvassed owners along the alley and had found a willingness on their part to extend their property lengths by purchasing the alley and splitting the land between them. Mrs. Moran found the alley in particular hiding out place for a youth motorcycle gang and other youths who drove cars with false inspection strips.

Mayor J. Thomas Cross advised Mrs. Moran there would be no need for the adjoining owners to buy the alley as it was apparently city owned. Councilman Richard Schultz declared that if such was the case, the Council should order it closed off that very night. He also demanded police be sent into the area immediately not even waiting until the next day, to round up the illegal riders and troublemakers.

Mrs. Moran cautioned it would not be so easy, that she had found the local police reluctant to move against the offenders when called in. Mrs. Moran said the youths openly declare their contempt for police measures against them, blatantly announced "we got connections" that they could not be touched. She said her only inkling as to what this meant was that one or two of them are related to a powerful political figure in an adjoining municipality.

Kurtz Wants New Legal Move To Stop Downs Work

In a strongly worded letter to Clark Convery, city attorney, Fred Kurtz, city code enforcement officer, calls for drastic action against Robert Downs, 364 Portia St., under building permit 293. Downs contends he is proceeding under a permit issued for a garage but Kurtz, by a recent inspection, has become convinced that Downs is creating an illegal two dwelling structure on one lot.

Convery had Downs before Superior Court Judge David Furman on the matter in April. Downs offered to seek

Fire-Gutted Home Raided by Vandals; Lab Equipment Stolen

Fresh stories of vandalizing on the rise as summer nears stirred the indignation of the Council Monday. And city police's record of incidents seared the blotter over the weekend.

An incident that provoked official anger especially was perpetrated against Martin Ruzsala, 236 Walnut St., Saturday night. The Ruzsalas had their home scorched by fire May 2 and Martin Ruzsala, Jr., whose photographic laboratory was in the basement, suffered a $150,000 loss in his equipment and business. He called police Sunday to investigate a forcible entry to the home the Ruzsalas had been forced to evacuate because of the fire.

Ptl Robert Point found entry had been made by forcing a locked side door. In the interior, household furnishings saved in the fire had been shoved all around, the floor was littered with empty beer and wine bottles and a cassette tape recorder and recording tapes had been stolen.

Council anger also arose against those who vented their spleen on a householder who watched and reported damage done to the new Towerland Park. Fred Kurtz, city engineer, reported shrubs and flowers put in one day were found torn out and littering the woman's lawn the next morning. In apparent "repaying" for her watchfulness, vandals ran black paint markings on the side of her house and painted in obscene pictures and wordings.

Kurtz expressed amazement at the labor the vandals put in to get the hinges off the fence on Pupek Rd. to make it collapse and how they cut a hole in the heavy mesh wire fencing. He opined they came on the scene with wire chippers and sledge hammers, a lot of trouble, as he saw it, just to vent sheer destructiveness.

Police had their usual over the weekend. A George St. resident reported a rock was sent smashing through a window of his home. A S

THE WINNERS WITH THE ONE WHO GUIDED THEM-At the Victory Dinner of South Amboy Democrats at the Shore Casino May 4, those elected on the party ticket in 1978, Councilman-at-Large Thomas O'Brien, Councilman-at-Large Frank Tarallo and Mayor J. Thomas Cross, shake heartily with Councilman Richard Schultz, who as party chairman, guided them through their successful campaign.

TEN STREETS ON REPAVING LIST; CAN BE FUNDED THIS YEAR

The ten streets included in the $600,000 street repaving project of the Capital Budget were listed in full by the Council Monday. Henry St., between Stevens Ave. and Broadway, has immediate priority because of a sewer collapse. Then comes a portion of Raritan St., David St., Lower Conover St., Center St., a portion of Gordon St., a portion of Lower George St., Feltus St., from 5th St. to the Park, Bordentown Ave. from Stevens Ave. to Broadway, Louisa St., Augusta St., Prospect St.

Councilman Chester Meinzer Jr. asked that Lower Louisa St. be given a much higher priority. Bad Vandalism by the Frog Hollow Swim & Tennis Club has aggravated the problem.

The work on Raritan St. is to be tied in with the $2,160,000 grant for the Mechanicsville-Melrose drainage project. Fred Kurtz, city engineer, reported surface water from the Shoprite center over the line in Sayreville flows down past the Bergen Hill area and Walnut and Cedar St. under the railroad bridge and across Railroad Ave. to Raritan St. The drain plan also takes a draining for Eblner St. in Melrose, he noted. The outfall will be from Lower Raritan St. to the bay.

