CONNORS IS ST. COMMISSIONER

The Common Council Appoints Him To Succeed the Late Richard B. Hillmann—Property Owners on Henry Street Petition for Sidewalks—Council Adopts Old Rules—Other Business Transacted.

There were a number of applications for the office of street commissioner at the Council meeting last Tuesday evening. John Connors, who formerly held that office for a number of years, was appointed by the body to fill the unexpired term of the late Richard D. Hillmann. Applications were received from William L. Hillmann, John Quinlan, Michael Gushue, John J. Braney, Patrick Camplon and Nathaniel Dayton, Sr. In the vote taking Mr. Dayton received two votes and Mr. Connors three. Mr. Connors was, therefore, declared appointed after the first vote was taken, only one vote being necessary to decide the question.

The meeting was very decorous and lasted but a comparatively short time. Shortly after the minutes were read Councilman Parlsen arose and moved that the rules of the former body be adopted to govern the proceedings of the present council until such time as new rules were prepared and adopted. The motion was, as Councilman Parlsen put it, "to avoid a repetition of the occurrences of the last meeting." The motion was unanimously adopted.

All members of the body were present, including the mayor, and most of the various officers were also on hand as well as a plentiful scattering of curious or anxious spectators who were doubtless more or less interested in the appointment of the street commissioner.

The clerk read a petition from the property owners on Henry street, apparently between Broadway and Stevens avenue, for pavement of sidewalk and curbing. It was referred to the street committee on motion of Councilman Parlsen. The sidewalk asked for is to be four feet in width and the curbing to be four inch, set in concrete and the cost to be assessed against the properties benefited.

The city electrician communicated the need of certain battery materials which had been asked for some time ago but not yet received. The materials were needed for the fire alarm system, which was likely to get out of order at any time because of the scarcity of battery materials. Councilman Parlsen stated that the clerk had been authorized to order the materials in question and moved that the communication be received and filed.

A communication from the agent in charge of the Pennsylvania Railroad's real estate interests in this city stated that the city was occupying the site of the Broadway fire house on a lease which was subject to termination at thirty days notice, but that there would probably be no objection to the city continuing to occupy the property so long as there was no sale but that as the ground was advertised for sale and might be sold at any time it might be advisable for the city to purchase. Upon motion of Councilman Rue the letter was received and ordered placed on file.

A letter from Mayor Dey enclosed the check in payment of the bill of Mr. A. T. McMichael for preparing the assessment maps of Bordentown avenue and Catherine street which was authorized to be paid at the last meeting. The letter stated that the check was returned unsigned because he, the mayor, considered that the city engineer, Mr. H. F. Thomas, was the man that should have done the work. Councilman Parlsen moved that the bill be paid notwithstanding the mayor's objection and asked for an opinion upon the matter from the City Solicitor. Solicitor Coan stated the bill was legal and not extensible inasmuch as the work was done from him the city engineer did the fact that Mr. McMichael the city engineer did authorize to

City Collector Sells Lands For Taxes

City Collector Frederick Delbert sold on Monday last certain properties for unpaid taxes. The sale took place at the City Hall, at 2 p. m. The city bought in eight pieces of property. Benj. F. Jackson bought the Mrs. E. Lamb property on Henry street; Arthur A. Applegate bought in the George W. Parlsen houses on Augusta street; and James D. Van Pelt purchased the Mrs. Peter O'Neill lots on Gordon street, and the one and one-eighth acres of land on Bordentown avenue belonging to the estate of Margaret Lewis.

SPECIAL SERMON FOR MEN.

The Rector of Christ Church will preach a special sermon to the men of the community next Sunday morning on "Some Modern Delusions and their Dupes." Each male communicant of the parish is asked to bring at least two men outside the church membership.

ALLEGED DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Last Saturday morning Chief of Police McDonnell raided an alleged disorderly house on Catherine street and gathered in Catherine Collins, Margaret Lunn, of this city, and Stephen Spite, Charles Conroy and Edward Smith, all of Perth Amboy. The Chief made the catch single handed and brought the bunch to the City Hall for a hearing before Mayor Dey. The mayor imposed a fine of twenty dollars each or the alternative of spending sixty days in the County Jail. Spite was the only one that had the necessary twenty and the other two men were sent to jail. The women promised to raise the money if given forty-eight hours in which to do it. The time was granted with the promise that if the money was not forthcoming at the end of that time they would be treated to a free ride to the County Seat where they could spend a needed vacation at the expense of the public, which, by the way, would be only too glad to be rid of them permanently according to the reports of nearby residents as well as the Chief of the police department.

HOSPITAL'S NAME IS CHANGED.

The John Wells Memorial Hospital New Brunswick will be known hereafter as the Middlesex General Hospital, following a request for a change of name made by the donor and founder of the first hospital in that city, Mrs. John Wells, who subscribed for the erection of the original building. The hospital has grown rapidly within the last few years, and Mrs. Wells stated its name should be general, inasmuch as the work accomplished and donations received have become general.

The new officers elected are as follows: President, Charles J. Carpenter; vice-president, Miss Emma W. Cook; treasurer, Howard Rule; secretary, William H. Leupp.

Housekeepers can save money the next few days by purchasing at Brown Bros. They intend to clean out as much stock as possible in order to save removal to new store. Look over their adv. this week, and select your bargains.

Jersey veal for roasting, hind-quarters or loin, only 20c lb. at Monaghan's.

The resolution to increase the salary of the president was voted down by four votes at the meeting of the Building and Loan Association last Monday evening.

"DEAD BROKE IN A GREAT CITY"

Subject of Rev. Hicks' Sermon to Men at the Tabernacle Sunday Afternoon—Interest and Attendance at Services Growing Daily—Big Parade of Sunday Schools on Sunday.

Sunday will be another big day at the Hicks Tabernacle. Three services will be held beginning with a street parade of all the Sunday Schools at 10 a. m. This parade will start shortly before that hour from each of the schools participating, all of the divisions meeting on Stevens avenue and proceeding to the Tabernacle at Main street and Broadway in time for the morning service at 10.30. Special music by the Junior Choir will be a feature of the service. This choir has been practicing during the past week, and will occupy the big choir platform and sing instead of the regular chorus choir. Several Junior Choir services will be held during the rest of the campaign and a musical treat will be assured when the "Sunbeam Chorus" takes part.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Mr. Hicks will give an address to men only, taking as his subject, "Dead Broke in a Great City." Special music will be a feature of this service.

In the evening, it is expected that the building will be filled before the starting time. Last Sunday evening's service taxed the capacity of the big building, as the attendance has been gradually growing from day to day, it is expected that overflow meetings will soon be necessary to take care of the crowds. Early comers will therefore be the only ones sure of seats.

During the past week even the stormy weather has not affected the attendance but very slightly, good crowds greeting Evangelist Hicks at each service. On Tuesday evening, the center portion of the tabernacle was reserved for South Amboy and out-of-town Methodists, and in spite of a heavy rain storm the attendance of outside delegations was very good. Mr. Hicks gave his celebrated sermon on "Hell."

Wednesday evening was "Baptist Night" and delegations were present from Perth Amboy, Matawan, Keyport, South River and New Brunswick. The men of the South River Baptist Church presented Evangelist Hicks with a traveling bag, and the ladies of the same church gave "Ma" Hicks an umbrella. In spite of the rain and muddy walking there were about 600 present, the choir containing its full quota of a hundred or more singers. Mr. Hicks preached on "Repentance" and at the close of the sermon a short prayer meeting was held around the platform and prayers were offered by laymen for the success of the services.

No special delegations were scheduled for Thursday evening, but even on the regular nights the number of people from other places are noticeable. To-night (Friday) is Methodist Protestant Night and the local church of that denomination expects to be present in full force. It is impossible for outside churches to attend this service, there being no other Methodist Protestant Churches in this section. This Saturday at 3 o'clock Evangelist Hicks will preach to the women only. He will be the only man in the Tabernacle and will speak on "Housecleaning." An effort will be made by the ladies to exceed the men's meeting of last Sunday in both attendance and offering. Last Sunday afternoon there were about 400 men present and the offering amounted to $24.00.

The afternoon services at the Tabernacle have been very well attended each day. Morning prayer meetings are being held daily in a great number of homes throughout the city. It is believed that every family in this city has heard of the campaign.

During one of the services of the week Evangelist Hicks made the assertion that already he had seen more drunken men on the streets of South Amboy in his week's stay than he had seen during his stay of seven years in Kansas.

Prominent Guests To Be At Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club to be held on Thursday, April 6th, will be dedicated to the interests of the Federation. In honor of the event the day will be called Federation Day.

The State President, Mrs. Charles Stockton of Ridgewood, the Secretary to the National Federation, Mrs. William T. Ropes of Montclair, and the Vice-President of the Third District, in which this city is included, Mrs. Stuart Audley of Perth Amboy, will be present. Two members from each of the federated clubs in the district have been invited and will likely be in attendance. At any event the local membership will be augmented by the presence of many out of town representatives.

The meeting will convene at three o'clock and will be followed by a social hour and refreshments.

RETURN DANCE AND RECEPTION.

The Leap Year Reception, recently given so successfully by the young ladies in the K. of P. Hall, is to be returned by the opposite sex on April 28th. Plans for the dance, which is to be called "A Return Dance to the Leap Year Reception," were discussed at a meeting held in the Mayor's Office last Saturday evening.

