CONGRESSMAN HOFFMAN RECOGNIZED BY APPOINTMENT TO IMPORTANT HOUSE COM.

Given Place On Military Affairs Committee—First Time In Years N. J. Has Been So Represented—Recognition Of First Term Member Very Unusual

On the opening day of the Seventieth Congress, Congressman Harold Hoffman, of the Third District, New Jersey, was advised that he had been elected to membership upon the important Military Affairs Committee of the House. It is the first time in many years that New Jersey has been represented on this important committee, and is a further honor in view of the fact that a first term member is rarely appointed upon a major committee. The appointment was secured largely through the efforts of Congressman Bacharach, New Jersey's dean of representatives and a member of the Committee on Committees, which makes the selections. Work on this committee will be especially interesting to Mr. Hoffman in view of his army experience and further because of the location within his district of three important army posts—Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, N. J., Camp Alfred Vail, the Army Signal Corps training school, Little Silver, and the Raritan Arsenal. The only other Congressman to win a seat on this committee was Representative James A. Hughes, of West Virginia, who is serving his seventh term in the House.

Among the visitors from the Third District, New Jersey to Washington during the past week were: Director William S. Dey, of the Board of Freeholders; Russell T. Watson, president of the Port Raritan Commission; and Mrs. William S. Hanna, New Brunswick; Mrs. William S. Dey and Miss Marjorie Dey, of this city; C. S. Atkinson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, New Brunswick; Douglas M. Hicks, Counsel, Port Raritan Commission; Mayor Thomas Dolan, of Sayreville; Peter Gieseson, of Red Bank; William S. Applegate, of New Brunswick; Edgar F. Waters, of Milltown; Asher Atkinson, City Engineer, New Brunswick; Mr. and Mrs. William Whitfield, New Brunswick; Mrs. Frank C. Hoffman, mother of the Congressman; Frank C. Hoffman; Mr. and Mrs. George R. Delaney, all of this city; G. George Goldman, of Perth Amboy; Theodore Drescher, chairman of the City Republican Committee, Long Branch; and Martin Mandel, of Perth Amboy.

Congressman Harold C. Hoffman was the recipient of many beautiful floral wreaths upon the occasion of his taking the oath of office as congressman from the third congressional district on Monday at the opening of the seventieth Congress. A floral token was sent the Congressman by members of the South Amboy High School Alumni Association and many prominent New Jersey people also sent flowers, including State Senator Harry Stevens and Mrs. Stevens, of Monmouth county; Commissioner Harry White, of Asbury Park, and the Women's Republican Unit of Middlesex County. Also flowers from Mrs. Olga Wall, Postmistress at Laurence Harbor.

Following the action of the Appropriation Committee in removing from the first deficiency bill the item of $2,310,000 for the removal of high explosives from Raritan Arsenal, Congressman Hoffman has been in conference with members of the Maryland delegation, who are interested in a similar proposal for funds to remove explosives from Curtis Bay Arsenal, near Baltimore, and with his New Jersey colleagues to determine upon a plan to bring about the inclusion of the item before the bill is finally adopted. Congressman Will R. Wood, of Indiana, has been leading the opposition to the inclusion of these items and has been successful as chairman of the sub committee of the committee on appropriations, in keeping the appropriations from consideration in the original draft. There is some likelihood that amendments will be offered from the floor, but the more effective program would probably be to have the amendments offered in the Senate on consideration of this bill by Senator Edge, senior senator from this state. Mr. Edge is keenly interested in the fight to bring about the removal of the explosives from this thickly populated section of his state.

The City of Perth Amboy has placed before the War Department through Congressman Hoffman a claim for the reimbursement of over $95,000 invested in water mains to supply the Colonia Base Hospital during the War. The investment was made in order to give these military units up to 3,500,000 gallons of water daily, but after the pipes had been laid, the close of the war eliminated the necessity of supplying water to this point. David Wilentz, special counsel for the Perth Amboy board of Commissioners has been represented in Washington this week upon the matter.

Request has been made by Congressman Hoffman to the Boards of Freeholders in Monmouth and Middlesex counties for the inclusion in their budgets for 1928 of amounts that will permit the payment of $100 each to all National Guard units within their respective counties. The Military Act of the State of New Jersey permits the appropriation of monies for the furnishing of armories and for the maintenance of such units. Assurance has been given the Third District Congressman that these items will be included and the beneficiaries will be the Naval Militia Unit at Perth Amboy; the company of 113th Infantry, New Brunswick; Troop B, 102nd Cavalry, Red Bank; Battalion Headquarters 14th Infantry, Asbury Park and Company G, 14th Infantry Asbury Park.

Introduces Several Bills On the opening day, Monday, Congressman Hoffman introduced several bills, two of them having a direct bearing on residents of this city. One bill provides that William K. Gelsion, of David street, may receive $10,000 for personal injuries which he received in the Morgan explosion, if the bill is passed by Congress. The bill has been referred to the Committee on War Claims for consideration. Another bill provides for a pension increase for Rose Humphreys, of this city, widow of Michael Humphreys, who was a member of Company A, Fifth New Jersey Infantry.

Other bills include a pension for John Harrison Lang, of New Brunswick, who served in the Navy during the Spanish-American War; a bill for reimbursement for U. R. Webb and other Navy sailors who suffered losses in their personal property in the Japanese earthquake disaster on September, 1923; a bill for a monthly pension for Annie Gouldy, of Avon-by-the-Sea, widow of Thomas Gouldy, who lost his life in the service of Company F, Fifth New Jersey Infantry; a bill for pension increases for Loretto Roland, Seaside Park, Widow of Daniel Roland.

Thomas, president of Rutgers, who gave an address on the new policies adopted by the state institution. These were followed by a splendid turkey dinner prepared and served by the members of the Maple Meade Parent-Teachers Association.

At the conclusion of the dinner a short business session followed at which Dr. Millard L. Lowry, the county superintendent of schools, was re-elected the president.

ACTION GALORE IN FIGHTS HERE

McGuire To Promote Another Benefit Show Shortly

Jack McGuire's boxing show held at the Sacred Heart Auditorium last night was replete with thrills that only boxing fans can understand and the affair was one of the best cards ever presented by the local man. The auditorium was filled to its capacity with fight lovers from all sections of the State and country.

In the semi-final, Joey Finney, of Plainfield, had a shade over the highly touted Bert Eisner, of Elizabeth. The fight was one of the best seen in this section in some time. Action aplenty featured each of the six rounds and at the finish of each of the three minute periods both boxers were roundly applauded. Finney is looked upon as a comer. He has all the marks of a neat prize fighter. He is cool, composed and able to fight. He needs grooming in defense and is to fight again tonight at Plainfield, where a number of local fans will be on hand to see him in action against another Elizabeth fighter. It is more than likely that both Finney and Eisner will be matched again in the near future for a local fight card.

The final bout, another excellent affair between Bobby McNeil, of Long Branch and Joe Lang, of Elizabethtown, was won by McNeil, a colored lad, who has had quite some ring experience. Long is a new comer in the ring and is under the care of the very popular Hughie Boyle, of Elizabeth. Lang is capable of administering a great punch but he was out-generaled last night.

Young Zyminski, of the Bergen Hill section, had to give up after one minute and thirty-five seconds of fighting with Young Stout, of Broadway. Stout showed more ability last night than ever before. He looked more like a fighter last evening and showed improvement at the offset. Zyminski, a youngster, was nervous in this, his first attempt in the squared arena.

Arthur "Kid" Bright, of Church st., was unable to answer the bell for the second round of his scheduled four round event with Young Davis, of South River. Bright had to be assisted to his dressing room after the round. With a little more than seven seconds to go Bright took a terrific right to the chin, which sent him to the canvas.

Chick Baranofski, of Elizabeth, was a little too much for Mickey Martin, of Hopelawn, in their four round event. Martin fought gamely against his opponent but the Betsytown warrior displayed unusual skill on the defense.

Young Inman, of this city, was unable to meet his opponent because of the injured hand, which he suffered several days ago. He was introduced from the ringside. Karst's opponent, Larry Clemens, of Perth Amboy, failed to put in an appearance last night and this bout had to be called off.

McGuire should be complimented for the type of show he arranged last night. The final and semi-final bouts were arranged with great care and were certainly appreciated by the throngs that attended the card.

FALLS FROM HIGH BRIDGE

Jimmie Farley Slightly Injured in 35 Foot Drop.

Little Jimmie Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Farley, of Louisa street, escaped serious injury on Tuesday shortly after noon when he fell from an iron girder on the bridge crossing the Raritan River Railroad on Bordentown avenue, and struck the ground thirty-five feet distant. The boy was picked up and taken to the local hospital where his injuries were found not to be serious and he was removed to his home where he is now confined but improving very nicely.

The lad fell about 12:10 P. M., at a time when a passenger train of the railroad was scheduled to be passing the bridge, but happened to be late on this particular day.

Raritan St. Boy Fortunately Escapes Without Injury.

Fortunately the truck was not proceeding at a rapid pace and he brought it to a stop quickly. He then took the boy to the office of Dr. E. A. Meacham, who said the boy was not injured.

SANTA CLAUS AT TENENBAUM'S

Next Tuesday Between the Hours of Two and Five O'Clock.

Next Tuesday is expected to be a big day in the lives of many of South Amboy's little ones for it is the day on which Santa Claus will personally visit Tenenbaum's Department store on Broadway. For two years past Santa has had Tenenbaum's on his list of places to be visited prior to the Christmas holiday so that he might directly receive the messages that the little ones are so anxious to whisper in his ear. This therefore, is the third time that he will be on hand to take away with him notes as to just what the little folks of South Amboy really want him to be sure to bring them on Christmas Day. Parents are urged to bring their little ones, the littler the better, as well as the more or less grown youngsters, in to see Santa for themselves next Tuesday, December 13th, anytime between the hours of two and five o'clock. For a small consideration Santa will present the little ones with a gift package that will furnish a great deal of pleasure as well as serve as a souvenir of their visit to the Tenenbaum establishment where they are absolutely certain of seeing Santa in person at least once each year.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BED

Mrs. Bertha McGill Appeared To Be In Best Of Health Sunday Evening

Mrs. Bertha McGill, about fifty-five years of age, of Long Branch, was found dead in bed on Monday morning at six o'clock at the home of Mrs. Malinda Carr on Bordentown avenue, where she had been engaged to care for Mrs. Carr, who has been ill for the past two weeks. Mrs. McGill had been at the Carr home for about ten days.

