City to Hold Special Ed Meetings

South Amboy will hold two seminars explaining the special education laws and parental rights at the Elementary School gymnasium next month.

Sponsored by the Statewide Parent Advocacy Networks (SPAN), the seminars will be held on March 9th and 31st, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

SPAN is a non-profit group that serves parents of children with disabilities and those with special health care needs.

Pre-registration is required. Those interested should call (908) 525-2104. A $5.00 donation is requested to pay for materials.

Borough School Talks Stalled

The Sayreville Board of Education is asking for a third party to come in and resolve the stalled contract negotiations with the union representing the borough teachers, clerical workers, nurses and school employees.

The main stumbling block in the negotiations is in health care costs. The Board maintains that these costs have escalated to almost 100% over the past three years and that it would be impractical for the board to be burdened with its total expense.

The board also wanted to tier system that would offer new employees lesser benefits.

The union has requested pay increases that would be varied according to job description, the lowest percentage going to the teachers who represent the largest portion of the union. The average raise of all union employees would be between 7 and 10 percent.

The union has been working without a contract since June 30, 1992.

Youth Association to Honor Teenager

South Amboy City officials will honor a young person from South Amboy, age 13 through 18, who has achieved a personal goal in the past year.

The award is in the name of Howard Alexander and pays homage to the long time editor of the News Tribune, as well as being a known area historian and public speaker. Mr. Alexander died in 1989, after working for the newspaper for forty seven years. His family designated the South Amboy Youth Center as the recipient of donations in his memory, as an example of the community-based groups he was found of supporting. The South Amboy Youth Association has chosen to honor Howard Alexander by encouraging and rewarding youth of ability and achievement within the City.

A book in Alexander's field of achievement, with a plate in it noting the award, and a cash prize will be given on June 1, 1993.

Applications can be obtained at the Dowdell Library, Senior Citizen Center, and City Hall. The completed form should be sent to the Howard Alexander Award Committee, South Amboy Youth Association, P.O. Box 267, South Amboy, NJ 08879. Deadline for applications is April 15, 1993.

Liquor Licensees Must Post Health Warnings

With one of six babies born each year exposed to drugs or alcohol during pregnancy, Governor Jim Florio signed a law requiring bars, restaurants and other facilities that sell liquor to post warnings for women about the adverse affects of drinking during pregnancy.

The state Department of Health would be required to prepare notices in English and Spanish which would be distributed by the local boards of health to licensees. The notices would warn women that alcohol consumption during pregnancy can cause birth defects and low birth weight, as well as Fetal Alcohol Syndrome. Fines of $50 for each violation would be assessed under the new law.

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) is one of the top three known causes of birth defects with accompanying mental retardation and is the only preventable cause among the three, according to the National Council of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse. FAS can be prevented by abstaining from alcohol consumption during pregnancy. Drinking during pregnancy can also cause fetal alcohol effects, a less severe form of FAS, which involves low birth weight and behavioral problems. According to the council, an average of one or two drinks daily is linked to decreased birth weight, growth abnormalities and behavioral problems in newborns and infants.

Newly elected - Second ward councilman, Don Thomas is sworn into office by Mayor John T. O'Leary, while his wife Tracy holds the bible with daughter Brianne looking on.

Revaluation Lowers Boro Tax Rates

The first property evaluation in over ten years has nearly tripled Sayreville's ratable base.

As expected, the increase in the tax base lowered the tax rates to be charged on property throughout the borough.

Sayreville officials aren't guaranteeing that individual taxes in the borough will not go up but are doing what they can to keep the taxes down. Collectively, the same amount of taxes will be derived from the residents and businesses.

There have been no cuts in services or staff.

The new rates are now being certified by the Middlesex County Board of taxation.

Burn Victim Condition Upgraded

Brian Tubagh, 32, of Skytop Gardens and an employee of Raritan Steel Company in Sayreville, has had his condition upgraded from "critical" to "stable."

Tubagh has been in St. Barnabus Medical Center in Livingston since the December 1st accident.

Tubagh was severely burned when a huge vat of molten steel bubbled up and sprayed into the air.

Father Szaroleta Assigned to Clinton Parish

Father Andrew L. Szaroleta, has been assigned as pastor of Immaculate Conception Parish, Clinton, following the death of Msgr. Immanuel W. Vernon in December.

