GIVE CONTRACT FOR METERS

Council Awards Contract for 1,000 Water Meters at $7.50 Each to Gamon Meter Co. — Disbrow Disputes David Street Improvement Bill.

After opening bids from ten meter manufacturing companies, the Common Council on Tuesday night awarded the contract to the Gamon Meter Company for one thousand water meters to cost $7.50 per meter. The resolution awarding the contract was adopted by a vote of three to two, Councilmen Disbrow and Tice voting in opposition. When the proposal for bids was read Councilman Disbrow protested against the purchase at this time, declaring that no appropriation had been made for the purchase and that the method was irregular. Councilman Delaney maintained that the city would save money by purchasing the meters in large quantities, and that his understanding was that the meters did not have to be paid for or delivered at once; that the company receiving the award would agree to ship the meters as needed.

The fourth ward councilman said that in his opinion no meter company was going to wait for its pay until some property owner had paid for the meter. The following bids were received:

Union Meter Company $8.30 per meter.
Neptune Meter Company $10.50.
Badger Meter Manufacturing Company $9.50.
Pittsburg Meter Company $10.00.
Hershey Manufacturing Co. $9.00.
Gamon Meter Company $7.50.
Thompson Meter Company $10.00.
Federal Meter Company $10.00.
Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation $8.55.
Buffalo Meter Company $8.07.

A communication was read from D. E. Mahoney, secretary of the Independence Engine Company, stating that $60.00 had been held by the company treasurer upon the instruction of the Council, representing the pay of five firemen. The communication stated that this money was due to firemen who had received neither the local firemen's pay or the tax allowance, and it asked that the matter be adjusted by the Council. Upon motion it was received and referred to the fire committee.

Another communication from D. E. Mahoney stated that Henry Hess had been elected to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of John Conlogue, Sr., and also asked the council what action had been taken regarding the four firemen recently elected to membership. The communication was also referred to the fire committee.

When the bills were presented, Councilman Disbrow took exception to the payment of a bill of $2223.00 to Sophus Grelsen contractor, for the David street improvement. He maintained that the bill included payment for the tearing up and relaying a section of this street, and he said that since the mistake had been made by the contractor he did not see why the property-owners should have to bear the burden of it, and he did not see why the city engineer had approved it. City Engineer McMichael said that the bill had originally been laid out well, by the contractors; that a sidewalk was later torn up on orders of the street committee conform to a different grade, said that the work had been done and faithfully performed, and he didn't know why it should be paid for. Councilman Disbrow

There was any resolution authorizing this, or the change of grade, and upon being informed that he declared the payment was illegal, and voted against the payment. He also objected to the engineer's bill for percentage upon improvement, stating that he was merely objecting to that because the percentage was based upon amount he felt to be wrong. His were ordered paid, Councilman Disbrow and Tice voting in opposition. (Continued on page eight)

NEW BRUNSWICK MAN PURCHASES MORGAN LAND

Under the hammer of Gerth's Realty Experts, the Morgan plant, with 1433 acres of ground and with over 161 buildings and a large amount of equipment, was sold last Monday morning. Fred C. Schneider, of New Brunswick, purchased the land, together with track and a large amount of buckwheat coal said to be stored on the property, for $140,000. The buildings and equipment went to J. R. Harris, of New York, for $175,000. It is believed that a salvaging operation will be started immediately, since but a short time is given for the clearing of the land.

Various rumors were afloat to the effect that a representative of Henry Ford was among the large gathering at the sale, but developments would indicate that no large corporation was interested in the purchase. It is believed that Sigmond Elsnor, of Red Bank; Isaac Alpern, of Perth Amboy, and State Road Commissioner Abraham Jellin, all of whom seemed to be closely associated with Mr. Schneider during the auction sale, are interested in the purchase of the realty.

Among those from this city who were present at the sale were: Preston H. King, Morris Alpine, Joseph Alpine, James Newmeyer, Morgan Lambertson, Harry C. Perrine, R. C. Stephenson, Donald W. Reed, Harold Hoffman, George Gundrum, C. P. Rose, Patrick Kahrah, Jacob Reiner, Nathan and Morris Shevelowitz, Pearl F. Grover, Hugh Farrell, J. F. Scully, William Parlsen and Harry Parlsen.

JUNIORS AGAIN CAPTURE ATTENDANCE BANNER

Joel Parker Council No. 69, Jr. O. U. A. M. again performed their monthly feat of capturing the attendance banner when this association met last Monday night at Newmarket. Members of the Association were the guests of Friendship Council of Newmarket.

Entertainment was furnished by "Scrappy" Lambert and his jazz entertainers from Rutgers College Glee Club. Arrangements for this feature were made by Assemblyman Fred Devoe.

The local Juniors captured the banner for having the largest number of associate members present, also.

The baseball tournament is in progress, with Good Intent Council leading; Joel Parker second, Goodwill third, and Middlesex, fourth.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Announcement was made of the annual outing to be held at Seidler's beach during August.

MISS HANNAH COHEN WEDS HERMAN GORDON

With over 150 guests present, Miss Hannah Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cohen, of Broadway, was united in marriage on Sunday last to Herman Gordon, of New Brunswick. The ceremony, which was performed by Rabbi H. L. Chazen, of Perth Amboy, took place in the United Brothers Synagogue on Pine avenue at 8 o'clock.

The bride was beautifully gowned in georgette, trimmed with spangles and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies. The bride was accompanied by Miss Sarah Boyer, of Trenton, as maid of honor, and the groomsmen was Lewis Shapiro, of New Brunswick. Cella and Dora Cohen, twin sisters of the bride, were the flower girls.

The guests gathered at the home of the bride's parents both before and after the ceremony. Blum's orchestra, of New Brunswick, furnished music, and the home was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers for the occasion. Guests were present from Perth Amboy, New Brunswick, Trenton, Philadelphia, New York, Peekskill, N. Y. and Ossining, N. Y.

A special meeting of the South Amboy High School Alumni Association will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school building. A request is made that a large representation be present to hear the report of the committee that arranged the recent banquet, and also to act upon other important matters. Members of the class of 1923, recently elected to membership in the Association, are welcome to attend this meeting.

MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD

Board of Education Engage New Instructor in Domestic Arts and New Commercial Teacher in High School at Meeting Wednesday Night.

At Wednesday night's meeting of the Board of Education, Miss Georgia Kennedy was engaged as instructor in Domestic Arts for the coming school year and placed under the teacher's tenure act. Professor O. O. Barr was re-engaged for a period of two years, the salary for the first year to be $3,600.

Upon receipt of Miss Kennedy's application, the motion was made that she be engaged, and it was carried by the following vote: Aye, Messrs. Rue and Woodward, and Mrs. Chase; Opposed, Messrs. Coan and Delaney.

Following the reading of the report of Superintendent Barr to the teachers' committee, Miss Gertrude M. Frazier was engaged as instructor in the commercial department of the high school.

The Superintendent's report in part said:

"The attendance report for the last month of the school year shows quite an improvement over that of April and May. Chicken-pox and mumps secured quite a hold among the children of the lower grades during the month of May but began to clear up the early part of June.

On account of the rush of work in connection with the closing of schools my report is necessarily short. A summary of the annual statistics and a general written report of the year's work will be submitted at the July meeting.

Some time ago I was requested to submit for your consideration a revision of our rules and regulations. They were gone over very carefully and several changes and additions have been suggested. The revision does not include our salary schedule nor any rule governing the rental and use of the auditorium. I beg to suggest that sections relating to the above be framed and that the rules be submitted at or July meeting so that they can be acted upon the following meeting and we shall then have them ready for the opening of schools in September.

I have a letter from the State Commissioner of Education announcing the annual state school men's conference at Ocean City the week of July ninth. I ask your permission to attend.

The exhibits of representative work in sewing, manual training, mechanical drawing and art were well attended and judging from many favorable remarks these lines of work were much appreciated by those who inspected them.

Secretary Kress was instructed to advertise for bids for coal for the school year 1923-24, the proposals to be received at the next meeting.

Upon motion, the chairman of the committee on buildings and grounds was empowered to have the interior of the auditorium and several rooms in the school repainted.

Following the reading of a communication from Commissioner of Education Enright, announcing the annual summer conference of superintendents and supervising principals, to be held at Ocean City during the second week in July, Superintendent Barr was authorized to attend.

Those present at the meeting were: President Coan, Mrs. Chase, Messrs. Rue, Woodward, and Delaney, Superintendent Barr and Secretary Kress.

Eugene Moss, of Metuchen, has taken up his summer residence at his bungalow at Morgan.

LEGION MAKING BIG PLANS FOR JUBILEE NEXT MONTH

"They're all hot!!!"
"They're all hot!!!"

Chris Mulrain's melodious voice, loud enough to be heard from Mechanicsville to the Great Beds Lighthouse, will sing out those familiar words every night during the American Legion Jubilee to be held on the David street grounds adjoining the clubhouse of Luke A. Lovely Post from Saturday July 7th to Saturday July 14th.

Preparations for the Jubilee are being made on an elaborate scale by the local Legionnaires. Shortly work upon the erection of a dancing platform thirty-five by fifty feet will be started, and when the affair opens on the night of the 7th, the grounds, gaily lighted with electrical effects to be arranged by John "Chocky" Boll, will present a most festive appearance.

A merry-go-round, gaily lighted, will prove to be an attraction to both young and old as the music grinds out the old familiar merry-go-round tunes like "Rosie O'Grady", and even the newer ones like "Yes, we have no bananas". An additional attraction, sure to be popular, will be swings. These attractions will enliven the scene and give the legion grounds a real gala appearance.

The merchandise is newer, brighter, and offers better value than any ever offered locally before, and some of the fine articles are sure to prove alluring to those who patronize the big event.

