City Breaks Ground For New School Complex

The official groundbreaking ceremony for the South Amboy Community School was held on Wednesday, June 22, 1994. The new complex is billed as a "unique project" that will be situated on 10 acres by George and Rosewell Streets in the city. The reason for its uniqueness was that the complex will house the city library as well as the city's little league fields and a new road extension.

The school will house approximately 550 middle level and high school students, feature 40 classrooms with separate entrances to maintain the two school's identity. The 144,335 square foot structure will include a new auditorium and gymnasium, also with separate entrances, so they can be used by city residents for other activities after school hours, without going into the school proper.

Suspects Arrested After Chase

Jasper Gathers of Hackensack, Kevin Ratliff of Bergenfield and George Knox of Englewood were arrested by Sayreville Police last Friday and charged with breaking into a house on Locklin Court.

A chase by both Sayreville and South Amboy Police Officers through local streets and backyards ensued after they were noticed.

The three men are suspected in other daylight burglaries on Robin Hood Drive, Sherwood Road and Kierst Street in Parlin.

All are being held at the Middlesex County Correctional Center in North Brunswick; Gathers on $25,000 bail, and both Ratliff and Knox on $50,000 bail.

City Gets New Trash Collector

National Waste Disposal of Trenton, lowest bidder for the city's trash collection, will begin next week when the current contract expires. The city will maintain a once a week collection schedule.

New Rules Govern Sayreville Students

Beginning with the 1994-95 school year, students at Sayreville High School will be banned from wearing hats and playing radios and cassettes in the school. In addition, high school principal Dennis Fyffe wants to stiffen penalties for smoking and fighting in the school area.

The rules are to be voted on at the time of printing, and the Board of Education is expected to pass them.

Donation - South Amboy Police Sergeant Ken Szatkowski accepts a Car Seat and two (2) Bicycle Helmets from Lori A. Gigante, Public Relations Manager for AAA Central - West Jersey. The items were used during the Community Awareness Day to create public awareness on bike and child restraint safety.

Mayor John T. O'Leary's
Letter to the Citizens

Dear Citizens:

On June 21, 1994 the State of New Jersey announced the amount of Supplemental Franchise and Gross receipts funding to be provided to our State's municipalities for local property tax relief.

Despite Governor Whitman's continued statements that she is not reducing State aid for local property tax relief in her budget, the amount of revenue the City of South Amboy will receive under this category of aid is $200,000.00 less than last year.

This $200,000.00 loss of local property tax relief funding represents eleven (11) tax points to South Amboy.

Eleven points to the average property owner in South Amboy equals $71.50.

This single reduction of local property tax relief funding may cost South Amboy property taxpayers more than the entire State income tax savings the average wage earner will realize under Governor Whitman's budget.

This $200,000.00 loss of State aid in a single category of funding is a grave concern given the fact that South Amboy receives local property tax relief funding in eleven other categories of State aid.

Our State Senator Jim McGreevey has indicated that Governor Whitman and Senate President DiFrancesco have broken their promise to avoid reducing State aid for local property tax relief in the State Budget. As a result, municipalities have lost substantial State aid which will cause local property taxpayers to suffer if the Governor's budget is adopted.

I ask all our citizens to contact their State Legislators to vote NO on the Governor's budget. The Governor must be held to her commitment not to reduce State aid for local property tax relief.

Mayor John T. O'Leary

Piotrowski Receives First Dowdell Award

The Friends of the Dowdell Library of South Amboy have selected the winner of the first annual Sadie Pope Dowdell Memorial Award.

The award is named after the former director of the South Amboy Public Library, who served in that capacity for over 50 years. The Friends decided this year to honor her memory by presenting an award to an outstanding graduating senior at Hoffman High School. The criteria for the award is that the recipient share some of the same attributes as Sadie Dowdell, namely, hard work, a love for learning and a love for books.

This year's recipient is Ms. Beata Piotrowski. Ms. Piotrowski came to the United States from Poland speaking no English. Through hard work she now speaks English fluently. She has been accepted to Middlesex County College and wants to become a History teacher.

The president of the Friends group, Ms. KayMargaretta presented Ms. Piotrowski with the award at the annual Hoffman High School Awards ceremony that were held on June 23rd.