At the meeting in question two committees—floor and reception—were selected and appointed. The membership of these committees is as follows: Floor committee, Frank Scully, chairman; and Sidney Kaufman, James Cantlon, George Gundrum, Jr., James Gordon, Robert Mason, Jr., Theophil Kwilinski, J. E. Coogan and Leo Conkley. Reception committee, Thomas Kerr, chairman; Robert Cantlon, Harold Hoffman, John Conlogue, Frank Welsh, Oliver Brown, John Coyne, Daniel Donlin and Michael Nagle. The general committee consists of the following: George Gundrum, Sr., chairman; Mayor Wm. S. Dey, Dr. J. F. Weber, H. D. Littell, Charles Safran, F. P. Coan, John A. Coan, P. Steuervald, Jas. D. Van Pelt, D. W. Reed, R. M. Mack, A. J. Miller, and Alfred T. Kerr.

The invitations are to be limited to the number of one hundred and fifty and the affair is planned to be very formal. The decorations are to be elaborate and the orchestra more so. Indications are that every effort will be made to go the ladies one better and that means the committee has to go some.

The general committee plans to look after the financial end of affair, the decorations, printing, securing orchestra, etc. The details, such as planning the program, distribution of refreshments, taxi-cab service, etc., will be in the hands of the other two committees.

Another meeting of the committees was held on Thursday evening when it was announced that Westervell's full orchestra had been engaged for the occasion. It was decided to have the decorators enclose the stage of the hall in a sort of palm garden effect for smoking, lounging, or resting purposes.

The committees were directed to prepare a list of names of those to whom they wished invitations to be sent and to have the list in the hands of the general chairman, Mr. Gundrum, as soon as possible. The invitations are to be sent out under the supervision of the general committee and another meeting of all the committees is to be held next Thursday evening for final action on the whole affair.

The ball promises to be the event of the season in this section of the county and especial attention is to be given the elder couples who may not be intimately acquainted with the latest contortions of the modern dances. The dance program being prepared is promised to contain a liberal scattering of the dances in vogue before society went crazy.

CELEBRATED SIXT BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Rose Shock of Matawan and Messrs. Fred and George Batzel of this city were at Philadelphia Tuesday and took part in the celebration of Mrs. Charlotte Batzel's eighty-first birthday. Mrs. Batzel is the mother of the Messrs. Batzel and sister to Mrs. Shock. The event proved a very happy family gathering and was more delighted than the helped hostess. May she have many more pleasant birthdays is the wish of her many friends.

MUNDY MUST VACATE LAND

Sheriff Houghton on Monday Served Dispossess Notice to Occupants of Land at Morgan Beach to Move Off in Thirty-Three Days—Wm. Rea Placed in Charge of Rowan's Interest.

On Monday last Sheriff Edward F. Houghton and Archibald Rowan went to Morgan Beach and served dispossess notice upon William A. Mundy to vacate the property within thirty-three days. This is the outcome of a suit for ejectment started in the Supreme Court some months ago, in which Rowan won out. Mundy applied for a writ of appeal which was not granted by the court.

From recent action in the Supreme Court it was decided that Archibald Rowan and Morris Brothers of Philadelphia held title to this tract of land running from Cheesapeake creek along the bay front to lands of Lawrence Lamb. Mundy came into possession of the property by purchasing the right, title and interest of the late Abraham Applegate at executor's sale, which they supposed gave them title. Action in the Supreme Court showed that Applegate held no interest in this land.

Many bungalows have been built on this property through leases from Mundy & Hunt. The owners are now wondering how they will be affected by the new state of affairs, and are in hopes they will be allowed to remain in the enjoyment of their summer homes. The Rowan tract runs from the jetties along the shore front a distance of 1,070 feet. Mr. Rowan has placed William Rea in full charge of his interests. Mr. Rea resides at the beach and can be found at any time by those seeking information.

WELCOME PASTOR

SHAW'S RETURN

Notwithstanding the many attractions in town last Monday evening a large number of people assembled at the Methodist Episcopal Church to welcome the pastor, the Rev. J. B. Shaw, on his return for the fourth year. William M. Emmons on behalf of the congregation gave an address of welcome, expressing the pleasure of the members in securing Mr. Shaw's services for another year, and hoping the success of the past years may be continued the coming year. The pastor responded with a brief address expressing his gratification with the hearty co-operation of his people.

A song and prayer service preceded the social part of the program. During the evening Miss Thelma Stratton, aged six years, recited the following lines:

"We welcome you, thrice welcome you, oh pastor dear;
Also your good wife and family this conference year.
We'll take your advice and all be good
And when at last life's service is o'er
We will all welcome you on that beautiful shore."

After the program a social hour was held in the basement of the church, and refreshments were served.

MUELLER-BOSTHWICK.

Miss Catherine Bostwick of this city and Mr. Fred C. Mueller of Jersey City were united in marriage on Saturday evening, March 25, at St. Mary's Rectory by Rev. Lewis Hayes. The couple expect to leave town today for a trip through New York State.

MRS. ANN O'NEIL.

Mrs. Ann O'Neil passed away in Lawrenceville Thursday afternoon about one o'clock at the age of sixty years. She is survived by a son, John O'Neil, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. John Quirk and Mrs. Flanagan, both of Mechanicsville.

The funeral services will be held from St. Mary's R. C. Church this Saturday morning at nine o'clock and interment is to be made in St. Mary's cemetery. Undertaker J. J. Scully has charge of the arrangements.

Brown Bros. are having a great reduction sale previous to removal. It will last but a few days. Read their big adv. on fifth page.

Kyran Finley is Called to Rest

This city lost another of its long-time residents on Thursday when Kyran Finley passed away at his home on Augusta street at the ripe old age of eighty-five years. Mr. Finley had spent his life in this city and was liked and respected by all of the large circle of those who knew him. Death resulted from the accumulated infirmities of his numerous advancing years.

The funeral services will be held from St. Mary's church on Tuesday morning and interment made in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery. Undertaker Burke, of Perth Amboy, has charge of the arrangements.

The deceased is survived by six daughters and three sons. They are: Mrs. Samuel J. Crozier, Mrs. Thomas Gelsdon, Mrs. Michael O'Brien and the Misses Anna, Elizabeth and Mary Finley. The sons are: John, Kyran and Thomas. All of the children are residents of this city except the last named son, who makes his home in Jersey City. The deceased is also a close relative of the family of the late Thomas Bowe, and of James Hogan, of Trenton, William Brophy, of New Brunswick, Peter Hoey, of New Brunswick, and John Brophy, of New Brunswick.

Mr. Finley spent his life in the service of the Pennsylvania and Central railroads. His last place of employment was at Woodbridge where he was a signal maintainer, from which position he was retired.

MRS. MARY GEORGE.

Mrs. Mary George, wife of Gideon George, and mother of Miss J. M. Willett of this city, departed this life on Saturday last at her home in Matawan at the age of 61 years. She had been unwell all winter, and on the Monday previous to her death, she was stricken with paralysis from which she did not rally. Besides a husband she is survived by ten children and twenty-five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from St. Joseph's Church, Keyport, at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning and were attended by a large number of friends and relatives. Solemn high mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul with Rev. Michael C. O'Donnell as celebrant. Interment was made in the parish cemetery.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

A farewell reception was tendered on Wednesday evening to Miss Blanche Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reed, of First street. Miss Reed expects to leave this city shortly to take up the study of professional nursing, hence the farewell party.

The evening was passed with the young folks indulging in the usual pastimes and parlor games. Refreshments were served and the guests departed wishing the young lady success in her chosen pathway through life.

Among those present were the following: Blanche Havens, Helen Reed, Bernice Everitt, Freeda Martin, Helen Schuyler, Mabel Locke, and Joseph Cannon, J. Melford Roll, Richard Lewis, Ralph White, Walter White, Ernest Reed, Andrew Dill, William Turner, Edward Schuyler and Russel Hardy.

"RESTAURANT" CAR NOW.

On April 1st, the Pennsylvania Railroad will discontinue the use of the name "Dining Car." After that date, all cars now known as "Dining Cars" will be known as "Restaurant Cars."

The term "Dining Car" is a misnomer, as the word "dining" properly applies to a place to eat dinner. As breakfast and luncheon, as well as dinner, are served in the so called "dining car," it is actually a "restaurant" car, and the Pennsylvania Railroad has decided to take the initiative in abolishing the misnomer and in giving the car its proper title.

This change marks the passing of a name that has been associated with first-class railroad travel for nearly thirty-four years. The first "dining car" was used on the Pennsylvania Railroad's "New York and Chicago Limited" in September, 1882. Previously to that date, through trains had been equipped with "hotel cars" which were sleeping cars with a kitchen or buffet in one end. "Hotel cars" were first used in November, 1878.

AT PROGRAM PREPARE

preliminary program of the Jersey Conference of Charities and Corrections, which is to be held in Asbury Park, April 30th, May 1st and 2nd, 1916, is now being sent out to all members and friends of the Conference. The General Topic of the program is "Mental Deficiency in Relation to Social Problems." An attempt will be made to show the cause, the cure and how to prevent mental deficiency and the great economic loss resulting from the care of the deficient, also the effect of borderline cases upon our courts, penitentiaries and institutions as well as the cause of accidents through lack of efficiency.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Samuel McComb, formerly of Emmanuel Church, Boston, will give an address on "Alcoholism as a Psychic Disorder." Dr. McComb has had wonderful success in reaching and helping unfortunates by appealing to their subconscious mind. Sunday evening there will be an explanation and demonstration of modern methods of dealing with the defective and a motion picture film entitled "Wards of Society," dealing with three degenerate boys.