Harry Leonard, Entertainment Officer of the Post, is working hard to put over the big event, and other members of the Legion are cooperating in an effort to make the affair the best of its kind ever held in South Amboy.

"Bill" O'Toole, chairman of the music committee, has arranged for a six piece orchestra to furnish music for the dancing, and "Jack" Southard, who is to be in charge of the dance platform, hopes to have his attraction well patronized by all those people from South Amboy and nearby towns who "trip the light fantastic". The fine dance floor to be laid will surely prove attractive to the tepischorean devotees.

The stands are to be erected shortly under the supervision of "Ray" Downs, who will have complete charge of the stands and their operation. "Phil" Downs, who has charge of the business and financial arrangements, is "all set" to handle his department in a style that will be even more complete and efficient than last year's.

DRIVER HAS LICENSE REVOKED

Ralph Rocco, of 314 Patterson Pike, Jersey City, will "think it over", before he again gets "fresh" with the State Police. Ralph was apprehended by Corporal Kelly of the State Police at Morgan on Sunday after he had failed to stop when ordered to do so by Special Motor Vehicle Inspector Harry M. Schrieter. The inspector blew his whistle three times in order to stop Rocco from his reckless driving. When he did stop he elected to place his car across the road in such a way as to obstruct traffic and refused to move it. Force was necessitated in order to bring Rocco before Justice of the Peace Eugene R. Rossetol.

Rocco pleaded guilty to the charge of reckless driving and was fined $50 and had his license revoked. Corporal Kelly then made charge of resisting an officer, and using abusive and obscene language, and upon this charge he was fined $25.00 and was given sixty days in the county jail.

LOCAL WOMAN ADJUDGED TO BE INSANE

At New Brunswick Wednesday afternoon testimony was heard by Commissioners Schuyler Van Cleaf, Dr. J. F. McGovern, and Harold G. Hoffman in an action to test the competency of Bridget Campion, of Augusta street, South Amboy. The jury, after hearing the testimony, adjudged her to be insane and recommended to the Commissioners the appointment of a guardian to take over her affairs.

The jury was composed of Andrew Zahn, Thomas Ryan, William Whitfield, Charles Duce, John Cortelyou, Joseph Castner, James Wright, Edward Martin, Thomas F. Donohue, Jeremiah Donovan, George Maloney, and Alfred Scott.

TAG DAY TODAY FOR HOSPITAL

Today (Saturday) Second Annual Tag Day for South Amboy Memorial Hospital — Public Should Respond Generously.

You will be asked today (Saturday) to "Buy a tag" for the benefit of the South Amboy Memorial Hospital, an institution that has, by reason of its splendid service to the public, merited your giving generously towards its support.

This will be the Second Annual Tag Day, and Mrs. Ada Piersol Cozzens, whose efforts last year were so successful, has been made chairman of the 1923 event, which she hopes to have exceed even last year's result.

The headquarters for the workers will be the new and attractive Delaney building on Broadway, John J. Delaney having donated the use of his store for that purpose. Any school girls or women who are willing to offer their services should report at headquarters at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, or any time during the day.

The public is asked to respond generously to the appeal made by those who are working in the interests of the hospital. Remember that those who ask you to give are not personally profiting in any way by the Tag Day event—they will simply be asking you to give what you can toward an institution for which they are both working and giving. The memorial hospital has become truly a part of South Amboy. Its efficient staff has won commendations from all who have been in the hospital, and in appreciation of what has been done for the people of South Amboy, many of whom have been given willing, needed service for which they could not afford to pay, with tender, trained care and little home-like comforts that mean so much in time of illness, everyone in South Amboy should not only "give until it hurts", but pass along the word that the hospital is deserving of wonderful support not only on "Tag Day", but throughout the year.

POLICE JUSTICE HEARS MANY CASES THURSDAY EVENING

Thursday evening was a busy one for Justice Reuben Forgeson, who sat at Morgan for the purpose of hearing violations reported by the State Police stationed at that point. Harry Kaplowsky, of 11 Commercial avenue, New Brunswick, was apprehended by Corporal James A. Kelly for reckless driving on Thursday, and after pleading guilty was fined $10.00.

Albert Becker, of 182 Spruce street, Newark, who was found driving out of line by Trooper Henry G. Pfaff, was fined $5.00. Tony Bevino, also arrested by Trooper Pfaff, was fined $10.00 for driving a bus on a public highway with a flat tire.

Claude H. Coons, of 22 Erickson street, Elmhurst, Long Island, was arrested by Corporal Kelly for reckless driving on Monday. He was summoned to appear before Justice of the Peace Forgeson on Thursday night and was fined $10.00.

James Shenko, of Foris, was another victim of Trooper Pfaff's vigilance. He was summoned for passing another car on the right, and after pleading guilty was fined $5.00.

A NOVEL EXCUSE FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

The prize for the most novel excuse for reckless driving yet given to the State Police was won last Sunday night at Morgan by J. R. Goldstein, of Newark, who told Justice of the Peace Eugene R. Rossetol, that he had to drive on the left hand side of the road "because the baby was crying".

When the Justice asked him to explain he said that it was the baby's feeding time, and that when she started to cry he became nervous and pulled on the left hand side of the road so as to get home in a hurry. The Justice fined him five dollars and suggested that he take along a cow the next time he took the baby out auto riding in heavy traffic.

YOUTHS PLACED ON PROBATION

Acting upon complaints made by residents along upper Bordentown avenue, Officers Quinlan and Widdish on Monday arrested Joseph Durski, John Durski, Marco Marcella, Frank Denman, Paul Yankoski, Elmer Stout, Herman Gushacki, Patsy Durski, and John Elliron. These youths had been charged with tampering with telephone apparatuses, and creating noise and disorder, as well as for firing blank cartridges. They were brought before Judge Forgeson Tuesday evening and were placed on probation, being ordered to report at the City Hall every night.

CITY BEING RUN WELL WITHIN APPROPRIATIONS

The report of the City Treasurer, submitted at Tuesday night's meeting of the Council, shows that nearly all of the current accounts the city fathers are keeping well within the appropriations. At the present rate of expenditure the police appropriation will be overdrawn, but in the remaining accounts this report, which is made as of June 1st., shows that judicious watch has been kept on the budget appropriations for the first five months.

DANGER SIGNAL STOLEN

At a regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders held in New Brunswick on Thursday afternoon, a resolution offered by Director Dey was adopted by the board offering a reward of $50.00 or information leading to the arrest or conviction of the parties responsible for the removing of the danger signal on the Parlin road near the Deep Cut Bridge. It is hoped that this reward will lead to the arrest of the guilty party or parties, who when apprehended should be treated to the full extent of the law.

Plans and specifications for the reconstruction of the road from the Amboy bridge to Main street in this city were approved by the Board and the County Engineer was instructed to advertise for bids.

JERSEY CITY MAN HAS LICENSE REVOKED

As a result of an accident in which his Scripps-Booth car rammed head-on into a Hudson sedan, Harry M. Phillips, of Jersey City, who admitted to Corporal Kelly of the State Police that he "had been drinking too much", has had his driving license revoked.

Mrs. Evelyn Verelly, of San Raphael Hotel, New York City, was the only person injured in the accident, which occurred on the Morgan road. Corporal Kelly and Trooper H. C. Pfaff were quickly upon the scene and had Mrs. Verelly, who sustained a deep cut upon the side of the mouth, a wrenched left ankle and face lacerations, removed to the South Amboy City Hospital. Two stitches were taken in the cut.

William C. Connolly, of 127 Broad street, Eatontown, was the driver of the Hudson sedan. He was on his way home when the car was damaged. Both cars were badly damaged.

RARE EAGLE IN LONDON ZOO

New Arrival Has Easy Time of It, If He Can Forget He is a Prisoner.

"Tim," a large white-tailed sea eagle from Mesopotamia, presented by Sir Percy Cox, has just arrived at the zoo and is vying with the sea lions in the profitable pastime of catching fish thrown by the keeper.

Though the newcomer is the sole representative of his species in the garden the white-tailed sea eagle was, at one time, fairly common in England as far south as the Lake district.

Now it is verging on extinction in these islands, there being only a few pairs left, which nest on the inaccessible cliffs of the west of Scotland and Ireland.

To look at this feathered giant of the air, you would think him particularly fierce and unapproachable, but "Tim's" appearance is deceptive, for he is really quite tame.

Under the tuition of his keeper, he is speedily becoming proficient in the art of aerial sprat-catching—which probably accounts for his docility.

"Tim" seems wise enough to realize that catching "flying fish" is better than swooping at keeper's caps, as some of his kindred do, and for his good conduct he is occasionally rewarded with a nice home-bred rat, by way of a change.

Eagles, however, are treacherous birds, and the keeper is quite as watchful as "Tim" when in his company.—A. E. H., in London Daily Chronicle.

SPIDER NOT REALLY INSECT

Fundamental Difference Which Has Been Recognized by Those Who Have Studied the Subject.

Spiders and their near relatives, the scorpions, are much more closely related to lobsters than they are to true insects. Spiders and insects are both small, both have a number of legs, and both appear superficially alike. The differences between them, however, are of a major sort.

First, as you will see if you examine one, a spider has no head. All real insects have heads. Herein lies a most fundamental difference. A spider's face comes directly to the thorax, like that of a crayfish. Every insect has eyes, both compound and simple. The compound eyes are usually large, occupying half or more of the entire head. Between them, in what would be the middle of the forehead, are three simple eyes. Spiders have eight (in some species only six) simple eyes. Each one is fixed and can see in one direction only. Some look forward; some sideways, and some upward, so that spiders are not blind by any means.

Advice Was Disastrous.

He was a newly admitted member of the ranks of married men and after having behaved himself for a period long enough to cause amazement to all those who had known him in the old days he broke out. He was on his way home very much under the weather and growing more timid as his street neared, says a New York Sun writer.