This raised question if putting in curbin for 300 ft. on the Harry Flakker property side of Raritan St. would better contain the down flush of water. But Councilman Richard Schultz warned curbing could not be included for one property, no matter how well it would work into the plan. Councilman Thomas O'Brien felt a curbing assessment should be discussed if curbing would better conserve the work to be done on Raritan St. But it was doubted that Parkway Fabricators, across the street, would be interested and a curbing assessment a variance in 90 days and the court accepted this condition. But Rosemary Kurtz, secretary of the South Amboy Zoning Board of Adjust, confirmed Monday no application has been received from Downs yet to get on the June 13 monthly meeting of the board, the last regular meeting at which Downs could be heard before his 90 days allowance expires. Mrs. Kurtz notes that three applicants who could not make the May 9 meeting of the board have a priority on the three cases limit of the June 13 agenda of the board.

The Council concurred with Kurtz when his letter to Convery was read and gave such authorization as needed for the city attorney to act at his own discretion.

The Kurtz letter to Convery:

"In accordance with our discussion, concerning the various complaints I have received regarding the captioned permit, I conducted an inspection of the premises on Thursday, May 10, 1979, with a photographer.

"The owner has caused to have the following work done, all of which is in violation of his permit conditions.

1. Installed second floor joists and subflooring.
2. Constructed an addition to the exterior of the building which increases its size and changes entire rear and roof line configuration.
3. Installed copper tubing and insulated copper tubing for plumbing and heating.
4. Installed waste line plumbing for sanitary purposes.
5. Added aluminum fascia gutters, etc.

"The entire project is unquestionably being done to provide living quarters and, in every respect, completely violates the permit issued.

"Mr. Downs' complete disregard for City Ordinances has placed my Department in a position of great stress. You must furnish me with the tools required to stop all construction and to completely remove all unauthorized construction if the integrity of my department is to be maintained."

Former Administrator Ousted in Keyport

A former business administrator of South Amboy, Edward McLane, was dismissed from a similar position in Keyport Monday by the Council of that borough. McLane had taken the Keyport position in October, 1975, three months after he left the post in South Amboy.

McLane received appointment in South Amboy after the changeover in municipal government under the Faulkner Act, requiring such an official be installed. He came into conflict with the majority on the city Council in 1973-74, resulting in counter suits, the Council seeking to force him out over the opposition of then Mayor William E. O'Leary and McLane charging certain members of the Council at that time with malicious harassment. He was fired in September, 1974, by a majority of the then Council but Mayor O'Leary took advantage of the Faulkner Act provision to reinstate him for 90 days. The suits were finally settled in an agreement by which McLane resigned July 17, 1975.

The South Amboy post paid $14,000 when McLane resigned. It now pays $21,000. The Keyport position presently pays $21,000.

McLane came into conflict in Keyport with a newly elected Mayor, Leroy Bergen, Jan. 1 but refused to resign. There was division on the Keyport Council in the matter for some time but this week that body acted unanimously to let McLane go.

The officers entered complaints against apprehended offenders. Three patrolmen, Kenneth Szatkowski, Thomas Brinamen and James Holovacko, charged a South Amboy youth, Robert Switzer, in separate complaints, with making a wild ride through city streets, defying their signals to stop at three separate points where they were waiting, and racing past dangerously close to them. Switzer was put under $200 bail.

Det. Raymond Durski and Sgt. Robert Kelly took into custody two South Amboyans, Angelo Aceta and Francis T. EASTER SEALS SPONSORS
FIFTH ANNUAL NATIONAL HANDICAPPED AWARENESS WEEK

The fifth annual National Handicapped Awareness Week, May 13-19, will be sponsored by the New Jersey Easter Seal Society to focus public attention on the abilities of handicapped persons and on ways architectural and attitudinal barriers can be eliminated and modified.

The National Easter Seal
Society and its 1,100 affiliates nationwide have organized and sponsored National Handicapped
Awareness Week since 1975.

"While Easter Seals has provided comprehensive services to persons with disabilities for the past 60 years," reports Anthony Schoberl, President of the New Jersey Easter Seal Society, "in recent years we have become increasingly active in working with the community to inform the general public, local government and business leaders of the rights and needs of handicapped people."

"A disability is a fact of life for some 35,000,000 Americans. All too often these people are handicapped not by their disability but by adverse conditions in their communities," Schoberl states. As examples, Schoberl mentions architectural barriers and attitudes of employers.

"It's the public library with steps that handicaps the disabled person," he states,
"and it's the employer who sees only a person's disabilities rather than his abilities. It is necessary to eliminate attitudinal as well as environmental barriers."

"Many of the modifications designed to help persons with disabilities actually help a lot of other people," Schoberl states.
"Ramps that replace steps, for instance, are a boon to pregnant women, and because most of us will experience some sort of disability as we grow older, what we do now to eliminate barriers for others may well benefit ourselves sometime in the future."

COAST GUARD TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Rescue operations are one of the best-known duties of the Coast Guard and on May 19 the public will have a chance to see both old and new rescue methods firsthand.