According to William Kurtz, Board President, the statement would have allowed the board to decide the correct answer in situations where "a student or teacher who could be a rabble-rouser would bring up a topic with no educational value."

VIEWPOINT

As I See It

by

John S. Wisniewski

Last year, Kwame Sharif died in a tragic accident when the ground on which he was playing opened up and swallowed him. Most tragically, 7 year old Kwame wasn't playing in what someone might call a dangerous location. No, he was in the courtyard of the apartment complex where he lived with his family.

An investigation revealed that construction debris, including tree trunks, were used as "fill" when that apartment complex was built. Using construction debris as "fill" is not generally considered a sound practice in the construction trade. It is however, cheap. And when a builder wants to cut corners to increase his profit, cheap does it nicely. Over the years this "fill" settled and created a cavity that opened one day when a young child was in the wrong place at the wrong time. It should never have happened.

In response to this unfortunate tragedy there was legislation proposed to supposedly address this type of situation. And I am not criticizing that response. It is unfortunate, but often times it takes a tragedy to spur on a solution to the problem. Many laws have their origin in trying to prevent a tragedy from happening again. Last year, a bill was introduced in the Senate that would have created a regulatory response to this tragedy. That bill would have required the state to conduct annual inspections at apartment complexes. That bill died in the Republican controlled Assembly last year. Now Assemblyman Mikulak is attempting to revive it. I think reviving it would be a mistake.

It's not that I think nothing should be done. I think that the Senate bill that died last year was a good try, but far off the mark, especially in light of the need to cut back on the size of government. That bill would have required manpower and resources from the state that I don't believe that state will be able to provide. More importantly, checking every apartment complex in the state for buried construction debris or cavities would be like trying to find a needle in the haystack. It would be physically impossible to be absolutely positive that there wasn't buried debris or a cavity. The same tragedy could happen again, notwithstanding this proposed legislation.

Instead of further burdening the taxpayers with added regulations that the state must spend money trying to enforce, I believe that builders must be held financially responsible for such accident. If builders know that they may face liability for cutting corners, they will be far less likely to try it. If the builder of the apartment complex where Kwame Sharif died knew that he would be held legally responsible for this tragedy, the construction debris which caused it might not ever have been buried.

Right now, a statute of repose limits the liability of a builder for accidents which occur more than 10 years after the completion of the project. So a builder only has a gamble that tragedies such as this happen after a period of repose runs, and then he's homefree. As I see it, the statute of repose should be amended to specifically exclude tragedies such as this from escaping liability. A builder should be liable for injuries and deaths that occur as the result of buried construction debris no matter how long after the completion of the project it occurs.

Dear Citizen's Voice Editor:

I've just read that President and Hillary Clinton's new health care proposal will cost $3.6 trillion between 1996 and 2004, when the plan will be fully implemented.

It seems to me quite an irony that the Clinton Administration claims to have undertaken health reform largely because the nation could not afford increasing health care spending! Where exactly is the big savings in this new plan?

Add this huge cost to the problems of more government bureaucracy and the possibility of losing more than 900,000 American jobs (source: DRI/McGraw-Hill), and I'm not sure we need health care reform as much as the Clintons think.

It true there is no such thing as a free lunch. But the Clinton price tag seems well out of range for most American taxpayers. I'd rather see various market reforms (like capping malpractice suit amounts and allowing people to start medical saving accounts) tried before risking our entire economy on this radical plan of Bill and Hillary Clinton.

Sincerely,

Joan Malchuk

Tax Cut/Tax Rise

by James E. McGreevey

Middle class families in New Jersey are about to be blindsided by a state budget which tragically will place a disproportionate and inequitable burden on the middle class through higher property taxes and increased costs for motor vehicle services and other state fees.

The budget's devastating impact on the middle class, however, has received little attention or public discussion. Instead, the Governor's pledge to reduce income tax rates and her unsubstantiated claims of downsizing state government bureaucracy have taken centerstage.

With action pending on a further income tax reduction, it is critical for New Jersey to focus not only on the immediate impact of lower income tax rates, but more importantly on the long-term effects which this action will have on our state's economic future, particularly our middle class families.

