SOUTH AMBOY WOMAN'S CLUB ENJOYS FASHION SHOW HELD HERE YESTERDAY

Facilities Furnished Through Courtesy Of Reynolds Bros. Perth Amboy Store—Business Session Shows Need Of Only $40.00 More For Hospital Steps Railing

Members of the South Amboy Woman's Club witnessed a delightful style show in the high school auditorium yesterday afternoon, through the courtesy of Reynolds Bros., of Perth Amboy. The show was under the direction of Miss Mary Ryan, a buyer for the Perth Amboy store.

Styles varying from children's school dresses to ladies evening gowns were displayed on living models, interspersed with dances and recitations by little tots. The models displayed children's party dresses, coats, afternoon dresses, negligees, gloves, millinery and hand bags. The children's styles were displayed by Alice Miller and Clara Duseback, both of Perth Amboy. The older styles were displayed by Miss M. Hertz, and Miss Catherine Clark, employees at the Reynolds establishment.

The entertainment feature of the program was also presented by Reynolds Bros. and featured a number of little dancers from Miss Darling's dancing class of Perth Amboy. A toe dance by Jean Hoodson, of Woodbridge, aged four years, delighted the members present. Another dance, called "School Days" featured little Helen Miller, of Perth Amboy, and Anna Ryan, of Woodbridge. Miss Hazel Brogger, of Perth Amboy, was the accompanist at the piano for the dancers. A recitation, "The Jealous Wife" by Miss Catherine Murray also made a hit.

Mrs. Harold G. Hoffman, chairman of the civic committee reported that the sum of $147.00 was realized from the card party held at the City Hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 6th. It was also stated that the sum of $40. was still needed to build the railing on both sides of the steps at the approach to the local hospital. In an effort to raise this amount, Mrs. Hoffman announced that a bakery would be held on Thursday, November 17th, the regular meeting day for the club.

Mrs. Howard D. Littell, president, announced that anyone wishing to attend the all day session of the Third District Conference at Sea Girt next Wednesday, Oct. 26th, and did not drive a car should communicate with her and arrangements would be made for transportation. The session will start at 10:30 o'clock and the hostess club will serve tea and coffee. A box luncheon should be taken along by members who contemplate going.

The next meeting of the club will be held on November 3rd, at which time the legislative department, with Mrs. Tice as chairman, will have charge. Congressman Harold G. Hoffman will be the speaker. There will also be two other speakers, one representing the Republican party and the other the Democratic party. The hostesses will be Mrs. J. Tice and Mrs. M. Applegate.

"Y" NOW PLANNING ANNUAL DRIVE

For Members—Bowling Season Starts Off Well.

The annual membership drive of the local Y. M. C. A. will get under way on Monday, in an effort to secure new members and renewals. L. L. Steppard is chairman of the committee in charge of the drive. Other members are J. Leon Cozzens, Fred Lear, Eugene Thomas and William Cowan. Secretary E. A. Mell has been in communication with high officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad during the past week in an effort to ascertain just what the company's plan is in regard to having the "Y" move to the former residence of D. C. Chase on Broadway, with the necessary alterations to make it one of the best buildings of its kind in this vicinity. Mr. Mell has been advised that he may expect some definite word almost any day now.

Activities at the local association this year lead one to believe that it will experience one of the greatest years in its history. Last year, according to Mr. Mell, was one of the best ever enjoyed by the association. The bowling season is now getting under way and many teams have been organized to combat for the highest honors. The "Y" also offers recreation of many other kinds, and here one may find rest and reading rooms, billiards, games of all kinds and modern bath rooms.

COUNCIL ASKED TO "FIRE" FIREMAN

Council Also Gives Set Back to New Bus Lines.

As the rain beat dismally against the windows of the City Hall Tuesday night, the members of South Amboy's Common Council listened to City Clerk Disbrow reading a letter from Chief of the Fire Department, Michael Leonard. The contents of the letter, if anything, added to the uncomfortable feeling of the councilmen and the few citizens present. The burden of Chief Leonard's letter was that he had suspended the fireman for insubordination, apparently at a fire call, after a lengthy series of acts which had culminated in a threat to strike the writer. James Quinlan, the fireman in question, is perhaps the first fireman to be so reported to the governing body, and Chief Leonard asked the Council to confirm his action in dismissing the man from the department. Dispiritedly the councilmen voted to refer the request to one fire committee for investigation.

The session of the governing body lasted something like twenty minutes. A good bit of this time was taken up by routine, such as disposing of the minutes of previous meetings, reading reports of the city treasurer, overseer of the poor, etc. Some of what was consumed in a discussion of what to do to curb the speed of trucks on Raritan street in view of the street being a county road and the shortage of officers here.

The truck matter was brought to the fore by Councilman Neilltopp who appears to view with stern disapproval any fast moving motor vehicle, particularly a truck. He cited instances of trucks rushing down Raritan street, on which there is quite a down grade, and getting beyond the control of their drivers when the corner of Ridgeway avenue was reached, with resultant damage either to the curbing, if they hit it, or anxiety on the part of residents when the truck was going too fast to turn at all and instead ran on down the dirt road for some distance.

When a plea for an officer was made to Mayor Kvist, who was at the meeting, the Mayor promised to send an officer to the vicinity for a few hours occasionally during the times that the conditions complained of are reported to be worst. It is thought that a few arrests for speed violations will break up the practice.

Councilman at Large Malloy volunteered to get in touch with the Board of Freshholders and arrange for a sign to be erected expressly forbidding exceeding of the speed regulations along the street in question.

Councilman at Large Malloy brought up the bus question and read a section of an ordinance governing the matter of applications for bus permits as adopted several years ago and not since altered. This ordinance provides that applications for bus permits shall be made to the Chief of Police on forms prescribed by that official. Both the Public Service and the Marathon Bus Line have recently made application direct to the Council for permission to operate new bus lines here. They are now to be advised by the City Clerk to comply with the terms of the ordinance.

The Marathon Bus Line, it is understood, has manifested a willingness to meet the wishes of the council and operate on whatever route locally that the authorities may see fit to designate. The Public Service, on the other hand, does not appear to be quite so accommodating. They want to operate the new line on Broadway, Stevens avenue, Bordentown avenue and Main street only, leaving the upper parts of Bordentown avenue and Pine avenue without service. As far as that now provided by the trolleys. The Marathon line, however, is said to be willing to operate on Bordentown avenue through Roses Corner and on to Ernsdon, including a double-back trip on Pine avenue between Bordentown avenue and Portia street. The Public Service offer to operate its New Brunswick bound buses through Parker avenue and Portia street and down Pine avenue is not particularly acceptable to some members of the council, not to mention many of the residents of the streets mentioned.

On motion of Councilman Inman, the Public Service is to be directed to present application, separate from its bus permit application, for the abandonment of the trolley service here.

CHIEF GLEASON HUNTS WRITER

Of Threatening Letters Sent To First St. Family.

Chief of Police Thomas Gleason, is at work investigating the work of a poison pen writer, who has threatened a resident on First street with the burning down of their home unless it is vacated within a short time. The writer is not being taken seriously but an effort to learn the identity will be made and continued until it is found out.

Several letters, all of an interesting character, were sent to the First street resident. Interesting, because the name of the landlord was forged upon all but one. Demands were made for an increased rental, later for immediate possession, and lastly a demand to get out or be forced out with fire. The landlord was as much surprised over the letters as was his tenant, when they were presented to him. He denied all knowledge and urged the tenant to remain as long as he wished without fear of having their rent raised.

It is understood that the police have a suspicion of who is writing the letters, and a show down is expected within a short time.

HOFFMAN ON "LOS ANGELES"

Makes Trip Last Saturday Covering Third Congressional District

When the U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles passed over South Amboy last Saturday morning very few local people knew that a South Amboyman, Congressman Harold Hoffman, was a passenger in the giant aircraft. The dirigible left Lakewood at 9:30 in the morning and covered, practically the third congressional district. When it passed South Amboy shortly after 11 o'clock it was on its way to New York. A flight was made over the city of New York, followed by a return to Sandy Hook and along the coast to Atlantic City and Philadelphia. It had been planned to make the trip to Baltimore and Washington but adverse wind conditions prevented a longer flight.

Congressman Hoffman was enthusiastic about his trip. "Great" was the adjective he used to express his experience. He declared that this trip, his first in lighter than air craft, has convinced him of the commercial and military practicability of the dirigibles of this type. The Congressman said that he enjoyed this trip, because of its comfort and facilities, far more than previous aeroplane flights.

MASQUERADE DANCE HERE LAST NIGHT

Prizes Are Awarded At Protection Auxiliary Affair

The masquerade dance of the Ladies Auxiliary to Protection Engine Company held at the Bergen Hill fire house last night proved a success in every particular. Miss Madie Connors was chairlady of the affair and much of the success of the affair is due to her hard work in arranging the many details.

The music was furnished by Barry's Orchestra, of Perth Amboy. Gold piece prizes for waltzing were donated by the Ladies Auxiliary and first prize was won by Mrs. James Kelly and Mr. Philip Leonard, second prize going to Mrs. Loretta Crowe and Mr. Joseph Stanton. There were three costume prizes, for the most comical, the prettiest and the most original. These prizes were donated by M. Stanton and the Tuscon Baseball Club. The prize for the most comical outfit went to Mrs. James Kelly; the prize for the prettiest to Mrs. Sally Quinlan, and that for the most original to Mrs. Catherine Olsen, of Augusta street.

PLANE FORCED DOWN AT RUNYON SCHOOL WINDOWS ARE BROKEN

Wings Damaged As Machine Strikes Fresh Plowed Field.

A plane, said to belong to the "World's First Flying Orchestra," made a forced landing in a field belonging to William Campbell in Runyon on Wednesday night, badly damaging both wings of the plane. The aviator from the air viewed the field as being hard ground but upon making the landing found out that the field had just been plowed, causing the damage to the plane. The machine is one of the Waco make, with No. 2864 marked on it.