Mrs. Carr's son, Ogden, arose at 5:45 o'clock and at six o'clock called Mrs. McGill, but received no answer. Entering the room where she was supposed to be sleeping he found her with life apparently extinct. He immediately called Dr. Weber, who in turn summoned Coroner Hanson, who gave permission for the removal of the body. The body was turned over to Undertaker Flock, of Long Branch, who arranged for the burial.

It is said that the deceased appeared to be in fine health on Sunday night and enjoyed a Sunday dinner with the Carr family. She retired about nine o'clock, intending to get a good night's rest. The deceased is survived by one son, Raymond McGill, of Long Branch, and well known here, and by one daughter, Mrs. James Mountain also of Long Branch.

SLOT MACHINES DISAPPEAR HERE

Police Warning Seems To Have Taken Effect

The warning issued by Chief of Police Gleason last week that all gambling devices were to be done away with by the owners in this city, seems to have worked out, for this week the police inspection of the various places found no evidence of any machines. Only one report was received by the police here and that was on Wednesday night when a telephone call stated that a machine was in operation at a Broadway establishment. Chief Gleason immediately sent an officer to the place mentioned, but the officer reported that no machine was in operation at the place. The police will continue their investigations of the various places for some time to come, and wherever a machine is located, the owner of the place will be held for the action of the Grand Jury, and no discrimination will be shown or warning given.

A number of card players from Perth Amboy and Sayreville are expected to be in attendance tonight. CAR RAMS BUS

Three local people were treated at the local hospital for injuries received in an automobile accident on the Parlin road last Sunday night, near the entrance to President Park. The accident happened when a Public Service bus, driven by F. S. Rapetto, of New Brunswick, had stopped and was struck by a car owned and driven by Henry Distal, of First street, this city. In the car with Distal were Miss Helen Dziekan, of 330 Cedar street, and Joseph Stanton, of 116 Pellus street. All were taken to the local hospital following the accident, and Miss Dziekan, who was the most seriously hurt, was confined there for a day.

Distal's car was badly hurt in the accident. Patrolman O'Connor made the report at police headquarters.

Mrs. Elizabeth Triggs, of David street, is seriously ill at her home.

FOR SALE Up-to-date 6 room house at a great bargain. Frederick H. Lear, 210 George St.

The Christmas Cheer Fund of the South Amboy Rotary Club for the needy families of the city, was given quite a boost on Tuesday, when members of the clubs gave personal donations amounting to $109.00, a number of the members still to be heard from. This, together with the $150 donated by the club and to be taken from its treasury, makes a total of $259.00. Only one outside donation has been received thus far, that being one for $3.00 from Nellie Cronk. The assistance being given by other residents of the city is quite discouraging, and as no personal solicitations are being made, those who wish to give to a good cause are asked to send their money to George Gundrum, Jr., who is chairman of the fund and to send it as soon as possible.

Many stories of local families in need have reached the ears of local Rotarians since the club sponsored the fund this year. One tells of a school girl, whose teacher noticed she was looking pale one morning recently, and questioned her. The girl replied that on the particular morning in question there were only five small slices of bread in the house, and that was given to her brother for his lunch, for he needed it more than the rest of the family, which included the mother and small children, they going without a thing to eat. Certainly true happenings right in South Amboy of this character will persuade many readers of this article to give something, no matter how much, to the fund.

Send your contributions at once to George Gundrum, Jr., Broadway, and tell that on Christmas Day, when you are eating your turkey or whatever it might be, that you have done something to help someone less fortunate.

SEAL SALE HERE NOW TOTALS $200

Charles Stuerwald, chairman in this city, reports that $200.00 has been received from the Christmas Seal Sale thus far. Last year at this time the amount was slightly below this figure.

On Monday, December 12th, the sale of seals among school children will begin. The educational program of the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League has been endorsed by the County Superintendent and the various supervising principals of the County. Dr. Lowery says, "I have had, for a number of years, an opportunity to observe how much the Christmas seals have meant to boys and girls who took an interest in the sale of them. It seems to me that in this way our boys and girls are made conscious of the needs of tuberculosis sufferers as in no other way and I am most heartily in favor of any type of activity that will help to make our youngsters thoughtful of others."

BENJ. SCHUYLER IS PROMOTED

Benjamin Schuyler, pharmacist mate, first class, of the U. S. Navy, now stationed with the fleet in the Pacific, has recently been ordered to the Brooklyn Naval Hospital. It is expected that he will arrive at his eastern post of duty some time during the early part of January. The transfer comes as a sort of promotion it is understood. While here early last summer, Mr. Schuyler spent his annual leave in completing a course of study offered by the Navy with the net result that he had but little time for enjoying his vacation in the ordinary way such events are spent usually.

WANT GAMES

The Woodbridge A. A. composed of former high school stars would like to meet senior semi-pro basketball teams in this vicinity for reasonable guarantees. For further information write to H. Bernotim, manager, Box 485, Woodbridge, N. J.

ALUMNI GAME SUNDAY

The football game between the St. Mary's high school alumni associations of Perth Amboy and South Amboy scheduled for last Sunday afternoon was postponed due to the stormy weather and is now scheduled to be played this Sunday afternoon, the weather man permitting. A number of local stars will take the field including John Ryan, James O'Connor and Joseph Kress. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 P. M.

BASKETBALL POPULAR HERE

The regular Wednesday evening basketball games at high school auditorium are proving popular and the local team is deserving of the support of the local fans. A number of fine teams have been brought to this city this year. Music for the dancing before and after the game is furnished by the Powers Players.

The regular weekly card party of the Mechanicsville Hose Company will be held in their headquarters tonight. Many prizes will be awarded at the close of the games.

NEW RECEIVERS OMIT ALL BAT

Ordinary Lighting Circuits Bring Complete Socket Power to Receivers at a Cost Within Reach of All; Many Improvements in Dry Batteries.

New broadcast receivers which operate in connection with either alternating or direct current supplied by the house lighting mains, thereby dispensing with all batteries, and newly designed sets for dry battery and storage battery operation, were announced by E. E. Bucher, Assistant Vice-President of the Radio Corporation of America, in a statement to the public.

"The Radio Corporation of America long ago discerned a well-defined public demand and preference for radio receivers utilizing lighting current as the source of power to do away with all batteries and the need for their periodical replacement," said Mr. Bucher. "The new receivers therefore now bring complete socket power operated receivers within the reach of every purse and home, and for the millions of homes in communities not yet electrified there is provided the last word in dry battery and storage battery operated sets. They include numerous refinements as well as ingenious combinations in keeping other factor, has made for the increasing stability of radio marketing and the growing confidence of the public.

"Of revolutionary character is the introduction of a new model which is the culmination of years of research in set and tube design aimed to produce, for a moderate price, a receiver completely AC operated with a minimum of operating controls. Simplicity of operation and of maintenance are its main features. It has three stages of radio-frequency amplification, a detector and two stages of audio-frequency amplification. The new AC Radiotrons UX-226 are used in the radio-frequency stages and in the first audio-frequency stage. The new AC Radiotron UY-227 is used as a detector, and the last audio-frequency stage employs a UX-171 power amplifier Radiotron. The 'B' and 'C' voltages are obtained from a power supply unit built into the set, which employs the new high-power rectifier, Radiotron UX-280—full wave rectifier. There are only three controls on this set, one knob for tuning, one for volume control to regulate the output of the receiver and a power with the growing importance of radio in the home; but the sound value of basic research and true engineering is borne out once more in the survival of certain definite fundamentals of radio reception which the Radio Corporation introduced several years ago and which remain unsurpassed," continued Mr. Bucher. "Perhaps the outstanding feature of the new models is in the perfected method of light socket operation which they embody, although tonal quality has been further improved. Beautiful cabinets with the radio components entirely self-contained yet made readily available by convenient doors, now place Radiolas on a par with the finest of home furnishings."

Superheterodyne Still Standard

The leaders continue to be represented by an 8-tube, loop-operated superheterodyne receiver—and a socket-power loudspeaker of surpassing tone and volume, together with complete rectifier supply for the A, B, and C requirements of the Radiola with which it is used in combination. Mr. Bucher's announcement continues: "Either in the form of separate units or incorporated in one cabinet, the best features of this combination have been retained in some of the models introduced. Certain refinements in design have permitted the inclusion of the powerful 104 Loudspeaker in one cabinet with the super-sensitive superheterodyne, with a complete absence of microphonic effects, but which in fact emphasizes its extraordinary tone quality."

"In another model, but likewise characterized by a distinctive cabinet and entirely self-contained equipment, is incorporated the well-known 8-tube superheterodyne receiver with the new 100-A loudspeaker, and operated by socket power."

"The superheterodyne circuit therefore continues as the standard of broadcast perfection after four years in the hands of the critical radio public. This circuit, quite as much as any control switch to turn the power on and off.

"For those who prefer battery operation or whose homes are located in districts not as yet electrified, there is introduced a receiver that will be found to fill the most rigid requirements for sensitivity, selectivity and fine tone quality in its class. This is a new unicontrol six-tube receiver employing the well-known and perfected tuned radio-frequency circuit with three stages of radio-frequency amplification, a detector and two stages of audio-frequency, taking five UX-201-A Radiotrons and one UX-112 power amplifier Radiotron. The internal construction of the set is extremely rugged, and with simplicity of operation are the two keynotes of this receiver."

To Continue Rural Sets

"In response to public demand, especially in rural districts, the Radio Corporation of America will continue their five-tube tuned radio-frequency receiver employing regeneration, and which provides unusual sensitivity and selectivity. It uses four UX-199 Radiotrons and a power amplifier Radiotron UX-120, in the last audio stage, giving excellent and undistorted musical reproduction."