After carefully evaluating the 10 percent income tax cut now before the Legislature, and having considered how it will impact the state budget, it is clear that approval of this proposal will jeopardize New Jersey's economic future at the expense of middle class families, who already are financially overburdened.

Approval of the 10 percent income tax reduction will result in higher property taxes throughout the State of New Jersey. A vote for a reduction in the income tax is in reality vote to raise property taxes, which is the most unfair and inequitable tax.

Local governments and school districts have only two sources of revenue -- state aid and the local property tax. If state aid decreases, as it has in the Woodbridge school district, local officials must choose between reductions in programs and services or increasing local property taxes.

The budget clearly will have a negative impact on the middle class and benefit only a small portion of New Jerseyans while seriously jeopardizing the state's economic future.

Capital Comments

by Stephen Mikulak

Imagine being able to require your neighbors to install a pool in your backyard -- and making them spend their money for it.

That's similar to what the state mandates, the state government can require municipalities to do it's bidding -- and pay for the privilege.

Times are changing. My Republican colleagues and I in the Assembly have legislation, popularly called "state mandate/state pay" that would require the state to provide funding for any new burdens it forces upon local communities.

Soon, open season on local governments will end. No longer will municipalities and counties be forced to raise property taxes or cut services to meet a new dictum from Trenton.

That would be good news for property owners in our state. Property taxes wouldn't be hiked on account of Trenton. Communities would not be blind-sided by new, forced spending. They would have a free hand to reign in local spending and save residents even more.

It makes sense, doesn't it? Rarely can government spend its own money frugally; When you give it authority to spend someone else's, you're just asking for trouble.

The legislation authorizing state-mandate/state-pay to be placed on the November ballot -- it requires a change in the state's constitution -- recently cleared the Assembly Policy and Rules Committee. It must now go to the Assembly Appropriations Committee. If it clears that hurdle as well, it will be sent to the full Assembly.

Then, it's off to the Senate, where a similar round of committee hearings will ensue.

Next, it's the Governor's desk and, finally, it will be up to you. You will get a chance to decide the legislation's ultimate fate, when and if it makes it to the ballot.

I hope you agree with me that this is a badly needed change. Without it, there is no way to insure that state government is responsible with the requirements it places on local communities.

Simply put, if the state wants it done, it should pay for it.

Now, if we could just get Congress working on similar legislation.

NOTE: The Assembly Policy and Rules Committee also passed a resolution urging Congress to consider such legislation.

New Hair Transplant
Uses New 'Ultra-Pulse' Laser

A new advanced laser technique that transplants hair with minimal pain and permanent results is being used for the first time in New Jersey by a University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey physician.

The technique employs an "ultra-pulse" laser, which safely creates small slits in the scalp known as "graft sites." These sites are then filled with hair that is removed from the back of the head.

Dr. Sandy Milgraum, a dermatologist with the UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School in New Brunswick, said the laser process eliminates the use of the traditional scalpel, making surgery faster with less bleeding and postoperative swelling.

The laser procedure has been used by Dr. Milgraum on about 20 patients. None of the patients has experienced any adverse effects from the treatments, such as infections.

"The most significant advantage is greater hair density and more natural hair distribution," said Dr. Milgraum. "The laser method vaporizes the scalp's graft sites, providing transplanted hair with a more natural appearance. With conventional hair transplant methods, the hair often appears crowded and unnatural."

In a recent four month comparison study between laser and scalpel techniques, hair growth was greater and appeared earlier in laser sites, he said.

"The laser hair transplant technique looks more natural despite fewer grafts being placed per unit area," said Dr. Milgraum. "This method is recommended for men who are completely or nearly bald."

The average patient requires three or four 60-minute sessions, with the cost ranging from $1,500 - $3,000 per session, depending on the size of the area being treated, he said.

Protect Your Children
From Too Much Sun

Sunlight has many benefits. It helps make Vitamin D, a needed ingredient for bones and teeth, it gives most people a psychological boost.

But beware. Too much sun can be dangerous for children.

The most obvious danger is sunburn. Sunburn is not only painful but, if the burn is serious enough and left untreated, it can cause blisters that can become infected.

Also, studies have shown that over-exposure to the sun can eventually lead to skin cancer. According to studies, 50 to 80 percent of an average person's lifetime exposure to the sun comes before age 18.