At Immaculate Conception, Father Szaroleta will oversee construction of a new church and serve the spiritual needs of the 1,000 families who together comprise the Clinton parish, as well as the mission parish of St. Catherine of Siena in Pittstown.

He was born in Perth Amboy and graduated from St. Stephen Elementary School and Perth Amboy Public High School.

Since 1986, Father Szaroleta has served as pastor of St. Bernadette Parish, Parlin. There he oversaw completion of the construction of Lourdes Center and other church improvements. He also expanded the social concerns committee, which runs a food pantry and prepares meals for people staying at a Salvation Army in Perth Amboy. Under his pastorate, the faith community has increased by 500 families to its present number of 2,287 families.

Szaroleta served as associate pastor in St. Joseph Parish, Washington, where, in addition to his normal parish duties, he oversaw the development and administration of the newly-instituted St. Theodore Parish in Port Murray. While serving there he celebrated Masses for St. Theodore members in the local public school adjacent to the property where the church was eventually built.

In addition, Father Szaroleta served from 1977 to 1983 as associate pastor of Sacred Heart, South Amboy, and as temporary administrator of Our Lady of Czestochowa, South Plainfield.

On a diocesan level, he is director of Pastoral Care, Office of Cemeteries, as well as a member of the Presbyteral Council. In addition, Father Szaroleta serves the civic community as chaplain of the Madison Park Fire Department.

Father Szaroleta states that his focus as a pastor is to build on the spiritual life of the parish, noting that he is much more comfortable on the pulpit than at a desk. He said, "My Naval Reserve; Private John Calaruso, Air Forces Technical Training Command; Corporal Charles A. Sharo, U. S. Army; Dorothy Inman, 24th Company, 4th Bn., 4th Regiment of the WAAC's at Daytona Beach; Corporal George R. Kierst, U. S. Army Expeditionary Force; Edward F. Sprattford, U. S. Navy; Alexander Alexanderites, Army and National Guard. Other city residents that served during this time include: FFC, Kenneth Badore, Captain William Briggs, Staff Sergeant Robert P. McGowan, John Farrell, and Corporal Donald J. Farrell.

South Amboy resident, Colonel David B. Kelly, has been nominated as a Brigadier General by President Johnson. The President has sent his recommendation to the Senate for confirmation. Kelly is the recipient of the Silver Star, Bronze Star, and two Purple Hearts. Released from the service as Major, he became Chief of Staff and Assistant Division Commander, under General James G. Cassidy with the rank of Colonel, in the 78th Infantry Training Division in New Jersey. Graduating from the State Police Academy in 1946, Kelly rose in rank from Trooper to Superintendent position. The son of Theresa and the late James Kelly, the Colonel was born in South Amboy and graduated from St. Mary's High School. He is married to the former Geneva Dorrian and have five children.

William "Doc" O'Leary was officially sworn in as the City of South Amboy's Council representative from the Third Ward. O'Leary was selected for the post by the Democratic Committee members in the ward. A South Amboy native, he attended local schools and Fordham University. During World War II, he won the air Medal serving as an aerial engineer in China and Burma. O'Leary resides on Henry Street, South Amboy with his wife, Jane and has two children.

South Amboy resident, and Hoffman High School teacher, Tony Gonsalves, appeared March 5th and 6th, 1981, on the Bob Stewart Production of the $50,000 pyramid television game show. Of the possible 70 contestants, 25 were randomly selected to play rehearsal games in front of a panel. Mr. Gonsalves received a phone call the next day to be a regular contestant on the show. His teammates were Adrienne Barbeau and LaVar Burton. Tony, a cash prize winner, also won two round trip tickets to Europe for himself and his mother. (JOHS).

This will be a regular feature of the newspaper. All information was taken from the archives of the South Amboy Citizen dating back over fifty years. Special thanks to Mr. Keith McCoy and the staff of the Dowdell Library for their cooperation.

Lozak Resigns From GOP

Steve Lozak, the 1992 Middlesex County Republican Candidate for Sheriff and this Borough's Republican Municipal Chairman today submitted his resignation as a republican Municipal Chairman and filed a change of party card to become a registered Democrat.