Many people from this city viewed the plane on Wednesday night and some took home a small part of the wings as souvenirs. It was first rumored about the city that a mail plane had made a forced landing at Runyon. The plane is now resting in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell at Runyon where it is being dismantled.

STOLEN CARS REPORTED

There seems to have been an epidemic of stolen cars in this vicinity for the past few days. Police headquarters here have received information from nearby places of the theft of a Ford coupe from Perth Amboy on Tuesday; of an Essex coach from Perth Amboy on Thursday; and of a Lincoln sedan from South River on Thursday. The last mentioned car belonged to Joseph Lehrer, of the Morgan Lumber Company.

MISS IRENE MEINZER MARRIED NEXT TUESDAY

Five hundred enthusiastic men and women, gathered at the Hotel Pines, Metuchen, on Wednesday night, cheered Senator Morgan F. Larson not only in his 1927 campaign for reelection to the New Jersey Legislature, but hailed him as "the next Governor" of the State. From all parts of the state prominent men and women, among them four fellow members of the Senate, pledged him their loyalty and urged the people of Middlesex County to give him a record-breaking vote that will demonstrate his popularity in his home district.

All Republican candidates for county office, with the exception of Assemblyman Thomas Hanson, who is in Europe, were present at the dinner, which was tendered to the Republican county committee men and women, and to Republican officials of the county.

The affair was declared to be one of the finest and most enthusiastic gatherings ever held in Middlesex County, and it was notable not only in the spontaneity of its tribute to Larson, but because every speaker refrained from making attacks upon his Democratic opponent F. M. P. Pearse. When called upon to speak Senator Larson said: "It is not necessary to make attacks upon my opponent. I am willing to stand upon my record. The Republican Party has always been willing to talk about its own candidates, rather than to 'stick a knife' in the back of their opponents. When it becomes necessary to indulge in mud-slinging, I want to be counted out."

Senator Larson was hailed as one of the outstanding legislators of New Jersey. As one of the State's leading engineers it was pointed out, he has rendered yeoman service in drafting New Jersey's road program. In addition to this his professional experience has been found valuable to the state in its attempts to solve the water supply problems, and in other big projects of like nature. Senator Clarence Case, of Somerset County, attested to his strong personal friendship with Senator Larson and said: "Certainly the county of Middlesex, favored as it has been with legislation that has meant much for its progress and development, would never think of sending a Democratic Senator to Trenton to sit in a hopeless minority of three or four and find itself without the strong representation it has had in the past." He also characterized Senator Larson as a man of strength and fortitude, well worthy to be not only Senator from New Jersey, but Governor of the State.

Senator A. Crozier Reeves, of Mercer, paid a warm tribute to the Middlesex man, and wound up his talk by declaring, "You don't have to worry." (Continued on page eight)

Last Friday night or early Saturday morning, thirteen windows were broken on the Fourth street side of School No. 2 by large stones thrown by some mischievous person or persons, and also did some damage to the desks which they struck.

The police were notified by Superintendent of Schools O. O. Barr on discovery of the damage Saturday morning. The Board of Education is offering a reward of one hundred dollars for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty ones.

TO BUILD CULVERT THROUGH EULNER ST.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Freshholders held in New Brunswick yesterday afternoon, plans and specifications were approved for the reconstruction of the culvert that runs through Euler street, in the Mechanicsville section of the city. The resolution introduced by Director William S. Dey, of this city, calls for the advertisement of bids for doing the work at once.

Mrs. Thomas Wortley and daughter Helen, of Second street, were New York City visitors last Tuesday.

KELLEY-PARKER
NUPTIAL EVENTBeautiful and Elaborate Wedding at St. Mary's Last Saturday.

At ten thirty o'clock last Saturday morning, St. Mary's church was the scene of one of the most beautiful weddings that have taken place in this city in many years, when Miss Helen Marie Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Parker, of Henry s., became the bride of Francis Benedict Kelley, of New Canaan Conn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Lannary, followed by a solemn nuptial mass. In the sanctuary during the services were Rev. Father Brody, of Plainfield, Rev. Mathias Boylan, of Rahway, and Rev. Joseph A. Ryan, of Perth Amboy.

The mass was sung by the children's choir of St. Mary's high school with Miss Margaret Kerwin, the organist of the church, in charge, and prior to the ceremony there was a half hour musical program, presented by Miss Kerwin at the organ, Miss Elizabeth Blewitt, of Newark, harp; John J. Ryan, Jr., violin; and Francis P. Coan, soloist. Master Richard Ryan, a cousin of the bride, assisted at the mass.

The musical program at the church was as follows:

Religious march, harp, violin, organ. Solo, "At Dawning," Francis P. Coan. "Largo," harp, violin, organ. Violin solo, "The Swan," John J. Ryan. Organ solo, "Caulkins," Miss Margaret Kerwin. "Melodie," harp, violin, organ. Harp solo, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," Miss Elizabeth Blewitt. Solo, "I Love You Truly," Mr. Coan. Bridal chorus, "Lohengren's Wedding March," harp, violin, organ.

Following the wedding ceremony Mr. Coan sang, "O Promise Me" and his next number following the mass was Gounod's "Ave Maria." During the communion hour Miss Blewitt at the harp played "Chanson."

The maid of honor was Miss Helen M. Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ryan, of Woodbridge. The bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn Kelly, a sister of the groom, Miss Elizabeth Birmingham, and Mrs. Robert P. Chapman, of this city, Miss Marion Quinn, of Carteret, Miss Julia Kink, of Woodbridge, and Mrs. D. Brazzell Parker, of New Brunswick. The flower girl was little Miss Kathryn Parker, sister of the bride.

The bride wore a period gown of old ivory satin, the skirt of which was trimmed in white velvet and pearl medallions. The gown had long sleeves and a full court train. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a rose point cap which was held in place with clusters of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum diamond pendant and a platinum wrist watch. The bride received from her father a string of pearls.

The maid of honor wore a Lanvin gown of jade green with hat and slippers to match and carried a sheaf of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were all attired alike in Paton frocks of cornflower chiffon, wore brown velvet picture hats and brown suede pumps and carried sheaves of bronze chrysanthemums.

The best man was John Kelley, a brother of the groom. The ushers were Henry and Lawrence Kelley, brothers of the groom, Charles Kelly, a cousin, Dr. Joseph Millard and Leo Karl, a brother-in-law of Mr. Kelley.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Seacroft Inn, attended by about two hundred guests. Music for dancing was furnished by Mrs. Regina McGovern's Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley are now enjoying an extended tour and on their return will reside in Albany, N. Y., where Mr. Kelley holds a responsibility with the Delaware and Hudson Railroad. Mrs. Kelley's traveling costume was a Paton frock of rose beige with a Claire Roboux bit of beige and brown and pumps of brown alligator skin. Her coat was of tan broadcloth with badger collar.

CAMPAIGN IN SO. AMBOY

The one hand fearing to oppose the leader of his party and the corporations. On the other hand afraid to expose his position to his constituents. Present and not voting. Present and not voting while the people are being plundered under his very nose. Present and not voting—the alibi of every politician who is afraid to stand by his convictions. Present and not voting—worse, far worse than a vote in the affirmative. I would not paraphrase Holy Writ, yet we all know that those who are not for us must be counted as against us.

"Again—the gasoline tax may be a good measure. It may provide funds to extend our great highway system and keep it in repair. Of course it is a new tax, and being a new tax it is an added tax. It is an additional temptation to extravagance. Every new tax is. It is a new burden no matter whom it hits. But whom does it exempt? The answer to this question discloses where the iniquity lies. It exempts auto buses. Why? There is only one reason—because ninety per cent of the buses are owned and controlled by Public Service. The same arguments which induced the Republican majority to relieve Public Service of its paving obligations, induced them to exempt Public Service buses. Where is the justice and where is the justification and what part did my opponent play in this drama—and the drama has no comedy in it for the citizen it is a tragedy. Here is the record. How does it read?

"The Bill was House Bill 19. It passed the Senate March 24th and Senator Larson voted "Yes." The Governor vetoed the bill and on April 1st it was passed over the Governor's veto, Senator Larson again voting "Yes." Time forbids further illustrations tonight.

"We seek the suffrage of the people and the right to serve them. We only ask that the voters of this county give us the opportunity to demonstrate our worthiness and to test our sincerity.

"This is not a personal fight. It is the people against strongly entrenched selfish interests. Already the opposition is alarmed. They see the handwriting on the wall. They realize that the people are requiring an accounting.

"The importation of foreign shock troops has been announced. State Senators from far and near have received an S. O. S. to come to the rescue. United States Senators and Cabinet Officers will probably follow. Bring them on. Our cause is just. The record speaks for itself. Right will prevail and the people will win."

MUSIC IN THE HOME

by
EDWIN BENT
Director

Edwin Bent Conservatory of Musical
Art, Throughout New Jersey

(Editor's Note—This is the sixth in the series of special articles that throw light on many phases of musical topics that are of interest to our readers. Other topic suggestions may be mailed to this newspaper or direct to the Edwin Bent Conservatory of Musical Art at New Brunswick, N. J.)

Skilled agriculturists tell us that different kinds of soils are relatively fertile in varying degrees to the growing of different fruits and vegetables. The horticulturist finds it necessary to study minutely and technically the soil he is given to cultivate and much time, skill and effort is spent in bringing his particular plot of ground to the desired richness for producing the best quantity and quality of crop he desires to produce. The problems of the New England farmer and the rancher in California are vastly different. The difficulties of the Canadian grower and the plantation owner in the tropics vary greatly as a matter of fact, produce men in neighboring parts of the same State find that the varying soil conditions require that they approach their tasks in many different ways.