If your children become sunburned, the best thing to do is apply skin lotion, have them drink fluids to avoid dehydration, give them acetaminophen and let them rest. If a fever or blisters appear, call your physician.

Here are some ways to avoid getting sunburned:

- Limit your children's exposure to the sun, no matter the season. Keep in mind that the sun's peak hours are between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. The sun's rays are strongest during these hours and can burn your skin quicker.
- Never let your children go out seeking a tan. A tan is not healthy for the skin. Tanning is a method the skin uses to protect itself from burning.
- Always apply sunscreen on your children when they are going to be exposed to the sun. Use at least a sun protectant factor (SPF) of 15. Most sunscreens need to be re-applied every two to three hours and following swimming.
- Do not place infants less than six months of age out in the direct sun. Sunburn can be very dangerous to young babies.
- Protect your child's face with a brimmed hat.
- Beware of cloudy days. The sun's ultraviolet rays can shine through clouds at 80 percent strength. This can still cause sunburn.
- Too much sun can lead to dehydration and heat exhaustion. Make sure your child eats properly and drinks plenty of fluids before going out in the sun. Drinks with electrolytes replace minerals lost through sweating.

Hospital Provides Tips on Surviving the Family Vacation

The lecture "Surviving the Family Vacation," will be presented by Betty Bergman, M.S.W., Director of Consultation and Education at South Amboy Memorial Hospital. It will be held on Wednesday, June 29, at 7:30 p.m., at the South River Community Center, 85 Prospect Street in South River.

The program is open to the public and is part of the South Amboy Memorial Hospital's Speakers Bureau which provides free lectures to community groups, organizations and businesses.

Diet, Exercise Key
To Seniors Health

As you age, it's important to get enough exercise and eat a healthful diet. But, experts say, "healthful diet" means different things to different people, especially when those people are over 65.

While the dietary key to good health for everyone is to eat a well-balanced diet of foods from all the food groups, older people have some special needs.

For instance, studies show that the elderly produce less stomach acid than younger people do, which interferes with the body's absorption of vitamins B-12 and B-6, folacin, iron, calcium and zinc.

Deficiencies in these nutrients can affect the nervous system and lead to depression and memory loss. And insufficient calcium can cause osteoporosis, or loss of bone mass. When bones become thin and brittle, they break more easily.

Liver, eggs, red meat, poultry, milk and shellfish supply vitamin B-12. Whole grains, dried beans, red meat, poultry, potatoes, bananas, eggs and nuts provide vitamin B-6. Dairy products are good source of calcium.

Even for the elderly, exercise is essential for health, experts say.

Regular weight-bearing exercise deposits calcium in the bones, reducing the risk of osteoporosis. Exercise also helps people over 65 maintain muscle mass, facilitates respiratory function, mobility and ambulatory capacity, and improves overall strength.

Aerobic exercise promotes cardiovascular health.

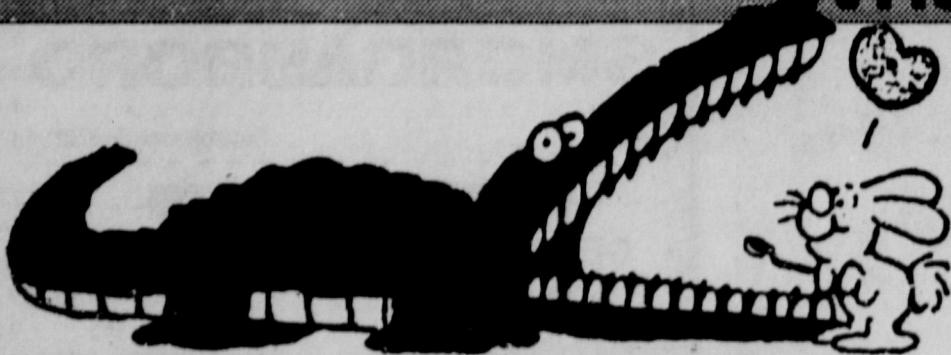

Another essential for good health is maintaining normal body weight. Experts recommend eating nutrient-dense foods -- foods with high proportion of nutrients to calories. Good choices include fish, poultry, eggs, low-fat dairy products, grains, fruits and vegetables.