"What'll I do?" he asked thickly of his companion in crime, a veteran benedict.

"Throw your hat in first," said the old-timer. "If it comes out, bent it; if not, follow it in."

The advice was acted upon literally and now the newly admitted member and the old veteran are on the outs. The hat flung into the dining room landed on the table, broke two glasses, split a bottle of catsup on the floor and ruined the carpet, upset the table oil lamp and almost set fire to the house.

GOOD BASE RUNNING REQUIRES PRACTICE

Baseball Player Must Learn to Start Fast and Master Hook or Fall-Away Slide.

(By CARL LUNDGREN, Baseball Coach, University of Illinois.)

To become a good, intelligent base runner, a player must put in a great deal of practice, experimenting, thought, and, above all, be able to use good judgment in running.

He should learn to start fast and master the hook or fall-away slide. The fast start means the saving of a stride or possibly two in the race with the ball and the hook slide makes it difficult for the opponents to touch you with the ball, frequently saving you from being tricked out at the end of your journey. This slide should be mastered at the very beginning and the ability to use it on either side of the base, thereby enabling you to watch your opponent, who is receiving the thrown ball, and slide as far away from him as possible. If the throw is received in front of the base, naturally you should slide to the back; if it is received back of the base, your slide should be in front, and if the throw is high slide either way or straight.

Next in importance, certainly, is your ability to get a good lead from which to run from any base. Many slow runners are excellent base runners because of their ability or knack of getting this lead. There are two leads off any base. One is often called the one-way lead where the runner leads off so far that he must return to his base at the slightest false move of the pitcher; in other words, he dares not lean toward the base in advance for fear of being caught off, nor can he advance on the pitcher as he should because it will take him so far from his base that a throw from the catcher will catch him. The other and proper lead may be called a two-way lead by which the base runner may return or advance with his start or lead obtained from the pitcher's delivery. There are comparatively few pitchers that do not give away the fact that they are going to pitch to the plate some considerable time before they do pitch there and it is this fact that clever base runners can and do take advantage of. The base runner always should be trying for this lead and if he can time his lead or start toward the next base just in advance or even at the same time that the pitcher starts to pitch, he will have an excellent start and should run provided it is the proper time in the game to run. Consequently it is readily to be seen that a team should study the opposing pitcher from the bench to discover the first move that he makes when he pitches to the plate that will give them this start if they become base runners later. Of course, the pitcher is trying to disguise this first move by other false moves or half-balk moves.

At second base the base runner should determine how long a lead he can take and still return safely provided the pitcher turns to catch him. He may advance beyond this lead by quick starts and returns to this point but should never return beyond that point unless the pitcher turns to catch him. Infielders should not be able to drive you back beyond that point.

At third base the lead should be such that the runner can advance until the ball passes the batter and then can return in safety. In case the ball is hit, the runner is then on his way to serve. At all bases the runner should be advancing toward the next base on all pitches until the ball passes the batter when he should return fast. Fast should be emphasized. If the ball is hit, the runner has a running lead toward the next base.

Probably the next important thing in base running is good judgment. There are times in a game that bases should be run and times when they certainly should not be run. It is not good baseball to run bases when your team is behind unless your run will tie the score. Your run will make little difference as to winning the game unless more batters score, in which case your run would have been batted in. You are only giving your opponents added opportunities to make a put-out, which you are trying to avoid doing above all things. As a rule it is not wise to run bases when the batter is in the hole, that is, the pitcher has the advantage as to balls and strikes because the pitcher can waste the ball on a pitch-out to catch you without harming himself to any extent.

You should also consider the pitcher's ability to hold you close to the base; also the catcher's ability to throw you out in case you do run. It may be that some kind of team play at bat, such as hit and run, may be more successful than clean stealing. The number of men out in an inning should be a determining factor in running bases. Do not take chances when there is no one out. Take all even chances or slightly the worst of it in your judgment when one man is out and you are even or ahead as to the score.

Try to avoid being involved in a double play, especially with one out.

Decide quickly on fly balls to the outfield whether or not you can advance if the ball is caught. If you can, in your opinion, go back, touch your base and be ready to start fast. If it is too short a fly ball take all the lead that you can in safety toward the next base and be ready to advance if it is dropped and to return fast if it is caught. The runner on third base should touch and remain on the base on all line hits or fly balls until they are caught, dropped or fall safe with one or no one out, except short hits that he could not score on if caught. In the latter case take all the lead that you can in safety and be ready to score if dropped or return if caught.

If caught between bases avoid being touched out until all base runners have advanced as far as they can.

With runners on second and third base the runner on third should hold his base if the ball is hit to an infielder playing close with no one out. Same condition and one out, try to score.

Do not depend on your coaches when you can follow the play yourself. You must listen to them, however, when the play is behind you. The coacher is blamed for too many bad plays when the base runner has the play in front of him and is entirely to blame himself.

Cobb Ranks as Oldest Player in American

Cobb is the oldest player in the American league in point of service.

Cobb joined the Tigers in 1905 and is still going good. He has seen 18 years of service. Despite the strenuous game he plays, he has slowed down but little.

If Cobb continues to be a success as manager he can go on indefinitely in baseball, long after he is through as a player.

Cobb alone remains of the players who were in the American league at the time of his debut. He has seen them all pass out.

Eddie Collins and Walter Johnson are close behind Cobb in point of service. While Johnson is slowing up a bit, Eddie Collins seemed as good as ever last season, with a number of years ahead of him in the majors.

Leslie Bancroft Is Praised by Tilden

Tennis champion Bill Tilden says of Leslie Bancroft, the Longwood C. C. of Boston; lawn tennis player who will for the first time strive for honors in the English championships at Wimbledon in June: "She can defeat every player abroad except Suzanne Lenglen and possibly Kathleen McKane. She can defeat "Bunny" Ryan, Mrs. Satterthwaite, Mrs. Beamish and other English players. She may not do so, of course, but from my observations of the type of game displayed by the foreign women, I look for Miss Bancroft to make an excellent showing abroad."

LUNA PARK HAS

MANY NEW THINGS

With the opening of the great board walk at Coney Island a new spirit has come to the famous playground by the sea and thoroughly in accord with this progressiveness popular and famous Luna Park now presents more attractive features than ever before. More acres have been added to its already attractive amusement area and the opening of two large features have proven among the most notable events in the history of this favored park. The management has just inaugurated the Luna Aquadrome, which has the largest swimming pool in the world. It is supplied with filtered ocean water and has every equipment for aquatic pleasures. Another new feature is the Pit or mammoth fun house where there are seventy seven varieties of ingenious devices for mirth making and all under one roof. Arthur Pryor's famous band gives daily concerts and there is a splendid circus, also free, given in a new stadium with thrilling acts and the Robinson elephants. Luna has a score of amusing and interesting shows, the favorite rides with a new device known as the Love Nest. Parties coming to Coney Island by automobile will find a parking space connected with Luna. The Luna busses start at frequent intervals from Broadway and Forty Second Street, Coney Island and Luna Park are always linked up with everyone's idea of a real vacation.

LEGION ACTIVITIES

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

Butte, Montana—Expressing a desire to visit veterans of the World War employed as copper miners in Butte, Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, donned overalls and was conducted more than a mile below the surface in the Leonard Copper mines to spend an hour with his comrades, while on a recent visit to Butte.

The legion miners, who work eight hours a day below ground, were so gratified at the visit from their national leader that they gave him a smoking set made from copper taken out of the mine.

Director Frank T. Hines of the United States Veterans' Bureau has announced that he is considering rating all present disability claims a permanent basis where disabled men have been receiving compensation on temporary disability ratings which have continued in effect for long periods of time without material change in the disabled man's condition. The proposed ruling is sought by Joe Sparks, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion.

A final decision upon the condition of the disabled should more thoroughly protect the interests of both the government and the veterans. Director Hines pointed out. Legion representatives believe that should such a rating process be ordered by the Bureau, it will have a two-fold effect. The first would be to discontinue the compensation of certain veterans whose disabilities may be rated insufficient for purposes of government compensation. The second and most vital to the interests of the veterans, would be the placing of many veterans whose disabilities are now rated on a temporary basis to a permanent basis and in the case of total disability, authorizing the payment of their insurance benefits which have been withheld under the temporary disability schedule.

Director Hines has informed the legion that he will make a definite announcement as soon as the plan of procedure as indicated has been adopted.

Detroit—More than fifty disabled veterans of the World War already have taken advantage of Henry Ford's recent offer of free hospitalization in the big Ford Hospital in Detroit. All the veterans are admitted as private patients, and are treated on the same basis. Arrangements for opening the hospital services free of charge to all disabled veterans of Michigan needing treatment were made a few weeks ago at a meeting between Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion; Henry Ford, Edsel B. Ford and Dr. Robert B. Harkness, legion state commander.

Treatment in the Ford Hospital also will be provided in extreme cases of destitute families of former service men, their children needing hospitalization, when designated by legion headquarters in Detroit.

The Biggest Problem of Warm Weather

Will there be plenty of hot water so that each member of the family can have a bath after a day of blistering heat?

Dad, back from a tiring day at the office, daughter from the tennis court, son from the baseball field, mother ending a long day of sewing or canning. To each a bath is soothing, cleansing, indispensable.

An Automatic Storage Gas Water Heater

provides continuous hot water service. Your bath is ready when you are. Gas is the cheapest, most dependable, easiest way to heat water.

Why deny your home and family the comfort and convenience of running hot water, when an automatic storage water heater can be installed and maintained for so low a cost?

Install this 20 gallon Ruud Automatic Storage Water Heater in your cellar. It will then be ready to give 365 days and nights of hot water service a year. $5 down, balance in small payments monthly.

SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1923

The extra warm days of this week have caused many of our people to flock to the waters of the bay or a cool bath, in spite of the lack of facilities that would make bathing more attractive. We believe, as we have before said, that city owned bathing houses for the accommodation of women especially, are not an impossibility on the beach and neither should they be necessarily expensive.

