

Police Arrest Two In Melee

At about 8:00 P.M., South Amboy police responded to a call at Mingle's Lounge on Route 35 Sunday to assist a juvenile who reported to them that he was threatened by about twenty assailants in the parking lot of the lounge, police report.

Police believe that the incidents breaking out in the parking lot were a spillover of a brawl that started at a metro disco in North Brunswick.

At about 10:00 P.M. the same night, police state, the South Amboy police patrol came upon a gang wearing chains and belts and carrying bats, which were confiscated by the police, engaged in a wild melee, with fights breaking out.

About 500 patrons were present. Because of the large number of individuals, police called for assistance from Sayreville and Old Bridge Police Departments, and about a dozen police eventually arrived to bring the situation under control.

Patrolmen Carl Nemeth, Robert Point, Bernard Mackiel, and Capt. James Holovacko arrested two males, Jose Antonio Lopez, age 18, and Miguel Angel Lopez, age 19, of Seaman Street, Perth Amboy and charged them with disorderly conduct and creating a physically dangerous situation.

Police report that they had the full cooperation and assistance of the proprietors of the lounge in quelling the disorder.

Sayreville Dedicates New Senior Center

by Chet Zamorski

Sayreville reached a happy milestone—the dedication of their new Senior Citizens Center, at 423 Main Street, last Saturday.

Mayor John McCormack had the pleasant role of welcoming upwards of about 700 people or so, to the center.

"There are many pleasant memories here," he said, referring to the former Washington Street School, which was converted to provide the center for the senior citizens.

"It is especially appropriate on this day to dedicate this building to the people of Sayreville," he continued, in reference to the name of the former school and the birthday of George Washington.

"The center," he declared, "was the work and cooperation of many people to help our seniors live a better life so that their later years can be made more enjoyable."

"Our younger residents are concerned enough to help our seniors enjoy their lives more fully."

Council President James Zagata was called upon by the mayor to present a plaque to the seniors to commemorate the day. Although the plaque was of thick, heavy construction, it read, simply, "Dedicated to and for the Senior Citizens of Sayreville, February 8, 1985."

The invocation was given by Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Dalton, the senior clergyman of the Metuchen diocese and pastor of Our Lady of Victories Church in Sayreville.

The benediction was given by Rev. Anne Dillon Roth, pastor of the United Methodist Church.

Color Guard Strikes A Patriotic Note

A sharply-rigid salute was rendered by a color guard, members of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Sayreville Post No. 4699, led by Staff Sergeant Steve Sebastian and comprised of Sgt. Ted Tomazak and fellow honor guardsmen Robert McGrath and Fred Rusay. Commander Joseph Krainski was with the dignitary group accompanying the mayor.

A salute to the flag was followed by a robust singing by all of "God Bless America," led by Staff Sergeant Sebastian.

Many guests were introduced, including members of the governing body Kenneth Buchanan, Sr., Randy Corman, William R. Coyle, William Jackson, and Robert Szweczyk.

Also, Board of Education members Jeffrey T. Staniszevski, president, Barbara A. Anderson, Douglas A. Cowan, Danny J. DiPaolo, James J. Duffy, Robert Kuran, Raymond Nakielny, Karen Reynolds, and Gladys Schmitt.

U.S. Congressman Bernard Dwyer was represented by aide Pat Dalton who presented the Center with an American flag. A second American flag was donated by V.F.W. Post 4699.

An Idea That Materializes

Council President James Zagata stated that the most important thing a person can have is an idea that materializes. The idea was the Senior Citizens Center, he said, a building Sayreville can be proud of.

Zagata pointed out that the Sayreville Historical Society, adjacent to the center, was also an idea that materialized. It was dedicated within the year.

Assembly Speaker Alan J. Karcher recalled playing basketball in the former Washington School gymnasium, among many fond memories and reflections of the school he has retained.

"It took vision, courage, and tenacity to see it through to reality," he added. "It will be fascinating to see what will happen here in the future. I hope many generations of Sayreville people come to this building."