"The loudspeaker 104, in addition to the present well-known AC model, is now to be presented in a DC model as well, thus making this superior radio device available in cities and hotels and institutions which are supplied with 110 volt direct current. An ingenious design provides this DC 104 with all the power and tone quality of the tried, tested and perfected AC model."

"As a loudspeaker particularly intended for operation with Radiolas and all other receivers operating on batteries and moderate socket-power, Loudspeaker 100-A is included among the new models. Its enclosed cone is of a design suggestive of a mantle-piece clock, with a screen bezel; the whole finished in dull bronze."

This is an actual photograph of a message received from Commander Byrd's plane, the "America," by the Radio Corporation of America, several hours after she took off for Europe. The signals were received at the Chatham, Massachusetts, station and were strong enough to be placed on their tape recording apparatus. The wavy lines represent the actual radio handwriting of Lt. Neville in the Morse code.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Middlesex County for the construction of a reinforced concrete culvert on the Cheesequake-Browtown Road, approximately 1700 feet north of the Old Bridge-Matawan Road, in the Township of Madison, and opened and read in public at the County Record Building, New Brunswick, N. J., on Thursday, January 5th, 1928, at 2:30 P. M. standard time.

Drawings, specifications and forms of bid, contract and bond for the proposed work, prepared by W. Franklin Buchanan, County Engineer, have been filed in the office of the said Engineer at 175 Smith Street, Perth Amboy, N. J., and may be inspected by prospective bidders during business hours. Bidders will be furnished with a copy of the specifications and blue prints of the drawings by the Engineer, on proper notice and payment of cost of preparation. Bids must be made on the Standard Proposal forms in the manner designated therein and required by the specifications, must be enclosed in sealed envelopes, bearing the name and address of the bidder and the name of job on the outside, addressed to the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Middlesex County, and must be accompanied by a certificate of a bonding company agreeing to furnish bond in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract, and a certified check for not less than ten per cent (10%) of the amount bid, provided said check is not less than $500.00 nor more than $20,000.00, and must be delivered at the place and at the hour above mentioned. The Standard Proposal Form is attached to the specifications, copies of which will be furnished on application to the Engineer.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids if deemed to be in the best interest of the county so to do. By order to the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Middlesex County, THOMAS J. MULVIL, Clerk.

Its Efficiency and Quick Response make Gas the Home-maker's Favorite Fuel

THE homemaker likes to use a fuel which does not require constant attention. Her work is retarded whenever she has to stop to attend to the furnace or to replenish the open fire in the living room.

She appreciates the convenience of gas as a fuel for heating her home and as a cooking agent. It responds instantly to the touch of a lighted match. It burns steadily and can be shut off instantly. It has no odor and its cleanliness gives a longer life to furnishings throughout the house.

Oven Heat Regulator Gas Ranges Cook Better Meals With Less Work

Gas responds with instant service and the regulator controls the oven heat. You need not remain in the kitchen while the dinner is cooking. Set the regulator at the temperature required and leave the dinner in the oven the necessary time. It will be cooked to perfection when that time is up.

Public Service is making a special offer on oven heat regulator gas ranges. For a limited time only they are being sold at the price of the range without the regulator.

Heat Your House With Gas—It's the Best Way

Gas puts house heating on the same effortless plane as house lighting—no dirt, no noise, and perfect service. Automatically and thermostatically controlled, the gas furnace gives you the temperature you require at the time you require it.

Coal bin and fuel tank are abolished; freeing cellar space for other uses; the service of a furnace tender is no longer necessary, fuel comes to you as it is needed and is paid for after it is used.

Gas can be applied to any heating system. Changes in pipes or radiators are unnecessary, if these are adequate or in good condition.

If you are interested let us know and we shall be glad to have one of our heating engineers call at your convenience. Estimates given without charge.

Remarkable Achievement

Eratosthenes (c. 275-195 B. C.) of Cyrene, was the first astronomer to attempt to measure the distance around the earth. His calculations of the circumference come surprisingly near the truth, the degree of error being only a trifle more than 23 minutes.

Queer Time Measurement

In the mountains of Montenegro distance is often measured by the time it takes to smoke a cigarette. They are moderate and presume that a normal cigarette smoker lights one every half hour or so. Consequently, a cigarette's walk would be from one and a half to two miles.

Convertible Skates

A Chilenroth has invented a convertible skate. Which reminds us: though it is nothing appertaining to the subject—did you ever notice how quickly a man solves when his wife suggests him? The convertible skate is not new by any manner of means.—Buffalo News.

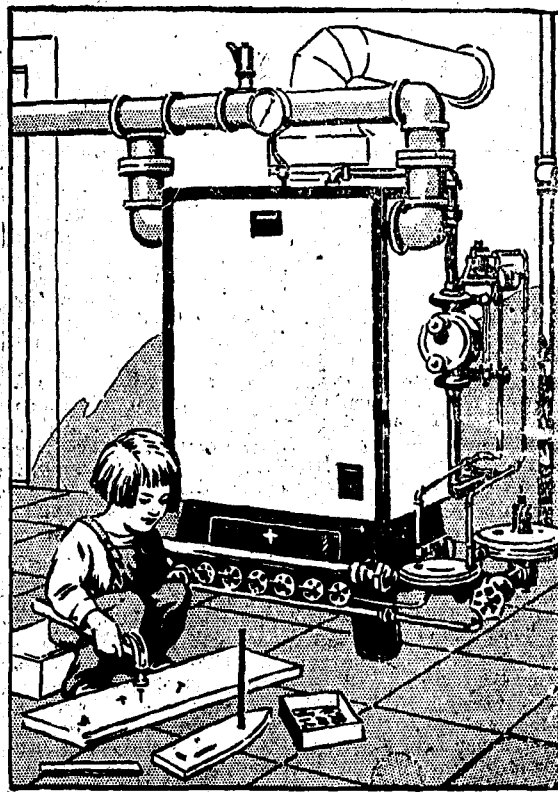

Comfortable Garment

A new jacket is a thick, loose, woolen, double-breasted jacket or coat which is worn chiefly by sailors in cold weather. The origin of the name is obscure. It is supposed to be derived from the Dutch word "pij" or "pije," which means a coat made of coarse woolen goods.—Exchange.

Gas Fireplace Heaters Add To Christmas Festivities

The spirit of home seems to be intensified each year with the coming of Christmas. Wanderers gather with the home keepers around the family hearth. A glowing gas fire in the fireplace gives warmth and cheer to the family party and furnishes a delightful place for little people to hang gift expectant stockings.

Public Service has many attractive styles of heaters. No. 5 Radiant gas log illustrated sells for $50 cash. On terms $53—$5 down and $4 monthly for twelve months. Both prices include connection in fireplaces on first floor and in other fireplaces where there are suitable gas outlets.

LOOKING BACK 25 YEARS

Issue of December 27th, 1902

Poultry was high, but it was Xmas and large quantities were consumed in the borough.

On and after January 1, 1903, the Western Union Telegraph office will be at the New York and Long Branch Railroad station.

It is stated that the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company is getting the right of way for a route to the new bridge across the Raritan River.

Our merchants report a splendid Christmas trade. Most of them completely wiped out all of their holiday goods, especially those suitable to small children.

All the married men who have been employed for a certain length of time at the International Smokeless Powder and Dynamite Works, at Parlin, received fine turkeys for Christmas.

George Albrow received as his Christmas present the position as superintendent over several departments at the powder works, Parlin, with a handsome increase in salary. Surely Mr. Albrow will have a Happy New Year.

Fire At Baptist Church

By the timely appearance of R. A. Dey at the Baptist Church last Wednesday, a serious conflagration was averted. Mr. Dey was examining some leaks in the roof, and afterward entered the church to find a lively blaze in the floor where the register of the heater was situated. He managed to extinguish the fire, and therefore no alarm was sent in. One of the large beams was badly charred, the floor burned, and the carpet surrounding the register destroyed. It is thought that the janitor started a brisk fire in the furnace and not opening the register, caused it to become so hot that it ignited the floor. The damage is estimated at about $20.00.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES

On Wednesday afternoon Christmas exercises were held in the public schools, and interesting programs were rendered. A number of visitors were present and were pleased with the manner the scholars acquitted themselves.

Common Belief Wrong

The division of agricultural engineering says the idea that hot water pipes freeze easier and quicker than cold water pipes is not a fact. Obviously in cooling the hot water down to the freezing point it will at one time be at the initial temperature of the cold water and the cooling and freezing from this temperature of the two pipes will be identical.

Snake Myth Exploded

That the tail of a snake will live until sunset when a snake is killed during the day, is merely an old myth. Owing to the reaction of the snake's nervous system its tail will continue to wiggle long after the snake is otherwise apparently dead. But there is nothing to the notion that it will continue to wiggle until sunset and then stop. Sometimes it will stop before and sometimes after sunset.—Exchange.

STORIES

Wholly untrained
half-roared:

"I'm marry for love,
to marry for riches.
It's hell on earth,
wearing the breeches.

ell mounted, glanced e, at the figure keep
as elbow. Lithe, slim,
mine, it rode cross-saddle in crash breeches. A rogueish twinflickered in the eyes.

She faced him, eyes no longer roguish, but purposeful, saying with a faint flush: "I dare you to marry me—inside the next six months!"

"Paula! Dye mean that?" Leon Cantrell shot back, turning several colors. Paula Selby giggled, but with a little hard breath, in spite of herself, as she said steadily: "I do mean it—cross my heart, and hope to die.
Indeed, unless I take a Cantrell, I'll be an old maid—simply couldn't stand that—had almost rather go for a missionary."

"But why pick me? Cantrells are plentiful than blackberries all along Brush creek—" Leon began.

"I know," Paula interrupted, "But you are by chance the most Cantrell of the lot! It's quite proper that you should be chosen victim to expiate the family feud."

At that Leon laughed uproariously, saying when he could speak:

"Say, Paula—do you happen to know the straight of how this old family ruckus began?"