If some of the women organizations in this city took hold of this matter with their accustomed zeal and intelligence, this work would soon be done.

TRIBUTE TO LOCAL MAN

The Jersey Journal of Jersey City of June 21st, pays a well deserved tribute to a South Amboyman who is making a splendid record in the business life of that city. Under a very well executed pen and ink sketch by Bert Cobb, the well known caricaturist, the Journal has the following to say of Edwin C. Roddy:

"I cannot give Jersey City any better business boost than to say that the Jersey City Safe-Cabinet Agency is one of the largest safe-cabinet agencies in the country."

Such is the tribute of Edwin C. Roddy, Manager of the Safe-Cabinet Co., to the city of his adoption.

Many thousand of Jersey City school children might innocently give one of the big reasons as to why that is so. They would probably tell you that what Mr. Roddy doesn't know about fire protection is not worth knowing. As Jersey City representative in the National Fire Protection Association in his many lectures on fire prevention to the city's school children he has given the youngsters of Jersey City some very valuable and practical lessons in this highly important matter. In other words, Mr. Roddy knows his business thoroughly, which probably explains why with a sales force of only six the Jersey City agency led all other agencies in the United States in 1922 in total sales.

Mr. Roddy was born in South Amboy, February 16, 1886, and was at one time secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city. He has written many magazine articles on fire protection by way of supplementing his lecture tours. In addition to taking an active interest in the affairs of the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce, he is identified with the Rotary Club and the Automobile Club of Hudson County.

The Anniversary Services which began in the First Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday last and are still in progress have been well attended.

The congregation has enjoyed having a number of their former pastors appear before them again.

On Tuesday evening, Rev. C. S. Miller now located at Allentown preached, and on Wednesday evening Rev. G. W. Abel. Thursday evening was "Young People's Night" and delegations from surrounding towns were present. Tonight (Friday) the Rev. Wilbur Westcott of Perth Amboy will preach and on Sunday, Rev. John R. Mason will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wish to convey their deep appreciation of the kindnesses of those who expressed their sympathy and gave their services during our recent bereavement. Especially thanking the Rev. Mr. Allison, Mrs. John Perkins and Miss Elizabeth Dayton. Also thanking the Buttsville people who sent flowers, to the gentlemen who acted as pall bearers and E. S. Mason and Son for services rendered.

Mrs. Anna F. Emory and family,
Mrs. John Patterson.

Church Seats.

Up until the early part of the fourteenth century worshippers in churches were accustomed to stand or sit on the floor. Then they were provided with short three-legged stools, and from 1450 onward mention is found in church records of pews or "benches."

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES

AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

With Right Reverend John L. Fox, LL. D., vicar general of the Trenton Diocese, as the speaker, the commencement exercises of St. Mary's School were this year particularly impressive. St. Mary's Hall was crowded upon the occasion of the exercises last Friday night.

In introducing Vicar General Fox, Rev. Dr. E. C. Griffin paid tribute to the distinguished visitor, under whom the local pastor served as a curate when a young priest. He spoke of the sterling qualities, priestly zeal, and religious qualifications of the vicar general, and said that he was glad to have been permitted to have his early training under such a superior. Rt. Rev. Fox, in his address to the graduates urged upon them the need of higher education, and told them of the splendid opportunities that had been afforded them in the local school. He said that such a school afforded not only an opportunity for development of the intellect, but that their course of study had been combined with moral and religious training that should help the students, throughout life, to think clearly and logically; to appreciate the truth, to detect error, and to accomplish something worth while. He said that every child receiving such training should be a power for good in the community and should make the world better for having lived, no matter how humble or lowly his station in life may be.

Doctor Griffin expressed his thanks to the parents of members of the class for permitting their children to take advantage of a complete high school course. He also mentioned the fact that the class of 1923 was making a wise selection of vocations and that the members of the class were preparing themselves for higher stations in life. Of this class six boys are to enter Holy Cross College at Worcester, Mass., five girls are to attend Normal School, one girl to continue her education at Mt. St. Mary's College in Plainfield, one girl to enter a hospital to take up the profession of nursing, and those who have taken commercial courses have been assured of positions in the business world. Of the classes of former years Dr. Griffin spoke briefly. He said that during the past year three boys have secured the degree of B. A.; three have been graduated as nurses, five are attending Newark Normal School; and one boy has graduated from Fordham Law School.

Present Operetta

A feature of the commencement program was the presentation of a two-act operetta "Little Almond Eyes." The cast was coached by Dr. Griffin, and the operetta was presented in a manner that reflected credit upon both the participants and those who assisted in the training. The principals were well selected, and the operetta was splendidly received by the audience.

The cast follows:
Wang-Ho, Captain of the Guard, and lover of Little Almond Eyes,
James Birmingham.

Emperor Ming, John Ryan.
Ping-Po, Master of Ceremonies of the Court of Cathay, John Triggs.

CANAL PROJECT BEFORE CONGRESS IN DECEMBER

Assurance has been given by Colonel Newcomer, District United States Engineer, that the New Jersey Ship Canal project, made possible through the passage of State legislation this year, will go before Congress at the opening of the Congressional term in December. The United States Engineers are preparing an extensive report, setting forth the fact that the State of New Jersey is now enabled to purchase the rights of way for canal purposes, and urging the immediate appropriation by the Government of funds for construction purposes. It was stated that because of improved machinery, that the canal could now be dug for an amount that would be within the original estimate. Between 30 and 40 million dollars will be required to dig this canal and place it in operation at sea level.

Colonel Newcomer stated that the report would be forwarded in the late summer to General Beach, Chief of the United States War Department Engineers, and this will insure its transmission to Congress in time for the December session.

The last step in the preparation of the survey will be a public meeting to be held in July by Colonel Newcomer. At this conference, which will probably be held in New Brunswick, there will be representatives of all the leading industrial and shipping interests in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

Favorable action by the Legislature upon the Hoffman bill which provided money for the acquisition of the right of way for the canal improvement in conformity with the pledge exacted by the Federal Government, has had the hoped for result of hastening the success of the project. As soon as New Jersey fulfilled its obligation Colonel Newcomer immediately set his force of engineers at work to complete the survey.

CONVALESCENT HOME OPENS SUNDAY

Many people from South Amboy interested in Legion activity are planning to go on Sunday to witness the opening of the American Legion Convalescent Home for Veterans at Toms River. The home will open with appropriate exercises at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. One of the speakers will be Governor George S. Silzer who will motor to Toms River from Sea Girt.

Another feature of the ceremony will be the blessing of the home by three pastors, one a Catholic priest, one a Presbyterian clergyman, and the other a Jewish Rabbi, all of whom served as chaplains during the World War. The Shriner's Band, of Asbury Park, is to play.

The home is beautifully situated near Toms River and is ideal for the purpose for which it was obtained. Thirty two acres of ground have been purchased and the project will stand the Fourth District of the American Legion, of which H. G. Hofman of this city is the treasurer, nearly $25,000.00.

Every legion post in the State is expected to be represented at the ceremony, and one of the impressive features will be the troop of Post colors and standards. Local people who are interested in going to the ceremony and desiring further information are referred to Commander Chris Mulrain of the local Post or Mrs. J. K. Stults, who is a member of the executive committee.

Improved Appearance.

When Kenneth saw his brother in rompers for the first time he appeared greatly astonished and finally announced in a highly pleased manner that "the baby don't look like a baby any more—he looks like a child!"

Earth Has Varied in Size.
It has been calculated that originally the earth had a diameter of 5,500 miles, but it grew by drawing planetoids into itself until it had a diameter of over 8,000 miles at the end of its growing period. Since then it has shrunk and now has a diameter of 7,918 miles.

HOUSEKEEPING FOR

WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIP

How would you like to be house keeper for the Leviathan? Imagine looking after the vast variety and enormous quantity of small things that must be aboard of the world's largest ship to make the service complete and the passengers comfortable. When the order was given to recondition the vessel for the Atlantic passenger service it included specifications for the best that all-American manufacturers could turn out. More than 200 American manufacturers were at work for many months, and every part of the country contributed to making the vessel all-American in every detail.

One hundred and two thousand pieces of china are provided for the various dining-rooms. Forty tons of clay and several tons of flint and spar were used in its manufacture. Very thin china, with coin-gold and royal blue decorations are used for the Ritz restaurant; a handsome plain-edged ware with under-glazed decorations for the first class passengers. The individual coffee and tea pots, sugar bowls and creamers are of rich cobalt blue. Vitrified cooking china is used in preparing food for the great dining rooms and restaurants. Fifty two thousand pieces of glassware, are used, all of high quality.

The silverware, if laid end to end, would cover a stretch of more than seven miles. Nearly five tons of metal were required for the 50,000 pieces of flat-ware and about the same amount for the 9,000 to 10,000 pieces of hollow-ware. One-and-a-half tons of silver-nickel wire and 650 feet of solid nickel silver rod were used for mounts and other applied parts. There are seven complete galleys or kitchens and four complete bakeries on the Leviathan. With 3,402 passengers and 1,276 in her crew, when the Leviathan is running to her full capacity, her cooks and stewards will serve 14,000 meals a day, more than 70,000 each voyage. The equipment for her kitchens and galleys totals 42,857 pieces.

More than 75,000 yards of the finest Irish linens have been used in making the thousands of tablecloths, napkins, bed-spreads, sheets and other linen articles for state-rooms. With the exception of the linens, all the articles used in the supply and equipment of the ship were "made in America". Thus Gimble Brothers, who, under contract from the Government, provided the furnishings and equipment carried out the full policy of the Shipping Board that preference be given to articles of American manufacture.