"Oliver Wendell Holmes," he said, "an eminent author, judge, and patriot, at age 84, was asked why he was reading much and replied 'to improve my mind.' He said it would be similar with

Mile Square Talk

Richard Macchic, Chet Zamorski
J.R. Wojciechowski, and Staff

Senior residents of Sayreville have a center second to none in the state, it was said at the dedication of their building Saturday. Touring the building, as many did, could be seen many rooms to be used for various activities.

The three-story building has drinking fountains in most rooms, about fifteen of them or more, furnished with all kinds of teaching facilities, many bathrooms conveniently situated, an assembly room to seat more than 350 people, with a beautiful stage, a cloak room to accommodate at least 250 garments.

There are game rooms; multipurpose rooms, crafts rooms for ceramics, pottery and related occupations, wood and plastic working shops; needlecraft and sewing rooms; a television lounge room; to name a few, and a number of still-to-be-designated rooms.

It contains a kiln donated by the Sayreville Board of Education and a kitchen to serve more than 400 guests, and a cafeteria.

Improvements were funded, in part, by the federal community Block Grants and the Title II Act, of 1965, for Older Americans, obtained from Middlesex County grants.

With Kennedy Park on a main thoroughfare providing many outdoor recreational events, a historical building, and a center for seniors, Sayreville is becoming one of the showcase communities in the state.

Board of Education Members during the 1920 construction of the Washington School on Main Street, which was dedicated as the Sayreville Senior Citizens Center Saturday, as listed on the main entrance plaque were:

Abraham Fiehle, president; Eben D. Rush, vice-president; Walter F. Riddle; Lemuel Disbrow; B.F. Samsel; Benjamin Bowden; Charles Els, Sr.; Frank Hartman; Frederick S. Davis, Clerk; Matthews Construction Co. were the builders and Alexander Merchant the architect.

An addition to the building was made in 1959 when Paul J. Karbowski was president and Frank E. Samuel, vice-president. Other members of the board then were James Callahan, William Chevalier, C. Joseph Gavin, Joseph M. Keenan, Warren C. Leinerich, Stanley J. Nowak, John J. Puchalski, Charles Lynch, and Walter D. Zamorski.

Edwin J. Kolodziej was board attorney, Stephen J. Malik was board secretary, and Dr. R.S. Pollack was superintendent.

The addition was built by the Sisler Brothers, general contractors. Edwards and Green were the architects.

Congratulations go to coach Carol Keough and her sixth grade Sacred Heart Cheerleading Squad who took first place trophies home on Saturday, February 16 at the cheerleading tournament at Sacred Heart School in South Plainfield. The cheerleaders, all students at Sacred Heart School, South Amboy, include Captain, Patricia Solfaro, Co-Captain, Jo Ellen Paczkowski, Sharyn Nash, Eve Planka, Suzanne Newholme, Kristin Eberle, Bernadette Sommers, and Beth Holobowski. Coach Carol is assisted by her mom, Mrs. Pat Witkowski.

Special congratulations go to Sharyn Nash who brought home a third place trophy in the Miss Yell competition.

The girls are wished lots of luck in their upcoming tournament this Saturday at Bishop Ahr School in Edison.

About two weeks ago, on February 2nd, Punxsutawney Phil, the groundhog of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, was to emerge to give us a prediction on the continuance of winter or the advent of an early spring.

We lost track of the furry groundhog's emergence from his burrow, his 98th annual one, and are in the deep freeze of winter blues because of it.

If Phil emerges and sees his shadow, we are led to believe that six more weeks of cold weather are still with us.

If Phil doesn't see his shadow, spring will arrive soon.

Thank You

I would like to publicly extend thanks to my neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Steven Andros and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nebus, Gert Dohaney and also the S.A. Police and First Aid Squads for their assistance during my recent accident on the morning of February 13th.