On Monday morning, "Mental Deficiency and the Sick," will be considered with Dr. Frank H. Edsall of Jersey City, Chairman. Its effect upon tuberculosis will be treated by S. Adolphus Knopf of New York, and discussed by Dr. E. F. McSweeney of Seaview Hospital, Staten Island. The effect upon infant mortality will be treated by Dr. M. W. O'Gorman of Jersey City and discussed by Dr. Julius Levy of Newark. Monday evening, the topic will be "Mental Deficiency in Business and Industry," with Dr. Alexander Humphreys, President of Stevens Institute, as Chairman. Dr. G. Stanley Hall, President of Clark University, Worcester, will give an address on "The Basis of Mental Deficiency," which will be discussed by Cephas I. Shirley, Asst. Supt. of Newark Public Schools.

Tuesday morning, "Mental Deficiency in Institutions" will be considered by Dr. William Martin Richards, an eye specialist, who is now Director of Research, Rahway Reformatory. Those in charge of institutions over the State will be asked to discuss his paper. Tuesday afternoon, "The Exceptional Child and Mental Deficiency in Schools," will be the topic for discussion with Dr. Stewart Paton of Princeton, Chairman. "The Intellectual Defects in School Children," to be treated by Dr. J. J. Savitz, former Assistant Commissioner of Elementary Education in New Jersey. "The Emotional Defects in School Children," will be treated by Carl C. Brigham, Fellow in Experimental Psychology, Princeton. "Selection in Education," will be discussed by Pearce Bailey, M.D., Physician to the Neurological Institute of New York and Paris.

On Tuesday morning, from 9 to 11 o'clock, two most interesting section meetings have been arranged, one on "Child Welfare" and the other on "Housing." A number of social events have also been planned. One is a reception at the residence of Richard Stevens on Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock, and on Monday from 5 to 6 o'clock, special round table conference teas in the rooms at Castle Point, after a return from a visit to the Hudson County Colony at Secaucus.

To Calculate Congresses.

To determine the years covered by a given congress double the number of the congress and add the product to 1789. The result will be the year in which the congress closed. Take, for example, the Thirty-fifth congress. Doubling it gives us seventy; add 1789 and we have 1859, the year in which on March 4, the Thirty-fifth congress closed. To find the number of a congress sitting in any year subtract 1789 from the year. If the result is an even number half that number will give the congress of which the year in question saw the close. If the result is an odd number add one, and half the result will give the congress in which the year in question was the first year. Take, again, the congress sitting in 1865. Subtract 1789 from 1865 and the result is sixty-six. Add one, making sixty-seven, and divide by two, showing that the Thirty-third congress was holding its first regular session in that year. The year 1789 is the basic number, because that was the year in which the first congress under the constitution convened. — Philadelphia Press.

Go to Baltimore to see Sunday.

Traveling in two special trains, nearly 1,000 Trentonians went to Baltimore Sunday to attend services in the revival which Billy Sunday began there after closing his campaign in Trenton. The delegation occupied a block of reserved seats and sang a song by way of a demonstration of their loyalty to the evangelist.

James C. Pope.

James C. Pope, sixty-three years old, for many years prominent in the business affairs of Plainfield, died from complications Saturday night at his home, 115 West Fourth street, that city. He retired May 16, 1914, as treasurer of the Plainfield Savings Institution, with which concern he had been identified for forty-one years. He entered the bank when nineteen years old. Besides his interest in the bank, Mr. Pope also engaged in the fire insurance business. He was born in Danellon, May 7, 1853, and removed with his parents to Plainfield when he was a boy. His wife died a number of years ago. He is survived by a son, William H. Pope, of Plainfield.

New Trust Company at Long Branch.

The Long Branch Trust Company has been incorporated with a paid in capital of $100,000. The control of the stock is held by James L. and John and Henry S. Terhune of Matawan, who together hold 600 of the 1,000 shares. The other incorporators are Thomas R. Woolley, former postmaster at Long Branch, and Edward R. Slocum, W. Stanley House and State Utility Commissioner John W. Slocum of Long Branch.

Each of the Terhune brothers and Edward R. Slocum holds 200 shares, of a par value of $100. Woolley holds 100 and Bouse and John W. Slocum each 50.

The trust company's location is given as 177 Broadway, Long Branch, and Edward R. Slocum is named as agent.

Phone Cut-Over Made in Two Towns in 90 Seconds.

It took just ninety seconds Saturday afternoon to cut over the telephone at Keyport and in Matawan from the old magneto central office to the common battery and selective ringing system. By the cut-over, the old central office at 21 Main street, Matawan, was put out of business forever and henceforth the telephones of the two communities will be operated from the new plant of the New York Telephone Company in the Walling building in Keyport.

As the clocks struck 2 o'clock, a man in Matawan telephoned the word "go," and, in the presence of about seventy-five persons, including officials of the telephone company and officers of the borough, the cut-over was made. Matawan telephones were out of commission for a minute and a half. At the expiration of that time, the operators in the new office in Keyport answered about twenty calls, which had been registered on the new switchboard while the change was being made. Officers of the telephone company said it was one of the quickest and most successful cut-overs in their experience.

William H. Carman.

Pneumonia caused the death on Sunday of William H. Carman, a pioneer citizen of Ocean Grove and for many years prominent in local industrial and political life. Mr. Carman was seventy-six years old. He was twice married, his first wife, who died in 1892, being Miss Annie Brown of Philadelphia. From that union a daughter and a son are living—Mrs. Robert J. Davis of Philadelphia and Clarence L. Carman of New York City. In 1897 he married Miss Elizabeth S. Moore of Ocean Grove, by whom he is survived. Private funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon and interment was made in Glenwood Cemetery, West Long Branch.

Mr. Carman was a veteran of the Civil War. He enlisted on December 4, 1861, with the 106th Pennsylvania Volunteers. Later he was detailed to the naval department, with the rank of second lieutenant. Forty years ago, soon after Ocean Grove was founded, he went there from Philadelphia to engage in the building industry with the late Robert H. Holbrook.

In politics he was a Democrat, holding at the time of his death appointment under that party as a member of the Election Board of the First District of Ocean Grove. He was affiliated with C. K. Hall Post, G. A. R., of Asbury Park, and also with Asbury Park Lodge, F. and A. M.

A Woman Found Drug-Dazed.

On Sunday evening a woman suffering from an overdose of veronal, a narcotic drug, was taken to the City Hospital, Newark, in a serious condition, and Dr. Clertew R. Treat, formerly a well-known physician at Belmar, is under detention at the Second Precinct Police Station, that city, following the discovery of the woman in a room at the Hotel Lenox, 29 Central avenue, Newark. The woman is Mrs. Theresa Garvey, with whom Treat is said to have been friendly for some time.

At 8.30 o'clock Sunday evening the Second Precinct Station received a call to send policemen to the Hotel Lenox. Patrolmen Kinney and Tortorello went there, and in room 75 found Mrs. Garvey fully dressed lying unconscious on the floor. The room was in great disorder and several empty veronal vials were strewn about. The police sent for an ambulance.

While they were waiting Dr. Treat walked in. He appeared to be under the influence of some narcotic and was arrested. He gave his address as 413 Sixth avenue, Belmar.

As Mrs. Garvey was unconscious, no information could be gained from her. At the Second Precinct Station Treat she was a French Canadian who had been divorced. He was a leading physician in Belmar six years ago, he said, when she went to him for treatment for the drug habit. Since then, the police say, he has been with her and has also become addicted to the drug.

A divorce suit against Treat is awaiting trial, it is understood. He is forty-eight years old.

Joshua P. Thompson.

After an illness of several weeks with heart trouble, Joshua P. Thompson, seventy-six years old, died Monday at the Home for Disabled Soldiers in Kearny. He was admitted to the institution in November, 1908, from Plainfield. He served in Company A, Twenty-Fourth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, and later in the United States Navy. Surviving is a sister, Mrs. W. H. Slape of 413 East Second street, Plainfield.

Bolt Church Doors to Pastor.

The congregation of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Jefferson, near Clarksboro, is divided because Rev. J. R. Vannatta was returned as pastor by the conference, and it is probable that the bishop will have to settle the controversy. Mr. Vannatta has been in charge of the churches at Clarksboro and Jefferson for fourteen years. The people at Jefferson petitioned the last conference for a pastor of their own and the request was denied. The opponents of Mr. Vannatta decided to take the matter into their own hands, and when he appeared Sunday to hold services he found the doors of the church bolted against him. With those who remained loyal to Mr. Vannatta he went to the home of Albert Locke and held services. The others went to the Mullica Hill Church to hold services.

Mrs. Lloyd L. Burt.

Mrs. Lloyd L. Burt died Tuesday morning at her home at 202 Somerset street, New Brunswick, following an illness of three days with pneumonia. She was the mother of County Collector Edward Burt. This is the second death in the family within a short time. Mrs. Stroud, mother of Mrs. Edward Burt, having died the last week in February.

Governor Names Mrs. E. Furman Hooper a Delegate.

Governor Fielder announced Wednesday the appointment of nineteen delegates to represent New Jersey at the National Conference on Charities and Corrections, to be held at Indianapolis May 10 to 17. The delegates named are: Commissioner Richard Stockton of the Department of Charities and Corrections, Dr. Britton D. Evans of the state hospital at Morris Plains, Dr. Henry A. Cotton of the state hospital in Trenton, Dr. Madeline A. Halliwell of the State Institution for Feeble-Minded, Dr. David F. Weeks of the State Village for Epileptics, C. L. Stonaker of the State Charities Aid Association.

Approves Issue of Electric Stock.

The Board of Public Utility Commissioners on Tuesday filed a report approving an issue of stock in the par value of $370,000 by the Ocean County Electric Company, to be divided approximately one-third common and two-thirds preferred, or $124,000 of the former and $246,000 of the latter to be sold for cash at par.