The thousands of blankets were made in Minnesota, and there are six-and-a-half miles of them. The cotton sheets and pillow cases made in Utica, N. Y. for second and third class passengers would cover a path five feet wide and twenty miles long. There are nearly 1,000 steamer rugs, 600 first-class, 350 for second class passengers. Two thousand towels were ordered from one factory, besides many thousands more for other uses. Bath mats, laundry bags and other articles have been supplied by hundreds. There are 1,200 deck-chairs. The library comprises 5,000 volumes, covering a wide range, from popular fiction to standard works of reference.

MADE THE ENGLISHMAN GASP

Amusing Error Which American Ambassador to England Took With Customary Good Nature.

In his book of reminiscences Mr. John Drew, the famous actor, tells this amusing incident that occurred under his own eye at one of those reconciling celebrations of the Fourth of July which have for years been held in London with both Englishmen and Americans in attendance.

After the two national anthems were sung the supper room opened, and the people flocked in and found seats for themselves. Lewis and I were sitting next to an Englishman who was a little very hungry and very thirsty. Mr. Phelps, the American minister, walked into the room and looked round over the tables. He wore side whiskers and to a chance observer looked not unlike a maitre d'hotel. The Englishman, not knowing who he was, mistook him for one of the waiters and asked him to bring him a bottle of Apollinaris. He pointed to a bottle nearby that had been opened. Phelps good-naturedly took the bottle and put it down in front of the Englishman and started to walk away.

The Englishman was late because Phelps had not filled his glass. He reprimanded him and as he did so stood up and called to the retreating figure: "What do you mean by this? And who are you?"

Phelps turned and answered: "My name is Phelps. I am the American minister at the Court of St. James's."

The Englishman fell back in his chair so violently that he knocked the chair over backward.—Youth's Companion.

GAME WAS WITHIN THE LAW

Officers Sent to Break Up Poker Party Found Only Harmless Players of Bridge.

Strolling figures circled cautiously and with light tread about a house on the north side. Close observation disclosed that the figures were on their left breasts the pointed stars of officers of the law. Inside the house the sound of shuffled cards, muffled laughter, and light conversation could be heard. The moon hung low in the sky. All was peaceful. Abruptly, there came a knock at the door of the house.

The sounds on the inside of the house ceased and the door was opened. Before the startled eyes of the police raiding squad, led by Lieutenant Louis Johnson, were disclosed eight well-dressed women, all smiling graciously, and all engaged in the pleasant pastime and popular indoor sport of auction bridge.

"Aw, we were sent up here to get a poker game," Lieutenant Johnson explained, in substance. "We can't arrest any bridge players."—Indianapolis News.

To Be an Orator.

The Rev. Daniel J. Mannix, archbishop of Australia, gave some sensible advice to all young men who aspire to be public speakers. He said he had always desired to be a great orator, but he found that he could not, and now he no longer strives toward this object. He advises all who aim at a profession wherein they must seek to influence others by their voice, "not to aim for oratorical elegance, but to simply make their language mirror their thought. Do not exaggerate," he continues. "Use critical judgment." The greatest public speakers are not those who impress you with the beauty of their performance, but those who convince you by their simplicity, directness and sincerity.—Seattle Post Intelligencer.

Real Democracy.

The purchases made by a large, heavy-set woman apparently of some property and social position, in a small Gratiot avenue shop the other day, go to prove that you never can tell. She asked firmly for a package of a well-known brand of chewing tobacco. When the shop dealer was unable to supply it, she unhesitatingly called for another brand, threw it into her shopping basket and started to leave. Then she spied a pile of magazines and asked for a certain radio publication. This, too, was unavailable, so she took a substitute. The tobacco may have been for her husband and the radio magazine for her son, but spectators watched her purchases with interest and surprise.—Detroit News.

Safer Then.

She didn't really want a divorce, but she did want to air her troubles, and the old family lawyer listened patiently. So she told him about her graduation, her marriage, and poured forth a torrent of details about a husband engrossed in clubs and business. "He never remembers my birthday. He never remembers our wedding anniversary. Sometimes I feel like shooting him. Once I was young and beautiful."

"That was when you should have done the shooting," interposed the lawyer.—Houston Post.

What They Mostly Are.

The very latest definition of an "ism" is that most of the time it usually is an "ah't."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Loses Two Sets of False Teeth in Taxi

New York.—One of those little tragedies of metropolitan life came to light in the story of Miss Naomi Mitchell and her lost false teeth.

"I don't mind so much about my own teeth," said Miss Mitchell. "It's losing the other set—the one that didn't belong to me—that hurts."

Meanwhile, Dr. E. Sorensen paced the floor, bounding to the telephone at every ring, in hope of news of the missing grinders.

It seems Miss Mitchell, who is twenty-two years old, was having Dr. Sorensen fit her with a new set of lower teeth.

She called at the doctor's office for the teeth. The doctor did them up in a neat package and pressed them into her hand. Then he had an idea.

"Are you going to see Dr. Fischel tomorrow?" he queried.

"Yes," said Miss Mitchell.

It seems Dr. Fischel is Miss Mitchell's regular dentist.

"Well, I have another set of teeth here for one of Dr. Fischel's patients and they must be delivered tomorrow, and I thought maybe if you would be so kind—"

"Certainly," said Miss Mitchell. "I'll give them to him."

Miss Mitchell took the teeth, hailed a taxicab and drove home, lost in thought. Arriving home, Miss Mitchell paid the chauffeur and went in.

A moment later she shrieked. The teeth were gone!

She telephoned the company in whose cab she had ridden, but the teeth had not been found. She is now waiting patiently, with an advertisement in newspapers, for the return of the prodigal dentition.

of the craft are 'making a throw' in the Arctic regions," says Mr. R. M. Gillespie of the New York Telephone Co., who has returned after spending two years in running a telephone cable across Sweden.

In an article in the Telephone Review, Mr. Gillespie describes some of his experiences.

systems in Europe, Norway has the greatest number of submarine cables, totaling 322. Great Britain coming next with 177. These submarine cables in Norway run across numerous fjords. Sweden, however, has the highest telephone development in Europe, Stockholm being one of the first cities of the world in telephone development per capita.

While in one of the little country stores near Stockholm Mr. Gillespie was very much surprised to see hanging on the wall of the little office one of the original Bell telephone receivers. On taking it down he found that it was made by the Bell Telephone Manufacturing Company of Antwerp. He then asked the man in the store where it came from. But this fellow had only lived there fifteen years, and it was hanging on the wall when he bought the store.

On making further inquiries Mr. Gillespie found that it was one of the receivers that had been used on the "Very few persons can say that they have been to Hell on their travels and have returned, but such is my case. Hell is a little place just east of Trondhjem, Norway, and there are telephones in Hell also. And, contrary to the usually accepted teaching, there was snow on the mountain back of Hell the day I was there."

WRECKED

He telephoned his fiancée, aged twenty-four, that he was sending her a rose for every year of her age. To the florist he gave the order to send the lady two dozen of the finest roses he could procure.

"He is a very good customer," remarked the florist to his assistant, who was packing the bouquet, "so put in an extra half dozen."

TUT'S WIDOW IN ROYAL ROMANCE

Sought to Wed Son of King of Hittites While Pharaoh's Body Was Not Yet Cold.

Luxor, Egypt.—An ancient Hittite document, recently unearthed in Anatolia, discloses an amazing royal romance in which Queen Ankhs-Amen, consort of Pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amen, was one of the principals. It also appears that the queen was banished by Tut-Ankh-Amen's successor, Pharaoh Ay.

This remarkable document has been translated by Prof. Archibald H. Sayce, one of the leading Babylonian and Egyptian scholars of Great Britain. It reveals the extraordinary fact that, while King Tut-Ankh-Amen's body was still upon its bier, awaiting burial, his twenty-seven-year-old wife dispatched an ambassador to the king of the Hittites, who was then besieging the ancient city of Carchemish, between Mosul and Damascus, to induce the king to give her one of his sons in marriage.

Message of Queen.

"My husband is dead," said the Egyptian queen to the Hittite ruler through her ambassador. "I have no children. Your sons are said to be grown up. If you will give me one of them, and, if he will be my husband, he will be a great helpmate."

The king of the Hittites apparently doubted the motives and good faith of the Egyptian queen. He replied to her overtures:

"The son of your lord (the king) where is he? Have you deceived me? The general of the army (Horemheb) has not nominated my son to the kingship."

The queen thereupon rejoined:

"What is this you say? I have deceived you? If I had a son and my people had a ruler I would not have sought the hand of a man from another country. No one has had children by me. I have no son. Give me one of your sons as my husband, and he will be king of the land of Egypt."

The document shows that the royal romance was almost completed by the Hittite king's giving the fair suitor one of his sons; but just as the marriage was about to be celebrated King Ay seized the throne of Egypt and the hapless queen was banished.

Owed Kingship to Queen.

History and archaeology fail to tell the fate of Queen Ankhs-Amen. She seems to have entirely disappeared from view after King Ay usurped the throne. It is known only that she was the real inheritor of the throne and that Tut-Ankh-Amen owed his kingship entirely to her rights of royal succession. It is presumed that Ay's motive in banishing her was to prevent a foreigner from ruling over Egypt, especially a hated Hittite.

American archaeologists, who gave the text of this amazing document to the Associated Press correspondent, regard the foregoing circumstances as one of the most dramatic revelations in present-day knowledge of Egyptian history. The Hittite narrative, they say, makes it clear that Tut-Ankh-Amen did not have progeny to continue his flourishing reign. It also makes it extremely unlikely, they add, that the body of Queen Ankhs-Amen will be found in the royal necropolis.

Denies Buying Sermons; Is Suing for Damages

Mansfield Centre, Conn.—This village of 350 souls is stirred over the slander suit Rev. Harold W. Tillinghast has brought against Deacon Archibald W. Buchanan, Sr., of the Mansfield Centre Congregational church. Rev. Mr. Tillinghast is the former pastor of the church. Deacon Buchanan is superintendent of the Sunday school and teacher of the Bible class.