In the fields of mental cultivation many of the same problems present themselves. Different individuals are noted who have a particular aptitude and faculty in the mastery of separate branches of human activity. In the field of musical endeavor properly trained mental diagnosticians are able to choose from any group of youths those whose natural adaptation is favorable to the cultivation of acute musical judgments. The technical training of these talented young people can not begin too early in the matter of properly preparing them for their future musical successes. We will take for granted that their instruction is competent, and will consider what is known as a background for their musical progress.

We are told that different solutions will absorb certain percentages of various other substances. The human brain seems to have no such limitation. The saturation point never to have been reached. Every thought word and sound is a seed that when sown in the mind develops and grows in a most prolific manner. When a youth hears plenty of good music in his own home, even if he appears too young to properly absorb it, these many melodies and harmonies remain with him forever and on each repetition they become more a part of him. When some adult in the home plays or sings the best musical literature, or even when good phonograph records or properly selected radio programs are a part of the household activities, young people who are absorbing these early influences are establishing a background of musical culture that will bring them unlimited enjoyment and satisfactions in later years. Even when a large number of simple hymns and well-known folk melodies are made familiar to young people a fine beginning has already been made. There is hardly any excuse nowadays for anyone to be unable to distinguish between the "Doxology" and "Yankee Doodle." The phonograph, the radio and the increasing number of local concerts have done much to eliminate this misfortune. Even as recently as twenty-five years ago a great number of people could be found who were unable to carry a tune, but in the recent examination of a large group of young people chosen at random only one was found to be a monotone. The great variety of music that is now heard in nearly every home is accountable for this distinctive advance. Parents who encourage the presence of good music in any of the above forms are endowing their children with a fund of musical memories that will greatly enrich their future life. The worries of the world and the cares of the day soon fall away in the presence of the world's best masterpieces of the tonal art. Peace and contentment abide in the American home in proportion to the amount of good music that flourishes there. Folk tunes, hymns and simple melodies serve this purpose well and as an acquaintance is gradually gained with more highly developed art works, poise and mental balance rapidly increase. This influence in the home is one of the causes that stands beside religion and education in general in aiding the progress of the nation.

A NEW JERSEY INSTITUTION BACKED BY NATIONAL RESOURCES

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1927

INTERESTING
BITS OF NEWSCulled From County And State
Papers Crossing Office Desks

A laboring man, who, under the name of John Myers, has previously cashed checks at the First National Bank at Freehold, walked into that institution one Saturday and inquired where he might find a good dentist. A badly swollen jaw gave mute evidence of the need of treatment and the bank teller gladly recommended him to a dentist, also cashed a check for him for $76. The check was signed with the name of Lauren V. Leffersen, a farmer living just out of town on the Jerseyville road.

The following Tuesday John Myers returned to the bank and inquired if anyone there could tell him where to find a job. Arent you working for Leffersen? he was asked. "No," he answered, "he fired me because I lost a few days on account of this jaw." Another check for $76 was presented, and cashed. John Myers walked out of the bank with the cash in his pocket. Tho the police have made a careful search, John Myers has not been located. Both checks were forgeries.

School Board Bans Chautauqua

The South River Board of Education last week denied the application of a representative of the community organization that is, or was, sponsoring a series of Chautauqua entertainments to be furnished by the Redpath Chautauqua Company, for the use of the auditorium of the Public Schools. Ralph E. Snyder, principal of the Willett School, South River, made the application. Opposition to the free use of the auditorium was based on the contention that the Redpath Bureau was an out of town organization conducted for profit and that they took a considerable sum of money out of the town. Arguments that the entertainments were of an educational character were of no avail and five of the nine Board members voted against a motion to allow the concern the use of the school.

School Janitors To Do Traffic Duty

Members of the Borough Council of the Borough of Sayreville are advocating requiring the janitors of the various schools in the borough to act as traffic officers. There are not enough regular officers to provide for the safety of school children at the several schools and special officers are not expected to be willing to leave their places of employment to do a few hours traffic duty every day in school hours. Members of the Board of Education that appeared before the Borough Council at a recent meeting to urge the provision of policemen or special officers for school duty to safeguard children going to and from school were met with the suggestion that the janitors be used for the purpose. It was pointed out that in several instances at the South River schools the janitors perform this service along with their regular work.

Won't Allow Service Station

In Woodbridge they have a building code, and a Building Inspector to issue permits for all structures. On September 19th, a permit was issued to the Dixie Service Company to permit the construction of a $4,000 gasoline and oil service station on two lots on the southwest corner of Amboy avenue and Green street. Last Thursday night the Township Committee adopted resolutions annulling the action of the building inspector in response to a plea from a large number of residents and property of the vicinity of the gas station site. The building inspector argues that there is no legal reason for the refusal of the permit. But the authorities propose to prevent the erection of the station even if they have to authorize the attorney to obtain an injunction. They cite the recent majority in favor of the zoning ordinance at the recent election as a precedent.

Fight On Over Klan Home

The Ku Klux Klan in Monmouth county is in the throes of an internal strife that threatens its existence, according to Monmouth County newspapers. The fight is over the property of the Monmouth Pleasure Club at Belmar, the headquarters of the order. The property was formerly a Marconi wireless station. On it is one large building, somewhat resembling a hotel, and a number of small cottages. All the buildings are of brick and attractive in appearance. The large building has been conducted on a club plan where Klansmen could spend week ends or vacations at moderate rates. One of the cottages is occupied by Grand Dragon A. H. Bell, another is occupied by Rev. J. J. Messler, who left the Methodist ministry to engage in Klan work. The Club is incorporated under the laws of New Jersey and its incorporators are all Klansmen but the club does not consider itself a part of the Klan organization. Things have not been going so well with the club financially of late and a suggestion was made at a meeting of the Board of Directors that the property be sold and the affairs liquidated. Grand Dragon Bell does not take kindly to this suggestion. He says that the property was bought by money subscribed by Klansmen and Klanswomen as a Klan home and that the Club directors have no right to dispose of the property. Legal talent has been engaged by both factions and the matter will soon be aired in court.

Ruin Car But Hurt No One

A Chrysler sedan with eight men in it crashed into a bridge railing and went through it to drop down on the railroad tracks beneath near Metuchen early one morning recently. The car was a total wreck, there being hardly a single part that wasn't broken, twisted or bent so that it could not be used again. Yet of the eight men the care contained only one sustained an injury sufficient to warrant treatment by a physician although all submitted to an examination. They had been on the road all night coming from somewhere in Pennsylvania. The driver, a New Yorker, was fined $25.00 for reckless driving.

TRESPASSING COSTS MONEY

When Law Grabs Two Local Men on Railroad Man's Plea.

The long arm of the law, oft mentioned in print, reached out to strike two local men in an unsuspected vulnerable spot on Monday when Roundsman John McCormack and Officer O'Leary brought in John Kryger of Augusta street and John Slusarski, of Walnut street, on complaint of Special Officer Keenan, of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The pair were known to the police from former investigations, to say the least, and they didn't regard their arrest very seriously until they were in the Police Court and their hearing before Police Justice L. Van Cleef was well under way. A charge of trespassing on the railroad property and using indecent language was made against them. To their surprise the Court offered them the choice of paying a fine of fifty dollars apiece or spending a six months term in the county workhouse. They, of course, remonstrated at the penalty imposed but soon withdrew their objections when informed that under the disorderly act a penalty of a year except one day, term in the workhouse could be imposed and that the fine could be increased by several hundred dollars before the limit was reached. It hurt, it is said, but they paid the fines.

PROGRESSIVES GIVEN TRUMPET

By Auxiliary—Robert Thorpe Boosted for Asst. Fire Chief.

The Progressive Fire Company members were agreeably surprised last Monday night when they were presented with a beautiful silver trumpet by the Ladies Auxiliary through the president of the latter organization, Mrs. James Keating. The occasion was that of the regular meeting of the fire company and Mrs. Keating's well chosen sentences of presentation that accompanied the welcome gifts were enthusiastically and attentively received. On behalf of the fire laddies organization the president, Linwood Van Cleef made a short speech of acceptance of the gift. Mrs. Keating in her remarks intimated that the trumpet had been intended as a Christmas present at the holiday season this year but that the participation of the fire company in the Keyport parade on Columbus Day hastened the giving of the emblem. She said it was the wish of the ladies that there be nothing at all lacking to enable the firemen to present a top notch appearance in the parade. At Mrs. Keating's request the remarks of President Van Cleef were transcribed on paper for transmission to the next session of the Ladies Auxiliary.

The evening was also featured with nomination of officers and the fire company nominated Robert Thorpe as an aspirant for the honors of second assistant chief of the city fire department. Mr. Thorpe is the first selection of an entire fire company for this year's election. Although there are other aspirants for the position, which by reason of precedent puts the candidate in line to be eventually chief of the local fire department, none of the other candidates have as yet been confirmed by their respective fire companies. The annual election of the chief and assistant chiefs is scheduled to be held early in December. Members of the Progressive company have given their candidate assurances of their willingness to work hard for his election.

Other candidates nominated for the various fire company offices were as follows: President, R. Thorpe; vice president, Chas. A. D. Nau; Secretary, F. E. Hartman; Foreman, John Roberts; 1st Assistant Foreman, L. Van Cleef; 2nd Assistant Foreman, Timothy F. Wood; Trustee, C. E. Applegate; Representative to Firemen's Relief Association, F. E. Hartman; Chief Driver, M. Nelson; Janitor, T. Pero.

During a recess in the meeting refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, cake, etc., were enjoyed by nearly the full membership of the organization.