The company asked for approval of an issuance of preferred to the amount of $350,000 and $174,000 in common, but the Board after considering the needs for the issuance of the stock, namely the construction of a hydro electric plant on the Toms River, a short distance above the town of the same name, decided to allow the amounts mentioned above.

Approval was also given the Morris and Somerset Electric Company to sell in tract of land in Morristown, Morris county.

Mayor Opposes Salary Ordinance.

Recently the common council of South River introduced an ordinance granting a salary of $500 a year to the Mayor. On Tuesday night Mayor John Poe told the council that he had not been consulted in the matter and that those who introduced the ordinance had been actuated by the thought that as South River had a population of more than 5,000 he should receive some compensation for the time he devoted to managing the borough's municipal affairs. He thanked those who had been so thoughtful of him, but said he desired that they should permanently withdraw the ordinance and not allow it to pass its third reading. He said the borough has at present enough financial burdens to carry and obligations to meet without adding another in the way of a $500 salary. The matter was laid on the table for final action at the next regular meeting.

Two Score Years of Telephony

FORTY years ago, Alexander Graham Bell spoke over the feeble instrument he had invented, to Thomas A. Watson—only two telephones in the world and a hundred feet of wire.

Recently the same men spoke to each other from the Atlantic to the Pacific over the Transcontinental Line—more than fifteen million telephones in the world and nine million in the Bell System. Twenty-one million miles of telephone wire connect every state in the union, and the wireless telephone has extended speech across our ocean boundaries.

A chorus of twenty-eight million Americans is brought into perfect unison daily by the Bell System, that unifier of the nation and harmonizer of distant peoples, which bridges distances, outraces time and makes a whole nation one community.

A Forgotten Edict

Historical Story of the Sixteenth Century

By F. A. MITCHEL

Harry, the great king, the bluff king, he who married six wives and beheaded two of them, was dead, and his son Edward, a mere lad, was on the throne of Great Britain. But the boy being too young to govern, the Duke of Somerset, having assumed the title of lord protector, was sovereign in his stead in all but in name.

But Somerset was supplanted by John Dudley, Duke of Northumberland, an ambitious man, and planned that the crown should rest upon the heads of his descendants. Having married his son, Lord Guilford Dudley, to Lady Jane Grey, who had royal blood in her veins, before the young Edward died in 1553, the duke persuaded Edward to name his daughter-in-law to succeed him.

It was on May day of this year that a number of young persons were dancing around a pole in a field in the county of Essex. Among them was young Robert Woodville, son of Sir Thomas Woodville, a young man much beloved by all who knew him. Many a lass cast covetous eyes upon him, but they were all forced to give way to Mary Edmonson, who was the most comely and withal, modest and amiable.

These two were swinging round the circle hand in hand when a man rode up to Woodville and asked to have speech with him apart from the others. The dancing stopped, for there was a grave look on the stranger's face, and all waited while Woodville and he talked earnestly, but in low tones. The newcomer appeared to be endeavoring to persuade the young man to some thing which he did not approve. Presently Woodville broke away from him, beckoned Mary Edmonson aside and said to her:

"The young King Edward is dead and has named Lady Jane Grey to be his successor. There will be other claimants—Mary, the late king's daughter by his first wife, Catherine of Arragon, and Elizabeth, his daughter by his second wife, Anne Boleyn. This man is an emissary of the Duke of Northumberland, beating up adherents for his daughter-in-law, the Lady Jane Grey. He offers me a commission in the army and when Jane is firmly established on the throne a position at court. I am persuaded to accept his offer."

"I beg that you will not," replied the girl. "The rightful sovereign is Mary, the daughter of the only rightful wife of the late King Henry. The Duke of Northumberland will bring sorrow on the poor girl, on whose head he is endeavoring to place a crown. More likely he will set an ax to her neck. She is too young to decide such a matter for herself or she would refuse to be made the dupe of her father-in-law."

"No one," replied Robert, "can tell where the crown will eventually rest. If on the head of the Princess Mary, I gain nothing; if on the head of Lady Jane, and I help to place it there, our wedding, instead of taking place among rustics, will be celebrated within a palace."

"Say, rather, in a dungeon."

"No, no, sweetheart. I have confidence in the duke. Think of the place I shall be able to offer you as one of the supporters of the successful claimant."

Ambition proved stronger than the pleadings of the girl, and the end of the matter was that Woodville went off to London to report in person to Lord Guilford Dudley, who had sent for him, while the messenger went on to enlist further recruits.

Well had it been for the young man had he listened to the advice of his betrothed. The Lady Jane Grey at first refused to accept a crown to which she knew she was not entitled, but was at last persuaded by the entreaties of her father-in-law and her husband to accept it. She was queen but nine days when her adherents were overpowered, and the Princess Mary, afterward called Bloody Mary, became sovereign. The Duke of Northumberland, Lord Guilford Dudley and Lady Jane Grey were imprisoned in the Tower of London and later suffered death on Tower hill.

News came to Mary Edmonson of the collapse of the scheme her lover had supported and that he was a prisoner in the Tower of London. Mary was a ward in chancery to a man of the law named Roger Bradford. To Bradford she went and implored him to go with her to London and defend her lover when he should be tried for high treason. But when the lawyer learned that Woodville had been one of Lord Guilford Dudley's lieutenants in the conspiracy he told Mary that any defense was useless. The queen was very bitter against the conspirators and was resolved to punish all who were concerned in the plot.

"But," added Bradford, "I will try and think up a plan by which Robert Woodville may escape death. Come to me on the morrow, and if my knowledge of the law serves me I will tell you."

When Mary went to him the next day he told her that the only way he could get her lover out of the Tower was to accuse him of having committed a crime against the church. The government might consider a sacrilege of more importance than high treason. If he could bring Woodville to his home to be tried for an offense against religion he would have an advantage. But if he were acquitted the sovereign would claim him to be tried as a traitor.

"What I propose," added the lawyer in conclusion, "is to bring him here if possible, try him for sacrilege and convict him."

"Convict him?" exclaimed Mary.

"Yes. He must be convicted."

"And the punishment?"

"He will be hanged."

Mary could see no advantage in being hanged over dying at the block, but Bradford, who knew more law than most of his craft, told her that there was a royal edict on the records which might help him to save her lover's life. It was a hundred years old, belonging to a period when matters of justice were very crude. With more civilized methods of court procedure it had become obsolete, but had never been repealed.

A church near by where Robert Woodville lived had been robbed and the communion service taken. Roger Bradford had got wind of the thief, and after forming his plan to get possession of the body of Robert Woodville he sent for the man who had confessed the sacrilege and asked for a piece of the silver communion service. Having received it he gave it to Mary Edmonson and told her to place it in Woodville's house. This she did, and the next day a search was made of the house and the plate found there.

Bradford went to London and demanded the body of Robert Woodville that he might be placed on trial for the stealing of the church plate. The lieutenant of the Tower refused to give up Woodville, since he was to be tried for high treason. Bradford insisted that his demand be referred to the queen. Mary declined to consider a crime against herself in preference to one against the church. She ordered that Woodville be sent to his native county to be tried for sacrilege, but that he be returned in case he was not convicted, to be tried for high treason.

The queen's order must be obeyed to the letter, and bringing Woodville from the Tower would be of no avail unless he were convicted. As soon as he arrived he was brought into court, and the person who had found the plate in the accused man's home having sworn to the fact, Woodville was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. No defense was made; none would have secured the prisoner's acquittal, and it did not accord with Bradford's plan that the trial should result in an acquittal.

An officer of the queen's household had been sent with the prisoner from London to bring him back in case he should not be found guilty. This man insisted that Woodville be hanged immediately, since he had orders not to leave while the prisoner lived. But Roger Bradford succeeded in getting a stay while the condemned man's betrothed went to London to petition the queen for a pardon. The officer yielded, though he assured the lawyer that there was no hope of a pardon.

Bradford, accompanied by Mary Edmonson, at once set off for London, and on their arrival the former went to the Tower and demanded to be permitted to inspect the statutes deposited there. As an attorney he was not to be denied this privilege, and, going to the rooms where the rolls of parchment bearing edicts of England's sovereigns were kept, he found one which he copied.

The next morning he asked for an audience of the queen, basing his request on the fact that if his client Robert Woodville were hanged the execution would be illegal. This excited at once an interest in the queen, and she granted the audience, giving permission also for Mary Edmonson to be present.

As soon as the two were in the queen's presence Bradford said:

"May it please your majesty, this girl, Mary Edmonson, claims for her husband Robert Woodville, sentenced to be hanged for sacrilege."

"If it pleases the wench," replied the queen, "to marry a man who is to die she has our royal permission."

"I hold in my hand," rejoined Bradford, "a copy of an edict of his majesty King Edward IV. decreeing that if any man sentenced to death within his royal domain and a woman shall claim him in marriage he shall go free."

"Have you seen the record of this edict?"

"I have, your majesty."

"And it has never been repealed?"

"It has not, your majesty."

"Then I will repeat it."

"This may be your majesty's right or it may be only the right of the parliament. In either case it cannot be made ex post facto."

"Do you alone possess a knowledge of this edict?"

"So far as I know, your majesty."

The queen thought, "Might not others who conspired against the avail themselves of this method of escaping punishment?"

"I will issue a pardon in this case," she said presently. "But if we hear of this edict of my ancestor and predecessor before we are ready to take steps for its repeal you will incur our royal displeasure."

When Mary Edmonson returned to her home she bore a pardon for her lover.

Mary chose to be married on the same greensward from which her betrothed had gone to support the cause of Lady Jane Grey. When they had been pronounced man and wife she said to her husband:

"This is a better place for our wedding than a palace. The Lady Jane was wedded in a palace."

MILLINERY SHINES.