Pastor Tillinghast says Deacon Buchanan told the Bible class the pastor was in the habit of buying the sermons he delivered Sundays. Consequently, he claims, his reputation as a preacher has been damaged and has filed suit against the deacon for $10,000.

Reverend Tillinghast states the sermons were written exclusively by himself.

When, as he alleges, the deacon expressed the view that they had not originated in Mr. Tillinghast's study the ensuing mental anguish on the part of the pastor was so great as to cause Mr. Tillinghast to resign two months ago.

The other day he caused the deacon's automobile to be attached, but a member of the deacon's household said Mr. Buchanan had got the automobile back.

MAUDE FEALY AT ELIZABETH

Maude Fealy, the well known legitimate actress is heading the Proctor Players Stock appearing at F. F. Proctor's East Jersey Street Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J. The Company was recently formed by F. F. Proctor, owner of the Proctor Circuit of Theatres located in New York and Jersey States, and will produce one play a week selecting all Broadway successes as the coming attractions. During the week of June 18th, Miss Fealey and the Proctor players will be seen in the "Love of Su Schong" and the week of June 25th in "Cappy Ricks" taken from the story by that name which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Miss Fealy comes direct from a year's work in stock in Newark, N. J. at the City theatre, where she headed her own company and has become a popular idol with the women patrons of that theatre. During the year this versatile star appeared in over fifty plays, including Al Wood's new play — "All Front and No Back" also taken from the Saturday Evening Post story by that name, and Miss Fealy also produced and appeared in "Quicksands" belonging to David Bleasoo and written by Jean Archibald. This charming, delightful actress, always sure of herself and capable of an intelligent interpretation of any role, was a leading lady at fourteen and appeared in London in support of Sir Henry Irving, succeeding Miss Ellen Terry. Those who a little later were privileged to see this dainty child actress support William Gillette, Robert Hillard and William Collier, will always remember the heart appeal of her characterizations made to them. Miss Fealey, has been surrounded by fifteen Broadway players, including Mr. Milton Byron.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS SAY

LAY IN YOUR WINTER COAL

No telling what may happen in the coal market. Better lay in your winter coal during the summer. There is sure to be some cold weather during the winter months and meanwhile the miners may all be on strike. Prices are high and coal looks mighty expensive, but it will be far more costly to be caught next winter without a coal supply. This for your own benefit as well as for the benefit of the coal dealer who will be greatly pestered later on by many people who left it until the last minute to order their coal. And, by the way, if you have a steam or hot water boiler, use soft coal; it is easy to get used to and it will save you money.—The Freehold Transcript.

Whenever you complain about the mistakes of the postoffice department ask yourself if you are 95 per cent. perfect in your work. The minimum efficiency demanded of those who handle the mails is 95 per cent. The average accuracy of the vast majority of postal employees, however, is very much above the minimum. Quite recently, for example, the Newark postoffice made ten mistakes in handling 1,000,000 pieces of mail. Newark postal employees handle on an average of 500,000 pieces of mail a day. It is not believed that any organization in the United States can show as high a record for accuracy of work performed as the postoffice department.—Ocean Grove Times.

THE THIRST FOR EDUCATION

The thirst for education is not new to this age, nor has the old thirst, handed down through the centuries, lost anything in the lust for pleasure and the hunt for dollars as lusts and hunts are prosecuted in these vigorous times. The news of the day carries a story of a mother and son who graduating from college in the same class. This is most unusual, and even without the details it is not difficult to picture the life of the woman, shorn in its early days of the opportunities to go through college, but never forsaking the ambition during the years that it took to build up the modest fortune that makes possible a college course for two.

What a wonderful thing it has been for mother to have gone through college with her own boy! Maybe the lad may have lost some of the glamor of the real college spirit; he may have been the object of much jesting; but it's a great world that makes possible just such an opportunity for a mother.

And more power to her who, having brought up a son, still has the youthful spirit and joy of learning! It's wonderful to see women grow old youthfully; it's fine to see women retain their ambition to do things in the world. Women who bury themselves in their homes lose a lot of the good things of the world that should not be lost. Bringing up a family is the one real thing that every real woman should do, but it is not the only thing a woman should do.—The Metuchen Recorder.

BRIDGING THE GAP OF WASTE

Each day it becomes more evident that capital and labor must gain more enlightened knowledge of the effect of their operations before the mass of the people in this country arrive at a state of industrial peace and reasonable comfort. Certainly the present relationship does not work out and there are abundant evidences of abuses on both sides.

The high wage for the honest day of work is the goal to be sought. The high cost of labor, because of inefficiency in management or plain loafing on the job never will accomplish it. When the railroads were taken over labor was sharply classified. Piece work was abolished. Each man was fitted exactly into his niche. The result was heavy increase in labor cost for minimum production. To open the door of a locomotive required the services of two men. To remove a blower pipe two others were employed while to remove the tip a machinist and his helper were used.

Superficial thinking labor leaders were quick to grasp this opportunity to fix a still firmer grip on the control of manufacturing operations. Living costs naturally advance with labor costs.

Capital would like to see the means of production further standardized mechanistically, but it balks when standardization is applied to labor. Seemingly labor must remain flexible. An honest day's work must be given, and at the same time an end must come to the theoretical vaporizing of men who figure the cost of bare necessities of life a living wage.

We must come to see the difference between living and existing.—The Avenel Bulletin.

Lessons From Rain.

When an inch of rain falls on an area the size, say of Pennsylvania, how much water is that?

Do not bother to calculate it; we did it. And it figures out the very tidy little total of 3,282,000,000 tons of pure, distilled water. Every ounce of it was drawn up from the oceans, transported without charge across plains and mountains, and deposited gently where needed. He is ungrateful who complains of the occasional perversity of the weather and the rainfall, and blind indeed who cannot see in those vast, silent movements of winds and water the finger of a living God.—Farm Journal.

Plans of The Railroads For Greater Public Service

The Hall Mark

"Anticipating the great volume of freight traffic in their history this year, the railroads have adopted a concerted policy and intensive working program to enable them to meet the growing transportation needs of the country.

"In full realization of necessity for the greatest improvement and expansion possible of the country's transportation facilities to meet the growing demands of commerce, the railroads have authorized, since January 1, 1922, for cars, locomotives, trackage and other facilities, the expenditure of $1,540,000,000, of which $440,000,000 actually was expended during 1922.

"The railroads are raising this enormous amount of additional capital largely through borrowed money on the abiding faith in the fairness of the American people, and reliance on continuance of the policy announced in the Transportation Act of 1920, as a measure of reasonable protection to investment in railroad property.

"From January 1, 1922, to March 15, 1923, the railroads purchased 223,616 new freight cars. Of these, 117,280 have been delivered and in service. The railroads during that time purchased 4,219 new locomotives. Of that number 2,106 have already been placed in service.

"The railroads confidently look forward to the successful movement of the largest volume of traffic in the history of the country and pledge their best efforts to that end."

—From a joint statement by the Association of Railway Executives and the American Railway Association.

WHAT YOUR FRIENDSHIP MEANS

We want your friendly co-operation. It means much to the railroads, equally as much to the public. Our interests are identical, with a common purpose working towards a common end—the best possible transportation service.

TO OUR GRADUATE FRIENDS
Graduation exercises mark for you a distinct parting of the ways. Henceforth your paths will lay along very different lines. To some of you they will lead you onward in your pursuit of knowledge, to others it will mean the actual application of the knowledge you have gained in your school training, to the stern problems of industrial life. In the baccalaureate sermon, and in the address at the Commencement exercises you have received admonitions as to the principles it will be wise for you to lay down as the foundation stones upon which you may well build the superstructure of your future career. To the moral and religious exhortations you have listened to, the "Citizen" has nothing to add. It is ours simply to wish you well. In the separations that will come, we will miss your frequent visits, and the kindly smiles we have noted so often. The home town, and the familiar paths, and friendly associations will continue to hold a warm place in your affections. You will be interested in learning of the progress of events. You will want the "Citizen" to follow you into your new fields of endeavor. It will have a home interest for you. We shall be as glad to hear from you personally, as you will be pleased to cull the pages of the home paper in search of information in respect to names and incidents with which you have been so long identified. As in the past, so in the future, we shall try to make our weekly issues of increasing interest, and we trust that it will be our pleasure to note from time to time your upward steps in the path of progress and honor. May the joyous associations of the past be but the introduction to a wider, happier, and a very useful career before you.

PARALLEL ROAD NEEDED WITH FERRY ASSISTANCE
Only a few minutes of personal observation at the right time, by the State and the County authorities, would suffice to convince them of the imperative need of prompt relief from the traffic congestion in this city during the week ends. A parallel road, with freedom from grade crossing hindrances and dangers, is a crying necessity. Simply dividing the traffic and sending it through the various streets of this city could be of no material advantage. So long as the congested line stretches from the Morgan draw to the Perth Amboy State bridge, all distributed traffic would meet again on Main street, and unite the congestion again, and all cars from that point would be stalled just as they are now. So long as present facilities are not more than equal to half the requirements, nothing short of a parallel road would effectively relieve the situation, together with the relief expected from the Jersey Coast Ferry facilities. The sooner this situation is earnestly faced, and effective steps are taken to this end, the better for all concerned.

It is unfortunate that some local truck owners have not devised a better means of protecting their trucks over night. The use of public thoroughfares for garage purposes has become the source of annoyance to neighbors, and this condition is particularly noticeable on Church street, a narrow thoroughfare that not only will permit other cars to pass while trucks are parked in the streets, but one where residences are in such close proximity to the trucks that there is danger from fire, as trucks are sometimes left standing when filled with combustible material. The trucks are often started during the night, disturbing the rest of those unfortunate enough to live near the places that are used for the parking of the machines.