*Gratefully,
Alice Snover*

SAFETY PATROL COMPLETING TOUR A group of school safety patrol squad members of the South Amboy Public Elementary School has been carrying out their patrol duties since the beginning of the school term and are now completing their tours of duty.

A new squad, which may retain some of the present members, is soon to take over at the close of the month of February, according to Principal Mrs. Joanne Frank.

The patrols are selected from the fourth grades by staff recommendations. Patrolman August Charnello, of the South Amboy Police Department Traffic Safety Division, is seen above, installing the present group.

Being congratulated earlier in the year by Patrolman Charnello is Kirk Astrella.

Kevin Gostkowski is the current squad captain. Carissa Gundrum is also a lieutenant.

Members of the present squad include as well Stacy Kovacs, Joseph Lewicki, Joseph Russo, Agnes Weimann, and Cristina Zampella.

The installation took place at the Board of Education meeting room.

According to the record Phil and his ancestors saw their shadows every year except five of them. Chances are, then, that six more weeks of the freeze are with us.

For many of us, experiencing frozen pipes and ruptured room radiators, and for the many in stranded cars that wouldn't start, spring can't come too soon!

Assembly Majority News

The Assembly Energy and Natural Resources Committee recently released a bill sponsored by Assemblyman George Otowski that would provide $75 million in grants to localities for the improvement of water supply and sewage facilities.

The bill, A-1080, would authorize the sale of bonds by the State to fund the grants that would be used for the upgrading of existing water supply, sewage or storm sewer facilities or for the acquisition and upgrading of privately-owned facilities.

The bill contains provisions to ensure that smaller communities receive a fair share of the grants.

"The steady deterioration of our older public and private water supply, sewage and sewer systems endangers the availability and quality of safe, potable water," Otowski said. "It also seriously jeopardizes efforts to conserve the State's dwindling uncontaminated water supplies."

"The upgrading of deteriorated or substandard facilities also is needed in many communities to meet minimal federal and state water quality and health standards," the Perth Amboy mayor continued. "But many older municipalities suffer from acute fiscal distress and cannot afford to upgrade such facilities."

"The magnitude, urgency and importance of the water resource quality problem exceeds the federal, state and local resources currently available. This bill seeks to begin meeting the need for funding for these vitally needed projects."

"I will seek prompt attention by the full Assembly to this bill, and I hope it is soon enacted into law," Otowski concluded.

Senior Center

Sayreville seniors, improving with age.

The center, he said, will be, most of all, about friendship, companionship, and caring for one another in a building that has much to tell us over its 65 years of continuous use, a building just beginning a new life.

"There are still many opportunities, many experiences to live — a whole new career — a new lease on life to make lives richer and fuller. There is a message here for us, like with Oliver Wendell Holmes, to look at our lives in the same way."

Executive Director of the Cancer Commission John J. Fay stated that 3000 years ago it was asked "Are we our brother's keeper?" and repeated 300 years ago by the founding fathers when they wondered whether such a separate, diverse, ethnic and religious people could form a viable government and nation.

He extended best of wishes to all the shut-in, hospitalized, nursing home occupants who could not be present at the dedication. "Let us rededicate ourselves to God," he summed up.

The Greek national anthem has 158 verses.

Safety and Health For the Elderly Program Announced

Freeholder Director, Stephen J. Capestro announces that the Middlesex County Health Department has started a demonstration project titled Safety and Health for the Elderly which will be known as SAFE. It will include health education, home assessments and safety repair services and distribution of Vials-of-Life. The goal of SAFE is to decrease institutionalization of the elderly in Middlesex County through maintenance of a healthy living environment in the community.

This program, funded by both the New Jersey State Department of Health and the New Jersey State Division of Youth and Family Services, is scheduled to run for one year. SAFE will provide in-home minor repair services related to health and safety to a minimum of 150 households in which the homeowner is 65 years of age or older and Title XX eligible. Also, a minimum of 2,500 Middlesex County residents aged 65 years and older will be involved with the Vial-of-Life Program. This will enable rapid, prompt and appropriate medical treatment in a critical situation.

