Police Crackdown On Speeders And Loiterers

Frank Zebro

Councilman Frank Zebro has asked for radar surveillance in the Mechanicsville section of South Amboy at Tuesday evening's regular council meeting.

Zebro told Mayor J. Thomas Cross, Council President Bruce Richmond and Councilman Robert Mada... of numerous complaints he has received from residents of Raritan Street about the excessive speeds used by motorists on upper Raritan Street. Zebro requested the radars be set up in the vicinity to reduce the speeding.

Mayor Cross commended the police department on the landfill raids conducted recently and said they would continue sporadically in efforts to prevent youths from using the landfill to hang out. Summonses were issued during this latest raid and fines were given by Municipal Court Judge Joseph Hoffman.

A crack down on young adults hanging around the streets was also announced by Mayor Cross. "We want to push kids off the street corners; even though school has begun they still congregate in specific areas, loitering, and disturbing neighbors." The police department has said they can and will give loitering summonses to those who do not heed the warnings.

McCormack Takes Appeal To Supreme Court

The Mayor and Council authorized City Prosecutor Thomas E. Downs IV to continue representing the city during appeals made by McCormack Terminal during evening hours. McCormack is located at the foot of Rosewell Street.

Burgess now contends the city's ordinance is void because the definition of air pollution was unconstitutionally vague, and the penalty provision void because it established a minimum fine contrary to limited authority by the South Amboy officials to adopt penal ordinances.

City attorney Downs argued and was upheld in lower court, that virtually the same definition appears in a state enacted air pollution statute that had been considered "a sufficient guide and standard." The original pollution ordinance had been drafted by city attorney Clark Convery, who said the ordinance was patterned after the state law. In the trial court, Judge Breitkopf ruled an invalid part of the ordinance providing for a minimum fine is severable and therefore does not require the throwing out of the entire ordinance. Indeed, the South Amboy ordinance contains a paragraph guarding against dismissal of the entire ordinance as just such a safeguard.

An administrative hearing with regard to McCormack is also scheduled for October 3, 1983 at 9 a.m. in Trenton. McCormack operating procedures are expected to be discussed.

Methodone Clinic Persuing Broadway Site

Gerhard Bass is once again expected to come before the South Amboy Planning Board in continuing to pursue the Broadway site for his proposed methodone maintenance drug treatment clinic.

It has been confirmed by a city official that Bass has given up the Route 35 highway site for the clinic and is once again trying to locate in the heart of the business district at 124 Broadway.

Mayor J. Thomas Cross said that there were new objections to the site that have not yet been aired.

Bass and his attorney, Susan Champion, had met with overwhelming public opinion against his locating on Route 35 from residents of both South Amboy and Sayreville. Petitions from both communities had been presented to the city council as well as the planning board, and Bass himself had had some difficulty on his highway application before the board.

The clinic owner is seeking variances from the planning board, among them a parking variance for the Broadway site.

Support for city officials and residents who are questioning the need for such a drug treatment clinic in a small city the size of South Amboy has come from an unexpected source.

Rahway city council President Henry Williams said the New Jersey Department of Health has begun negotiations with hospitals to provide treatment for drug abuse patients.

His statement came after it was revealed the state was considering locating a methodone clinic in Rahway. Williams said it was strong public opinion and logic and reasoning that had an impact on the state's idea of locating the drug clinic in hospitals rather than in private locations in Rahway.

Williams said he was notified of the state's decision by Assistant Commissioner of the State Health Department, Richard J. Russo. The proposal, (continued on page 4)

Drivers Pay Stiff State Fines

Keith R. Switzer of Conover Street, South Amboy, pleaded guilty to charges of driving under the influence of alcohol during a court session last week. Patrolman Stephen Pavich stopped Switzer on August 20, 1983 and consequently issued the summons. Switzer paid a first offense fine of $550 and $15 court costs. His license was revoked for six months. Also a first offender, John L. DeTurris Jr. of Clipper Avenue, Edison, paid $250 and $15 and had his license revoked for 6 months for driving under the influence on March 18, 1983.

Driving while under the influence also netted Brian S. Lucas, Pearl Street, Perth Amboy fines of $800 and $15 and two years license suspension for a second offense. Municipal Court Judge Joseph Hoffman also ordered Lucas to 30 days of community service.