Tip About Spring Hats That May Interest You.

It was last year that the vogues for patent leather straw that was glazed and ribbon that was lacquered made their first appearance, and since then an avalanche of shiny material has been thrust upon us, but we have welcomed it. Paquin was the first to introduce leather for dress trimming, and soon followed whole garments of leather. The revival of skating increased the popularity of such garments. Spring will show no abatement in the vogue for shiny materials. Already have the bright hued velvet sports suits arrived for southern wear, with their trimmings of leather. Whole leather coats are also to be worn for motorizing or for wear with the striped skirts of velvet for general sports wear. But, returning to the hats, when the straw is not treated with a bath of lacquer the shiny bamboo is used to make both large and small shapes or, better still, they are formed of the ordinary olecloth. Many of the straws in the large sailor shapes are woven of two different colors and in a checkerboard effect. These will probably be very good for morning wear in the late spring and possibly for the summer also.

When the hats are not made of shiny materials they are usually of the most diaphanous silks and crapes. Fruit and flowers are to be used in profusion, while whole birds made of silks, crapes and glazed materials are considered smart, but these are "man made" affairs and fashioned from the feathers of the barnyard fowls. Pigeons and seagulls are to be perched on the very top of the small high hat.

Keep the Collar Clean.

A great deal of illness can be traced to the collar. The collar not unusually opens into the kitchen, and the kitchen is heated while the collar is not. Following natural laws, the cold air of the collar rushes to take the place of the warmer and therefore lighter air of the kitchen. This would be all right if the air of the collar were pure, but often it is not.

Partly decayed vegetables may be there or rotten wood. A day should be taken to throw out all dirt, rotten wood, decaying vegetables and other accumulations. Brush down the cobwebs and give the walls and ceiling a good coat of whitewash. If a white-wash brush is not at hand take an old broom and spread the whitewash on thick and strong. It will sweeten up the air in the cellar, the parlor and the bedrooms, and it may save the family from the afflictions of fever, diphtheria and doctors.

TOO ORATORICAL.

To the game of exploiting the Mexican situation for political purposes Colonel Roosevelt has added a few kinks by his latest "nation in danger" oratory. The colonel is appearing in the role of the defender of the Americans in Mexico against the "utterly baseless character" of President Wilson's statement that American interests in Mexico are stirring up trouble with a view of bringing about intervention.

The colonel is also coyly admitting that he is the real instigator of the national preparedness movement. All of which makes his thunder popular, even if it is not entirely based on fact. The colonel says we are courting the "possibility of the most terrible disgrace and disaster in the future." Admitting the Wilson administration has made mistakes in its Mexican policy, it would seem from the viewpoint of a patriotic American, that political ends should be submerged to the general good, to the extent of confining criticism to facts.

Mr. Roosevelt asks if Americans in Mexico are responsible for the killing of Americans, for the border raids, and for other outrages in Mexico. He also calls attention to the shipment of arms from this country into Mexico, "now used to kill our people." These questions are unfair, because the colonel does not go into the entire situation, dealing with a few incidents without mentioning the great background of secret diplomacy and wire pulling that has marked the affairs of Mexico for the last twenty years.

The colonel does not ask, however, or attempt to explain, where the revolutionists get the money to purchase the arms and ammunition; he does not explain how Villa, with eight men, crossed the border only a few years ago, and soon had an army of nearly 100,000 men equipped with every appliance of war from French field pieces to aeroplanes and armored automobiles. He does not explain why Villa, Zapata and even Carranza have declared time after time that the natural resources of Mexico were her curse.

President Wilson did say that there were persons along the border who were spreading incendiary stories of conditions in Mexico to create friction between this country and the Carranza government, "for the purpose of bringing about intervention in the interests of certain American owners of Mexican properties." President Wilson was merely making a statement of fact as any one conversant with the Mexican situation knows. How far the interests referred to are responsible indirectly, for the Columbus raid, for instance, is a question.

For years in Mexico it has been a public secret that the big interests, mineral and oil, were protecting their holdings as best they could by supporting one faction or the other—in some cases both factions. The Mexican leaders were not fooled for a moment, they realized that these interests were hoping that trouble would reach the stage where intervention would be the only method of definite settlement.

Colonel Roosevelt rattles off facts and dates of Mexican outrages in a manner that would lead one to believe that he has some knowledge of the situation, which causes speculation as to how he could learn of these "horrors", without getting a glimpse of the political situation that has been growing in Mexico from the later days of Porfirio Diaz when he granted great concessions to foreign interests.

MILK MUST BE COOLED

AFTER MAY 1, IS RULING

A rule has been adopted by the State Department of Health, to take effect May 1, requiring that all milk delivered by producers at creameries or milk shipping stations shall have been cooled to a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit or below before delivery.

This information was contained in a bulletin issued by the state department to-day, which also stated that creamery men will be notified that this matter will be covered by the new state sanitary code and ultimately a lower temperature may be required. Continuing the bulletin said: "This action is an attempt to regulate one of the most difficult phases of milk handling. It is essential in order to keep milk in good condition that a low temperature be maintained to prevent bacterial growth. No matter how much care is exercised in the production of milk, unless it is kept at a low temperature, it deteriorates rapidly.

"While the present rule applies only to the temperature of milk at the time of its delivery to the creameries or milk shipping stations, it is expected that a standard for the temperature of milk at the time of delivery to consumers will be adopted as soon as the State Department of Health can complete its arrangements for enforcing such rule."

MRS. ANN NUGENT.

Mrs. Ann Nugent, beloved wife of Edward Nugent, departed this life on Tuesday last at her home in Sayreville at the age of 70 years. She had resided in the township many years, and was highly respected by all who knew her. She leaves a husband and several children to mourn her death. The funeral took place from the Church of Our Lady of Victories on Thursday, and was largely attended. Service was conducted by Rev. Kerr, assistant rector. Made in the church by Scully of this city.

CONNERS IS ST. COMMISSIONER.

Mayor Dey said that he didn't feel that it was using Mr. Thomas fairly to simply disregard him in the matter and that if there were any other reasons other than those of a political nature for the action taken he would not object to signing the bill. Councilman Stratton said that there was nothing but political reasons upon which the committee on streets could base its action and that it was not right to do it. Councilman Hackett called attention to the fact that Mr. Thomas had done all the work in connection with the maps except the preparation of the blue prints and that if there was any question of disqualification it was rather late in the day to bring it up.

Counsellor Coan called attention to the fact that he was not justifying the reasons for the bill but simply basing his decision upon the facts as presented to him as to the bill being a legal claim or not and that his decision did not either ratify or condemn the considerations or reasons, political or otherwise, affecting the presentation of the bill. Councilman Rue took up Councilman Stratton's remarks regarding the qualifications of the engineer and stated that he did not consider Engineer Thomas duly qualified to act as the city engineer because he had no diploma or certificate and that in his opinion the city would lose in the event of a lawsuit for that one reason alone, no matter what the suit might be for.

A vote taken on the motion offered by the representative of the Second Ward again ordered the bill paid by a vote of four to one. Councilman Stratton being the dissenting voice.

Two resolutions adopted by the Woman's Club were received and ordered placed on file upon motion of Councilman Parlsen. The first took cognizance of the deplorable condition of the roads and streets both in and leading into this city, the other advocated the consideration of the appointment of a shade tree commission.

The following bills were read and ordered paid:

Labor
Garbage	$70.01

The clerk presented fire insurance policies on the City Hall, one policy being for $2,500 and the other for $4,500.00. Upon motion they were ordered received and placed on file.

The clerk also presented the contract and bond of Michael Welsh for collecting garbage. The sureties named were Michael Welsh, Oliver Welsh and Henry M. Bell. It was also ordered received and placed on file.

Two resolutions introduced by the finance committee were adopted. The first provided for the payment of interest on public school bonds to the amount of $975.00 which falls due on April 1st. The other for the payment of interest on public dock bonds due April 1st to the amount of $200.00.

A resolution providing for the renewal of an Stevens avenue improvement note for $12,000 falling due April 7th for three months at five per cent, was adopted. Another resolution approving the action taken by the finance committee in renewing for a period of three months of a John street improvement note for $2,500.00 which fell due on March 25th was also adopted unanimously.

The collector's bi-weekly report was received and filed. The total amount of collections was $2,089.29.

The treasurer's report showing the following was received and placed on file: General account over-drawn, $2,045.04; water department balance, $5,741.19; sewer account, balance, $2,266.65; Broadway improvement account over-drawn, $940.29.

Councilman Parlsen again brought up the question of the George street bridge controversy by remarking that it had been some time ago since the representative of the New York and Long Branch Railroad had been here and had stated at that time that the uperintendent would like to meet the council on the question. He moved that the clerk communicate with the official in question and endeavor to ascertain when the meeting would be likely to take place.

Mayor Dey objected to the motion because he thought it was unnecessary. The mayor stated that he had been in conversation with Mr. Berry this week and that he was given to understand that the bridge would be lowered. Mr. Parlsen wanted to know if the mayor could give any assurance as to when the work would be started. This the mayor could not do, so a vote was taken on the motion and it prevailed.

Councilman Hackett spoke of there being no light on either the corner of Broadway and Catherine street or Catherine street and Stevens avenue and moved that the matter be referred to the committee on lights with power to act. Motion carried.

There being no further business adjournment was in order.

BROODER TEMPERATURES.