Paula shook her head, sighing, then said: "Since you're chosen lamb for the slaughter, reckon I'd better tell you—it began in a horseswap a hundred years back, when General Selby, my great-grandfather, came out here
from Virginia, riding a slightly hunter he guaranteed to be seven years old.
No lie that—in fact the animal was nearer twenty-seven—but he had been nickel, decked, and taught to throw his legs after the real London fashion, so the general managed a trade with old Squire Cantrell's son Joe, for the fine young stallion that his father had given him on his birthday, along with a hundred dollars boot. "Worse than highway robbery!" said the squire—not that he minded so much losing the horse, or even the money—it was that his son had let himself be so cheated, when it belonged to Cantrell blood always to cheat the other fellow—"

"So that's it," Leon exploded, reaching for Paula's slim, sunburned hand.

"Strikes me you're just the boot
that's been due some Cantrell or other ever since. You've got to marry me whether or no."

"Old stuff! I like news better,"
Paula protested, tossing her head.

Leon held her hand fast, asking:
"What made you pick me, Honey?
Did you know how hard I've been loving you ever since I wore roundabouts?"

"Never suspected it," Paula said
primly. "The fact is Cantrell blood has so out-thrived and out-bred Selby, there's no other grandfather would listen to my haying—yet he'll make such a to-do about it that we had better get the knot tied before we tell him."

"Now your talking," Leon whispered joyously in her ear—possibly by way of judging the right kissing distance for a sweetheart who wouldn't take a dare.

The Clan Cantrell raged from center to circumference over knowledge that Leon, its special hope and pride, had fallen for that outrageous Paula Selby. Smart, she might be, in fact was—also—easy on the eyes, also,
again, had a way with dogs and horses. Didn't she come down in fact from a notorious horse-trader, who wouldn't have batted an eye over cheating his mother or even the preacher, when there was a chance to boot?

Paula would come next-thing-to-empty handed, when Leon had such chances, three rich girls waiting on tiptoes for him to throw the handkerchief. Farther, how would he ever get sent to congress with such a wife?

Thus the prophets in their wisdom.
It turned out to be the wisdom of fools. Paula captivated Leon's people, horse, foot and dragons—that is to say, those close enough really to matter. Grandfather Lem liked her voice, her looks, the way she stepped, especially the way she rode. "I'm bell-hant on livin' to see your eldest boy ride his first race. Any odds he wins it—I'll back him before he's born," he said. Gentle Aunt Polly, Lem's splin-der daughter, revived like a frosted flower in sheltered warmth; grim Uncle John, thought to love nothing in the world save cards and carousing, got in a way of staying home at least five nights of the week, and coming home only gentlemanly merry from the parties that were his delight.

Servants adored her, tenants thought the sun rose and set in her, after the second Christmas when the big tree held gifts for all on Cantrell land. And to that festivity came Paula's recluse father—grandfather's doing, that, though it required nearly force and arms. He had yielded, since it was to be further marked by the christening of Paula's first baby.

In the arms of his great-grandfather his name was pronounced Selby Lemuel, as tears from two pairs of ancient eyes washed away the last traces of the hundred-year feud.

UNEXPECTED ANSWER

While people are suffering great distress, they become emotional and lose their self-control and conscience.

This is when their subjects in its innings and se things which they believe to be the truth. When angry and quarreling, they
which they really mean,
regret and try to crawl out and break afterwards. When prow they will confess their
a cold world and feel woeeaten and chagrined afterwards.

The following story will, we think, exemplify this idea.

By the young husband had been sly and respectfully exiled
this world and all of its trouble. After the earth had heaped over him and the flowered upon the temporary mound in time would sink and the
and the earth settle more comy over his little cabin. After mourning with tear stained faces red noses had left, soon to forget it. The clergyman started in to console the stricken young man.

He spoke in a deep serious tone,
the father of the many fine qualities of his husband had.

"You know," he said kindly, "you now you can never find his equal, surer as long as you will."

The broken hearted fair one stopped sobbing and replied, "I'll bet you will."

THE END OF A PERFECT DAY

Reading and grinning—looked

NEW FORD CAR BE FAST SELLER

So Predicts Dorsey Motors Manager
In Interview

"The year 1928 will see an increase in automobile ownership among all classes of people which will prove amazing to even the most optimistic forecasters in the industry," said John J. Powers, sales manager of Dorsey Motors, Inc. of Perth Amboy, Ford dealers for this district, in an interview yesterday.

"And most of the increase will be due, without any question, to the millions of new Fords that will be in demand," continued Mr. Powers, "we have received orders in 1927 which indicate the even greater demand that will come in 1928. As soon as the first Fords appear in our streets and along the highways, there will be a grand rush to place orders, and the only advice we can give prospective buyers, is 'Place Your Order Now.'"

"There have been rumors broadcast by certain interests, that prospective Ford buyers will have to wait six months before they can get delivery. I want to emphatically deny this rumor at this time. It is absolutely untrue. Not only has the new Ford car, as a whole, been perfected along carefully laid manufacturing and engineering plans, but the marketing of the now famous 'little Lincoln' has been laid out by experts months before the first model went on exhibit before admiring crowds.

"The more densely populated sections of the country have naturally been given preference, so that Dorsey Motors is assured of an adequate supply of cars right after the first of the year. We do not intend to have a longer waiting list than is absolutely necessary, and we are certain of the most efficient cooperation on the part of the factory, to deliver our full weekly quota of cars as quickly as possible.

"There have also been rumors to the effect that Ford dealers would not be permitted to receive trade-ins. This also is a deliberate attempt on the part of certain interests to weaken the faith of the public in the policies of Henry Ford, and in the local dealers.

"I wish to inform the public within this district that Dorsey Motors and Ford dealers in general, will follow the custom of the general automotive trade, of accepting used cars of standard makes, and good condition, as trade-ins, at terms proportionate to the value of the new Ford car.

"We feel confident that the public has more faith in the Ford car, its manufacturer, and the dealers than ever before, and will not be misled by rumors as to terms, down payment, rental plans, and other fictitious stories freely circulated by some of our competitors.

"I say, 'competitors', but the new Ford car really has no competition, and I believe impartial observers in the auto industry will give that assertion their unqualified endorsement.

"The new Ford car is without question the finest small car in the world, selling at a price so far below the scale of prices of other cars in its class, that there is no room left for comparisons.

"Already the resumption of Ford production has had a beneficial effect on United States industry as a whole, and indications are that the steadily increasing per day production planned will still further revive and stimulate related industries, resulting in a gradual and steady improvement of general business conditions.

"The new Ford car, and the reorganized Ford industry are a powerful factor in the business life of America, and will help to make 1928 a prosperous and active New Year. The firm of Dorsey Motors, Inc., extends to everyone the sincere wish that they may get their due share of happiness and good times in 1928."

NEW JERSEY'S INDUSTRIAL RANK
PER CAPITA VALUE OF ALL MANUFACTURED PRODUCTS

New Jersey leads the great manufacturing states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts and Ohio in per capita value of its manufactured product. Its yearly output is valued at more than three and one-half billion dollars.

Public Service contributes to those resources of New Jersey, which are the foundation of its industrial supremacy, adequate electric, gas and local transportation service, including power for factory operations.

"The success of Public Service and development of New Jersey are bound together."

COMMISSIONER TELLS OF CARELESS DRIVER TYPES

One of the most careless, inconsiderate, and dangerous types of motorist is the man or woman who fails to yield immediate and full right-of-way to vehicles of the police and fire departments and to those of the hospital. This point is made by Dr. John V. Smith, Commissioner of Public Works and Improvements of the City of Perth Amboy, who declares that the American Automobile Association, with which the Raritan Automobile Club is affiliated, has found that in many communities this type of driver is to be found in increasing number.

"Selfishness on the highway reaches no greater height than in this particular practice," says Dr. Smith. "Always these public vehicles are on errands of mercy to save life and property. The members of the police and fire departments riding on such apparatus are risking their lives willingly in order to save others, and the motorists who fail to stop to allow free passage is contributing enormously and needlessly to this risk."

"If the motorist would but study the damage that such carelessness on his part could cause it is certain that the practice would end. This is a kind of mishap that only in very few instances can be called accidental. Municipal traffic regulations are very pointed on the right-of-way for police, fire and hospital vehicles. They specify that the private vehicle shall pull to the curb and stop. If the car owners does not meet this provision of the regulation, he is responsible for the mishap."

"In many of these crashes, the excuse is offered that the curb was crowded with parked cars and that pulling over, consequently, was impossible. This is not the case. One can pull over next to the line of parked cars and stop there with safety for the apparatus of the departments concerned usually uses the middle of the thoroughfare. Literally, under no circumstances is there an excuse for impeding the progress of such a vehicle."

BAKED MEALS FILL NEED ON COLD DAYS OF WINTER

Meals prepared in the oven are favored by Marie C. Doerman, state extension foods specialist, because they save fuel, require less time of the housewife after they are in the oven, and retain more of the food elements and original flavors of the ingredients.

One dish meals, a combination of meat and vegetables, have a savory odor which tempts the appetite of the most fastidious. Rolled flank steak with vegetables is prepared as follows: use 1 pound of flank steak, or round, if the former cannot be obtained. Dredge well with 2 tablespoons of flour to which 1 teaspoon of salt has been added. Mix 1 cup of bread crumbs, 1 small onion (minced), 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons hot water, and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Spread over the steak roll and tie. Sear in some drippings until well browned. Place in a large baking dish, adding 1 cup of tomatoes. Cover and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Peel and cut in 1-2 inch dice, 2 large potatoes, 3 carrots, 1 turnip and 2 sliced onions. When the meat is partially cooked, place the vegetables around the meat, sprinkle with 1 teaspoon of salt, cover and cook one hour or until the vegetables and meat are tender. Brown Betty or some other baked fruit dessert could be prepared and baked at the same time.

Other baked meals may be: (1) boned fish, potatoes, scalloped tomatoes, apple pie; (2) scalloped macaroni with cheese and tomatoes, whole wheat muffins, baked apples served with cream.

To bake squash or pumpkin, scrub the outside of the shell, place on the rack in the oven and bake until a fork will easily pierce the shell, which is usually about one hour. Cut in half, remove the seeds and membrane, then scoop out the fleshy part with a spoon. Mash and season with salt and butter. Any that is left over, may be used for pudding or pie. Because these two foods take so much space in the oven, there is little opportunity to bake any other food at the same time.