In a letter to Helena Makransky, the Sayreville Republican Organization Secretary, Lozak cited the deep turmoil within the Republican Party as one of the reasons for his departure. The letter said, "Like many members of our Party, I never really understood why Councilman and now Senator Randy Corman invited John McCormack into the Republican Party."

Lozak said that Republicans on the local, county and state level had failed to live up to their promises, stating that on the local level, "petty partisan bickering and the politics of exclusion... has hurt not only our Party, but our community as well." On the county level, Lozak criticized the Republican freeholders for wasting a historic opportunity for change. For the first time in sixty years our Party won a majority on the Freeholders Board. However, instead of working to make changes, they hired cronies and handed out patronage. Instead of working for the people, they fought among themselves. That is truly unfortunate."

On the state level, Lozak said that he was "disappointed in the quality of leadership displayed by Republican legislators," including Senator Randy Corman, and Assemblymen Mikulak and Oros, saying that "the tough issues that need to be addressed are being ignored."

The Republican turned Democrat said that he felt more at home with the Democrat Party. According to Lozak, the reforms that Middlesex County Democratic Chairman Harry Pozyczki instituted have made the Democratic Party into the true Party of the People. "The grass-roots organization of the Democratic Party ensures that the people's agenda, and not the politician's agenda, comes first."

Lozak said that he looked forward to supporting Democratic candidates for local, county and state offices this year. Asked whether he will support Governor Jim Florio for re-election, Lozak said that "Florio has had to make some tough choices that no one else would make. That, by any measure, is what leadership is all about. The wisdom of making those choices can be seen now with some of the positive economic signs we are seeing. For that, he has earned re-election."

VIEWPOINT

As I See It

by

John S. Wisniewski

Suppose you are driving along Bordentown Avenue or Washington Road. You look down at your speedometer, and you see that you are traveling 35 mph. A couple of minutes later, you drive by a 25 mph speed limit sign. By that time, however, you are moving along at about 40 mph. Then you drive by a police car with a radar unit. You are stopped and issued a summons for traveling 41 mph in a 25 mph zone.

You plead guilty, pay the fine and think that's the end of it. Later that year, you find out that it was only the beginning. You find out that your insurance company has added a surcharge to your premium. Because you exceeded the speed limit, perhaps for the first time in twenty years, your insurance company, by law, considers you a worse risk than other drivers. Under the Fair Automobile Insurance Reform Act (the "FAIR Act"), automobile insurance companies add surcharges onto a driver's insurance premium for certain motor vehicle violations. The rationale is that since the insurance company considers you a worse risk, you have to pay more for insurance coverage.

There is a great deal of merit to having bad drivers, who pose a greater risk, pay more for their insurance coverage than good drivers. People who routinely drive drunk or belong to the accident of the month club should pay through the nose for insurance. It is those drivers who raise the cost of insurance for everyone. On the other hand, people who never make a claim, who pay their premiums on time and have otherwise unblemished records should not be penalized for one ticket. Those drivers do not increase the cost of insurance for anyone.

What has to be examined is the definition of a bad driver. I would suggest that someone who receives one speeding ticket in twenty years is not a bad driver. Some may argue that if a driver, who received only one speeding ticket in twenty years but happened to be doing 120 mph in a school zone when he got that ticket, deserves a surcharge. I would agree. And in that agreement lies a possible solution to the problem of surcharging otherwise good drivers.

Surcharges for speeding violations should only be assessed when the cumulative miles per hour a driver exceeds the speed limit reaches some predetermined level in a given period of time. For example, if you received a ticket I mentioned at the beginning of this column, you would have exceeded the speed limit by 16 miles per hour. If the predetermined level was 30 miles per hour, you would not be surcharged. You would not be surcharged unless you exceeded the speed limit by a minimum 14 miles per hour during the three following the first ticket. If you received a ticket one year later for exceeding the speed limit by 5 miles per hour, for example, there would be no surcharge. But then, if one more year later, you received another ticket for exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles per hour, you would be surcharged.

The benefit of assessing insurance surcharges in this way is that otherwise safe drivers who for one reason or another exceed the speed limit are not penalized. And if you are one of those safe drivers and you do not receive a ticket, there is an incentive to be extra careful during those three years following that first ticket. Under the FAIR Act, bad drivers should pay more. But let's make sure good drivers are not automatically characterized as bad drivers just because of one speeding ticket.