A health education training program for senior citizen personnel and a comprehensive health education curriculum for senior in at least one community of the county will be implemented to meet the needs of the senior population. For further information contact the Middlesex County Health Department at (201) 828-8100.

Rutgers Displays Ground Covers at New Jersey Show

"Ground Covers for Sun and Shade" is the theme of Rutgers University's Cook College exhibit at the 1985 New Jersey Flower and Garden Show to be held at the National Guard Armory in Morristown, February 23 to March 3.

Ground cover plants reduce maintenance while adding interest to your landscape, advises the Cooperative Extension Service at Cook College. They control erosion on steep banks and eliminate mowing beneath shade trees or in wet areas. Ground covers are an important element in the design of rock gardens, woodland gardens and foundation plantings.

The exhibit will display several dozen species of low shrubs and perennials, grouped according to their suitability for sunny or shady areas. Included will be some interesting selections of juniper, cotoneaster, heath, heather, dwarf andromeda, dwarf forsythia, pachistima, leucothoe and herbaceous perennials.

A leaflet on selection, planting and care of ground cover plants will be distributed at the exhibit's Garden Information Center. The center will be staffed throughout the show by Rutgers County Extension agents and subject matter specialists who will be available to answer your gardening questions.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily, except Sundays when it closes at 6 p.m.

She has been a stutterer all of her life yet teaches, lectures, and has a successful private practice. Eileen Sinett is a Certified Speech and Language Pathologist and Corporate Communications Consultant in private practice. She has worked with many stutterers using video tape as a communication tool. Both are committed to having people lead full, happy and productive lives.

The workshop will last for eight weeks, beginning March 4th. It will consist of lecture, group support and practice of communication skills in real life situations. The sessions will be held at the Institute for Behavior and Family Therapy in Somerset where both Ms. Herzog and Ms. Sinett are affiliated. For more information call 201-846-7000.

'Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act

The Veterans Administration is urging veterans and employers to take advantage of the "Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act."

Mr. James R. Purdy, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Newark, New Jersey said that veterans have only until February 28, 1985, to initially apply to participate in this program. Veterans who were previously approved can request renewal of their eligibility status until September 1, 1985.

The program, which is aimed at helping unemployed Vietnam Era and Korean Conflict veterans, is administered jointly by the Veterans Administration and the Department of Labor. It funds 50 percent of the veteran's starting hourly wages up to $10,000 to provide a maximum of 15 months of training for certain veterans with service-connected disabilities, and up to 9 months for other participants. The program also allows employers to enter into agreements with educational institutions.

According to Mr. Purdy the program has not yet received the support from employers in New Jersey that was initially anticipated when the program became operational in November 1983. To date, 650 employers have been approved, however, only 128 New Jersey Employers are currently participating.

Employers wishing to take part in the program are urged to contact their local Job Service Office. Approvals of training programs are made by the Veterans Administration.

Veterans who wish to participate in the program must have been employed for at least 15 of the 20 weeks immediately preceding the date of his/her application.

Veterans found to be eligible for the "Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act" are issued a certificate of eligibility which is good for 90 days and may be renewed. Applications and additional information may be obtained from the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Newark or any local State Employment Job Service Office.

The Forum Theatre Group's 84-85 season continues with Paul Osborn's "Morning's at Seven" on Friday, March 8th at 8 p.m.

Artistic Director Peter Loewy describes "Morning's at Seven" as "a warm, touching comedy about the lives of four sisters in small town America in 1922." "The play's unlikely catalyst," Mr. Loewy continued, "is Homer Bolton, the awkward 40 year old son of Ida and Carl Shy, simple-minded, and still devoted to his mother. Homer brings his girlfriend home to meet the family for the first time after 12 years of courtship."