PUT ON PROBATION

Umberto Montenero and Joseph Delucio, of Catherine street, were arrested by Officer O'Connor on Tuesday for not attending school and general waywardness. When arraigned before Police Justice Van Cleef, they were put on probation and must attend school every day.

Ahead of Engagements

Mary, who is the baby sister of girls in college, looks forward with delight to their week-end visits home and devotes herself entirely to them at such times. Recently, her sister noticed that as Mary knelt to say her little prayer she hurried through it, then began again and so on until she had repeated it almost breathlessly four times. Finally she rose and exclaimed: "Now I am prayed up for four nights and we can't wait."

Happily the discovery that rolling stockings menaces health does not come until near the close of the summer season. N. Y. Evening World.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES HELD

Of Christ Church Sunday Morning And Evening

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Christ Church Parish was fittingly commemorated at the regularly scheduled services on Sunday last and joyously ended with a bountiful turkey dinner in the Masonic Temple Monday evening.

The celebrant at the corporate communion of the parish at the 7:30 a. m., celebration of the Holy Communion was the Rev. James P. Conover, Rector of St. Mary's church, Newport, R. I. He was assisted by the rector of the parish. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity by those loyal communicants who desired to return thanks to Almighty God for His many signal blessings bestowed upon the parish since its humble beginning on Nov. 17th, 1852.

The rector was celebrant at the 10:45 Choral Eucharist and the sermon was preached by The Rev. James P. Conover. The service was sung beautifully by the choir and many expressed the opinion that the service was one of the most inspiring services ever held in the parish church. The preacher in dealing with the early history of the parish, recalled to mind many of the persons intimately connected with the life of the parish since its inception and did it in such a manner that the words of the poet Pope unconsciously came to the writers mind as expressive of the thoughts of the congregation, namely: "what oft was thought but ne'er so well expressed." In his thoughts of the future Mr. Conover struck the keynote of cooperation and faithfulness. His presence in our midst was a distinct benediction and his influence, please God, will long remain in our hearts and lives.

The preacher at Choral Evensong was the Rev. Robert Williams, Rector of Trinity Church, Princeton. He made a deep impression upon the large congregation gathered together to worship God in beauty and in truth. This was a most beautiful service of prayer and praise. The Rector and choir sang the service. The Rev. Weston E. Grimsbury, a former curate of the Parish, read the scripture Lessons and the Rev. James P. Conover pronounced the Benediction. The Rev. Albert P. Mack, Rector of St. Mary's, Keyport, was in the procession and sat in the sanctuary.

Taken by and large the Parish has received a tremendous spiritual gift as a result of these three tremendous services and it is hoped that the impressions made will be translated into positive expression of Christian service and activity.

The program for the services was as follows: Morning: 10:45 Prelude—Thanksgiving, Silver; Processional Hymn 519, Albany; Kyrie, Chant; Gloria Tibi, Chant; Laus Tibi, Chant; Hymn 446; Sermon, The Rev. James P. Conover; Offertory, "Praise Ye The Father" Gounod; Sursum Corda, Morbeseke; Sanctus, Tours; Benedictus Qui Venit, Tours; Agnus Dei, Tours; Gloria in Excelsis, Old Chant; Sevenfold Amen, Stainer; Nunc Dimittis, Barnby; Recessional Hymn 531, St. Boniface; Postlude—Adoration, Borowski.

At the Choral Evensong at 7:30 p. m., the program was as follows: Prelude—Vesper Hymn, Calkins; Processional Hymn 541, Alford; Versicles and Responses, Tallis Magnificat, Clare; Nunc Dimittis, Clare; Creed, Tallis; Versicles and Responses, Tallis; Hymn 266, Vigili et Sancti; Sermon, The Rev. Robert Williams; Offertory—"O Saviour of the World", Goss; Vesper Hymn 120, Rest; Recessional Hymn 539, St. Asaph; Postlude—"Meditation", Giulant.

C. R. R. TO RUN BUSES TO UPTOWN NEW YORK

The New Jersey Central last August submitted to its patrons a questionnaire with the statement that some of its patrons had suggested that it arrange with a motor coach company to operate motor coaches between its Jersey City Terminal and central Manhattan in both directions. Over 80 per cent of the responses favored such a service and accordingly the Railroad Company has arranged with the Gray Line Motor Tours, Inc. (a subsidiary directly under the management of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company) to place such service in effect soon after the first of December.

The equipment to be used will be of the De Luxe motor coach type being manned by uniformed and courteous drivers and the service will be maintained on as short a headway as can be provided consistent with the volume of traffic.

While the exact route has not been decided, it will be over the Liberty street ferry and some longitudinal thoroughfare to the mid-town stopping point. It is expected that the coaches will make a stop at Wana-maker's. The date for the inauguration and other details of this service will be announced shortly.

They are showing what they call Jazz Type up at the Graphic Arts Exhibition and the guesses around here are to the effect that it probably is known as the 6-pint new style. P. A., in N. Y. World.

POLO GAME TO BENEFIT CRIPPLED KIDNIE FUND

When the riders of the National Polo Association bring the season to a close at Gray's field, Lincoln highway, Sunday afternoon, November 27, they will play for the benefit of the Crippled Kiddies of this locality in addition to completing the play for a $25,000 purse.

The management of the local club of Professional poloists have tendered the services of the riders who represent New Jersey and California pony owners, together with horse flesh valued at $50,000 to the New Brunswick lodge of Elks for the benefit of the Crippled Kidnie fund of number 324.

An active ticket selling campaign is under way by the Elks. Proceeds of the game will go to the humanitarian work which has been carried on by the New Brunswick Elks for the last five years.

It was the New Brunswick Elks who first took up the care of crippled children in New Jersey. The lodge maintains its own clinic at Middlesex hospital. For a number of years the lodge has staged events each year to finance the care of crippled children, whose parents are without such means. During the space of five years the members of that organization have provided treatment for 520 children.

Professional polo has attracted wide spread interest in this locality during the 1927 season and plans are now being formulated to stage the International Professional polo match here next year. The game as it is known in Metuchen is not "High Hat". The workman in his cheap little car rubs shoulders at the clubs turf each Sunday with the millionaire who arrives in his foreign made machine.

That the game is rapidly becoming popularized is attested to by the large number of automobiles which come here each week loaded with passengers who are taking a keen interest in the contest, for which the owners of the horses have put up a $25,000 purse.

Tickets for the big game of the season are in the hands of every Elk's lodge within a radius of thirty miles, and the members of the local organization hope to acquire a fund which will permit of a further expansion in the scope of the Crippled kidnie work.

Rooster Rides Auto Bumper

Dick, a white leghorn rooster, the pride of Boro Engineer Walter J. Schiverea, of Freehold, likes to ride in and on automobiles. Recently, perched on the front bumper of the owner's sedan, he rode from the latter's home a distance of two miles into the town of Freehold and remained perched on the bumper for two hours while his master attended a meeting of the Mayor and Council. Then he resented and tried to run and fly away. The assistance of bystanders was gathered by Mr. Schiverea and the bird finally captured and placed within the sedan. There when the car started the bird gave vent to his satisfaction at having a ride by crowing lustily. The enterprising reporter that wrote up the article for the Freehold Transcript further reports that Dick has been observed on the days following his ride busily telling the other fowls of his neighborhood about his wonderful automobile ride.

Mr. Levine has hung up another record. He is the first man to kidnap his own airplane.

A PREDICTION LIKELY TO COME TRUE

By Erwin Greer

You who have had no chance at flying need not despair, for your day is soon to come. Those war veterans, you must remember, put in a long, grim apprenticeship over Flanders' fields and they had all honorably won the laurels that Uncle Sam's aerial training has brought them. They are the pioneers in peace, of a profession which will soon be one of the greatest in the world. Flying will progress with them. Five years from now there will be thousands of trained aviators in the field, but these will all have been trained by these selfsame pioneers.

The life of the commercial airman will be a pleasant one. What fellow with any heart for adventure and with red blood in his veins can resist the temptation of speeding through the air. The life is the cleanest and healthiest that could be imagined; just the profession for the man who loves the great outdoors. The duties of the present-day automobile chauffeur will be more strenuous than his flying three or four hours every other day. No longer will he be rigged out like an arctic explorer, unnecessarily exposed to a cutting head wind and the roar of the engine. He will recline with ease in an enclosed cabin which is electrically lighted and heated throughout, even to taking a hand at cards with the passengers.

In the near and wonderful future of the airman, an afternoon spin from New York City to Cuba will be a very common occurrence, or South America a week-end flight.

The faint-hearted public will look upon airplane accidents with sinking hopes. The reasonable public—and naturally, some quality of courage must enter into all good human reasoning—will recognize that in flying there always will be accidents and in its present stage of infancy there will be a greater proportion of accidents than will prove to be the normal. A man who wants a permanent life insurance against death, needs to be an immortal, for on this planet we are only mortals.

A few people will always seek to prolong life by refusing the thrills of living dangerously. They will not go up in the air, nor out on the sea in ships, nor ride horses, nor be carried by automobile. But, thank heaven they are few. The average man is not a death dodger, but trusts his existence to the usual risks of life. It would be miserable to live otherwise.

DELIGHTFUL CARD PARTY

A delightful card party was held last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Russell Hardy, of Second street, for the benefit of the ways and means committee of the Woman's Club. Following the games refreshments were served. The guests present were Edna Agan, Mrs. Frank Hall, Mrs. J. Layden, Mrs. D. W. Reed, Claire Kelly, Mrs. Edwin Tice, Mrs. James Harkins, Mrs. Harold G. Hoffman, Mrs. E. H. Eulher, Mrs. A. J. Fenzel, Mrs. Richard Lewis, Mrs. O. W. Welsh, Mrs. Maurice Lucitt, Mrs. George Gundrum, Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Kenny, Mrs. Robert Weiden, Mrs. H. D. Littell, Mrs. John J. Ryan, Mrs. Benjamin Leedom, and Mrs. William Ramsay, of Parlin.