Local

Fluke are getting bigger and bigger which was the case with Jerry Gorczyca and Ed McKeon boating a 6-pounder over the weekend. Patty Ledger got the surprise of her life in the Manasquan River this past weekend. She was fishing for bluefish with a chunk of bunker. Her bait was engulfed by a 7 3/4-pound fluke which I know would have made anybody's day.

Bluefish are still hitting off the South Amboy beach as Mike English reeled in a 12-pounder Sunday. There are still some big bass mixed in when the bunker's appear. Crabbing should turn on in a week or two. There are plenty of small ones out there but need a few full moons in which to grow.

Tuna

They are starting to make an appearance and that action should start heating up soon. With that in mind, Capt. Mike Lockwood in Morgan is booking charters for Canyon trips. Anyone looking for "a time of their life" fishing trip should contact Capt. Mike Lockwood at 721-1605.

In those days he was wiser than he is now----- he used to frequently take my advice.

Statistics Reveal Danger

From Faulty Brakes

In states with safety inspection programs, up to 29% of vehicles fail because of faulty brakes, according to reports from state program administrators.

For any car, new or old, regular vehicle inspections should be performed on the brake system. While just about anyone can check a car's fluid levels simply by opening the hood and following the owner's manual instructions, the rest of the inspection should be left to a qualified technician such as you would find at Weber's Garage.

Here is our checklist:

- We will look at the brake line under the car for rust and punctures.
- Check the brake hoses for brittleness and cracking.
- Check the brake linings and pads for wear and brake fluid or grease.
- Check the wheel bearings and grease seals.
- Adjust parking brake as required.

A vehicle will often let the driver know when its braking system is not working correctly, perhaps with a squealing sound, a rubbing noise, a noticeable leak in the system, and, brakes that will pull the vehicle to one side or another.

Before you go to inspection, have your vehicle checked out at Weber's garage!

Mike Simko

One of the funniest things ever seen in big league baseball happened in a game in 1948... Eddie Stevens was playing first base for the Pirates that day, Eddie Bockman was playing third, and Eddie Fitzgerald was catching... The batter hit a pop fly near the mound... All three Eddie's converged on the ball... The pitcher-forgetting the 3 players that were going after the ball had the same name, shouted, "Eddie, you take it"... All three Eddie's, looking up at the ball, then collided with each other, the ball fell to the ground for a base hit.

Did you know that when a golf ball is first hit off the tee by a good player, the ball is traveling about 170 MPH!

What's the closest any big league baseball player has come to hitting .400 for a full season since it was last done by Ted Williams in 1941?... The player who's come the closest is George Brett who hit .390 in 1980.

Girl Scouts Launch Mommy & Me Program

This summer, girls in kindergarten and first grade can enjoy their first venture at day camp by attending with mom during the Mommy & Me session at Oak Spring Day Camp, Franklin Township on July 6-8.

The session is limited to 25 girls and moms who will learn a variety of skills and gain new independence. The Girl Scout council recognizes the terrified feelings a young child might have when first venturing out into the world, so a program was developed that gradually and gently helps them to separate from mom.

Mommy & Me program includes swimming, boating, cooking at a camp fire, hiking, art and music. Girls and mom will work in partnership and learn teamwork and sharing skills.

The three day program cost $60.00 and transportation is not included. The Girl Scout Council may be called at (908) 821-9090.

PROJECT OF-THE-WEEK

by Craft Patterns™

BACHELOR'S CHAIR PLAN

You don't have to be a bachelor to appreciate this combination chair, ironing board and step stool. In the past, when living space was a precious commodity, furniture often had to fulfill more than one function. This chair can be that extra seat you need when putting on shoes, a convenient ironing board or a stable step stool. The chair base is 14 inches wide, 21 inches deep. The ironing board surface is 37 inches high. (#1302...$5.95).

TV is IFy

Consider this!

All advertisements on the TV might be heard...

If you have your Television is on.

If your TV is on and if you're listening to that particular station.

If your TV is on, and if you're listening to that station, and if you're listening at that particular moment.

and if you don't decide to change that station to listen to another program!

People just don't believe it until they see it in print!!