AUTO HITS POLE

Last Saturday afternoon Roundsman McCormack made an investigation of an automobile accident near the corner of Broadway and Main street. It seems, according to his report to police headquarters, that John Aduabato, of Hector street, Newark, driving an automobile, a Dodge car, ran into an electric light pole belonging to the Jersey Central Power and Light Company, breaking the pole off and doing considerable damage to the automobile. The owner of the machine was given as Anthony Salvatorello, of 6th street, Newark. A summons was issued for a hearing later, probably on a reckless driving charge.

HOUSEHOLDER FOILS ROBBERS

Some time between one and two o'clock last Saturday night or Sunday morning, two men tried to break into the residence of Jacob Elwinger, on Parker avenue, but took flight when Mr. Elwinger, aroused from slumber by their efforts, telephoned for the police. Officers O'Leary and Stanton were detailed to the job and made haste in reaching the Elwinger home but were unable to trail the fugitives. It appeared that the two trespassers had crawled onto the roof of a pantry and had broken two windows they were unable to reach from the roof but had not succeeded in getting into the house, when they were scared away by the occupant.

Miami's New Jail Is High in the Air

Novel Brake for Airplanes

J. E. Carroll of Los Angeles, inventor, with his new airplane brake. It includes a small motor mounted in the center of the propeller, to be controlled by the pilot from a button on the control stick. The angle of the propeller blades may be changed at the will of the aviator, and when at their extreme reverse pitch they will "push" the air instead of drawing it back. An aviator landing can reverse the propeller and stop the plane in twice its own length, according to the inventor, who says that the ability to control the pitch of the blades will also be invaluable when the plane strikes air pockets or rarefied air.

FRIDAY CHAT

By G. L. Guinand

A BIRTHDAY

Today is the birthday of William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia. Penn was born at Tower Hill, London, October 14, 1644. He was only thirty-eight years old when he came to America. Of course, everyone knows that Penn was a Quaker, the son of an Admiral in the British Navy. Penn was married twice and had four sons. Penn was a religious man and on the square with everybody. It has been said that not a drop of Quaker blood was shed by the Indians, with all their troubles with the white man, for one hundred years. This speaks well for Penn.

But however, here is a strange thing about Penn: Although a very good and kindly man, a great adventurer, a successful organizer, Penn seems to have been a poor business man. Penn let his business steward get away with it and ruin him financially. Penn died a poor man. The same old raw stuff was handed out two hundred years ago, that we see today—"double crossing your friends." Both Penn and his steward are dead and occasionally remembered: one for his goodness and one for his meanness and mangy work. Well, after all what's the use.

The Beginning of It

"Adam," said Eve, "you know that I never call names; but Adam, if the Lord should come to me and say, Eve, I wish you would find me the biggest liar in all the Garden of Eden, I would come to you and grab you by the whiskers and say to you, Adam, the Lord wants to see you. Now come sir, where were you last night?"

At the baseball game last Saturday there was a young lady and her dearie. She was intently watching Miljus, pitcher of the Pirates. Turning to dearie, she said, "Isn't he sweet, dearie?" He hits their bats, no matter how they hold them!"

It Pays to Advertise

Advertising will keep the hinges of store doors loose. Advertising is a wonderful tonic for a tired business man.

Advertising will rejuvenate, it is the monkey gland for that "it's no use I can't do it" feeling. All of which puts us in mind of a story:

Now, Willie Brown was not a real tough youngster. His mother claimed that Willie was just cute, but his old man stuck to it that Willie was a wise guy. Well, anyhow here is the story:

When the young teacher returned from luncheon she found scribbled on the blackboard, "Willie Brown is the best kisser in this class," she turned at once to him and asked: "Willie, did you write that?"

"Yes'm."

"You will stay after school."

After hours the rest of the boys hung around the school door waiting to learn what happened to Willie. In about a half hour Willie came out all aglow and smiling and the "kids" crowded around him. "Did she lick you, Willie?" "Aw go on an' tell us what she did to you Willie?" they asked in chorus. "I ain't tellin'," said Willie, "but hully gee it pays to advertise."

The Editor's Opportunity

He rushed into the newspaper office, fire glittered in his eyes and in his hand there was a crumpled copy of the day's paper.

"Hey," he yelled, "what ther—I do you mean by printing this item about my resigning as city treasurer?"

"Well, you have, haven't you?", asked the editor.

"Sure, but what do you mean by putting the news under the heading, 'Public Improvements'?"

A Good Politician

Here is an old one and quite good. The late Mark Hanna was walking through one of his steel mills one day, when he overheard a boy, one of his employees saying:

"I wish I had old Hanna's money and he was in the poorhouse."

When Mark got back to his office he sent for the boy and said to him:

"So you wish you had my money and I was in the poorhouse, eh? And if you had my money, what would you do with it?"

"Why, Senator," said the boy, "the first thing I'd do would be to get you out of the poorhouse."

Hanna dismissed the boy, then sent a message to the foreman to keep an eye on the lad and advance him as rapidly as possible. "He's too good a politician to lose," said Mark.

"Prisoner, you are charged with being drunk. What is your name?"

"My name is Sandy MacPherson MacPhie," said the prisoner.

"And who bought you the whisky," asked the judge.

"Adam, dear," asked Eve, "is there any connection between the 'naked truth' and a bare oath?"

"Yes," growled Adam, "when you're sunburnt an' lie down."

Tree's Products Valuable

PLANES SHOW 55 TIMES MORE DUST IN CITY THAN IN COUNTRY ATMOSPHERE

Federal Observer, Who Aided Lindbergh, Studies Particles to Show Effect of Showers and Time of Day—Suburban Air Seems Good.

IRPLANES are now being used to determine the amount and nature of dust particles floating in the atmosphere, dust particles that have been blown skyward from the earth.

Dr. Herbert H. Kimball, United States Weather Bureau meteorologist, who has been prominent in the news recently because of the data he supplied to Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Byrd and other aviators for long distance flights, has been making a special study of atmospheric dust.

His figures show that country dust has 2,000 particles to the cubic inch; suburban air 30,000 particles and 115,000 or more to the cubic inch of city air.

Tests in the airplanes have shown that in the morning more dust is found near the ground than in the afternoon and, further, that more dust is found near the ground than at a height of from 2000 to 7000 feet.

Showers, of course, will reduce the number of dust particles and a country breeze has the same effect.

Other scientists have made various studies as to the effect of certain chemicals on laying dust. Foremost of these has been calcium chloride, a white and flaky chemical which attracts moisture to itself, dissolves when exposed to the air and combine with the road surface to which it is applied.

Nuts to Feed World

The nut trees of the world, it is calculated, could provide food all the year round for the population of the globe. Brazil nuts grow in such profusion that thousands of tons of them are wasted every year.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1927—

THE REASON FOR IT ALL
By Erwin Greer

In 970 cases in which motor cars were wrecked by trains, 136 persons were killed and 405 were injured. In 490 cases automobiles were demolished. Forty-three cars actually collided with the danger signals.

Why do they do it? Is it because of false egotism? It isn't necessary to go into detail as to the tagging of the false egotism driver, the one who is under the impression that everyone is racing with him, the one who persists in making his own usurpations a self-favoring law of the road, or the one who falls into a general class of the irresponsible wrecker. He is a psychological case and belongs to the same aggregation as the common criminal.

Is it because of human nature? Partly so! The man that buys his first car wants to be looked upon as an equal in rights of any other man who owns a car even though the latter may have been an owner for years. The new owner gets out on the street, wholly inexperienced and not educated to the rules of the road, immediately confusion results and, with confusion, antagonism. Then, everyone for himself—in the resulting crash.

There are as many different types of motor car drivers as there are human beings—there must be since the mind operating the car is human. To point out each individual kind of driver is certainly to point directly at you in one or more cases. However, if it tends to make the reader see himself as a fool and to correct that fault before six feet of earth is piled on top of him why—the mission of this article is accomplished.

One type approaches, gliding at high speed, in the grooves of the trolley rails. Because of his smooth approach he hates to slow down and whiz—over the crossing he swishes, grazing a street car, a truck, several automobiles and half a dozen pedestrians. Then he sticks his head out of the side and grins at the consternation he has caused. This very same grin is on his face when, later, he is hurried to the morgue.

And then comes the fellow who tried to beat the train over the crossing. He is too well known to describe, but take any type of reckless driver, add two or three drinks of bad liquor (or plain jackass ignorance) and an automobile. Soak the place in liquor, (or in his own) place in the car and let go. After due time remove from debris, place in satin-lined receptacle and garnish with flowers.

Nothing—no psychological test of character analysis—reveals one's true inwardness more quickly and with greater certainty than the motor car.

First Motion Picture

"Miss Jerry," the first motion picture, was produced in October, 1894. Alexander Black was the author, scenario writer, director, camera man and title writer of the picture. At that time only five stereopticon slides a second could be shown, but 16 pictures are now flashed on the screen per second.

LOOKING BACK 25 YEARS

Issue of October 18, 1902

A new school came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stratton on Thursday.

The Board of Education met on Friday evening last. The most important matter before the board was that of fuel and heat and the board is seriously considering the use of oil as fuel.

A boxing match was advertised to be held at Star Hall on Wednesday evening, but Chief Minnick put a quietus to it, by threatening arrest if it was proceeded with. The match was arranged by Perth Amboy parties.

A meeting was held in Borough Hall last Wednesday evening to discuss the overhead bridge project at Mechanicsville. There were quite a number of property owners present. It is stated that the P. R. R. Co. wants to abandon the old road under the tracks if the new bridge is built. A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

Samuel F. Wylie has been appointed temporary receiver of the W. F. Fisher Co., of Sayreville.

Judge Adrian Lyon, of Perth Amboy District Court, fell Saturday morning while riding and broke his collarbone. His horse stumbled and the Judge was thrown over the animal's head.

Exempt Firemen's Association
The exempt firemen of the various hook and ladder, engine and hose companies of the borough met in Firemen's Hall on Tuesday last and effected a temporary organization of the Exempt Firemen's Association, with J. R. Smith as chairman and N. N. Pearce as secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a set of by-laws and report at a meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 28, when a permanent organization will take place.