Another second offense of drunk driving fine was handed to Vincent Uvages, Donald Avenue, Perth Amboy, at $800 and $15 and two year license revocation. He also paid $800 and $15 and had his license revoked for an additional one year period for driving while his license had been suspended. Judge Hoffman also ordered he give 30 days of community service. Patrolman Kenneth Szatkowski issued a summons to Mary C. Rudzik of Main Street, South Amboy on July 23, 1983 for driving while her license had been suspended. She paid fines of $750 and $15.

Yet another Woodbridge man was fined for driving while intoxicated. Jeffery P. Bellotto of Main Street, Woodbridge, was fined $800 and $15 and lost his driving privileges for two years. He, too, will spend 30 days in community service.

South Amboy Fire Department Takes Top Awards

The South Amboy Fire Department has once again taken two top awards at the annual state convention held last weekend in Wildwood, New Jersey.

Approximately seventy of South Amboy's volunteer firefighters donned white shirts, ties, and dress uniforms, and with the women's auxiliary, marched the New Jersey Avenue parade route of an estimated four miles.

The unit from South Amboy has become well known throughout the state as an impressive marching unit, having won the title of 'best in the state' several times, the last being in 1978 and 1979.

Accompanied this year by the Hobo Band, South Amboy took the first place trophy as Best Appearing Unit and Best Appearing Firemen, while the band copped the first place cash prize in their category.

The men were ably directed by Fire Marshall Chester Meisner Sr. and once again performed their drill while marching before the reviewing stand. The unit was well received again this year by parade watchers, among them many spectators from South Amboy who had come to cheer the department on.

The trophies were accepted by South Amboy Fire Chief William Hawes, First Assistant Chief Francis Mulvey, and Second Assistant Chief Thomas Gorman.

Morning Blaze Labeled Arson Destroys House

Firemen were called to the scene of a house fire early Sunday morning at Henry Street.

The blaze, termed in police reports as 'definitely suspicious' was reported at 12:21 a.m. at 125 Henry Street. Firemen from the Protection, Independence, Mechanicsville and Progressive companies responded as did the South Amboy First Aid Squad and Morgan fire department. Snorkel company's aerial is out of commission and in for repairs.

Arson squad member Detective Steve Malkiewicz reported that while the entire structure was totally destroyed, damage was kept to a minimum due to the quick response of the fire department.

The Henry Street house had not been occupied for several years, and one report states the structure had previously been condemned. Present owner, a V. Garlick, is in the process of selling the property. Det. Malkiewicz believes as the structure had been abandoned, youths had been using the house to hang out in.

Malkiewicz commended the fire department and acting Chief Nels Thomsen for preventing further damage to the neighboring home, just five feet away. That home, belonging to Mrs. Mary Nemeth, suffered minor fire damage to the rear of the building and the roof.

The Middlesex County Arson Task Force arrived on the scene early Sunday morning, and will continue their investigation, said Det. Malkiewicz.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Early last Sunday morning I was called back to South Amboy from Cape May because the vacant home next to mine had caught fire and mine had been damaged because of its proximity to the fire. Needless to say, I envisioned the worst during the long trip home. When I arrived, the fire department was still at the site, having just brought the fire under control. After surveying the damage to my home I realized it was minimal compared to what it could have been if we were not as fortunate as we are to have such a fine volunteer fire department.

I would like to thank the policemen who turned in the alarm, our volunteer firemen and the Morgan fire department who so ably assisted and worked so diligently to keep the damage to my home to a minimum. I would especially like to thank acting chief Nels "Honsie" Thomsen. Since many of our firemen were in Wildwood for the Firemen's Convention he and the volunteers who were here did a fantastic job even though they had to deal with a faulty fire hydrant. Despite this fact, "Honsie" did an admirable job not only of bringing the fire under control, but of making certain that my home was in no way seriously damaged.

I will be eternally grateful to "Honsie" and all the volunteers who worked so hard that night. South Amboy is indeed fortunate to have men such as these giving of themselves and of their time to keep our community safe.

Volunteers To Elderly Training

St. Mary's Parish of South Amboy is offering a training course to volunteers interested in providing companionship to the many elderly and handicapped persons confined to their homes or institutions who are lonely and need someone to talk to, just to brighten the day.