Driving a motor car between this city and Millers Corner under the present condition of the road in Sayreville township, is not child's play, as some of our local drivers can fully assure us. Open ditches are as provoking as are the telephone poles.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR DANCE
Everything is progressing nicely for the dance to be given by the Rosary Society on Friday evening, June 29th, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Kattigan and Mrs. John J. Scully, promoters, for the benefit of the new Convent Chapel Altar. A good time is assured all and the music of the Society Synchopators needs no introduction, and the committee is making a great effort to assure all an evening of pleasure. Dainty refreshments will be served. The following is a list of patronesses:

ODDS AND ENDS
All members of Progressive Fire Company are requested to meet at the fire house Monday evening for fire drill. The South Amboy Gun Club will hold a shoot on the Yacht Club grounds today, (Saturday) at 2:30 P. M. Many South Amboyans are in Asbury Park today attending the Elks Convention. On Wednesday and Thursday many cars decorated in the Elks' colors passed through South Amboy on the way to the seashore. Now that lights again shine in the windows of the late Coakley and Sullivan store on Broadway, that building is adding its share to the life and activity of that historic corner. This Sunday in the First Methodist Episcopal Church will be known as the Anniversary Birthday Sunday when everyone places in an envelope a penny for each year they are old and then gives it in to the Church. Advertise in The Citizen.

Forty-one appeals have been filed by taxpayers of South Amboy with the County Board of Taxation, according to Secretary Frank Deiner. The property owners who have made protests against their assessments have been notified to appear before the Board at the City Hall on Monday next. Announcement has been made by the United States Civil Service Commission of examination for Postmaster at South Amboy to succeed the present Postmaster, James Rea, whose term expires September 30th. Applications are to be filed with the commission prior to July 17th.

LEGION ACTIVITIES

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

Disabled men, who because of financial considerations, have been unable to accept vocational training under Section 3 of the original Sweet Bill, providing training but no pay, have not forfeited their rights to training. If their disability increases so as to place them under a Section 2 rating, which allows base pay with training.

This broad interpretation of the law has been announced by the Legal Division of the Veterans' Bureau, after representations of the unfairness of the previous ruling had been made by Joe Sparks, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion.

Mr. Sparks pointed out that many men who had been awarded vocational training under the provisions of Section 3, had been unable to take up the work on account of financial conditions. The previous interpretation provided that a veteran forfeited his right to training in the event that he did not accept it within one year after the award, barring many applicants from a vocational education. In addition, many veterans whose rights have already expired will be made eligible under Section 2 of the law, by the recent decision, as their disability has increased.

Section 2 of the law provides a base pay of $80 per month, with allowances for dependents, the payment of which does not effect payment of any compensation the veteran may be receiving, in addition to training.

The decision was handed down by William Wolfe Smith, General Counsel of the Legal Division of the Veterans' Bureau.

Killings, Mont.—Members of the American Legion recently acted as pall bearers at the funeral of Curly, Crow scout, last survivor of the Custer Massacre in 1876, when the scout was buried on the Crow Indian reservation. Curly brought first news of the tragic battle on the Little Ben Horn to the outside, after General Custer and his band had been surrounded by the Indians.

Sixty-eight years old, he was accustomed to outdoor life and practices of the Indians, but was beset by an illness which his primitive methods failed to conquer.

In addition to the legion men, who acted as a funeral escort and gave military honors to the dead scout, government officials and employees attended the obsequies. Curly's widow will receive an annuity from the government in recognition of her husband's services in the Indian wars.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Rhode Island and Delaware, the smallest states in area in the Union, lead all other states in contributions to the fund which the American Legion is raising to provide for the permanent annual decoration of all graves of overseas dead, according to Robert F. Tyndall, legion national treasurer.

The legion has received more than $100,000 in contributions to the graves endowment fund. Donations continue to arrive at national headquarters from posts which have conducted campaigns in connection with the observance of Memorial Day. The national campaign will close when the sum of $200,000 has been raised. Attainment of this quota will remove any further necessity for appeals for funds to decorate overseas graves during the coming years, according to legion officials.

It is proposed by certain members of the American Legion that the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, former president, become a national holiday. This sentiment was expressed in a recent resolution adopted by Masonic Post of the American Legion in Chicago, which memorialized President Harding and Illinois members of Congress, seeking recognition of the date. Roosevelt's birthday is October 27, and the legion men seek the commemoration of the anniversary "to respect the greatest American of the twentieth century."

When Hazel Perry, 13, lost her life in an attempt to save her three-year-old brother from death under the wheels of a speeding train in Oliver, Pa., recently she was paid signal honor by American Legion members and Boy Scouts. The girl and her brother were passengers in an automobile stalled on the tracks. As the train approached, she threw her little brother to safety, but lost her own life. At her funeral, an American Legion firing squad and a bugler gave full military rites for the heroine.

Due to the efforts of American Legion members, Minnesota veterans are enabled to borrow two-

And now they are addressing letters by electricity—the practical use of Jove's thunder bolts. What next?

That was a mighty spark which flashed from Benjamin Franklin's knuckle to his kite-string in that historic storm. That little spark introduced the world to the use of electric energy. The radiations of that little flash are ever extending, and goodness only knows where they will fetch up.

If the shades of the departed haunt the scenes of their earthly pilgrimage, Franklin's spirit is quite at home in this vicinity, as the journey from New York to Philadelphia may almost be described as his regular beat, since the First Citizen of Philadelphia was much in demand in both cities. If his astral form has visited Park Place, Newark, lately and has floated, soared, seeped or penetrated (according to the way a shade moves) into the third floor back of the Public Service Terminal, his ectoplasmic eyes must have popped out of his spiritual head.

Franklin's shade would have seen twenty-two machines running by electrical energy and assisted in their work by thirty-two women and three men, constituting the equipment and the operating force of the Addressograph Department, where every month the gas and electric bills sent out to customers all over the State are addressed by machine. The machines are a cross between the typewriter and the Linotype machine, which sets the type used in newspapers.

In Public Service territory there are 927,300 gas and electric meters and there is a bill each month for every meter. In fact, each bill requires three impressions of address—the main, or customer's portion, the cashier's and the collector's portions. This means, every month, 2,781,900 impressions made by the machines in the Addressograph Department. In addition, there is printed each month in this department the gas meter indexing sheet requiring about 583,800 impressions. Also, there are a number of special mailing lists for general office use, which altogether brings the number of impressions monthly to about 3,400,000.

The machines are of three kinds. There is the graphotype, which embosses on a zinc composition plate the customer's name and address. Then there is the automatic printing machine, through which are fed the actual bills and upon which the plates, 150 at a time, are impressed. The listing machine prints the sheets for indexing of gas meters.

Three of the total appraised value on approved farm lands, up to $3,000, under the state Rural Credit Act. The feature of the bill which provides this privilege for veterans was supported by the legion.

Sister's Comment

Mother was entertaining a guest who hadn't called for several months when in walked Myrtle and Bobby. "Well," exclaimed the lady, "there's little Myrtle looking the same as ever, but I declare, I'd hardly recognize Bobby!" "Course not," flashed Myrtle, "him has just had his face washed."

Long Ski Slide

The longest ski-alide in the world is in Oberhof, Thuringia. It is 60 miles in length and the course is laid out on an old road winding through the hills of the Thuringian forest.

AUTOMATIC PRINTING MACHINES

The work of the thirty-five employees is divided in this way: There is a head printer with thirteen printers under him; a head graphotype operator with twelve others; six table workers, who do the sorting, proof-reading and filing; a shipping clerk and a stenographer. There is, of course, a man in charge of the department. The workers become adept in the operation of the machines, their hands manipulating the keys of the graphotype with the same dexterity employed by a skillful typist.

There are a number of processes in the operation of the Addressograph department. First, when a new customer applies for service, gas or electric, a printed order goes to the book-keeping department of the local commercial office, where the account is entered in the ledger. The order then goes to the Addressograph Department at the home office, where the customer's name and address are set up on the graphotype plate. This plate is in three parts, one for the customer's name, another for his address, the third for the meter number and ledger folio. The operation of the graphotype is similar to that of a typewriter. It has a keyboard, and the striking of a key causes a metal cylinder to go around so that a steel die of the letter desired is thrown into position and is brought down with force on the plate, thus embossing it.

After the plate is embossed it is proof-read for errors and filed in a steel cabinet, which contains 133 drawers, each drawer containing 150 plates. The plate is filed in geographical order, so that all the plates of customers in a certain district of a municipality may be found together. Then the plates and the bills go to the automatic printing machine. The

Girl Picks Husband on Toss of a Coin

Cape Town.—A young English girl came out to South Africa recently to marry her fiancé, but on arrival decided that she did not love him and decided to return home on the next ship.

The other 150 unmarried Englishmen in Cape St. Vincent persuaded her to allow them to spin a coin, and if she guessed wrong she was to remain and marry one of them. If she won she was to depart. The girl accepted the challenge and lost. She later selected a man from among the 150 and married him. Her former fiancé was best man.

FABRICS—

LINIT is ready INSTANTLY
even in COLD WATER

STARCH that has to be boiled before it is used sometimes forms lumps, "cakes" on fine fabrics. This causes the iron to stick while you are ironing—and makes a lot of extra work and trouble.

Linit—the remarkable starch discovery—is made by an improved process that overcomes all this difficulty.

For your finer fabrics, Linit can be used even in cold water. Linit is always thin and free-running like water. This is the reason why it penetrates every thread of the fabric, preserves the material and resists wear.

Seattle Hospital Has Bear for a Patient

Ordinary routine at the City hospital, Seattle, Wash., was temporarily halted recently when a bear cub was brought in for treatment. The cub was but ten days old when brought to the hospital and sadly in need of sustenance. Baby Bruin, with its mother and another member of the family, had been scouting about for food near the city limits. The mother and second Bruin escaped when a Seattle policeman appeared on the scene, but Baby Bruin was taken captive. The little bear was christened "Scoop" and is being nourished on a bottle, now showing signs of vast improvement.