McDowell-Hendrickson
The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hendrickson, Bordentown Avenue, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15, when their daughter Nellie A., was married to Mr. John McDowell. The Rev. D. W. C. McIntire, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of about seventy guests. There were no bridesmaids nor best man. After hearty congratulations for a blissful life and prosperous future had been extended to the happy couple a bounteous wedding supper was served. The bride was the recipient of many pretty and useful gifts.

During the evening a number of young people in the neighborhood gave the happy couple a serenade with the "minors" band. They were remembered and departed smiling.

A Happy Occasion
The very stormy weather last Saturday afternoon did not prevent the classmates of Miss Anna Buechner, in the fourth year grade, from having a happy time. They were invited to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beuchner, who reside near Burt's Creek, to spend the afternoon in a social manner, and accordingly assembled at the home of one of the classmates on Main street, from where they were conveyed in a wagon to the home of Anna. And such a jolly time they had! Anna knows how to entertain her friends, and make them happy. Various pastimes were indulged in and the rain outside was supplanted inside by a rain of chestnuts and hickory nuts pouring on the heads of the young folk, and there was a great scrambling time after the nuts. A lunch consisting of fruit, cake, sandwiches and coffee was served, and before departure each one present was given a souvenir to take home. Those present were Gladys Emmons, Josie James, Rosie Turner, Bessie Albaugh and Clymena Bergen.

"BLOOD MONEY" HAS SET NEW YORK GASPING

Exciting Tale of One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

"Blood Money" the mystery melodrama which is now in its third month at the Hudson Theatre, presents an exciting train of incidents which quite live up to the implications of its fascinating crimson title. The money in question is a nice cool hundred thousand in clean, crisp yellowbacks, reposing in a strong brown envelope, in the desk where Senator Bolton was sitting when he died.

Based on a story by H. H. Van Loan, "Blood Money" has been skillfully written for stage purposes by George Middleton the distinguished dramatist. To further the realism, Mrs. Henry B. Harris has given the play handsome substantial settings, and it with actors of such excellence as to increase the guess-work which is the life of every successful mystery melodrama.

As a mystery play with new angles its secrets must be respected, but to suggest the type of drama, it is proper to state, that after the Senator's death his older son James decides to drop out of sight, and his secretary Julia Jones receives a confusing visit from a mysterious couple with glib tongues and many lies. They are after the money, but the secretary is a shrewd girl and the matching of wits begins. In fact the realism of the entire play is so intense, and the story so absorbing, that one leaves the theatre with the exhaustion of having been through some really vital moments, with the satisfaction of seeing just deserts properly allotted to everyone.

The carefully selected cast is headed by Phyllis Povah who is splendid as the secretary. Never has there been finer legitimate acting in mystery drama. And ably matching her work, John Marston as the Senator's son, gives a performance unmatched for manliness and sincerity. Beatrice Nichols and Malcolm Duncan play the blackmailers unflinchingly, while Harold de Becker added another of his fine oriental portraits as an indifferent cabin boy. Reginald Barlow made the Captain of the yacht a distinct individual and John Seymour played his emotional scene with intensity and directness. Completing the fine cast Kate McComb, Robert Brister and Charles E. Bird gave convincing performances. Altogether, "Blood Money" is the best melodrama of the new season and sets a standard of intelligent interest and excitement which is indeed hard to surpass.

Why They Get Nowhere
Plenty of people would be glad to start a good movement if it could be done by stepping on a starter, but they just simply won't get out and crank.

The Hard Job
Butternut is about the toughest position in the world till it is laid. Then how sweet the meat! Hard jobs come up to us all. They rough and tough, till we master them. The most beautiful things in the world after that!

"MADONNA OF TRAIL"

A. Leinbach, St. Louis sculptor, with his design for a statue that has been accepted by the Daughters of the American Revolution to mark the national old trails across the country. Twelve of these statues, each 18 feet tall, are to be placed in the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Thomas Brent, bachelor, and self-made man of wealth, is ordered by his physicians to take a long vacation in the open—"Get Back to Nature."

CHAPTER II.—Brent disappears, leaving Philip Scrozzles, his manager, power of attorney to conduct the business. He also advertises for a small, "red-haired, freckle-faced boy."

CHAPTER III.—With a young companion he has found, appropriately nicknamed "Freck," Brent is living in an out-of-the-way place, in primitive fashion, subsisting mostly on frogs' legs.

CHAPTER IV.—Brent acquires his first knowledge of "crawdads," incidentally, at the cost of great physical discomfort, rescuing two elderly ladies of color from threatened drowning.

CHAPTER V.—Somewhat weary of the "Back to Nature" idea, Brent sets out for the railroad, and home. He overhears Scrozzles and a business rival planning to get possession of his business. He returns to "Freck," with his mind made up to get his health restored and "swat" his enemies hard. "Freck" finds a cave, in which he and Brent take up their abode.

CHAPTER VI

Around the Bend

Thomas Brent sat on a log beside Indian creek earnestly watching a bobbing cork in the stream. It had been three days since he and Freck had beheld Scrozzles and Daddy Bill. What had happened he did not know, but he felt sure that Freck had succeeded in a way, else he would have been back long before this.

"That kid's got a lot of sense in his head," he mused. "If I had a plant full of people like that instead of a bunch of thieves, I'd be a millionaire today." Suddenly he stopped. "Come to think of it," he mused, "what's a lot of money? It doesn't do you much good. Just keeps you worrying all the time trying to get more. That's the trouble with a man when he's making money. He always wants to keep making a lot more. Tom Brent, if you'd realized that fifteen years ago, you wouldn't be a wind-broken old horse now. By George! I wonder if that doctor knew what he was talking about? Wonder if this crazy stunt is doing me any good? Come to think of it, I've been having a whaling good time. There he goes again."

Mr. Brent was addressing his remarks to the water now. "There he goes again—he'll nibble a little bit too much in a minute. Take it under, take it under—Wow! I got you! A fish was glittering in the air. Mr. Brent bent to detach it from the hook. Then he turned and looked up with a boyish laugh at the sound of a voice behind him.

"Catching many, Mr. Brent?" It was Freck standing there with his hands in his pockets as though he had been gone an hour instead of three days.

"Hello, kid. What luck?" Freck grinned. "I sent him to Cincinnati," he said. "I thought he might get back too soon if he went to St. Louis. Cincinnati must be eight or ten thousand miles off, ain't it?"

Mr. Brent laughed. "Well, it's not that far, but it's some distance," he answered. "Freck, you're a wonder!" "There was another fellow with him," Freck rejoined. "A tall fellow; wore one of those long coats and a big silk hat."

"Brady!" burst out Mr. Brent. "Brady! Well, of all things, Freck, you're a wizard. When did they go?" "Last night. They didn't believe me at first. They seemed to think I wasn't telling them the truth until I finally got Daddy Bill aside and gave him half of that ten dollars. Then he broke down and confessed that he was putting up a job on them. So they kicked him out and gave me a dollar for my information and—here I am."

A wild whoop burst from Thomas Brent. He let his feet slide from the rock and dangle in the water. A sun-fish, which had involuntarily hooked itself, bobbed the cork here and there in vain.

"Gave you a dollar for your information, did they? Well, can you beat it? Here's a ten to top it."

Freck gasped. "Sixteen dollars! Oh, snakes! That'll buy me her rug!" "That just reminds me," said Mr. Brent. "How about that Edwards fellow?"

"Ma's going to keep her eye on him and send him out when he comes. I told you about you. She'll keep her mouth shut all right."

"Does Edwards know how to get here?"

"Yes. His aunt lives right over here about a mile or two, and every night or so I'll go over and see if he's come out. If he has, I'll bring him over."

"Again I repeat," said Mr. Brent, "you are a wizard, Freck."

He turned and scrutinized the boy. "What have you got under your arm?"

Freck grinned. "Something for you. I want to take you swimming, but I knew you wouldn't go unless you had something to go in. So I thought I'd bring you a bathing suit. I couldn't find anything but the trunks though.

They'll do, won't they?"

"I guess so. Where do we go, Freck?" Mr. Brent found himself taking quite an interest in the thing.

"Depends whether you can swim or not," Freck answered. "There's a mudhole where we can make a slippery slide and just play around if we want to. And then there's a deep hole further on where we can do some regular swimming."

"Well, we'll take the slippery slide," came the answer. "I never went swimming in my life."

"You never went—Oh, snakes!" Freck gazed at the man before him with wonder in his face. "You honest about that, Mr. Brent? Didn't you ever go swimming and play slippery slide and wild man or anything of the kind?"

"Never in my life."

"Huh!" Freck voiced his disapproval of such a mode of living in one short ejaculation. "We'll go after dinner," he said shortly.

Thereupon the fishing progressed until Mr. Brent felt he had enough flimsy morsels to satisfy his steadily growing appetite and that of Freck. Then he motioned the boy to sit down.

"I'm going to do this cooking for a while," he said. "You sit around and look wise. What's that you got there?"

Freck was busily threading a resined string through a hole in a tin can. "It's a lion yeller," he announced. "Wait until I finish it and you'll see."

He ended his operation and then, with a long, steady jerk, he drew the string through the can. An unearthly, growling roar was the response.

"Sounds just like a lion, doesn't it?" Freck asked. "I heard one once in a circus. Sounds just like it. I can have lots of fun with this thing when I go back to town. We'll take it along with us this afternoon when we go swimming and when we're playing wild man we can have this for the bears and lions and things."

"Well, how do you know I'm going to play any wild man?" Brent asked with a chuckle as he turned the fish in the skillet.

"You've got to play wild man if you go swimming in a slippery slide," Freck said.