Dr. Edward Grant Conklin alleges that we have not found a more perfect woman than the Venus de Milo or a more perfect man than Apollo. Obviously Dr. Conklin never reads movie publicity. South Bend Tribune.

Take The GUESS OUT of Heating Your Home

BREAK THE BONDAGE THAT MAKES YOU A SLAVE TO YOUR FURNACE BY INSTALLING THERMOSAVE

With it the coal man will charge you only half what he does now.

You'll have only half the weight of ashes to dispose of.

You won't have to run up and down stairs fixing draughts.

You can have the house nice and warm when you wake up in the morning.

You can leave the house all day and find it warm as toast when you return.

Thermosave is a system of heat production and control which may be applied to any coal-burning system—hot water, steam or hot air—without any change of grates, and Buckwheat coal, which costs only half the price of larger sizes of anthracite, is the fuel used. Buckwheat, always obtainable, always cheap, contains as much heat as any other coal and when burned by the Thermosave system produces more heat than the larger sizes.

Thermosave regulates the temperature of your home at any or all the time; and all you have to do is fill the firebox and occasionally remove the ashes. Any woman or child can operate it the draught regulation is entirely automatic. And you use no more buckwheat coal than you do the larger sizes at twice the cost.

A small electric motor which consumes no more current than an electric light and which runs only as occasion for more heat demands, drives a blower, which is applied under the grate. The motor is dust proof, so is the fire box, tightly sealed. To regulate this little motor so that it will run only when the necessity for heat requires, there is a thermostatic control. When the house temperature drops, it starts the motor and up comes the fire, when the house is warm, it shuts off the motor and the fire cools.

There is an installation of Thermosave in South Amboy and that is giving every satisfaction. We will be glad to show and demonstrate it to anybody.

For the home using less than 15 tons of coal per heating season, the price is only $145; between 15 and 25 ton consumption the device costs $170; and for the plant of 40 ton consumption, the installation costs $195.00.

Let us tell you more about it and our guaranteed trial plan.

The Summer School Idea

by
EDWIN BENT
Director
of the

Edwin Bent Conservatory of Musical
Art, Throughout New Jersey

In the earlier days of the American nation before the growth of large cities, the preponderance of the population lived in rural districts, devoted almost entirely to agriculture. The children as well as the adults worked on the crops during the entire summer season, and the children went to school only during the few months in the winter. With the bettered farm conditions the summer period of work was somewhat diminished and the winter period of study was correspondingly increased. Up until just recently we have still continued to close even the metropolitan schools during the summer months, thus needlessly carrying on into the present age the school habits devised to meet an earlier rural condition. The three months summer vacation during a period of twelve years which is the usual extent of a high school education represents the astounding total of four years in the life of the American youth that is now being needlessly wasted. The gradually increasing activity in the public schools throughout the land during the summer months represents a beginning toward correcting this shortcoming in our present-day educational system. Many communities are now offering summer school courses in the public schools during the summer months. At present, these courses are mostly "make-up" studies, permitting those who have failed or who have been conditioned in the various subjects to gain sufficient mastery of them to permit them to continue advancing with the rest of the class instead of being held back for a period of six months in one or more subjects. Although this represents merely a beginning in the manner of summer school study it is a decided step in advance. It will only be a few years when ambitious students will be able to complete the work of the next semester during their summer period in addition to the "make-up" courses that may be offered to aid the "conditioned" students.

In special subjects outside of the public school curriculum, the summer vacation period offers unusual opportunity for exceptional advancement. In the field of music, as an example, talented and ambitious students may accomplish almost as much in three months as they do during the entire remainder of the year when they have so many public school subjects bidding for their attention. Those who have been making progress in instrumental or vocal branches of the tonal art are enabled to enroll in classes devoted to the study of the theoretical branches of music. The education attained in this way both supplements and strengthens the private tuition they have enjoyed during the fall and winter season. Subjects may be mastered in this way that could not possibly be accomplished during the limited time at their disposal during their private lessons in the instrumental or vocal art. Much knowledge of the science of music is necessary for proficiency in the art of music. History of music, style, form, melody writing, counterpoint, fugue, harmony, orchestration and the higher branches of composition may be made thoroughly intelligible to the average student during a series of summer school courses presented annually over a given period of years.

Their own understanding and proficiency is in this way greatly enhanced, a foundation is solidly laid to support the building of a successful future in any branch of the musical art, and the most important result of all is that their parents and friends as well as their public will greatly enjoy hearing their performances which have been so much improved by their more intelligent understanding of music and their bearing upon actual performance.

MAYBE HE KNEW HIS ONIONS

We hope the following will interest our readers of this column as it has us. We gathered the data from a very old record:

Celery originated in Germany. The chestnut came from Italy. Tobacco is a native of Virginia. Oats originated in North Africa. Rye came originally from Siberia. Buckwheat came originally from Siberia and Tartary. Barley was first found in the mountains of Hymalayas. The pear and apple are from Europe, but pears are supposed to be of Egyptian origin. The peach from Persia. The quince came from the Island of Crete. The radish is a native of China and Japan. The cucumber came from the East Indies. The cranberry is a native of America and Europe. Horseradish came from the south of Europe. The parsnip is supposed to have been a native of Arabia. The potato is a native of Peru and Mexico. The onion came from Egypt.

Ah, the onion! The delightful, delectable, savory, toothsome, redolent red onion—most everybody loves its fragrance wafted over the frosty air on a winter's night; whether it be simmering in a stew or browned in a pan of red hot hash. Now, here is a dissertation on the onion, written sixty-six years ago. It was probably written by a man who knows his "onions," however, we do not know whether he wrote the sober honest truth or flam, bam, flim-flam. So, we are going to leave it to men who know and they are, our farmer readers:

"How is it you raise so large and nice onions?" I asked an Iowa farmer, as I was sitting at the table with him and observing some on the table. "Well," said he, "we sprout the seed with boiling water and then plant it early in good ground."

"Sprout the seed in boiling water?" What do you mean by that? Won't boiling water kill the seed?"

"Not at all," he replied, "but it will sprout them in a minute's time."

"It will! It looks incredible!" I replied with surprise.

"Well, you try it, when the time comes to plant and you'll find it just as I tell you."

And sure enough, when spring came around, my neighbor was about planting his onion seed, and being present, I said: "Jewell, last winter there was a man who told me that to pour boiling water on onion seed would sprout it in one minute. Suppose you try it."

"Very well," said he. And taking a teakettle boiling from the stove, he poured the water on the seed, which he had in a teacup. Looking closely at it for a moment, he exclaimed: "My conscience, you have told right!"

"Only look there!" I looked and behold, the little sprout about as large as horse hairs, shooting out of open ends of seeds! He did not retain the water on the seed above three seconds and in less than one-half minute after it was poured off, the sprouts were projected from the seeds.

My Iowa friend assured me that the process would advance the growth of the onion two or three weeks beyond the usual method of plant.

It is all cigarettes and roses before election, with some people and a kick in the rump for some people after election, but don't forget that it is not safe to be sure.

Our "Rube" says, "If one-half the girls only knew the previous life of the men they marry, the lists of old maids would be wonderfully increased."

Then "Ben" butted in and said: "But if one-half of the men only knew what their future lives were to be, the list of old maids would be wonderfully increased still further."

A CAN OPENER

A fellow wanted to get a divorce from his wife and testified that she was a can opener; she got home about ten minutes before meal time and commenced to open cans breathlessly. He said that she is so ignorant of domestic affairs, she can't sew and knit. "Why, judge," he said, "she can't even knit her brow and she is like a needle, she has an eye, but no head."

BE ON THE SAFE SIDE

An old doctor once unwittingly gave a professional secret away, by saying that people who were prompt and good pay always recovered in their sickness. As they were very good customers physicians could not afford to lose them. And this puts us in mind of a doctor who was detained in court as a witness. He complained that if he was kept from his patients, they might recover in his absence.

"Fools are not all dead yet," said G. L. G. getting all hot up and red in the face, while arguing in this office, the other day. "No," said our "Gus" in a soft voice—looking over the roller of his press. "No, or you wouldn't be here to say so!"

A large truck backed into one of the large plate glass windows of the store of E. S. Mason & Son on Broadway on Monday of this week, damaging it badly.

You may sit next to an automobile thief in the subway, trolley or ferryboat. I have often questioned these men as to why they persisted in following such a calling; their answers were practically all the same: "It's such easy money."

The average owner of an automobile does not employ a chauffeur; the car, therefore, must be left unguarded most of the time. This is the thief's great opportunity—the unguarded, unlocked car. A man drives up to a cigar store, runs in for a package of cigarettes; he leaves his car running for the moment, and, even though he may have been in the store but a few seconds, upon emerging he finds his car gone.

I am now paying fifty dollars for the same theft insurance that but a few years ago cost me ten dollars.

How, then, is the average human being to protect his car from the ever increasing auto thief? Regardless of the ignition lock which is on the car when purchased, every car owner should have some form of auxiliary lock put upon his or her car. Car locking devices are many and varied. I believe in some form of steering wheel locking device; this prevents the steering post from being turned in any direction; should someone start the engine the car could be propelled in but one direction, and also a device that locks the transmission.

The records show that a car equipped with any form of auxiliary lock is seldom stolen, compared with the unprotected car. In other words, so many thousands of cars stand about the streets of any great city, equipped with no form of lock save the ignition lock, and are "easy money," that the thief usually does not take any other cars.

To my mind, each car should have a title, the same as a piece of ground. A person buying a second hand car should demand a clear title. There should be plenty of private marks on your car to assist in identification if it be stolen, and recovered. There should be a greater interstate care when the cars are licensed. Thieves alter the cars very quickly. A small touring car stolen at twelve o'clock noon is dismantled; and at two o'clock the same day the wheels are on a commercial body going to the West Indies, while the engine and top are on another chassis bound for the Maine Woods. The theft of automobiles is a serious thing which we should do everything in our power to stop. We can help by always locking the car if left vacant even for a moment.