Dear Citizen's Voice Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to report what actions have been taken as the result of public concern about the poor lighting conditions at the Sayrebrook Shopping Center in the Parlin section of Sayreville. Mr. Al Ferrara and other citizens complained of darkness at the shopping center.

In late November I contacted Michael Kaplan, the owner of the shopping center, in an attempt to rectify the situation. At my request Mr. Kaplan visited the center at night and took note of the problem. He first installed three halogen area lights in the darkest corner of the shopping center, an area which hosts a dance studio and is frequented by many young women at night. He then installed a series of 'test' lights of various wattages and types in the main parking lot and asked for feedback on each of the 'test' lights.

After three or four different types of bulbs were tried, the consensus was to go with a sodium vapor light. The light will provide greater visibility and enhance security, but will not be so bright that it will be disturbing to adjacent homeowners.

I had previously voiced concern about the many lights in Kennedy park which are not operating. The park is adjacent to the shopping center. The Director of the Department of Public Works has been working with Jersey Central Power and Light Company to provide adequate lighting in the park, and we hope we will see the results soon. Additionally, I contacted JCP&L to report that five street lights along Ernston and Washington Roads were out. They responded and fixed an underground wiring problem which caused the outage. The combination of non-operating street lights, the broken lighting in Kennedy Park, and the inadequate Shopping Center lights all contributed to an overall dark condition in that area. Lastly, through the efforts of Irene Dryzga, the Democratic Committeewoman in the area, a light along the pedestrian pathway which connects the Shopping Center with the President Park section of town has been installed, increasing the security of that area.

I am happy to have been able to help in improving the conditions in that area, and I sincerely thank Mr. Ferrara, Mrs. Dryzga and other citizens who spoke out about the need for improvement.

Sincerely,

Jim Robinson
District 12 Democratic Committeeman and Sayreville Planning Board Chairman

Dear Citizens' Voice Editor:

As Directors of Hoffman's first school production since 1969, we would like to thank the citizens and the business community of South Amboy for their support of our "Beauty and the Beast".

The cast and crew put in many hours of hard work, often sacrificing other interests to make the show a success. It was truly gratifying to look into the audience both Friday and Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and see and hear so many of you enjoying all of our work. It made all those hours well worth it!!!

We appreciated all of the encouraging words, and offers of help received, and we are grateful for all of the assistance we received.

On behalf of the cast and crew, a hearty "THANK YOU, ALL". In particular, Rick Wyskowski, Mr. Olexa, Members of the Board of Education, Dr. Novembre, Mr. Beattie, Faculty and Staff at Hoffman, we could not have done this without you!!!

For future reference-- we are planning next year's return! Hope to see you again next year!!!

Thank you again!!!!

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Lyn Davis/Mr. Larry D'Ambrosia
Play Directors

Dear Citizen's Voice Editor:

An open letter to Mayor O'Leary & The People of South Amboy:

We, the members of the Hoffman High School History Club, along with the members of the Spotswood High School History Club, would like to propose that a marker or sign be placed on or in front of the house once occupied by former Governor, Harold Hoffman.

South Amboy was the home of one of the giants of New Jersey history, a man of great courage who placed his political life on the line in taking the unpopular stand of demanding equal justice before the law for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the man accused of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping. We hope you will see merit in our proposal, which would draw attention to an important part of local history. Thank you.

Check Out Employment Agencies Before Paying for Services

If you're unemployed, the last thing you can afford is to lose money to a job scam.

During this lingering recession, too many con artists have taken advantage of those who are unemployed. There are several kinds of schemes that prey on the unemployed from 900 joblines to phony modeling agencies.

Here's how they work:

The 900 number joblines advertise that you can get a job just by letting your fingers do the walking. They claim to offer a list of "exciting employment opportunities" if you call that 900 number. But when you call, you'll find that the recording merely lists help-wanted ads from the newspaper, something you could have done for a fraction of the cost of the call.

In addition, employment listing services are required by law to be registered with Consumer Affairs Bureau of Employment and Personnel Services. They have yet to see a 900-number jobline that qualifies.

During tough time, consumers have fallen prey to unscrupulous modeling agencies. Such agencies charge up to $500 for a photographic portfolio, but then no work ever materializes.

How can you protect yourself?