The department of poultry husbandry of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station calls attention to the importance of the proper regulation of the temperature under the hovers in brooders. The brooder should be thoroughly cleaned and adjusted, and the temperature regulated and maintained uniformly at 98 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit two or three days, before the chicks are transferred from the incubators in order that they may feel no sudden change when transferred. Maintain this temperature for two days after the chicks are placed into the brooder. Thereafter, gradually lower the temperature beneath the hover until it is about 95 degrees at the end of the first week, 90 at the end of the second, and 86 at the end of the third week. Continue this so-called hardening-off process so that at the end of the sixth week the chicks will be receiving little artificial heat, depending upon the climatic conditions and temperature in the brooder house. The chicks thus gradually become accustomed to conditions met in the colony house and on the range. Run the lamps and stoves as nearly uniformly as possible, and avoid variations in temperature from day to day or from night to day. See that lamps and stoves are adjusted to meet any extreme changes in weather. The action of the chicks is an indication of whether or not they are receiving the proper amount of heat. If the temperature is right, they will form a loose circle at night. If they are chilled, they will tend to pile-up against each other, often smothering some and weakening the rest. The proper temperature is the most important factor in artificial brooding.

GETS LONG BRANCH GARBAGE JOB

Beginning Saturday, the contract for removing Long Branch's garbage for the next five years will be executed by Harry T. Blodgett, son of the late Senator Rufus Blodgett, who for many years was superintendent of the New York & Long Branch Railroad and Mayor of the city.

Mr. Blodgett is the head of the Seaboard Utilization Company, which holds the present contract. He was the only bidder before the city commissioners Wednesday. His bid for removing the garbage for the next five years is $59,000. The Seaboard company now receives $10,000 a year for doing the work.

A movement is under way to fill in the low lands along the tracks of the New York & Long Branch Railroad, and the provisions of the city and other

WEEKLY LETTER TO FARMERS.

(By F. R. Stevens, Agriculturist, Lehigh Valley Railroad.)

Since Professor H. H. Wing took charge of the Department of Animal Industry at Cornell University, he has done some remarkably good work in the development of a family of Holsteins known as the Glista family. I have been asked to give through these columns the history of the development of this herd. I am sure that this could be no better done than by quoting Professor Wing's letter to me, which I believe gives clearly a plan on which any dairy herd may be developed economically from a low-producing, unprofitable herd to one that is high producing and profitable.

"To give the whole history of the building up of the Glista family of Holsteins," writes Professor Wing, "would be a long story and would require more detail than you could probably use. On the other hand, the history of this family is simply that of taking an ordinary female, selecting as good bulls with as strong milking ancestry as possible, and breeding up and developing the individuals as they come along.

"When I took charge of the University Herd in 1869, there was but one pure bred Holstein in the lot. She was a rather inferior animal and never proved a good producer. The only feasible way to secure a good herd of pure breeds at that time seemed to be to improve the offspring of this animal and we started out with that idea in prospect.

"From time to time, as was necessary, we secured as good bulls as our rather meagre funds would allow, never paying an exceptionally high price. Progress was necessarily slow at first and there were many disappointments in the way of superabundance of bull calves and the like. Almost from the start, however, we secured improvement. The daughters of the original cow, with one exception, were better than their dam and the granddaughters were all animals of more than ordinary merit. Since that time the improvement has been sure and steady, although naturally we produced quite a number of animals that had to be discarded for one reason or another.

"We have, at the present time, about 25 females in milk, all descended from this cow. Six of these have produced more than 24 pounds of butter fat in a week and four or five of them have produced more than 500 pounds of fat in a year. It has taken, of course, a matter of considerable time, but the results have fully justified for the time, trouble and expense."

Uniting the Family.

How many households have a family hour—definite time in the week when all the members of the family gather in perfect serenity for an interval of genuine communion? Although civilization brings many advantages in its train, it has the great fault of tending to disrupt family intercourse. Each member has too many individual activities. Fathers have their business; sons, their business or education; mothers, their domestic duties or social occupations; daughters, their business, their education or their social life.

All these things are right and worthy in themselves, but they do not tend to weld the family. If members of a family will make it a rule to devote themselves for one hour in the week wholly to one another the spirit of family life will be quickened and strengthened. Often the members of a family pursue parallel courses that do not intersect. It is mere platitudes to point out that great events—travel, marriage, death and the like—must inevitably cause disintegration. But so long as the family is together under one roof the spirit of union and common interests should be fostered.—Youth's Companion.

A Bird's Barbed Wire Fences.

There is in Central America a brown wren about the size of a canary which builds a curious nest. It selects a small tree with horizontal branches growing close together. Across two of the branches it lays sticks fastened to gether with tough fiber until a platform about six feet long by two feet wide has been constructed. On the end of this platform nearest the tree trunk it then builds a huge dome shaped nest a foot or so high with thick sides of interwoven thorns. A covered passageway is then made from the nest to the end of the platform in as crooked a manner as possible. Across the outer end as well as at short intervals along the inside of this tunnel are placed cunning little fences of thorns with just space enough for the owners to pass through. On going out this opening is closed by the owner by placing thorns across the gateway, and thus the safety of the eggs or young is assured.

Riversides Score
Another Victory

The Riversides were again successful in winning the basketball contest last Friday night. Their opponents were the New York State Normal School team and not the Christ Church Five, of New Brighton, S. I., as advertised. The score was 42 to 33.

The appearance of the Normal School team was as much of a surprise to the Riversides as to the crowd that had gathered. Manager Morris is the manager of the Staten Island team as well as of the Normal School boys and when he couldn't round up his New Brighton team he brought along the other one. His two teams are about on a par as to ability and in fact are now engaged in a series for supremacy, each team having won two games from the other. The rubber game will carry to the winner a handsome cup given by the manager. The cup was on exhibition in the K. of P. Hall last Friday night during the games.

The visitors looked a little light to go up against the champs but when they started to play it was evident that they were capable in making up in speed what they might have lacked in weight. For a while it looked bad for the Rivie team and the end of the first half found the visitors in the lead by a comfortable margin. In response to the pleadings of the fans the home team came across with a rally in the second half, McCreery finally, after several vain attempts to score, located where the basket was. Then Hank found it, too, four or five times in succession and it was "Good Night" Normal School boys.

In a preliminary game the local High School Alumni team was defeated by a team representing the South River High School. Cliver and James featured for the locals and Fitzpatrick for the visitors. The score was 14 to 5.

The score of the game was as follows:

South Amboy	South River
Burkhard	Forwards
Cliver	Fitzpatrick
Anderson	Center
James	Guards
Quinlan	Curley
Field Goals—Cliver, 1; James, 1; Fitzpatrick, 3; Marks, 2; Curley, 1; Goals from Foul—James, 1; Fitzpatrick, 1. Referee, Burns.

This is how the Normal School

Riversides	Normal School
McCreery	Forwards
Cliver	Branson
Thomas	Marliss
Allen	Center
Burns	Brennan
Field Goals—McCreery, 11; Thomas, 4; Cliver, 3; Allen, 1; Branson, 5; Brennan, 3; Groche, 4; Henry, 3; Goals from Foul—Thomas, 4; Marliss, 5. Referee, Clanton.

The game this Friday night will end the season for the Riversides. The game will bring the soldiers from Asbury Park here and the Company H boys are expected to put up as class as exhibition as has been staged on the home court this season. The soldiers have the distinction of being one of the very few teams to score a defeat over the Riversides when they were in condition and the Rivies expect to have to play their hardest in their last game to keep from getting trimmed again.

Not Afraid of Cold Steel.

In her younger days Eugene, when empress of the French nation, was noted for her great courage, as the following incident proves.

At a brilliant dinner party a somewhat tactless general told her majesty that women should not meddle in politics.

"You know, madame," he said, "that politics lead to war, and if the worse came to the worst you would not have the nerve to face cold steel."

"Wouldn't it?" cried the empress. "I'll show you!" And, snatching a large knife from the table, she inflicted a deep stab on her arm.

After that the general never broached the subject of woman's lack of nerves again.

Sharpening a Pocketknife.

Cutlery have certain rules for sharpening razors, pocketknives, etc. "A razor," said one of the craft quoted by the Scientific American, "must be laid flat on the hone, because it is hollow ground and requires a fine edge. But a pocketknife requires a stiff edge, and the moment you lay it flat on a stone, so as to touch the polished side, you injure the edge. It must be held at an angle of twenty to twenty-five degrees and have an edge similar to a chisel."

Ups and Downs.

Lady (who was on a visit to her native town)—How is Mrs. Gabbie? I haven't seen her for a long time? Hostess—She is having her usual ups and downs. Lady Visitor—And what does that be, I pray? Hostess—Oh, running up bills and running down her neighbors.—Buffalo News.

STILL CHARGING A MILLION
TOO MUCH FOR GAS

Control of New Jersey Politics by Public Utility Corporations Costs People Millions, Says Record—He Calls for Legislative Investigation.

George L. Record says that, in spite of the reduction of gas to 90 cents, which was secured by him in his two-year legal battle as special counsel for the city of Passaic, the Public Service Gas Company still collect from Northern New Jersey gas consumers $1,000,000 in excess of a proper earning on actual investment.

In the second of a series of statements as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, Mr. Record to-day gives the figures in the gas case as a clear indication to him that regulation of privately owned electric light, gas and trolley companies is a failure. He asserts that it was proven during his conduct of the cheaper gas campaign that, while the Public Service had invested $3,200,000 in gas plants and equipment that corporation had issued securities to the amount of $9,000,000—or $5,800,000 of water. The best that could be done under present laws and by regulation was to get a reduction of 10 cents per thousand feet in the gas rate.

Mr. Record says that few people realize the enormous stake of public utility corporations in controlling politics so that their power to exact excessive rates may not be disturbed. He declares that the only way to drive them out of politics and break the hold of the public utility-brewery interests on the State is to elect a Governor and a Legislature pledged to enact a law that will give New Jersey complete self-government; that will give to every municipality local option on public ownership of gas and electric light plants, on questions of taxation and on saloons.