Using turn-of-the-century equipment, National Parks Service members will demonstrate rescue procedures used by the former U.S. Lifesaving Service, which merged with the Coast Guard in 1915. A modern Coast Guard helicopter will also perform a simulated air-sea rescue.

These are only two of the activities that will highlight the Armed Forces Day Open House to be held at Governors Island, New York from noon until 4 p.m. on May 19.

Visitors will be able to see historic houses and forts that date back to the 18th century, tour modern Coast Guard ships, visit a Revolutionary War encampment, watch a mock Revolutionary Militia battle, see the Coast Guard Academy drill team perform and attend a concert by the highly acclaimed Coast Guard Band.

Admission is free, but children under the age of 14 must be accompanied by an adult. No automobiles are allowed on Governors Island, but bicycles are welcome. The parklike atmosphere of Governors Island makes it an ideal spot for a picnic and visitors may bring their own or purchase sandwiches, soft drinks and snacks on the island.

Free ferry service is available from noon to 4 p.m. from the Coast Guard Ferry Terminal adjacent to the Staten Island Ferry Terminal at the southern tip of Manhattan. Ferries depart every 15 minutes and the last ferry returning to Manhattan leaves Governors Island at 6 p.m.

The history of Governors Island's occupation by Europeans began in 1637 when it was bought from the Indians by Wouter Van Twiller in a real estate deal almost as canny as the purchase of Manhattan. He traded two axe heads, a string of beads, and a handful of nails for the 170 acres.

Today, Governors Island is a pleasant blend of the old and the new. As Headquarters for the First Army until 1966 it played a vital role in New York's and the nation's past. Today it is the home of the U.S. Coast Guard Third District and Atlantic Area and is equally as important in our present and future.

For more information on the Open House, call (212) 668-7253.

FREE BOOKLETS OFFERED DURING ARTHRITIS MONTH

"Because May is National Arthritis Month, the New Jersey Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation is doing everything possible to inform the public about the nearly 100 forms of arthritis, and what we are doing to combat them," reports Mrs. Eileen Froehlich, R.N., M.A., a Board Member of the Local Health Agency.

The Foundation is expanding its public education program this month in the hope that many New Jersey residents will write for the many free booklets available. As this literature discloses, arthritis afflicts over 30 million men, women and children in America including more than one million right here in New Jersey. While none can be cured, most can be effectively treated.

"Too many people think that arthritis is hopeless, but it's not true," said Mrs. Froehlich. "The Arthritis Team—physicians, nurses, physical and occupational therapists, nutritionists—now can do a great deal to prevent pain and crippling but they can't do it alone. An informed, cooperative patient is essential."

Patients usually interpret cooperation to mean taking their medication on schedule. For the arthritis patient, it means far more. It is essential to maintain a balance between resting seriously inflamed joints and doing special exercises to help continue or restore mobility. Too much exercise, or the wrong kind, can aggravate rather than help an arthritis condition, and too much rest can increase joint stiffness and pain.

Mrs. Froehlich noted that a special booklet which tells about maintaining this balance is called "Home Care Programs in Arthritis." It is available free to patients and physicians from the New Jersey Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, 26 Prospect St., Westfield, N.J. 07090. While writing, find out more about the agency by asking for another free leaflet—"The Arthritis Foundation: What it is, What it does."

ARTS & CRAFTS FAIR

The Sayreville Public Schools will sponsor their annual "Arts and Crafts Fair" on Sunday, May 20, in the high school gymnasium. Displays will include both elementary and secondary school projects done by students in both the fine and industrial arts. The gymnasium, located on Washington Road, will be open from 9 to 4, and admission is free. The public is invited to attend.

A special highlight of the fair this year is the dedication of the new art wing, scheduled for 11 a.m. The public is invited to attend and tour this new facility in the school. It will be put into curricular use in the new school term, adding both class and corridor space to the school.

The day's festivities will also include a Pancake Breakfast sponsored by the High School Band Parents from 8-12 in the high school cafeteria, as well as a day long car wash sponsored by the Senior Class.

Repaving List . . .

could not be instituted unless all owners were included.

The work on the ten streets was originally allocated on a three-year basis at $200,000 per year. But when the Feb. 23 bonding issue was moved to conserve the city's borrowing power against a school board extension of credit funding for the ten streets was all included in 1979 work, $30,000 to come out of Capital Improvement Fund and $500,000 from sale of bonds. It was noted this allows the streets repaving to go along as fast as desired, in that the authorization to sell bonds to finance it exists, yet the council can put it all back on the $200,000 per year three-year calendar.

Raritan St. has second priority in the need to get work done in keeping with the Mechanicsville-Melrose drainage, due for financing in 1980.

We need your help to make it happen. You can contact any of the Little Fellas managers to make your contributions or you may contact me.