Directing this production of "Morning's at Seven" is East Brunswick resident William Mooney, who was featured in the Forum Theatre Group's production of "Baby" this past season. While popularly known for his portrayal of Paul Martin on ABC Television's daytime serial "All My Children", Mr. Mooney directed the original musical "Jam" at AMAS Repertory Company in New York as well as productions of "Candide", "The Robber Bridegroom", "Threepenny Opera" and "The Merry Widow" at "Plays-in-the-Park."

N.J. Ballet to Perform At Middlesex College

The New Jersey Ballet Company will perform at Middlesex County College on Saturday, February 23, in the Performing Arts Center. Curtain is at 8:00 p.m. and tickets are $7.

The West Orange-based troupe, which celebrated its 25th season last year, is renowned for its technical excellence and the professionalism of its dancers.

Edward Villela, principal dancer for 20 years with the New York City Ballet, has served as the New Jersey Ballet's artistic adviser since 1971. Carolyn Clark is the artistic director and Joseph Carow associate director of the 18-member ballet company.

The ballet to be performed at Middlesex County College does not have a defined story line, a technique started by the New York City Ballet's famed choreographer George Balanchine. The dancers journey through different variations which enables them to display their talents while soloing, partnering and in ensemble configurations. The balance of the Program consists of contemporary and jazz pieces.

Highlighting the performance at the College will be "Allegro Brillante" with its dramatic piano solo and shimmering blue costumes and "Glinka Pas de Trois" which features dazzling dusty green costumes, designed by principal company dancer P. Hilliard McRae.

For ticket information and reservations, contact the Division of Community Education, Middlesex County College at (201) 548-6000, extension 350.

Hospital Expands Cardiac Services

South Amboy Memorial Hospital recently opened a 4-bed telemetry unit for cardiac patients who are not seriously ill but whose conditions require that their heart rhythms be monitored. Kivarkis K. Younan, M.D., a cardiologist and member of the Medical Staff at South Amboy Memorial Hospital, explained the purpose of the unit. "Telemetry is one way to monitor patients who have symptoms such as palpitations or dizziness, which might indicate heart problems. Telemetry is also used for patients with pacemakers or those recovering from heart attacks, who no longer need intensive nursing care but still require monitoring."

Often referred to as a "step down" unit because the level of nursing care and the amount and sophistication of the medical equipment at the patient's bedside is less than or a "step down from" the intensive or coronary care unit, the telemetry unit offers patients the freedom to get out of bed and walk on the unit, while still having the security of knowing their heart rates are being monitored.

The telemetry system operates on the same principle as radio. The patient wears a small "transmitter," which is about the size of a pocket transistor radio and weighs about 10 oz. The transmitter is attached to the patient's chest with two discs, each about the size of a quarter, called electrodes which pick up electrical impulses emitted by the heart. These impulses are received by an antenna, hidden in the ceiling of the telemetry unit, and relayed simultaneously to two monitors, one on the 3 North nursing station, where the telemetry unit is located, and the other in the intensive care unit. Nurses in both areas, who have special training in critical care, watch the telemetry patients' heart rhythms on the monitors which look like television screens. There is also an intercom between 3 North and the intensive care unit so that nurses can communicate with each other regarding telemetry patients. If an irregular rhythm occurs, the system is designed so that an alarm will sound and the rhythm will be recorded on electrocardiograph paper for further study by the physician. The nurse can also take appropriate action to help the patient.

The average length of stay in the telemetry unit is 3-5 days. "During that time, the physician can observe how the patient's heart is responding to increased activity or changes in medications," explained Dr. Younan. "By providing an alternative to intensive care for the cardiac patient who is not acutely ill, the telemetry unit also results in a more efficient use of hospital services, since acute care beds are then available for the critically ill."

The telemetry system at South Amboy Memorial Hospital was designed and manufactured by Spacelabs, a division of Squibb. Its costs was $42,950 and it was financed in part by donations from the Medical Staff and the Hospital Auxiliary.