- If you're job hunting through an employment agency or temporary-help agency, make sure it and its agents are licensed by Consumer Affairs.

- Beware of employment ads that require you to call a 900-number.

- Think twice about paying up front before learning the details of a job.

Remember, if a job offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Triple X Theater May Lose License

Cinema 9, a pornographic movie house on Route 9 in Sayreville, may be penalized for allegedly allowing sex acts to occur on its premises.

The establishment which is owned by Wyndmoore Management Company was cited for two separate incidents, the first being on May 1, 1991. In that occurrence, a husband and wife in the audience began sexual activity and then were joined by a third person.

On August 26, 1991 two men were charged with sexual activity.

The original hearing on this matter was originally scheduled for October, 1991 but there have been numerous postponements.

Borough attorney, Joseph Orlando gave the lawyers for the theater thirty days to submit motions. These are due at the end of this month.

COMMUNITY CALENDARLittle Boy Has a Big Heart*Andrew Ranelli

Eighteen months ago, Andrew Ranelli of Edison underwent heart surgery to correct a congenital heart defect at Deborah Hospital and Lung Center, which saved his life. Now, Andrew, 21 months, is representing Deborah as Deborah Hospital Foundation's New Jersey Region Poster Child.

When born, Andrew was a healthy 10 1/2 pound boy. However, a month later, Andrew's parents, Alice and Bret Ranelli, began to notice that Andrew was sweating all the time, crying a lot and eating more than usual. His eyes were sunken in and he had trouble breathing.

After a visit to the pediatrician, he discovered that the problem was in Andrew's heart and made arrangements for him to be tested at Deborah Heart and Lung Center.

The tests showed that Andrew had a ventricular septal defect, a hole between the right and left ventricle of his heart.

Lynn B. McGrath, M.D., chief cardiothoracic surgery successfully performed the operation.

Key to Car Repair is Communication

As frustrating as it is to deal with unexpected car problems, don't make it tougher by expecting your repair shop to guess what's wrong.

Good communication between the customer and repair shop can make all the difference in getting the problem fixed to your satisfaction.

Here are some suggestions for communicating with your mechanic:

- Do your homework before taking it to the shop. Read the owner's manual to learn about your cars needs, follow the recommended service schedules, and keep a log of all repairs and service.

- Always listen and watch your car. Unusual sounds, odors, drips and leaks can be just as telling signs of problems as warning lights or changes in your dashboard gauges.

- Worn belts, tires and hoses are easily visible, but changes in acceleration, gas mileage, fluid levels, and problems in handling or braking should also be noted.

- Note the frequency of the problem. Is it constant or just periodic? Does the problem occur when the car is still cold or after it has been warmed up?

- Once you arrive at the repair shop, don't just leave with a cursory explanation. Be prepared to describe the symptoms of the problem and prepare a written list so the mechanic will have something to follow, even if you don't speak to him when you drop it off.

Don't suggest a specific repair. Let the mechanic determine what's wrong and what's really needed to fix it. Don't rush them into an on-the-spot diagnosis. Instead, ask them to call you when they've identified the problem and give you an accurate cost estimate.

Before you leave, note the shop's policies on rates, guarantees and forms of payment.

Dowdell Library Report

The Dowdell Library Board of Trustees reorganized in January. Officers for 1993 are: President, Catherine Charmello; First Vice-President, Kathleen O'Grady; Second Vice-President, The Rev. Joseph Gray; Secretary, Raymond Hughes; Treasurer, Charles Dooling. Meetings will continue to be on the third Tuesday of each month. The Board also revised its bylaws and adopted a policy manual.

The new windows in the library have already made a positive difference; the building is now warmer and has fewer drafts. Construction was made possible by money left over from the 1987 grant which replaced the library roof. Over the next several weeks, the entrance and interior trim will be painted, and blinds installed. A new sign for the entrance is also planned, courtesy of Sean Bouchard for his Eagle Scout project.

The library's 1992 annual report is available. Highlights of the report are the best year for circulation ever, and receipt of six grants totalling $24,407 for various projects. Copies may be obtained at the library.

The library has new equipment on display. A microfilm reader/printer has been purchased, with the assistance of a technology grant from the State Library. This will allow library users for the first time in years to copy articles from major magazines and to see back issues of the South Amboy Citizen. The library also has a demonstration model of "Magazine Index Select", a CD-ROM based index to magazines, much like Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature. "Magazine Index Select" will be at the library until May.