Stars Furnish Proof of Einstein's Theory

Toronto.—Observations made at Wallal, on the northwest coast of Australia, during a complete eclipse of the sun on September 21 by Toronto scientists provide evidence "distinctly favorable" to the Einstein theory of relativity. C. A. Chant, professor of astronomy at the University of Toronto, declared.

Einstein, Professor Chant said, had predicted that if his theory was correct, the stars, when photographed with the sun apparently in their midst, would show a displacement outward from the sun, as compared with the positions of the same stars when the sun was absent from their portion of the heavens. Two photographs of the eclipse condition were obtained at Wallal, while photographs of the normal condition were taken at night in June with the same camera from a position on the island of Tahiti.

"Over thirty stars were recognized on the plates, but only twenty-three were submitted to measurement, and eight of these were later rejected," Professor Chant said. "Of the remaining fifteen, only four were reasonably near the sun's position. The actual displacement on the plate is extremely small, ranging from about one-fifteenth hundredth to one-eight-thousandth part of an inch.

"The fact that there is displacement is quite certain, and its amount appears approximately that predicted by Einstein's theory."

Travels 35,000 Miles in Pursuit of Bride

New York.—A nine-year courtship, during which the man traveled more than 30,000 miles, culminated here when James Jolley, London civil engineer and actor, married Miss Jeanette Sherwin, star in a Broadway play, a few hours after he arrived from England.

Miss Sherwin, who is a daughter of Mme. Amy Sherwin, Australian prima donna, first met Jolley in 1914 in England. When she left for South Africa Jolley gave up his job and followed her there. They met at Johannesburg and he got an engagement in her company. He proposed, but without success. Later they went to India and again he proposed. "This time the answer was 'yes,'" and the engagement ring was made at a bazaar at Delhi.

While the company was touring China and Japan the war broke out and Jolley enlisted. He became a lieutenant. Then came a false report that he had been killed in action. They met again in London, but Miss Sherwin refused to marry him at once, saying she wanted to distinguish herself on the stage.

Just recently she decided that she had reached the point in her career where she could marry. When Jolley, who meanwhile had been made stage manager of a London production, received the news he cabled from Suez that he would sail on the first boat.

DEFIED THE TOUCH OF TIME

Sarah Bernhardt's Remark to Ellen Terry Reveals Character of Great French Actress.

On an evening some twenty-five years ago Mme. Sarah Bernhardt was the guest of Sir Henry Irving at one of those intimate little supper parties in the Beefsteak room of the Lyceum theater over which he loved to preside. Comyns Carr writes in the London Times. The English actor was socially always at his best when his day's work was done, and his gracious hospitality provoked in those he gathered around his table a sense of ease and intimacy that was scarcely to be matched in any other of the bohemian entertainments of the time. During her repeated visits to England Mme. Bernhardt was constantly to be counted among his guests; and in the art of Sir Henry Irving, which she never wearied of praising, she found, I think, that note of strong personality which is also the surviving characteristic of all her own work in the theater. On that particular occasion, as I remember, our talk concerned itself with the age at which some of the great actors of the past had produced their finest effects; when on a sudden Mme. Bernhardt, leaning across the table toward Miss Ellen Terry, exclaimed in her broken English, which lost nothing of force from its imperfection. "My dear, there are two peoples in this world which shall never be old—you and me."

RUSHED TO GOAT'S DEFENSE

Small Boy's Argument Would Have to Be Admitted Both Logical and Reasonable.

David's grandpa, who lived in the country, sent him a pet goat recently. David's family was 100 per cent against the goat, but grandpa insisted that the boy ought to have a pet, and, of course, David was strong for the idea.

Mother fussed a lot about the animal, but David and the goat got through the first week without being kicked out of the house and home, and everything had about quieted down. Then one day the goat got on a rampage. Before he was discovered he had devoured a tablecloth, dad's shoe rag, a sack of clothespins and sister Nellie's favorite mail-order catalogue.

"David, this is absolutely the limit!" mother exclaimed. "You've got to get rid of that goat, and get rid of him now! Do you think I can have that animal around here eating up the clothes and the furniture?"

"Gee whiz!" David exclaimed. "Don't you suppose a goat ever gets hungry?"

Couldn't Understand.
Recently a member of the police department was sued for divorce. A man was sent to police headquarters to serve the papers on him. The man, unfortunately, was directed to the sergeant's desk and mistaking the sergeant for the defendant in the suit, started to read the papers without mentioning the defendant's name.

The desk sergeant listened patiently. Gradually his mouth drooped, a sorrowful expression came into his eyes and he appeared dejected.

"I can't understand that," he said. "I was only married last December. I just rented a new house and bought some new furniture and two tons of coal. Gosh, she appeared cheerful and happy when I left this morning. I don't see what's the matter."

A few minutes later the mistake was noticed and the desk sergeant showed his relief, and the man with the papers went in search of the defendant.—Indianapolis News.

Shark That Swam in Kansas Sea.

Agassizodus variabilis, a shark from Kansas, will soon have his once wicked teeth brought to foodless rest in the National museum. Dr. George P. Merrill, curator of geology, has received as a gift from Dr. Frank Springer the paleontological collections of the late Orestes St. John which contained the fossil remains of this unique fish, which chased its prey through a Kansas sea many million years ago.

The cartilaginous body of the shark disintegrated, but a complete set of teeth, such as has never been found elsewhere, remained in the coal measures of Kansas to tell his story. Doctor St. John gave the name Agassizodus to his find in honor of the famous Harvard naturalist, Louis Agassiz, who was his teacher.

ED WALSH DOES WELL AS WHITE SOX COACH

Has Just the Temperament Needed as Gleason's Aid in Teaching Young Stars.

Ed Walsh is making good on his job as coach of the White Sox. When the Moose returned to his old boss, C. A. Comiskey, this spring, after an absence of ten years, many were the surmises as to what the great spitball pitcher of other days would do as aid to Kid Gleason.

Some fear was expressed that Big Ed would do too much strutting and too little else, but Walsh was smart enough to know that if he made a success in the new role of coach he would have to forget how big a factor he was on the diamond fifteen years ago. The big fellow, as fine a looking athlete today as he ever was, took his new job seriously, and learning Gleason's system after a few pointers from the Kid, buckled down to business and taught the young pitchers what he knew from the moment the battery men arrived at camp. He has been keeping up this instruction ever since.

Walsh has gone on hikes with the pitchers, catchers and fielders over rough country roads, through fields and over fences and has always set the pace. He loves the open, loves the company of young fellows and above all he is a bug on baseball. But let some one in a party of fans or the players themselves around the hotel at night ask Walsh something about himself and his unrequited record for games won in a single season and he will turn the conversation into other channels. "Forget it," is his only warning that the past, so far as he is concerned, is dead and buried.

Cy Williams Is Most Managed Ball Player

Fred (Cy) Williams, lanky outfielder of the Phillies, can lay claim to the distinction of being the "most managed" ball player in the major leagues. Cy is a quiet player, who needs little managing, but he has had plenty and he probably knows more different systems of play than any other major leaguer. In a few weeks Cy will be starting his twelfth season in the National league and he will start it by greeting his twelfth manager.

Frank Chance got Cy from Notre Dame for the Cubs in 1912 and Johnny Evers was his boss in 1913. In 1914 Hank O'Day managed the Cubs and Williams. In 1915 Roger Bresnahan was Cy's teacher and director. Then came Joe Tinker in 1916 and Fred Mitchell in 1917.

After working for six managers in as many seasons at Chicago, Williams figured in his only trade, being sent to the Phillies. Pat Moran was Cy's boss in 1918 and in the following years he took orders first from Jack Coombs and then from Cactus Cravath. In 1920 Cravath gave the orders and in 1921 Bill Donovan started, only to give way to Irving Wilhelm. It was Wilhelm through 1922 and now comes Fletcher. Williams has yet to start two successive seasons for the same manager.

Bob Fitzsimmons Got Goat of Jim Corbett

Jim Corbett put up a wonderful battle against Fitzsimmons at Carson City when he lost his heavyweight title to the latter in the fourteenth round. Fitzsimmons, however, went a long way toward winning that fight before the bell rang. Corbett was a high-strung individual, a fact with which the iron-nerved Fitzsimmons was well acquainted. During training Corbett and Fitzsimmons happened to meet while on the road. Bad blood had existed between them for some time, but Fitz good-naturedly extended his hand. Corbett flew into a rage and, putting his hand behind his back, snapped: "I'll shake hands with you after I've whipped you on St. Patrick's day!" "Then you'll never get the chance," smiled Fitz, proceeding on his way. Ugly remarks were passed in the parting, indicating that Fitz had Corbett's "goat."

Catcher Hargreaves Apt to Help Grimes

If Burleigh Grimes has a big season this year he may have Charlie Hargreaves, a young catcher, to thank. The splitter is the hardest delivery in baseball to handle. Any veteran catcher will tell you that. Not even the pitcher himself is sure of the direction the ball is going to take. According to Larry Sutton, Brooklyn scout who looked Hargreaves over in the minors, Hargreaves has little trouble stopping the weird heaves.

Charlie played with Pittsfield in the Eastern league last season before joining the Dodgers and in addition to catching good ball hit .302 in 140 games.

Catcher Perkins Sets Mark for Backstops

Until recent years, a catcher going through a game without a fielding chance was unusual, but Ralph Perkins of the Philadelphia Athletics set a mark for them all to beat by working in two successive games without a putout or an assist September 10-17, 1922, when the Athletics were on their last visit to Cleveland. On May 17, 1922, Perkins went through a 13-inning fray without a fielding chance.