COMMUNICATION WORKS Nurses at South Amboy Memorial Hospital work together to survey telemetry patients' heartbeats via monitors in two locations. Above, in the intensive care unit, Jacqueline Marino, R.N., discusses a patient's heart rate with nurses in the telemetry unit as Josephine Llares, R.N., reads the patient's electrocardiogram. This communication among specially trained nurses enhances the hospital's ability to provide quality care to its patients.

About Your Social Security

A recent change in the Social Security law is important for many people with mental impairments. The Social Security Administration must establish new rules by early 1985 for evaluating mental impairments in the Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) programs. Here are ways people may be effected by the change.

1. NEW APPLICANTS
Until the new rules are in use, mentally impaired people who file disability applications will have their claims decided under current rules. If a claim is allowed, benefits can begin. If it cannot be allowed, the claim will be reviewed automatically for a possible allowance when the new rules are established.

2. PRIOR DENIALS AND TERMINATIONS - Mentally impaired people who had an appeal of a termination decision pending on or after June 7, 1983 will have their cases automatically reviewed when the new rules are in effect. However, most mentally impaired people whose disability benefits were denied or stopped for medical reasons between March 1, 1981 and October 9, 1984 need to reapply to get a decision under the new rules. If they do so by October 9, 1985, the application may be considered to have been filed at the time of the latest denial or termination. Should the claim be allowed, Social Security benefits could be retroactive up to 12 months from the date of the new application. Anyone wishing to reapply should contact any Social Security Office for more information and to avoid the possible loss of benefits.

If you wish more information about the new rules for evaluating mental impairments or about other changes in the Social Security law for disabled people, contact your Social Security office.

Early Tax Return Refunds Faster

If you file your federal income tax return early in the season, you will probably have any tax refund you are entitled to within six weeks.

The quick turn around time is possible because the service center where the returns are processed has fewer returns coming in early in the filing season. Later on, the backlog becomes so large that taxpayers may have to wait as long as ten weeks for a refund.

You can also help the service center expedite the processing of your refund if you use the peel-off address label and the IRS coded envelope that came with the tax package of forms you received in the mail. Both save IRS processing time, the envelope to help sort the type of returns submitted, and the label, which goes in the address block of the tax return form, to identify the taxpayer's account. Use of the pre-printed label also reduced errors in the writing or reading of names, addresses, and social security numbers. If the label needs correction, such as an address change, taxpayers should make the correction right on the label.

Incidentally, the IRS says that it is not true that returns filed early in the season are more apt to be audited than those filed later on. The criteria for selecting returns for examination have nothing to do with when they are filed, only with what's in them. So, if you have your W-2 form and other necessary information, file now. You've only your refund to gain - early.

U.S. Public Health Service Advises on Reye Syndrome

In the midst of the flu season, important new information has become available about the development -- in teens and children with flu -- of Reye syndrome, a rare but serious condition that kills 20 to 30 percent of its young victims and leaves many survivors brain-damaged.

The new information comes from a U.S. Public Health Service pilot study of a possible link seen in four earlier state studies between the use of aspirin in treating flu or chicken pox and an increased risk of Reye syndrome.

The Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences has reviewed the pilot study and found "strong support" for the link.

Although personnel from the Food and Drug Administration, the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control will continue the study through next winter, the Institute of Medicine advised that the federal government not wait to inform and protect the public.

As a result, Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler has asked manufacturers to remove any recommended use in flu and chicken pox from aspirin-containing products aimed at children -- and to add a warning to all aspirin-containing products against use for flu and chicken pox in children and teens.

The pilot study looked at the histories of drug treatments and other factors of 29 young people who got Reye syndrome last year. Use of aspirin for flu or chicken pox symptoms was the common thread shown in 28 of the 29 (whereas ordinarily less than half the young people with flu or chicken pox would be expected to take aspirin.)

U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, M.D., has said that most childhood illnesses are self-limiting and usually don't require any medication at all. Doctors often suggest that a child with fever simply be made comfortable with cool compresses.