Mr. Record's statement follows: "In my previous statement I showed how the local option bills in New Jersey are defeated in our Legislature each winter by the influence of the political bosses, who are the direct representatives of the public utility corporations, as well as the brewers; that the two interests work together, and to beat either we must beat both.

"I now propose to show how the control of New Jersey politics by the public utility corporations maintains our bi-partisan Boss System and costs our people millions of dollars annually, in excessive rates for trolley, gas, electric and telephone service; that all attempts at regulation have completely failed, and that the only cure for these evils is Public Ownership.

The Huge Stake of the Public Utility Corporations in Politics.

"Few realize the enormous stake these corporations have in controlling politics, so that their power to exact excessive rates for service may not be disturbed.

"The Passaic Gas case gave us a startling revelation on this point. The proofs showed that although the Public Service Company had invested not to exceed $3,200,000 in the Passaic-Passaic gas plant, it had issued securities aggregating $9,000,000. The Public Utility Commission reduced the price of gas ten cents per thousand feet in the whole North Jersey territory. The President of the Company stated before the Commission that such a reduction applied to this gas district alone would diminish the revenues of the company $1,000,000 a year.

"From the proofs in that case I am satisfied that in the North Jersey gas district the people are still paying at least $1,000,000 more than they should pay every year.

"In the Trenton six tickets for a quarter trolley case, the company officials stated on the hearing that $100,000 a year depended upon the decision of the case before the Public Utility Commission.

"If one litigation over a gas rate and another over a trolley fare in a city like Trenton reveal these extortionate charges, it is plain that many more millions of dollars a year are wrongfully taken from the people of New Jersey in excessive trolley, telephone, electric light and water rates. "Partial exemption from taxation to the amount of hundreds of thousands a year is another stake these corporations have in the control of government. This is illustrated by our present public utility franchise tax law. The trolley companies pay five per cent. on their gross receipts, while the telephone, gas and electric light companies pay only two per cent. Even the five per cent. tax is much less than ought to be paid, while the two per cent. tax is absurd. "The New York State recent regulations of the legislative investigation of the Interborough show that of bonuses and commissions, over $3,000,000 in extra legal fees, and indicating a political "slush fund" of $2,000,000, explain how they secured the last subway contract, by which Mayor Gaynor remarked the city had given to the Interborough "a principlivity."

"In view of these astounding revelations in New York city, it is high time that there should be a legislative investigation of the public utility corporations of New Jersey.

The Meager Results of Regulation in New Jersey.

"The meager results that have been obtained from regulation are discouraging. In New Jersey we have had a Public Utility Commission with full powers for five years, and about half a million dollars has been appropriated for its use. But no reduction has yet been made by this commission in trolley, telephone, electric light or water rates in the populous cities of the State.

"The trial of the Passaic Gas case took two years. The decision of the Commission was appealed to the Supreme Court, which sustained it, and then to the Court of Errors, which reversed the decision.

"This last decision was obtained by the vote, probably the deciding vote, of a Judge who was the president of a company which had a large portion of its surplus invested in the securities of the Public Service Corporation, and this Judge's brother was a director in the Public Service.

"An outraged public opinion compelled the reversal of this decision. The case has now been taken to the United States Supreme Court and the litigation, which has already taken four years, is certain to take several years more. It is plain that with the public compelled to jump so many hurdles, the advantage is all on the side of the corporations in the long run.

"Regulation has plainly failed, either to establish equitable rates for public utility services, or to drive these corporations out of politics.

"On the other hand, wherever public ownership has been tried on an extensive scale, it has resulted in large savings to the community and in freeing the politics of the localities from the corrupting influence of the public utility which has been supplanted.

"If it were not for the control of our politics by these interests, telephone, electric light and gas rates would be so reduced that the average workman could have electric light and a telephone in his home, and gas could be much more extensively used for cooking than is now possible.

The Explanation of the "Invisible Government."

"In the power to exact these excessive charges we find the real explanation of the boss system in politics. A part of these immense and unearned profits, wrongfully exacted from the people, is used, directly or indirectly, to supply the political bosses with money to control nominations and to carry elections.

"The candidates thus nominated and elected grant franchises, appoint officials and judges, who, though personally honest, take the point of view of the corporations, pass laws desired by these interests—as they have tried this winter to pass a bill to strangle the jitneys in New Jersey—prevent the passage of laws opposed by the interests, and in numerous ways administer the law so as to give them advantages and privileges.

"These public utility and brewing interests are our real government—they are the "man behind the boss"—the "invisible government"—the "man higher up"—the Republican "Board of Guardians"—the Democratic "Overlords."

"This system threatens the very existence of the Republic. It is a political cancer which if not cut out will eat into the very vitals of free government. It can only be cured by removing through public ownership and local option the incentive which keeps these utility corporations and brewers in politics.

"If I am elected Governor of New Jersey I will do my utmost to destroy this system and drive the public service corporations and the brewers out of the politics of this State.

"But a still bigger task remains to be done in this State. That task is to actually reduce the cost of living, to increase the number of jobs, to furnish employment to the unemployed, to take the unjust burdens off of industry and business, and make it easier to do business and get a home in New Jersey. I propose to tell how this can be accomplished in another statement.

MANY LIVES LOST ON RAILROADS THROUGH CARELESSNESS

If not a rule had been broken last year by an employee of the P. R. R., if not one signal had been disregarded, if every order had been obeyed to the letter, if every train had run on time, if not a wheel or a bolt or a rail had failed—in short, if the millennium in railroad operation had been reached—still 16 people, classed as passengers, would have lost their lives on the lines of this System east of Pittsburgh and Erie.

Here are the ways in which these 16 people sacrificed their own lives last year:

Three attempted to board moving trains.

Six jumped or fell from moving trains.

Four jumped or fell from ferry boats.

One stood on the edge of a station platform and was struck by a train.

Two stepped in front of moving trains at stations.

Every one of these fatalities is counted in the Interstate Commerce Commission's reports as a "railroad accident," yet the railroad was powerless to prevent any of them. Accidents of this kind would not happen at all if passengers used ordinary care and complied with the regulations made for their own safety.

No passenger has been killed in a train accident on the entire Pennsylvania Railroad System for more than two years and on the Lines East of Pittsburgh for more than three years.

Ironing the Tablecloth.

A tablecloth should be pulled into shape before being ironed. After it is pulled into shape, fold it together lengthwise through the middle, so that the wrong side will be outside; then turn back the edges at each side so that the cloth is in four long folds, each fold of the same width. The outer folds will now be right side out. Iron these two outer folds, then turn them inside and iron the two inner folds that are now outside and are the right side of the tablecloth. When the four folds are thus finished the long length can be doubled back and forward the desired width, but the crosswise folds should not be ironed in. Pipers can be placed where the tablecloth hangs over on the floor from the ironing board. A little practice will soon make you perfect. The old fashioned way was to first iron a tablecloth on the wrong side, but the tablecloths coming under my observation that look the best are ironed in the manner above described.—Eunice Haskins in Independent Farmer

An Ideal Island.

The island of Ascension, in the Atlantic, belonging to Great Britain, is unique in many respects. There is no private property in land, no rents, no taxes and no use for money. The flocks and herds are public property and the meat is issued as rations. So are the vegetables grown on the farms. When an island fisherman makes a catch he brings it to the guardroom, whence it is issued by the sergeant major. Practically the entire population are sailors, and they work at most of the common trades. The climate is almost perfect. The island is 8 by 6 miles in size and has a population of about 450. It is 250 miles northward of St. Helena and is governed by a captain appointed from the British navy.

Hamadan in History.

Hamadan seems to be certainly the Ekbatana, the summer residence of the ancient Persian kings, where Alexander the Great stored his enormous loot from Persia, estimated at over £41,000,000. But there is topographical difficulty about identifying it with the earlier and still more interesting Ekbatana described by Herodotus, the city where the first Median king, Deioces, realized the ideal of royal isolation by shutting himself up in a palace on top of a hill, surrounded by seven fortified citadels.

Different colors descending order and allowing the inmates of these to communicate him only by writing. Either this is a myth or the Ekbatana of Herodotus is to be found on a hill between Hamadan and Tabriz.—London Globe

CHRIST CHURCH
CHRONICLES

Good congregations this Lent in Christ Church, and growing steadily right along. But many of our people have not awakened to the fact that Lent is half gone, and not once have they been in the House of God. A good many of our Episcopalians take pride in their churchmanship, but it is an empty sentiment, a miserable farce, if we don't care more about it than some do.

An old-fashioned Bishop, who thinks that every boy and girl should learn to repeat the Thirty-Nine Articles as well as the catechism, recently asked a youthful scholar if he had read the Thirty-Nine Articles. "No," said the boy, "but I have read the Forty Thieves."

"You may sit down," said the Bishop.

The regular meeting of the Vestry for the second quarter will be held at the Rectory on next Tuesday night, immediately after the service in the church. Much important business will be transacted.

The preacher for next Tuesday night is the Rev. Merton S. Barnes, Rector of St. James' Church, Long Branch. The Rector of Christ Church will preach for the Rev. Mr. Barnes at the same hour.

The clergyman was preparing his discourse for Sunday, stopping occasionally to review what he had written, and to erase that which he was disposed to disapprove, when he was accosted by "the terrible infant" of the household, who numbered about eight summers:—"Daddy, does God tell you what to preach?"—"Certainly, my child."—"Then, what makes you scratch it out, Daddy?"