"Well, I guess I'll have to do it, then," Mr. Brent answered. "Freck cut some bread."

Dinner over, they lazed about in the sun a while and slept on the warm logs for an hour or two. Then, doffing their clothes and donning the trunks, they started for the swimming hole.

An hour later two grotesque figures lay on the sand on the banks of Indian creek. Each was striped and circled with mud until all resemblance to humanity was lost. Freck resembled somewhat a painted pygmy of the African jungles, while Thomas Brent, president of the Amalgamated Foundry company, looked like a cross between a Malay savage and a Fiji islander. His face, his arms, his legs, and his body were ringed and crossed with mud lines. His head was plastered with a muddy crown into which was stuck a decoration of pokeberries. He carried a large piece of bark as a shield and a long branch of pawpaw for a spear.

"Freck," he said with a momentary return to dignity, "this is a foul stunt—but it's lots of fun."

"Sure it is," said Freck; "but we ain't danced the war dance yet."

"Well, let's have it."

Freck let out a yelp and started in a circle. Thomas Brent, forgetful of the fact that he was fighting a half-million-dollar battle against Scrozzles and the Kelly-Griggs company, forgetful of the fact that he was a man of forty-five, overweight, with a bad set of nerves, digestion that two weeks before had been extraordinarily poor, and a temper that had made him famous, dropped his shield and started to join in the festivities. Suddenly, however, he stopped and gasped. Around the bend he had seen something fluttering.

"Freck," he said, "your eyes are better than mine. What's that? It's a white something, and it's moving this way."

The pygmy savage of the African jungles looked intently ahead. Then he whirled and grasped his resin can "lion yeller." "Oh, snakes!" he exclaimed. "Quick! We got to hide ourselves."

"Hide ourselves?" Freck looked here and there anxiously, then started toward a thick clump of brush. "Come on. We'll hide in here. We haven't got time to get up to the cave." He started ahead and Mr. Brent followed.

"What's the row, Freck? Hide ourselves? What?"

Freck answered anxiously over his shoulder as he hurried toward the brush clump: "It's a Sunday school picnic."

When he and Freck gained the protection of the shrubbery, Brent, panting a bit, turned to look about him. The boy had been right. It was a picnic coming from goodness only knows where, but determined, it seemed, to pass exactly the spot where the boy and man were hiding. There were about fifty persons in the group, mostly women, with a sprinkling of men to carry the baskets. Brent pressed himself as closely as he could to the ground and turned a bewildered pair of eyes toward Freck.

"Think they'll see us?" he asked. "No," Freck answered. "They're too busy thinking where they're going to stop and eat."

"Well, I hope to goodness they don't stop here," Brent said soulfully, and settled down to watch again.

The party approached slowly with its vanguard of women looking here and there anxiously for a place to stop and spread the afternoon meal.

Brent saw them pause, point, and then hurry forward. He groaned. "We're gone," he said; "we're gone."

And in truth the party had selected for a stopping place a green sward not thirty feet from where the refugees were hiding. They cried about, laughing and talking, and began to

PRESBYTERIANS SHOW PROGRESS

Annual Meeting Of Members Held On Tuesday Evening.

The annual congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian Church was held in the Lecture room of the church on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. The ladies of the church had prepared a bountiful dinner and a large number of members were seated at the table promptly at seven o'clock.

During the repast several brief speeches, full of church interest and humor added greatly to the joyous-ness of the occasion.

After the dinner was over the meeting was formally called to order by the Pastor, Rev. G. E. Schk-brede, D. D. and the regular business of the church was presented. Elders
Charles Pearce and Joseph Schuyler, whose terms expired with this meeting, were re-elected for the ensuing three years; their installation will take place in the near future.

Trustees L. L. Sheppard and Geo.
Hammen, whose terms also expired with the meeting were re-elected for the next three years.

Full reports of all Boards and Organizations of the church were presented, commented upon and adopted. These reports showed gratifying progress in every department of the work during the past year, and all treasurers reported a balance in their respective treasuries with all current bills paid.

The Sabbath School has been somewhat reorganized and has made progress in all its branches.

The Ladies Aid, always a most helpful and efficient organization, did much for the social life and the financial welfare of the church as well as for its spiritual interests.

The Missionary Society, which has grown in numbers and in interest and has created a larger missionary zeal throughout the whole church. The choir did splendid work during the year and climaxed its efforts on Easter Sabbath by having special anthem for the Morning Service; and by rendering a beautiful Easter Cantata in the evening, accompanied by an orchestra of ten pieces.

Several friends of the choir and the church formed the orchestra and joined with the choir in the beautiful rendition of this wonderful Cantata.

The Brotherhood, recently re-organized, is proving most helpful and reported good meetings and well laid out plans of enlarged work during the coming year.

When the budget for the coming year, which had been carefully worked out by the combined Boards of the church, was presented for discussion and adoption, the pastor was much surprised to hear in the reading of it that a change had been made by recommending a handsome addition to his salary. This change had been made without his knowledge and came as a complete and unforeseen, agreeable surprise to him. The whole budget was then enthusiastically adopted and the meeting adjourned after the singing of the first verse of "Blest be the tie that binds."

ASKS REMOVAL OF GARBAGE DUMP

Residents in Neighborhood Complain Of Unsanitary Conditions.

Property owners and residents of Gordon street and vicinity presented to the Common Council on Tuesday night a petition requesting that the conditions existing at the garbage dump be immediately remedied, preferably by abandoning using the locality for the purpose henceforth. The petition cited unpleasant odors, smoke annoyance, fire menace, and rat infestation of the neighborhood as well as appearance of the vicinity as justification for the plea for relief.

The Council was also in receipt of communications opportunely relief of conditions at the garbage dump. The communications were from the Womans' Club and from the Parent Teacher's Association of the Public Schools. A resident of Gordon street present at the council meeting added his comments to the protests.

Councilman Inman spoke of a special session of the committee having been held at which it was decided to cover the garbage with sand from a nearby sand bank. The councilman went on to explain that the work would probably commence the next day and that as it progressed, the fire and smoke nuisance, unpleasant odors, etc., would gradually be reduced and finally obliterated. The expense would be quite high, it was expected, but conditions seemed to warrant the expenditure and there was nothing else much that could be done, there being no other place available just now for a garbage dump if this one was abandoned.

Councilman Neiltopp also mentioned the growing amount of garbage and the possibility that in the near future the increasing dumpage would necessitate another dump. The committee was working on the matter of securing another location, too, he said.

Property owners in question criticized the actions of past councils, saying that promises to attend to matters had been made but the promises had never been carried out.

Councilman Malloy remarked that the present council could not be held responsible for the neglect of the governing bodies of the past.

Present members were doing the best they could to remedy conditions and they could not do everything at once. Given a little time and the chance to take measures they found necessary would undoubtedly result in a benefit to all concerned, he gave assurance.

Finally the petition and both communications were referred to the street committee for investigation and report at the next meeting.

Dispose of Parson's Claim
The council in accepting and confirming a report presented by the police committee, of which Councilman Malloy is chairman, disposed of the claim of Harry Parison for fees alleged collected during 1921 or 1922. The report stated that there had been located no evidence showing that Mr. Parison had ever been delegated to act as deputy collector. Nor could the committee find any evidence that there was ever any basis for the claim as made, the report said.

Mr. Leo J. Coakley, who represented Mr. Parison's interests in the controversy, said that he had produced eleven receipts for licenses collected and turned over to the city collector, that the city books showed stubs of checks or checks showing payments made to Mr. Parison for the early part of 1921, this tending to show that his services had been accepted by the city. His arguments were to no avail, however.

Mr. Parison's proposition to the city was presented at a meeting some weeks ago. It was to the effect that the city owed him something less than a hundred dollars for fees, while he owed the city for a piece of sidewalk and curbing in front of his David st. property. If the city would accept a check for half the amount of the paving bill and give a receipt in full for the total bill, he in turn would give the city a receipt in full for what was owing him without expecting any payment. It was this proposition that the council on Tuesday night rejected in accepting the police committee report of its investigation.

When asked by a councilman why Mr. Parison waited so many years before attempting to collect payment for his services, Mr. Coakley said that there was no law compelling a man to present a bill for what he had done for another, nor none specifying the time when such a bill should be sent.

Other Routine Business
City Clerk Dishrow was authorized to return to Mr. John A. Coan photographs and drawings which accompanied the petition for a gas station on Second street at Stevens avenue some weeks ago.

J. J. Morrison, Mayor of New Brunswick, in a letter invited the council to attend the Municipal Day program being arranged for that city next Wednesday. It was decided to have the clerk arrange for as many of the city fathers as could go attend the affair.

The ordinance for grade on Bertman avenue and for the street improvement refunding bonds were adopted and referred to Mayor Knist for action.

The Overseer of the Poor's report showed home maintenance costs of $133 and outside aid to the poor of $66 for March.

The contract executed by the fire committee for the purchase of 500 feet of fire hose for the city was confirmed.

Bills of sale, assignments of claims releases, etc., covering the two new fire trucks were reported by the clerk and ordered filed.

An assessment against the estate of

C. Straub, of $12.65 for resetting a curb on Augusta street, which work had not been done, was cancelled by the adoption of a resolution covering as presented by Councilman Neiltopp, chairman of the committee.

The time limit in the permit of the Brand Stewart Company for using explosives to remove a retaining wall in the bridge on the State Highway at the foot of Main street was extended five days on motion of Councilman Connors.

Councilman Connors reported that no new wires were being strung on the high tension poles on Fourth st. The alarm of nearby residents had from poles on one side of the street to the other.

Councilman Inman reported investigation of claim of Portia street improvement being unsatisfactory disclosed complaints were unwarranted. His motion to readvertise for another hearing on the acceptance of Commissioners of Assessment report he held at next meeting was carried.