The Friends of the Dowdell Library sold out the Community Recipe book, and a few tote bags are still available. A 50-50 is planned for later in the spring.

Municipal Anti-Corruption Bill Released

One of the toughest municipal anti-corruption bills ever considered by a Senate committee was released from the Senate Community Affairs Committee yesterday.

The bill, which is officially called the "Municipal Financial Rehabilitation Act," would allow local officials or voters to trigger the creation of powerful financial control boards to root out and repair the damage caused to a local government by corrupt elected officials.

"When corrupt local officials are removed from office, the local taxpayers are often saddled with the legacy of that corruption --- higher taxes," explained Senator Randy Corman (R-Middlesex). "Either as a result of the direct theft of public monies, or through more subtle, but equally costly schemes such as unnecessary capital projects and noncompetitive public contracts, local taxpayers are the ones who must carry the burden of municipal corruption. Simply removing the corrupt official does not insure that the damage will be repaired."

"Sweetheart contracts, bloated staffing practices, gross inefficiencies, and any remaining traces of corruption will be rooted out by these anti-corruption boards," declared senator Corman. "In addition honest employees will be protected from retribution whenever they come forward and expose the sometimes well-hidden practices of corruption."

Under the provisions of this bill, whenever an elected local official is removed from office because of corrupt activities, the remaining members of the governing body will be authorized to force the creation of a 5 member, bipartisan, board of fiscal experts and managers to oversee the financial operations of the municipality. If the governing body of the municipality refuses to act, the voters would be able to sign a petition to force the issue onto the ballot. Once enacted, the board would have five years in which to use its sweeping powers to eliminate every trace of corruption from the municipality.

HEALTH

Teeth Sense

When you think of February, many think of Valentine's Day, others the Presidents' Day Sales. Often overlooked is that February is National Children's Dental Health Month, according to the American Dental Association.

The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry and the ADA recommend that all children visit the dentist by age 1.

Why such a young age? Prevention.

Dr. Jed Best, a New York City-based pediatric dentist, offers the following advice for caring for your children's teeth:

- Begin cleaning your baby's teeth and gums as soon as the first tooth appears to keep them free of bacteria and the buildup of plaque-like film. The danger of tooth decay is present as soon as the baby begins nursing or drinking juice.

Never put your baby to bed with a bottle of milk or juice. The sugars in these liquids will pool around the teeth, causing bacteria and plaque buildup, which can lead to tooth decay.

It is easier to gain your child's cooperation and enthusiasm if you position his or her oral care routine as fun, enjoyable activity. The best way to clean a young baby's teeth and gums is to cradle the child's head in the crook of your arm, while using a back-and-forth stroking motion on the biting surfaces, front and back of teeth.

Your dentist should conduct a fluoride evaluation at your child's first visit to determine whether your child is receiving the correct amount of fluoride. All sources of fluoride should be taken into consideration, including the fluoride from the local water supply. Many dentists advise parents not to use fluoride toothpastes with children under 2 because of their tendency to swallow, rather than spit out toothpaste. Swallowing toothpaste can lead to ingestion of excessive amounts of fluoride.

South Amboy Memorial Hospital Fundraiser on Friday

Seventy-five years of dedication and commitment to community healthcare will be the focus of celebration at the sixth-annual South Amboy Memorial Hospital Hearts and Flowers Charity Ball.

The Friday, February 26th black-tie gala will feté the Hospital's Diamond Jubilee with recognition of supportive contributions from Senator J. Randall Corman (R-Middlesex), Assemblyman Ernest L. Oros (R-Middlesex), Assemblyman Stephen A. Mikulak (R-Middlesex) and Assemblywoman Joann H. Smith (R-Middlesex and Monmouth).

The theme of the evening, hosted by the Grand Marquis in Old Bridge, embraces all the elegance of the Diamond Jubilee. Guests will have the opportunity to win diamond earrings, a White Diamonds perfume collection, as well as many other exquisite prizes. The Super 50/50 Raffle could have a grand-prize winner escorting home $7,500 and five subsequent winners receiving $750.

All proceeds from the Charity Ball will go toward Project Facelift, an effort of the South Amboy Memorial Hospital Fund-raising Committee which concentrates on patient room renovations. This year's goal is state-of-the-art intensive care unit beds.