Of course, physicians continue to find aspirin useful and safe for adult, teen and childhood arthritis and other conditions.

Reye syndrome is a rare condition -- a few hundred cases a year. It was named in 1958 for an Australian pathologist who described it as a swelling of the brain, combined with liver malfunction and blood chemistry disorders leading in most cases to death.

Improved recognition and early treatment of the disease has helped reduce the death rate, but still about one out of four reported cases are fatal.

It is crucial to take action quickly if Reye's condition symptoms occur -- whether or not aspirin or an aspirin-containing product has been used. The first sign is generally persistent vomiting. The young person may be sleepy and lethargic, but still responsive. Within half a day, he or she can become disoriented, combative and delirious.

Untreated, the teenager or child can go into a coma and die.

Thus, Reye is a medical emergency. A child with Reye syndrome symptoms must be taken immediately to a hospital, where blood and body fluids can be monitored and a respirator used if breathing fails. Surgery may be needed, in some cases, to relieve pressure on the swollen brain. Therefore, act promptly if you suspect Reye syndrome.

Recycling Pays for Home Town Efforts

March 15th is the deadline for application under the municipal tonnage grant program administered by the New Jersey Department of Energy, Office of Recycling.

The tonnage grant program, part of the New Jersey Recycling Act, awards funds to municipalities for recycling efforts within their borders, based on the amount of material recycled. Recycling programs can take such forms as businesses collecting their office paper, scouts collecting newspapers, or manufacturers collecting cans or bottles.

New Jersey Department of Energy Commissioner Leonard S. Coleman, Jr. emphasized "This unique program has been very successful in providing the incentive for municipalities to increase their recycling efforts. Last November we distributed $1.6 million in tonnage grants to 288 municipalities. Grant records showed 476,900 tons recycled in 1983 -- an 82% increase from 1982." Coleman noted that these figures represent only RECORDED amounts of recycled materials.

"Clearly more than 10% of our waste is now being recycled as a result of our aggressive state recycling campaign. Counties, municipalities, community organizations, and New Jersey residents are demonstrating through their recycling efforts that recycling programs can reduce solid waste, help alleviate our landfill crisis, and clean up our environment," Coleman concluded.

All New Jersey municipalities may apply for tonnage grants. Applications and detailed grant packages have been mailed to each of the state's municipal clerks. Municipal officials should check every source for recycling possibilities including businesses, restaurants, supermarkets and automobile service stations. Community groups and local recyclers with documentation of recycled materials are asked to contact their municipal clerks.

Applications and documentation must be received in the Energy Department, Office of Recycling by the March 15 deadline. For more information while the New Jersey Department of Energy, Office of Recycling, 101, Commerce Street, Newark, New Jersey, 07102, or telephone (201) 640-6285. Information is also available from your County Recycling Coordinator.

Trojans Sink Hoffman In Playoffs

A gallant Harold G. Hoffman High School girls' varsity team took on the powerful Bishop Ahr basketball combine Monday night and ended up second best, losing to the Trojans by a score of 57 to 44 at the East Brunswick basketball court.

From the earliest stages of the game, the Trojans took charge, threatening to break the game wide open but for the tenacity of the Lady Guvs who, despite their height disadvantage, managed to stay within catching-up distance.

However, fast breaks and sure-handed ball handling on the part of the Trojans, aided by their superior height, doomed the Lady Guvs who were never closer than nine points from the Trojans, midway into the fourth quarter.

Because of their height, the Trojans dominated the boards. Tricia Popowski had two of her shots from the sidelines blocked, which the Trojans turned to their advantage.

The Lady Guvs played out their hearts but, repeatedly, the balls they threw, which looked like perfect ringers, popped into the basket and popped out again — a very demoralizing element in the game.

Lynn Ust played her usual good game, netting 21 points. She would have scored more but several of her layups under the basket didn't materialize, being ambushed from all sides by the Trojans, crowding her out and causing her shots to hit the rim and fall short.