LETTERS GIVEN STUDENT ATHLETES

St. Mary's Students Honored At Testimonial Dinner.

At a very delightful banquet held in the Knights of Columbus rooms on David street Tuesday evening, the members of the athletic teams of St. Mary's School were awarded their letters earned in sports the past year. It was also the occasion of presenting to the basketball team the American Legion cup for winning the city championship.

In an address brim full with advice, Commander John Cozzens of Luke A. Lovely Post complimented the members of the basketball team and urged them to continue as sportsmen. He told in detail several stories that forcibly drove home the many points of his talk.

John J. Ryan Jr. of David street, was chairman of the banquet committee and handled the very difficult position of toastmaster during the evening. His committee and himself were highly lauded for the brilliant event that marked the first attempt at honoring the student body of the school. In well chosen words Mr. Ryan at the offset told of the dinner's occasion, and complimented those responsible for developing the material of the teams that comprised the school's representation.

Charles Eppinger, Coach of St. Mary's, besides proving that he was a capable leader in the various branches of sport, proved on Tuesday evening that he is a capable speech maker. Mr. Ryan paid a fitting tribute to the popular coach. Mr. Eppinger in his talk attempted to have his audience believe that he was only a small part of the talent that made up the school teams. He was roundly applauded for his talk.

Rev. Henry Faber, Moderator of Athletics of the school, was the principal speaker of the evening. He gave the history of the teams for the past year, and in humorous ways drove home some of his important bits of advice. He boasted of being proud of the teams of the school this year and promised that the same standard of sportsmanship would be maintained at the school. He thanked those responsible for the dinner, and thanked the members of the several teams. He later awarded the letters to the students.

Harry Baldwin, of New Brunswick, who was the official referee during the basketball season delivered an address that added zest to the entire evening. He announced that he had forwarded the names of two of the basketball players to his school, and urged that they follow up the physical training game. He added that it was not his habit of doing this, but claimed to have been attracted with the work of those in question.

Those who received the "M" were: Basketball, Misses Gertrude Tringley, Anna Monaghan, Sarah Walsh, Margaret Connors, Alice Kennedy, Margaret Mary Coan, Anna Powers, Helen Sullivan, Marie Phillips, Madeline Sullivan, Miriam Welsh, Alberta O'Brien, Veronica Meacham, Anna Ryan, Frank Farrell, John Grimes, Vincent Abbatiello, John Zdanowicz, George Monaghan, John Jankowski, William Munn, Chris Grimley and Frank Scully.

Football, Eugene Francer, John Grimes, Chris Grimley, Kenneth Doukas, Lawrence Zamorski, George Ward, Thomas Lenahan, George Monaghan, John Regan, Joseph Wallace, William Egan, Rosario Chuliff, Vincent Abbatiello, Donald Franczy, Henry Van Kamp, and William Bulman.

Coaches, Anton Maliszewski, Chas. Eppinger and Harry Baldwin were presented with honorary diplomas.

A dinner was served by a committee from the Catholic Daughters of America. Dancing was enjoyed following the program.

"BEAU GESTE" COMING TO SHUBERT THEATRE, NEWARK

The announcement that Adolph Zukor and Jesse Lasky are presenting Major Percival G. Wren's great mystery melodrama of the French Foreign Legion "Beau Geste" at the Shubert Theatre, Newark, for a limited engagement beginning Sunday night, April 17th and continuing twice daily thereafter at 2:30 and 8:30, should prove a magic call for the rallying lovers of real drama in the theatre. No photoplay has attracted more attention or proved more popular in past history than "Beau Geste".

The directorial reins as handled by Herbert Brenon are without a parallel in the history of motion pictures. All sorts of hardships were suffered by director, stars and extras alike, in the glare of the merciless sun, at Zuñon (a name coined from the words Zukor, Lasky and Brenon,) 30 miles from civilization on the Arizona desert, to obtain the necessary sequences. The Messrs. Zukor and Lasky have made their escutcheon stand for genuine merit behind the curtain line and it is indeed a rare combination.

"Beau Geste" is now rounding out its seventh month at the Criterion Theatre on Broadway in New York City, and is now in its twentieth week in Philadelphia and Boston, with no signs of abatement in the interest. However, due to the influx of a great many motion pictures of the larger and better type, and the public's ever increasing demand for this kind of entertainment, it was decided to place this special company on a tour of the principal cities, the Pittsburgh engagement being the first west of the Atlantic seaboard.

In assembling this special company the Messrs. Zukor and Lasky have not been content with presenting a film that has so far exceeded all best sellers in its quantity of sales, there is no question as to the number reaching the half billion mark but they are also sending on tour musicians who are familiar with the difficult score, arranged by the deft hand of Hugo Reisenfeld. The latest in projection equipment is also carried to assure a perfect projection, the one essential thing needed for the complete fulfillment of a pleasant evening in the theatre.

In "Beau Geste" sex romance is subservient to the affection of three brothers for each other, willing to cut away from loves, family, careers, all to protect the name of the other, suspected in connection with the mysterious disappearance of the "Blue Water" a famous sapphire, and an heirloom in an aristocratic English family. An old Arabian proverb reading: "The love of a man for a woman may wax and wane with the moon, but the love of brother for brother is as steadfast as the stars", best expounds the theme of this enthralling tale.

Director Brenon achieved a life long ambition in being given carte blanche permission to go ahead and cast "Beau Geste" as suited his needs and fancy. To say that he did it well is to put it mildly as only the playgoer can better judge after seeing the picture. Ronald Colman was borrowed, through the courtesy of Samuel Goldwyn and appears as Michael "Beau Geste", while Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes are cast as the other two brothers Digby and John. Alice Joyce as Lady Brandon and Mary Brian as Isobel plays the important female leads. While others in importance in the supporting company are as follows: Noah Berry as "Sergeant LeJaune", Norman Trevor well known stage star as "Major de Beaujolais", William Powell as "Bolidin" and Victor McLaglen and Donald Stuart as "Hank and Buddy" two Americans who join the French Foreign Legion together with the Geste brothers to have the greatest experience of their lives.

Ease of accessibility; high, healthful location; charming environment; wonderful homes nearby; recreation and shopping facilities convenient. These are a few of the attractive features prominently displayed to attract the buyer.

Add to these, main concrete highway frontages, improvements available making land suitable for immediate building, public school and churches practically at the property and one gets a slight conception of Cameron Park, the remaining lots in which Joseph P. Day will offer at Public Auction tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Cameron Park is not new. It is an established community, with many high class and moderate homes. Two natural lakes where boating, bathing and fishing may be enjoyed are right in Cameron Park, while the Fox Hills Golf Club adjoins it. The Grasmere Station on the electrified Staten Island Railway is right at the property, as are chain stores, a school and several churches.

Hyland Boulevard on which many of the lots face, is a wide concrete boulevard leading from the St. George ferry through the length of the island to the Perth Amboy ferry and the new bridge now under construction. Clove avenue is also a wide, concrete "cross-town" automobile thoroughfare leading to the Grasmere Station and the west shore of Staten Island.

Fingerboard Road is another of the main auto routes, connecting with all parts of the island.

Shrewd judges of real estate recommend buying vacant land on heavily traveled business thoroughfares like these.

Culled From County And State Papers Crossing Office Desks

At Keyport the School Board plans on submitting to the people of the Borough a proposition to add two rooms to one school building and approval for the expenditure of $150,000 for a twelve unit new school. A plot for the proposed new structure has been secured. Recently the expenditure of $225,000 for a new building was vetoed at a special election held for the purpose of securing the sentiment of the voters.

The Keyport Enterprise, published at Keyport, is trying to start a movement to have a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Keyport Volunteer Fire Department in October. Firemen's parades with plenty of visiting firemen with their apparatus are suggested and the assistance of the municipal authorities, cooperation of the business and professional men of the borough urged.

The Board of Freeholders has granted the application of the Public Service Gas Company to open Washington Road and Main street, Sayreville, for the purpose of laying gas mains in the town. The desired franchise has been granted to the gas concern by the municipal authorities of Sayreville. Where the streets are paved, it is understood, the gas mains will be laid under the sidewalks so that the road pavement will not be disturbed.

All of the members of the teaching staff of the South River Schools have been reelected for another year. Annual increases of $100 each were granted High School teachers, $75 increases for grade teachers. One teacher of many years service was given an increase of $200. The principal of the High School, Prof. Wm. J. Bryan, with a $200 increase, will next year draw a salary of $3,500. Supervising Principal William Lesh was given no raise. His salary remains $4,600.

The Monmouth American, published weekly at Long Branch, says in its editorial column of last week:

"Henry Ford, arch prohibitionist, probably indirectly owes his severe injuries to prohibition, which has resulted in lots of drunks running about the roads and crowding cars into ditches or crashing into them. Two Monmouth physicians have within the past few months been victims of such accidents. Drunken drivers who met and run multiply like the locusts."

"One day last week on one page of a Trenton paper were accounts of the City Building Inspector there for a score of years and of a Saucy highway inspector living at Belmar being fined for driving while drunk and causing accidents. The quality of prohibition booze is largely responsible for such happenings. Another cause is the fact that instead of taking one drink as men used to do when they knew they could get another almost anywhere, it is now customary to take half a dozen by reason of not knowing when they can obtain another."

"It is not only bums and criminals who drive cars while drunk but ordinarily lawabiding citizens of high standing in their communities frequently. And if half of the drunken drivers were caught the present jails would not hold one-tenth of the prisoners."

"It is all only a part of the fearful penalty this country is paying for the biggest fool piece of legislation ever enacted by fanatics with a bank roll."