ARRESTED FOR PANHANDLING

Sergeant Quinlan, on Tuesday, arrested Michael Clubuch, of 224 State street and Anton Kabosky, of 642 Charles street, Perth Amboy, for pan handling on Broadway. They were arraigned before Police Justice Van Cleaf on Tuesday night and sentenced to serve six months in the county jail. When they were taken from their cell at the City Hall to be arraigned before the Police Justice, they created a disturbance with the officers.

MAN FOUND LYING IN ROAD

Some time Tuesday night, two local men giving their names as Keyes and Worley, found Joseph Stewart of 200 Forty-seventh street, Newark, lying in the road near the Pennsylvania station here, and took him to the local hospital. Dr. E. A. Meacham examined the man and said that he was suffering from the effects of a fit.

ROAD COURTESY

Although the spark of "Road Courtesy" may lately seem to have been entirely extinguished, it begins to look as though all it needed was a little coaxing in the form of a reminder. The increasing number of cars and trucks displaying the little blue and white notice which reads: "This Driver Will Meet All Other Gentlemen Half Way on Any Traffic Situation" is ample proof that the motoring public as a whole is at heart not only willing, but eager to follow a co-operative suggestion.

Inquiry reveals that the little gummed strips referred to above, can be had gratis by addressing the Advertising Department of Mack Trucks, Inc., 252 W. 64th St., New York City. An official of the company informs us that the "Gentlemen's Agreement" idea has met with an almost startling response from the motoring public. The company promises however, to keep up with the demand by supplying them in any reasonable amount.

St. Rose of Lima of Belmar and St. Mary's high school football teams played a scoreless tie yesterday afternoon on the local school grounds before a crowd estimated at one thousand people. The game was one of the best played by the local team this season, and although they looked the favorites at the start, the Belmar team put up a stiff opposition.

Aerial attacks were frequent but at no time was either goal threatened. This was the last game on St. Mary's schedule. Only one win was recorded. Coach Eppinger has already laid plans for next year, and expects the local team will make a better showing.

DINNER CLOSES

BIG EVENT

Of Celebrating of 75th Anniversary Of Christ Church Parish.

The closing event in connection with the observance of the 75th Anniversary of the instituting of Christ Church Parish was held on Monday evening in the Masonic Temple, the affair being a turkey dinner served to close to three hundred members of the Parish and a few celebrated guests. The dinner, served under the auspices of St. Martha's Guild, was a marked success in spite of the difficulties presented by the closely packed auditorium, and both menu and speaking were hugely enjoyed by the attendants at the affair.

Scheduled for seven o'clock the doors to the auditorium were thrown open shortly thereafter and the crowd sought seats at the prettily decorated tables. From then on to after ten o'clock a lively interest kept the minutes flying and few realized the rapid passage of time.

Singing of "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow" began the program; then the Rev. James B. Conover, rector of St. Mary's church, of Newport, R. I., asked the blessing. The Rev. Thomas Conover, rector of St. Bernard's church, of Bernardsville, N. J., made a stirring address dealing with the dedication of one's life to the work of The Master, using a number of local residents as illustrations of his meanings. Then followed a wonderful speech by the Rt. Rev. Paul Matthews, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey. The Bishop kept his hearers in rapt attention, frequently introducing humor into his remarks, to the huge enjoyment of all. Among many other things the Bishop told the Christ Church Parishioners that they had not only a noble ancestry, which was among the desirable things of life, but also a most promising future, which was decidedly important. Sometimes, he remarked, some folks were proud because they had blue blood in their veins; others thought it more important that their posterity have red blood in theirs. Christ Church Parish, he said, was doubly fortunate in that it had the one and a brilliant promise of the latter. Following the Bishop's address, the gathering sang "Auld Lang Syne."

During the evening the rector of Christ Church Parish, the Rev. Chas. E. Kennedy, announced that to date pledges totalling a little less than the required three thousand dollars had been received for the memorial porch for the church in honor of the Rev. Henry M. P. Pearce, rector of Christ Church Parish for a quarter of a century. Of the amount pledged considerably over a third was in hand in cash so there would be no delay in getting the plans, and preliminary announcement was greeted with a preparations under way at once. The prolonged burst of applause.

The Rev. Mr. Kennedy tendered the parish an anniversary gift in the form of a huge cake, profusely decorated with lighted candles, mounted atop of which was a replica of Christ Church. Not only the cake but the entire image of the church, done in such faithful detail that not even the door knobs were overlooked, was edible. Following the conclusion of the program of the evening, the cake was cut into pieces and all present presented with a chunk as a souvenir of the occasion. Introduced as a surprise gift, the birthday cake was brought in after the turkey, etc., had been attended to, and the sight of a pretty girl in white bearing the replica of the much loved shrine of Christ Church people, was a sight that will not soon be forgotten. Enthusiastic and prolonged applause marked its presentation.

The auditorium was tastefully decorated with autumn flowers and table decorations were in keeping. The menu consisted of turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes and turnips, celery, olives, cranberry sauce, peas, relish, rolls, coffee, pie, mints and nuts.

At the guests table were Rt. Rev. Paul Matthews, D. D., Rev. James P. Conover, Rev. Thomas A. Conover, Miss Alice Conover, Frederic M. P. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Weston E. Grimshaw, of Helmetta, Rev. Robt. Williams, of Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Stults.

Letters of regret at being unable to be present were read by Rev. Mr. Kennedy from Rt. Rev. Albion W. Knight, D. D., Bishop Coadjutor; Rev. C. S. Lewis, Rev. H. C. Mitchell, W. H. Bradford, Ambrose Gordon, Mrs. Juliana Conover, Mrs. Juliana Stevens Cuyler, Evelyn C. P. Everts, Mrs. H. Otto Wittmann, Sarah Conover, Harry C. Perrine, John S. Conover, Edith LePair and C. H. Muirhead. A most thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent by those attending and all were loud in their praise of the dinner. Space does not permit the naming of all who assisted in making the dinner such a success but it would be ungracious, in naming the chairmen, to omit the deep and heartfelt thanks of the Rector and Committee in charge to all those who did cooperate to make the dinner so pleasant an occasion. This is now done with a grateful and heart.

The committee in charge consisted of the Rector and the wardens of the parish, Mr. William P. Nichols and Mr. Clarence Stults. The women's committee was made up of the following: Mrs. Charles E. Kennedy, chairman, Mrs. George Mack and Mrs. Samuel Newton in charge of tables and waitresses, Mrs. Clarence Stults, flowers, Mrs. Melvin Nichols, decorations, Mrs. Elizabeth Locke, the kitchen and the preparation of all the foodstuffs.

Mrs. Bridget Houlihan is holding "open house" at her home on George street tomorrow evening in honor of Congressman and Mrs. Hoffman, who are to leave shortly for Washington. All their friends are invited to drop in and join the evening's festivities.

POOR MARKS HIT BY SCHOOL BOARD

Class Averages in Public School Tests—Poor in Spots!

Class averages of only 64.6 in Arithmetic and but 53.7 in English in the seventh grades of the local schools occupied the attention of members of the Board of Education at the regular monthly meeting of the Board on Wednesday evening. Discussion developed that the unusually low and unsatisfactory showings were accounted for to a great extent by the fact that some pupils had made a very low score or none at all in the first bi-monthly tests, which, of course, brought the class average way below the standard.

The Board also gave a great deal of serious thought to a problem presented in the report of the attendance officer. The report mentioned a case in which the parents had been haled before local Police Justice because a thirteen year old daughter seldom attended school. The officer's comment sounded as though the writer was somewhat discouraged because no drastic action had followed referring the case to the law enforcement officer.

The Board's investigation brought out that the girl in question was really needed in the home to look after two infants, each about a year old. One of them, the child of her sister whose husband had left for parts unknown, needed care in the absence of its mother who had to go to work in a factory daily. The other, her own sister, required her care because her mother was not at all well and was more or less continuously under a doctor's care. The father, the sole support of the unhappy household, was unable to hire a servant to care for the babies and help in the home.

Prospects for an improvement in the mother's health by the first of the year resulted in the Board's decision to refrain from urging drastic action by the police.

The report of Superintendent of Schools Barr remarked that the Palmer Method of Penmanship had been instituted in the schools and that seventeen of the teachers had enrolled for a correspondence course in the teaching of same. Most of the teachers have already had Palmer, the penmanship in particular, being adept at writing it. The interest of the teachers was quite satisfactory, it seemed.

Results of the first bi-monthly test of present school term were as follows:

Grades: Arithmetic, 82; English, 74; History, 82; 89.
Grades: Arithmetic, 79.5; 85; Geography, 80; History, 88.
Grades: Arithmetic, 64.6; 53.7; Geography, 74.6; History, 78.2.
Grades: Arithmetic, 76.7; 70.4; Geography, 79.0; History, 75.3.
Grade: English, 68.2; Ancient, 60; Com. Geography, 78; Arithmetic, 77; Algebra, 85; Latin, 85; Gen. Science, 81.
Tenth Grade: English, 82.4; Plane Geometry, 63; Latin, 91; French, 80; Biology, 84.9; Bookkeeping, 81.
Eleventh Grade: English, 75.9; Latin, 82; French, 81.5; Bookkeeping, 73; Stenography, 75; Algebra, 59; Modern History, 82.4.
Twelfth Grade: English, 79.3; U. S. History, 79.6; Physics, 75; French, 90; Solid Geometry, 83; Stenography, 70.

YOUTHS TRIED FOR COAL STEALING

A case wherein a number of local young men were being prosecuted on a charge of thieving coal from local Pennsylvania Railroad yards, packed the City Hall with curious people Wednesday evening, friends and relatives of the prisoners and several lawyers and their staffs. The complaint was entered by John J. Keenan, special officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the chief witness is said to have been a youth caught the railroad men and from whom confession implicating several was extracted. This youth is the Jamesburg Reform Club member and from the institution of Chief of Police evidence here Wednesday hearing before Chief was adjourned before the case is to be imposed.

CLIFFWOOD YOUTH STARTS ON "IN INDUSTRY" COURSE

Philadelphia, Nov. 25: Mr. Watson L. Stillwagon, of Cliffwood, a sophomore at Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, today started on a three month period "in industry", as part of the co-operative course in engineering which he is taking at the local college. He will spend three months in the employ of the Public Service Commission, Newark, N. J., putting into practice the theories taught in the college classroom and laboratory, and for which he will receive payment at the current rate of pay of the company. At the end of three months he will return to the college classroom.