Let every man in the parish bring two men to the men's service on next Sunday morning, at which time the Rector will preach on "Some Modern Delusions." Of course, the women are not barred from attendance. Let us see the church filled with men. Men of the parish, it is "up to you." Scrape off the moss or vegetable excrement from the dorsal portion of your respective anatomies, and "get busy."

On next Sunday evening the Rector will give the second of his stereopticon lectures on "The Journeys of Christ." The parish house was nearly filled at the last lecture, and the pictures were the most beautiful yet used in connection with our splendid reflectoscope.

The attendance of children at the Friday afternoon services has been so good that there will be another sermon for the children on next Friday afternoon upon "The City of the Great King."

Our good friends and parishioners, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pearce, are still "on the wing" somewhere south of "Mason and Dixon's Line." A fine portfolio of post-card views just received by the Rector indicates that they are now "doing the sights" at New Orleans.

Pardon a little parable on the subject of church letters: Once upon a time a man who lived in a certain community and took his meals at a convenient restaurant, changed his place of residence. He was so far removed from his place of former abode, that to return for his meals was impracticable; so he sought out a most convenient house where those who wished could supply their physical wants at a well-furnished table. For days did our newcomer partake of the staples and dainties with apparent relish, and even went so far as to offer favorable comment upon the excellency of preparation and service. But in all that time he made no offer to pay his most deserving host and hostess. Finally, he was approached, and in a kindly manner mentioned as to his purpose for the from one community to another should not forget to take certificates of membership and deposit them where they go.

Don't forget, as the weeks go by, to lay aside a sum for your Easter offering on April 23. We are going to need a large sum this year.

The Rector had the pleasure of preaching on Thursday night of last week in Trinity Church, Red Bank. Dominic MacKellar had the misfortune recently of suffering a broken wrist from a back-fire while cranking his motor on a cold morning. He will be incapacitated for a time, but he will save some money by it—at the rapidly mounting price of gas!

On next Monday night at the Girls' Friendly Society, with the aid of the new Victrola, there will be "An Evening With Scotch Songs." The following numbers will be given: Scotch Medley March (bagpipes), The Battle of Killiecrankie (bagpipes), Robin Adair, How Gently, Sweet Afton, Jock O'Hasseldean, Scots Who Hae Wi' Wallace Bled, Comin' Thro the Rye, Auld Lang Syne, Annie Laurie, Loch Somond, Leezle Lindsay, 'The Land O' the Leal, The Hills O'Skye, Douglass, Tender and True, Blue Bells of Scotland and Mary of Argyll.

Don't forget that next Sunday is the first in the month, and that, therefore, there will be two celebrations of the Holy Communion.

HIGH SCHOOL
MENTIONINGS*Amboy Loses Debate to Red Bank.

On Friday evening of last week our debating team, accompanied by about 35 students, teachers, and friends, went to Red Bank on the 6.42 train, arriving at the High School about 8 o'clock.

The orchestra entertained, and the school sang its song. At 8.15 Prof. Radcliffe introduced the subject, "Freedom for the Philippines on or before 1925." The teams: Affirmative—Misses Newton, Gordon, (captain) and Mr. Kerr, Mr. Slover alternate. Negative—Messrs. Hendrickson, Tilton, Newman and M. alternate.

Mr. Radcliffe then introduced the judges: Mr. Charles Morris of Toms River, Mr. George Moore of New Brunswick, Mr. George Taylor of Asbury Park.

All of the speakers on both sides are to be congratulated on their excellent preparation and presentation.

Our team advocated that the Philippines should be free; Red Bank said that they agreed with us but argued from the fact that they (the islands) would not be ready for freedom by 1925. It was on this point that they won.

During the intermissions the orchestra played several selections and the school sang and cheered.

While the judges were out endeavoring to come to a decision, Mr. Minton, of Rutgers College, presented Red Bank and South Amboy with banners for having already defeated two opponents.

Upon the return of the Judges Mr. Taylor announced after a quite lengthy argument the judges had decided in favor of Red Bank. Our school is now eliminated from further participation in the contest this year.

Last Friday morning the second demonstration of the science club was given by Arthur Ingraham, '17, the subject being, "The Velocity of Sound Waves." Mr. Ingraham clearly explained how the velocity of sound could be determined and to demonstrate used an apparatus constructed by himself.

Don't forget the Junior Class benefit entitled "The Nation's Peril" to be given in the Empire Theatre on April 19. Performances at 4.00 p. m. and 7.45 p. m. Admission will be 10c. Tickets are now on sale.

Fa-fetched.Eating and Fighting.

It is not creditable to a thinking people that the two things they most thank God for should be eating and fighting. We say grace when we are going to cut up lamb and chicken, and when we have stuffed ourselves to an extent that an orang outang would be ashamed of we offer up our best praises to the Creator for having blown and slobbered his "images," our fellow creatures, to atoms and drenched them in blood and dirt.—Leigh Hunt.

Cream Sauce.

To make a satisfactory cream sauce first put the milk on and while this is getting warm rub the butter and flour together until smooth. As soon as the milk comes to the boil gradually add the creamy mixture while the milk continues to boil, and the finished sauce will be quite smooth.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

REPORTING OF BIRTHS.

I would like to have the public and especially citizens of this city report to me all births which occur. The law states where a physician, or midwife who has a state license to do such work, are not present at the birth of any child, then it is the duty of the parents to report such birth. There are no doubt quite a number of births that are not registered. In such cases, the parties named above are liable to a fine of $50.00 for each case not reported.

I have received a letter from the State Registrar requesting me to obtain a full report of all births that occurred in this city, no matter how old the child may be. So if any child born here that has not been reported, it can be done any evening. The city records are open to any one wishing to examine same in after years. The baby now, if not recorded will have quite some trouble to establish his or her parentage. So it will be well to have it recorded. There certainly are more births here than are recorded each month, especially among the foreign population, who probably do not know the need of such reporting. Hoping the citizens will cooperate with me in this work, I am

Yours truly,
W. J. NAGLE,
Registrar, 136 Broadway.

Kweee Kweries

? BY NIBOR. ?

Some ripping-up the News gave the United Press in a leading editorial last Saturday, wasn't it? And after that full page ad. a few days before, too. Truly "consistency thou art a jewel!"

Who is the young man who on his second day at the powder works was found to have a pocket full of matches?

?-?-?

We have a sneaking idea that one little posy presented to the living is infinitely more thoughtful than presenting costly floral pieces or cut flowers after death. What think you?

?-?-?

Want to witness a grisly chamber of horrors? Then see "The Battle Cry of Peace-a" A la Evening News: "If this be an advertisement!" take it and welcome. Cul bono?

?-?-?

Will that young man who wants to meet an affectionate young lady, object matrimony, promise to take her for a walk or to the movies each evening?

?-?-?

We are sure glad the excitable young lady who sat just behind us at the Empire Monday night did not have a gun handy. Being in direct range we might have lost the top of our dome. Who knows?

?-?-?

In a recent lawsuit a hypothetical question asked by one of the attorneys took one and one-half hours to get it off his system. Aren't you glad these "kweries" are not so lengthy?

?-?-?

Did the "box fight" in Madison Square Garden last Saturday night prove the percentage has gone up? Sure, there's two born every minute in N. Y. nowadays.

?-?-?

Have you ever seen or heard Billy Sunday? Here is your chance. He (himself) will give a brief talk in front of the Empire Theatre Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All who wish to hear him be on hand to-morrow, Saturday afternoon.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Dorothy Bossong of Sayreville celebrated her fourth birthday on Saturday last by entertaining a number of her little friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bossong. The dining room was very prettily decorated in pink and white Easter lilies. The favors were St. Patrick hats. Dorothy received a large number of presents. Among those present were Mrs. A. M. Hamilton and children, and Mrs. John Heath, of this city; Mrs. G. Brown, of Perth Amboy; Mr. C. Boehm and children, Mrs. Jacob Bossong and daughter, Melvin Hartman and Sara and Olive Holmes of Sayreville.

A PRETTY SAYREVILLE WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Franz, at Miller's corner Sayreville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon when their daughter, Miss Angelica Franz, became the happy bride of Mr. Peter A. Barich, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Barich of this city.

Promptly at 3.30 o'clock Miss Grace Trafford of Tottenville presiding at the piano struck forth the notes of the wedding march and the bridal party entered the room and the bride and groom took positions under a handsome white bell, when the Rev. R. Stier, pastor of the German Presbyterian Church, of Sayreville, performed the ceremony that united them as man and wife.

The bride looked very pretty in a gown of white crepe de chine with lace trimming, and wore a veil linked with a spray of lilies of the valley. Miss Freda Franz, a sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor, and looked charming in a gown of white charmeuse with rose trimmings.

Mr. John Wist of this city served as bestman.

After hearty congratulations had been extended and a few minutes of social converse held, the happy couple and guests went on a tour of inspection to the newly furnished home of the bride and groom, which is located only a short distance away. Upon returning to the home of the bride's parents a bountiful supper was served. The merry wedding festivities were kept up until the wee sma' hours of the morning, and music, song and dance, interspersed with refreshments, made the time pass away all too quickly. A number of very pretty gifts were received by the bride.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Barich of this city, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. O'Brien, Mr. Deutch, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Worrell, Mrs. F. Grimley, Arthur Reznitzer of Perth Amboy, Mrs. Jonathan Trafford and daughter, Grace, and Franklin Pepper of Tottenville, William White, Frank and Charles Wagenblast, Misses Anna and Marie O'Brien, Miss Madeline Rogan, Miss Mae Creamer, the Misses Jennie, Marie and Katherine Barich, Mr. and Mrs. B. Robbins and Master Lawrence Barich.

The groom is employed by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., where by faithful attention to his work, he has acquired a responsible and remunerative position.