Acceptance for installation in a new school building at Freehold of boilers which were a superior type and which had been used for experimental purposes in a Rochester, N. Y. laboratory of The American Radiator Company in lieu of cheaper priced boilers used in the specifications, is but one phase of a dispute between the school board and the heating contractors of the school. Trouble developed after the installation was completed last fall, which was remedied by the replacement of leaky sections with new ones furnished by the manufacturers. Leaks developed again in January. The heating contractor claims his responsibility ended when he completed the installation in a workmanlike manner. The manufacturer suggests the trouble is with the water used and it is hinted that a careless fireman damaged the boilers by running cold water into an empty boiler when it was hot. Meanwhile the school board is bearing the expense of extra labor for firemen who operate one semi-efficient boiler continuously, working in shifts.

In a fire which did $500 damage to dog kennels at Freehold, a number of dogs were overcome by smoke. The salvaging corps, affiliated with the fire department, revived three of the dogs by the use of artificial respiration, although they were carried from their kennel apparently lifeless. The dogs were police dog puppies about six months old, one of them valued by the owner, Ernest L. Trever at $1,000, the others at nearly that sum. After being revived the animals were taken into the home of the owner and carefully nursed for several days as a precaution against their catching pneumonia.

A new police ordinance was adopted recently by the Township Committee of Raritan Township in spite of an audience of about 1500 people voicing opposition to its provisions. Prior to the meeting of adoption a petition bearing over 2000 endorsements was filed with the authorities, the petition opposing the provisions of the ordinance. In establishing the new police department the ordinance demotes Chief Davis, who has held the office for some years, and substitutes an alleged politician, Alex Bors, in his stead, which action seems to be the chief source of dissatisfaction. Three of the five committee-men voted for the ordinance.

FRIDAY CHAT

By G. L. Guinand

While walking along Broadway and at Bill Bragg's place, a fellow stopped us and said, "Hey boss, will you give us the price of a cup of coffee?" We looked at him for a moment and said with an assumed sternness, "Why don't you go to work?" He replied in a cheerful voice, "I will, buddy, just as soon as I get the tools."

We became interested and asked him what kind of tools he required. He said, "A knife and fork." And then we thought: the use of the knife and fork started a wonderful advance in the convenience and comfort of eating. It was only 300 years ago when knives and forks were curiosities. In France everyone ate frog's legs, spinach and puddings, in fact everything with their fingers, until the 17th century.

THE JOKE

Here is a story which was taken from a newspaper clipping. This clipping has been pasted in a scrap book for the past forty-one years. We reprint it to show how an old time writer—when he became hilarious—could let his imagination go madly galloping over the hills of fancy and get away with it.

Our friend and owner of the scrap-book said: when he pasted this story in his book forty-one years ago he thought it great. The other day he spoke of it with a smile. However, here is the story and further on we'll see the joke.

An Arab and his horse were both captured by Turks. In the night Hassan heard his horse neighing outside the tent and crawled out to where he stood with fore-feet tied. Hassan was bound hand and foot, but with his teeth gnawed and pulled the thong of goat skin apart, till the horse was free. Then kissing him, he gave him a message of love to wife and children, supposing he would find his way home. But the horse stooped his head, lifted his wounded master by grasping the leathern girdle around his waist and carried him many weary miles over mountain and plain, till he reached Hassan's home, where he laid him gently down. The brave horse then dropped dead from exhaustion.

The story doesn't tell how Hassan made out, but surely he was either dead or at least seelack. And here is the joke: This story was published in The South Amboy Citizen of April 24, 1886, within two days of being forty-one years ago.

DAYS OF THE WEEK

The days of the week are of Anglo-Saxon origin and have the following meaning:

Sunday: The Sun's day, in honor of the sun. Monday: The Moon's day, in honor of the moon. Tuesday: Tiw's day, in honor of Tiw, an old Teutonic deity. Wednesday: Woden's day, in honor of Woden, the old Teuton and Norse god. Thursday: Thor's day, in honor of Thor, the Norse god of thunder. Friday: Freya's day, in honor of the German virgin goddess. Saturday: Saturn's day, in honor of the God Saturn.

If history may be depended upon or otherwise—take the above it may suit your fancy, but however, it is interesting.

THE HONEYMOON

Among the northern nations of Europe, in ancient times, it was the custom of newly married couples to drink methaglin for a period of thirty days after marriage. Now this methaglin was not the kind which was made by this writer's people, down on the farm—made from molasses, vinegar and water. Our methaglin was poured into a stone jug and taken down to the hay fields on a blistering hot day and this was the last place under the sun to think of honeymooning. The kind the ancients drank at their wedding ceremony was made from honey, a honey wine. And they say from the custom of drinking honey wine, the term "honey month", or "honeymoon", originated.

THE BEST MAN

The "best man" at a marriage originated in this way. When the ancient would-be-husband set out to capture his bride by force—which was the custom of the cave dweller—he was accompanied by a strong armed guy who covered the possible pursuit of the girls relatives and friends. So, his best man was the brute who helped him to get away with it.

Why did swarms of flies descend upon the Egyptians and none upon the children of Israel and why are there no flies on the Israelites today?

Why do men grunt when they sit down?

Why do we always shave one side of our face the cleanest?

Why do they say "dirt" when they mean earth? For instance dirt road when they mean earth road.

The game is scheduled to start at three o'clock and Andy Molloy, Joe Murray and Art Zamorski will divide the pitching honors for the Hearts, while Joe Lagoda and Steve Malik will do the receiving.

The manager of the Hearts is now busily engaged in booking first class attractions for Sunday afternoon baseball here during the entire season.

Preliminary Game

In a preliminary game which will start at one o'clock the Tuscon A. C. will cross bats with the Hawk A. C. of Perth Amboy Manager Stanton Ryan of the Tuscons is sure his team will turn in a victory.

TERRA COTTA TO OPEN SEASON NEXT SATURDAY

Bob Manaker's South Amboy Terra Cotta baseball team goes into action for the first scheduled game of the Middlesex County Baseball League against the Perth Amboy Hat Co. on Saturday afternoon, April 30th at 3 P. M. on the Sacred Heart diamond. The Terra Cotta athletes expect to make a good showing in their initial start, although the strength of the opposition is a question, as they are newcomers in the factory league circles.

The Terra Cotta cohorts showed up well in their first workout held last Saturday, the infield, composed of Kaboski, catching; Carroll at first; McCarthy as second; Letts at short; and Frazer, at third, functioning smoothly. Practice will be held twice a week now until the opening.

It is hoped many fans will be on hand for the opening game, as support is needed. The Terra Cotta is the only team in the city trying to revive the Saturday afternoon sport.

The balance of the schedule follows:

May 7th: Raritan-Copper Works at Perth Amboy.

May 14th: Cable Works at South Amboy.

May 21st: A. S. & R. at Maurer.

May 28th: Johnson & Johnson at New Brunswick.

WANT SHORE GAMES

The Greenleaf A. C. of Newark, a fast, uniformed semi-pro team desires to book games with any semi-pro team between South Amboy and Toms River for Sunday afternoons during July and August. The team is well known throughout Newark and suburbs and believes that it will prove a great drawing card for any team with which it is scheduled to play. It is fully equipped and willing to travel. Any team that is desirous of engaging them for a game, get in touch with the manager, Pascal Scuzo Jr., 109 Jefferson street, Newark, and he will render prompt attention to all inquiries therefor. The work of two local baseball players at Perth Amboy on Sunday afternoon is meeting with the approval of the fans of that place. French and Rogers are the two boys who are performing with the Perth Amboy team. It is rumored that another local player will in all probability be taken on by the cross river manager before long.

MUST FURNISH LABELS ON OLEOMARGARINE

The following statement is issued by Edward E. Gnielchel, Collector of Internal Revenue for the 5th District of New Jersey:

"Certain specified products and all other compounds, made from vegetable or animal oils, or combinations thereof and churned, emulsified, or however mixed, colored to look like butter have been declared by the Bureau of Internal Revenue taxable as artificially colored oleomargarine.

The manufacturers and producers have been notified that on and after October 1, 1927, such goods found on the market without proper stamps will be subject to seizure. A similar notice has been sent to all oleomargarine manufacturers.

Cooking compounds on the market in good faith as such and which do not resemble butter in flavor, texture or appearance are exempt from the tax on oleomargarine.

The number of pounds of oleomargarine produced during the last fiscal year was 234,956,753, an increase of 32,740,803 over the preceding fiscal year. At the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, 1926, there were 61 oleomargarine factories in operation."

TRACTOR SALES

ON THE INCREASE

"Every spring we look forward to a certain demand for Fordson tractors", Dorsey Motors, local Ford dealers said today, "but this season it looks as if the demand would be heavier than usual."

"So far as agriculture is concerned, the modern farmer knows that best results from seed bed preparation on thru the whole season, can be obtained with the tractor. Consequently he is buying the tractor, and as the Fordson covers the largest range of average farm power requirements and costs the least, it is natural that the demand for these tractors should be the heaviest."

"In industrial lines, such as contract work, road building and the like, the Fordson is equally efficient, either as a stationary power plant or as a motive unit in moving trailers with heavy loads or in the operation of scrapers. Indeed, so many uses have been found for it in industrial lines, that it would be hard to detail them all."

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Daylight Saving is to go into effect on Sunday morning, April 24th. Preparations are being made by many local concerns to conform with the summer arrangement of work-day schedules and the railroads are rearranging time tables to conform with the new arrangements. Some local folks are said to be already groaning over that having to get up an hour earlier than usual that the change in time requires.

Don't Get Up Nights

Nature's Danger Signal Relieved by Tenn. Man. Wants Others To Know.

J. L. Church, Doeville, Tenn. says: "I had to get up 10 to 12 times each night. Burning was almost unbearable. I used much blood and pus. Had no lasting results until taking lithiated buchu (Keller Formula). I feel 100 per cent better. My friends say 'How much better you look.' Will tell or write my experience to any one."

Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as epson salts do the bowels. It is not a patent medicine. The formula is on the bottle. The tablets cost 2c each at drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.