Further ticket information can be obtained by calling 721-1000, extension 2184.

Don't be Fooled With Low-Tar, Nicotine Cigarettes

Smokers who are unable to break their habit often turn to low-nicotine and low-tar cigarettes to minimize smoking-related health risks. For the most part, these smokers are just fooling themselves.

Consciously or unconsciously, smokers adjust their smoking techniques to obtain the nicotine level they crave. They modify their smoking either by block filter ventilation holes or by taking more frequent or longer drags on the cigarette. As a result, the amount of nicotine in their blood could be just as high as if they had smoked a higher-nicotine cigarette.

Studies have measured the concentration of nicotine in arterial blood as a result of smoking low-nicotine cigarettes. The studies revealed that the impact of nicotine even from these cigarettes can lead to increased risk of heart attack.

Arterial blood takes on oxygen in the lungs and delivers it to the heart and brain. When nicotine is introduced in the circulation coronary arteries constrict, causing blood flow to decrease and less oxygen to be delivered to the heart muscle. At the same time, nicotine increases the smoker's heart rate and blood pressure, therefore augmenting the heart's demand for oxygen.

Potential damage to the lungs from cigarette smoking has long been established. Cigarette manufacturers attempt to minimize this danger by producing cigarettes with less tar, the major component that attacks the lungs.

However, those who smoke low-tar cigarettes may modify their habits in the same way as those who turn to the low-nicotine versions. Low-tar smokers could then end up with the same concentrations of tar in their lungs as if they had smoked high-tar brands.

So, if you smoke, stop fooling yourself and start protecting your cardiovascular health and your lungs. Stop smoking. It could be the most significant change you can make toward a healthier future.

Svizeny Named Hospital Employee of the Year

South Amboy Memorial Hospital recently named Patricia Stockton Svizeny, R.N., as its Employee of the Year for 1992.

A hospital-wide celebration feté Svizeny, who is recognized for her efforts to protect an endangered life.

While vacationing one August weekend in Cape May, Svizeny was called from her hotel room to aid an eight-year-old boy who had been drowning in the pool. Svizeny's successful application of Rescue Breathing techniques, a method of resuscitation, allowed the boy to regain a healthy color and breathing pattern.

Svizeny has had a lasting commitment to health care and to South Amboy Memorial Hospital. She began at the hospital in February of 1986 as an endoscopy aide. Following a temporary leave to pursue an R.N. program at Middlesex County Community College, Svizeny returned to the South Amboy Memorial Hospital to continue her career of caring for others. She has been working on the Hospital's geriatric care unit since March of 1992.

South Amboy Memorial Hospital proudly honors Svizeny's heroism and gladly recognizes all its employees for their unending dedication to the well-being of others.

Can a Change in Weather Make You Sick?

In one recent week, the temperature was 40 degrees one day, plummeted to just above zero the next, and then climbed back up to 50 degrees. During weeks like that we often hear that familiar refrain: "The change in weather gave me a cold."

Did the quick shift cause a cold? Do seasonal variations really affect health? To separate facts from myths, it is appropriate to examine the common cold, whose onset is often blamed on weather.

Without the introduction of virus into the body -- most often the rhinovirus -- cold symptoms cannot occur. Temperature changes do not cause colds, but virus thrives in a cold temperature. If the temperature of the nasal area is cool, it will provide a favorable environment for the virus to grow.

The virus, which is not airborne, can live on a surface or object touched by someone with a cold. Frequent handwashing can help prevent a cold from spreading.

A reaction known as allergic rhinitis can be confused with cold symptoms. An inflammation of the nasal lining, it is induced by a substance to which the person is allergic and can cause a runny nose.

Certain illnesses follow a seasonal timetable, but the relationship to weather is unclear. January and February are the months when influenza reaches epidemic proportions. From March to June seems to be the time for chicken pox and measles.

In summer months, we encounter a type of virus called enterovirus that lives in contaminated water and causes cold-like symptoms that people refer to as the "summer cold." Summer is also the time for mosquito-borne encephalitis and the infections of Lyme disease and Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Seasonal allergies follow the growth patterns of nature. Spring brings allergies induced by tree pollen, followed later by pollen from grasses and ragweed.