Trojans in Double Figures

Yolanda Doctor of the Trojans scored 15 points; Renee Doctor had 13 points while Missy Mazurek hooped for 12. Sullivan, however, was the top point maker with 18.

The Lady Guvs entered the playoffs by taking the measure of the Woodbridge Brnns last week, 56 to 38, with Ust sparking the Lady Guvs with 26 points at Iselin's J.F.K. court. Cindy DeFort contributed nine points and had ten assists.

Bishop Ahr of Edison easily vanquished Madison Central of Old Bridge last week, 55 to 30. The Trojans were rated No. 15 statewide by the Newark Star Ledger.

There were many red eyes and tears shed by the Lady Guvs following their defeat Monday to the Trojans, but they can be quite proud of themselves.

Hoffman, with just 250 pupils enrolled in their high school, took on a behemoth, Bishop Ahr, with an enrollment of 1100 and gave them a good run for their victory.

With a bit of luck on some of their in-and-out shots, the game could have turned out differently.

The Lady Guvs now have a record of 21 and 2, which they will take with them into the state tournaments next week. Cindy DeFort's sprained ankle, hopefully, will be mended by then.

Sacred Heart 6th Grade Team Wins St. Stephens P.A.C. Invitational Basketball Tournament

Sacred Heart of South Amboy was the winner of St. Stephens, Perth Amboy's 5th annual 6th Grade P.A.C. Invitational Basketball Tournament when they defeated St. Stan's of Sayreville 48-35 in the championship game. The overall hustle and discipline of St. Stan's kept the game close in the first half, but the strong rebounding of David Barth and Greg Koledits and the scoring of Gary Kuhn and Kevin Zebro in the second half, brought the title to Sacred Heart.

David Barth 20 pts., Kevin Zebro and Gary Kuhn 11 pts. each, and Jim Seyglinski, Eric Somers, and Gregory Koledits 2 each were the scorers for Sacred Heart while John Kwitkowski had 16 pts. for St. Stan's. David Barth, the strong center for Sacred Heart who dominated both boards throughout the tournament, was the M.V.P. Gary Kuhn and Kevin Zebro along with John Kwitkowski of St. Stan's, were awarded All Tournament Team trophies.

In the first game, Sacred Heart had well balanced scoring defeating host St. Stephens 45-23. Scoring for Sacred Heart were David Barth 10, Mark Cavallo 8, Kevin Zebro 7, Gary Kuhn 6, Eric Somers 5, Jeff White 4, and Greg Koledits, Frank Eberle and Stanley Laikowski 2 each. Sacred Heart won the semifinals round, beating St. Cecelias, Iselin 50-31. Gary Kuhn and David Barth 18 pts. each,

Eric Somers 6, Greg Koledits 4, and Jim Seyglinski and Kevin Zebro 2 each, did the scoring for Sacred Heart.

The 6th Grade Team from Sacred Heart had also won the St. Mary's, South Amboy Tournament, Our Lady of Victories, Sayreville Holiday Tournament and will be playing in the finals of St. Stan's Sayreville, Tournament.

Lynn Ust Establishes Scoring Record

Lynn Ust, a sophomore forward, playing with the Harold G. Hoffman varsity girls' basketball team, shattered a scoring record set last year by Nancy Garsick by registering 37 points in a single game.

The game was played against the Dunellen girls' varsity which the Lady Guvs won 83 to 32.

In winning the game, the varsity team completed its Central Valley Conference season with a 14-0 record, to win the championship of that conference for the third year in succession and the seventh in eight seasons.

Hoffman, whose record at the conclusion of the game was 19-1, took a commanding 51-11 lead at halftime at which point Ust had netted 28 points.

She broke the record of 35 points in a game set by Nancy Garsick by adding three additional points in the third quarter and six in the final quarter.

Ust also took down ten rebounds during the game.