The program is designed to equip volunteers with skills and self-confidence and also understanding while visiting a shut-in. By reading aloud, said a program spokesman, or helping with correspondence, sharing a hobby, talking about people and places, or just providing a listening ear, a volunteer can help fill some of the tedious hours that confront the homebound. Volunteers can also provide some much needed free time for overburdened family members.

The ten-hour course will be taught by outstanding professionals from the fields of health care, social work, psychology and recreation. All interested persons, whether they are already visiting a shut-in, or would like to do so and wish to participate in the program may do so at no charge.

The course is offered on Wednesday mornings, October 5, 12, 19, and 26 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, with a coffee break provided. It will be held at the Dr. Charles W. Hoffman Senior Citizens Resource Center, 188 South Stevens Avenue, South Amboy.

Advance registration is required prior to September 27, 1983. Forms may be picked up and returned to: Sister Monica Jaques, St. Mary's Parish, 285 Augusta Street, South Amboy, N.J. (731-7418).

Nurses Receive Practical In-House Training

"All through high school, I always wanted to be a nurse!"

For Paula Gallagher, the Internship Program helped to further develop the nursing skills she learned at Middlesex County College. "My experiences as a nurse intern have really built up my confidence," said Paula. "I would do it again."

Having completed a two-year associate degree program at Brookdale Community College, Judy Caldwell said she felt her internship gave her experience she needed to apply what she has learned to actual patient care situations. "Many times graduate nurses are only oriented to one floor—the floor they're working on," explained Judy. "At South Amboy Memorial we were given an opportunity to work on every floor."

Eileen McDowell agreed. "The internship made the transition from school to actual nursing so much easier," she said. "The first time you're out on a unit, it's scary. But we knew we could ask for assistance whenever we needed it and that was very comforting to me." Eileen, who is especially interested in geriatric nursing, is the fourth generation in her family to enter the nursing profession.

"I guess you could say I have nursing in my blood," she joked. "Seriously, my mother only had orientation in one area, but I am fortunate to have an opportunity to exercise my nursing skills in all areas."

Health Center. After the three-month structured program is concluded, the Internship Program actively continues for an entire year, in which they attend all inservice education programs offered for Nursing Service and are guided in their clinical experiences. During that year they are given the opportunity to become certified for Intravenous Therapy administration. If they continue to remain in the employment of South Amboy Memorial Hospital, after a year, they may go into a specialty of their choice.

Applications for the 1984 nursing internship at South Amboy Memorial Hospital will be taken in the Spring of 1984. Candidates must be nurses from an Associate, Diploma, or Baccalaureate Program with no more than six months clinical experience. They must also have graduated from a school of nursing prior to the scheduled admission date into the program.

For more information, please call Elizabeth A. Eisenberger, R.N., B.A., Clinical Instructor of Education/Training, South Amboy Memorial Hospital.

During the 12-week internship, formal classes are given in patient teaching, giving medications, charting and documentation, traction equipment and usage, infection control and intravenous therapy. Supervision of nursing procedures is done by the instructor and/or head nurse or preceptor. For Paula Gallagher, the Internship Program helped to further develop the nursing skills she learned at Middlesex County College. "My experiences as a nurse intern have really built up my confidence," said Paula. "I would do it again."

Having completed a two-year associate degree program at Brookdale Community College, Judy Caldwell said she felt her internship gave her experience she needed to apply what she has learned to actual patient care situations. "Many times graduate nurses are only oriented to one floor—the floor they're working on," explained Judy. "At South Amboy Memorial we were given an opportunity to work on every floor."

Methodone Clinic

according to Williams, allows for the dispensing of the drug methodone through the many hospitals, each facility being responsible for treating only those within its own community boundaries. Those communities without hospitals would then need to find methods of treating patients through centers specifically for this problem.

A family type attitude should be used in dealing with the drug problems within each community, said Williams, and that no one community should have the entire problem dropped in its lap.

Some residents opposing Bass' clinic have proposed a similar line of thinking. They have questioned why the South Amboy Memorial Hospital could not dispense needed medications instead of privately owned clinic where the patients need to be bused in and out of the clinic.