Some rheumatic conditions seem to vary according to temperature and barometric pressure. Studies show that patients can feel worse when these changes occur and that pain is greater in summer than winter.

Certain injuries are specifically related to temperature. Heat cramps, exhaustion and stroke, for example, are specific responses of the body to high temperatures. Hypothermia (below normal body temperature) and frost bite are reactions to excessive cold.

The effects of weather on health have even become part of the language when we say, for instance, someone is under the weather. Be that as it may, if it's a cold you have, don't blame it on winter-wind.

Keegan Named Football Captain

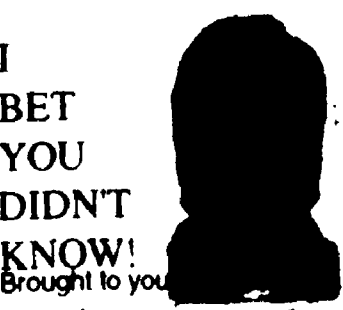

Brian Keegan

South Amboy resident, Brian Keegan, a graduate of South Amboy Elementary School, has been voted captain of the Bishop Ahr football team by his coaches for the 1993 Football season.

He will be in his senior in 1993, and will be starting quarterback. He will also be a member of the varsity baseball team in the spring.

Brian is the son of Steven and Katherine Britt of South Amboy.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW! Brought to you by Mike Simko. Although Michael Jordan is one of the top stars in pro basketball today, did you know that -- amazingly -- he didn't make the varsity team when he tried out for basketball in his sophomore year in high school in Wilmington, NC ... Jordan kept working at his game and made the team in his junior year -- and went on to a great high school, college and pro career.

One of the most incredible records ever set in basketball was by UCLA -- and to realize how incredible it was, consider this ... Today, it's unusual for any college basketball team to win the NCAA tournament even two years in a row, but UCLA won it an amazing SEVEN years in a row ... That's a record that may never be broken.

Did you know that one of the most fantastic rounds of golf ever played was by an amateur golfer, Dr. Joseph Boydstone of Bakersfield, Ca. ... In 1962, on a regulation course, he scored an amazing total of three holes-in-one during ONE 9-hole round! Seems hard to believe, but true!

I bet you didn't know that for Winter fun, Simko's Pub is the place to be: Thursday is Ladies Night ... All ladies drinks (Any 1 liqueur, any mixed drink or bottled beer or draught beer) are only $1.00. That's right!!! ABSOLUTE, BACARDI, JD, CUERVO & DEWARS are only 41.00 per drink.

Don't forget, Karaoke Sing-A-Long on Wednesday's!

Our kitchen is open daily from 11:30 AM to 1 PM.

So, come and have some Winter Fun at Simko's Pub!!!

Cards and Collecting

One of the great all-time pitchers, GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER had his moment of world Series glory in 1928. After winning game 6 on a three hitter v. the Yankees, the Cardinals pitcher was called on for game 7. With bases loaded and two out in the 7th inning, "Old Pete" came in, hung over and not expecting to pitch, and, dramatically, struck out NY slugger Tony Lazzeri. Alexander had a Hall of Fame career. His 1916 Collins-McCarthy card is worth $100 or so...

Students Correspond with Author

Mrs. DeHart's 7th and 8th grade reading classes, at the South Amboy Middle School, read two novels by the author Anne Schraff. Upon beginning the third novel, the class wrote letters expressing their thoughts and feelings about the novels. To the students' surprise and delight, Ms. Schraff responded by sending each student an individual letter. The correspondence between author and students has been an on going process ever since.

Ms. Schraff also complimented Mrs. DeHart. She said this was the only class which continued to write after the first return letter. Mrs. DeHart's class is anxiously awaiting a new novel by Ms. Schraff so they can read it.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Prayer to the Holy Spirit

PRAYER THROUGH application to the Holy Spirit Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as you confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you even in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine.

EARNEST MONEY (Good Faith Deposit)

When you find a property you would like to buy, earnest money is the amount you give to the seller to show that you are serious about your offer. A good faith deposit can range from a few hundred dollars to 1% or more of the selling price of the property. Just how much of a deposit is required is up to the seller and you to determine. You can ask your Realtor (if you are working with one) what is customary in your area. Once paid, this fee is often not recoverable; you're committed to buy the property.