About 200 of the leading manufacturing establishments, public utilities and mercantile firms of the greater Philadelphia industrial area are now co-operating with Drexel Institute in its five-year co-operative engineering and business administration courses, according to an announcement made at the college yesterday. In addition, the State Highway Departments of New Jersey and Pennsylvania have recently been added to those outside agencies which co-operate with Drexel to make possible the co-operative system of education.

Each of the firms listed at Drexel as one of its co-operative units has signified its intention of taking one or more students for a three month period every year, of putting that student to a useful and productive job where he puts his theories learned in the class and laboratory into practice, and where he is paid at the current rate of pay for that sort of work.

Thus, a student in one of the engineering courses spends three months in college classrooms and laboratories, and then three months in an industrial plant. This rotation continues throughout the five years in college. Likewise, as one student leaves an industrial plant to return to college, another student succeeds him in the work-room or mercantile counting room.

The success of the co-operative plan and its advantages over the regular college course has become apparent to Drexel Institute, pioneer co-operative school in the Philadelphia area, as well as to the industries which co-operate, according to Dr. Kenneth Gordon Matheson, President of Drexel.

"Drexel's long established co-operative arrangements with business firms," he said, "have built a solid foundation for the co-operative courses. Executives of these firms welcome the co-operative business student because they know these two facts—first, that this course attracts only the more earnest and ambitious students; second, that the co-operative graduate is trained to handle a man's job, with full responsibility, from the day he graduates."

"The business student needs co-operative study even more than the engineer. The latter may acquire in the laboratories and shops of his own college a fair amount of practical training. But since the education of a business man deals more with methods and organization, it is most essential that he spend half his college course in a modern business organization. This is just what the college man at Drexel does."

Rumor has it that some big improvement will be made this Winter Railroad between here and Morgan station.

The management of the local quintet is truly keeping faith with the supporters of the team by introducing at this early date the St. Peter's Big Five, one of the fastest and most colorful basketball combinations in the history of the sport at New Brunswick. Former high school and college stars form the nucleus for this strong aggregation and they are determined to leave South Amboy with a victory well earned.

The South Amboy representation, however, are well aware of the necessity of maintaining a winning stride if local interest is to be at a high pitch, and they are entering the fray with one idea in mind, "two in a row on the 30th".

The lineup of the South Amboy team needs little introduction even to those who have never seen them play. The fame of McDonnell, James and Bennett has travelled to every part of the state where the game is played. They will form a set of forwards which is expected to cast a brilliant flare across the local basketball horizon. Lambertson, Barky and Green form a husky guarding combination, which is expected to offset the scoring powers of visiting forwards. In Furman and Allen the local team has two of the best tap men in the county and they are expected to be a very valuable asset during the coming campaign.

It will be worth the while of every basketball enthusiast in South Amboy to take in this stirring game. It is a crucial game for both teams and a clean, hard fought battle can be predicted. Remember the date, Nov. 30th.

SURVEY POSSIBILITY OF SEWERS FOR MELROSE

Mayor Thomas Dolan and other members of the Sayreville council visited Melrose on Monday and looked over the possibilities of the laying of sewers in that section. Although nothing definite was decided upon at this time, this is the first time that members of the council have visited that section after election time to study this improvement. It is the plan of the council to build a disposal plant in the lower section of Melrose to take care of the sewage.

Expressing Contempt
The tongue has a single gesture, and everybody knows what it means. It is thrust out to express contempt. The little girl who "sticks out her tongue" does not realize that her action, so unfeminine, harks back to the prehistoric. It is undoubtedly a most ancient mode of conveying the idea of intensified disrespect. Everywhere in the world, among savage and civilized peoples, the flung gesture has the same recognized significance.

$700 QUOTA FOR CITY IN SEAL SALEC. L. Steuerwald, Local Chairman,
Has Mailed 895 Letters

Charles L. Steuerwald, the local Christmas Seal Sale chairman is now busy receiving returns from the Christmas Seal Sale by mail. According to Mr. Steuerwald, the quota for South Amboy is $700.00. Mr. Steuerwald says that 895 letters were sent out for South Amboy and he expects the larger part of the quota will come in through the mail sale. In addition to the letters which have been sent to individuals, every club in South Amboy has been asked to make a subscription to the Tuberculosis League. The individual banks and business firms have also been asked to contribute to the local nursing program in this city.

The records which have just been compiled by the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League for the first ten months of the year indicate that 2500 patients are being cared for in this county. The Christmas Seal Sale is the chief means of financing the work of the four nurses who are on the staff of the Tuberculosis League as well as the six clinics and four clinic doctors who provide for the free examination of tuberculosis patients. According to Mr. Steuerwald the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League is one of the most active in the State and have considerably decreased their death rate since their work started here in Middlesex County in 1917. Beginning with one nurse and one clinic in Perth Amboy they now extend to every town and cross roads throughout the county and are responsible for the hospitalization of over 200 patients at the five different institutions.

Dr. Chas. I. Silk, of Perth Amboy, who was the first President of the Tuberculosis League, still continues in that capacity. There are 30 representative people from various parts of the county serving on the Board of Directors of the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League. The Board Director who represents this community is Mrs. E. H. Jaques.

FORTY HOURS
DEVOTION CLOSING

At Sacred Heart Church—Many Present On Closing Night

The annual forty hours devotion at Sacred Heart church came to a solemn close Tuesday night, with solemn benediction and procession throughout the church. Several hundred school children and members of the Young Ladies Sodality, together with visiting clergymen took part.

The devotion commenced at the 10:30 o'clock mass on Sunday and from that time on hundreds of the parishioners gathered at the church for adoration during the exposition hours. Rev. A. W. Warol, S. J. was in charge of the devotion.

On Tuesday night the church was filled to its capacity with members of the parish and visitors. The sermon was preached by Rev. A. W. Warol, and Rev. Francis Kasprowitz, former South Amboy, was celebrant. Rev. Fathers Martin Lipinski and Max Wojek were deacon and sub-deacon respectively.

USE OF TRAFFIC LANES
DANGEROUS PRACTICE

Despite the many warnings issued by Christopher Doyle, watchman at the Hole-in-the-Wall, school children still take unlimited chances in the face of danger, by running and playing in the traffic lanes. The watchman is fearful of the children being maimed for life and requests that parents try to instill into the minds of the danger of being hit by the fast moving cars.

Yesterday shortly before noon, two youngsters narrowly escaped being run down, despite the warning of the watchman of the cars coming. As a matter of fact they deliberately ignored his warning.

CASEY GANG AT SAYREVILLE

The entertainment presented by the Knights of Columbus gang of this city at Sayreville last Saturday night was received with a general outburst of applause on the part of those present at the entertainment. For two hours, the local gang answered rounds of applause and were highly commended by the Sayreville Council for their program.

Quite a number from this city made the trip with the entertainers. The occasion was the dedication of a new home for the Sayreville K. of C. which was formerly one of the houses.

KING ABOUT
THE NEW FORD

It looked rather threatening on Wednesday afternoon as a crowd of 1500 gathered upon investigation of a friendly one. The crowd was composed of many young men, many of whom were claiming to be King. He was in fact more than a good admirer.

DR. KINNEY MAKES ADDRESS HERE

To Members Of Parent Teachers Association Wednesday Afternoon

At the November meeting of the South Amboy Parent-Teachers Association held in the high school auditorium on Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Selden T. Kinney, medical inspector of the local public schools, was the principal speaker. Dr. Kinney talked to the mothers on diphtheria and children's diseases, their prevention and cure. Dr. Kinney mentioned particularly the toxin-antitoxin treatment for making children immune to diphtheria and urged its widespread use not only for school children but also those of pre-school age. He mentioned the compulsory vaccination of children too in the schools in this city, stating that South Amboy was perhaps the only place in this vicinity not having the compulsory rule.

The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Common Council and the Board of Education with reference to having a school nurse next year, and that the amount needed for such a move be included in next year's budget. This matter has already been brought to the attention of the council by the Woman's Club.

Miss Mary Neilltopp's class was awarded the banner for the month for having the largest number of parents present. The attendance at Wednesday's meeting was not as good as at previous meetings.

CASEYS PLAN
SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Members To Be Given Chance To Compete In Debates, Games, Etc.

The regular monthly social meetings inaugurated recently by the Knights of Columbus of this city will be featured with bright spots throughout the winter months. Plans to have a prominent speaker at each monthly session are being considered, and in addition the Council will have local competition by members in debates, games and amusements.

The Lecturer of the Council announced recently some of the plans which include debates, reading, old timers night, surprise night, Keyport night, Sayreville night, Long Branch night, Freehold night, Asbury Park night and Perth Amboy night.

The Lecturer in preparing these events requested only that a large membership turn out for each of the social nights. In bringing to this city a number of orators and entertainers, a certain amount of cooperation is necessary on the part of the members, and their interest to the extent of being at the meetings is asked.

NELSON-GILFEDDER

Miss Agnes Gifedder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gifedder, became the bride of Raymond Nelson, both of this city, on Saturday afternoon in St. Mary's Rectory, Dr. E. C. Griffin performing the ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home on George street.

Miss Gertrude Hatter of South River, was bridesmaid, and Edwin Hatter, of the same place, was best man. The bride was attired in a gown of brown satin with hat and slippers to match. She carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Later in the afternoon, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to parts of New York state, and upon their return they will reside in this city.

INDEPENDENCE LADIES
AUXILIARY RE-ORGANIZES

At a reorganization meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Independence Engine and Hose Company held on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Harold Hoffman on Broadway, Mrs. Harry Macholl was elected president; Mrs. Russell Hardy, vice president; and Mrs. Walter Barkalow, secretary and treasurer.

The organization decided to hold a card party at the fire house on Tuesday, December 15th, with Mrs. Jonas Letts in charge.

Following the business session, a social hour followed, at which time refreshments were served.

LEGIONISMS BY "DUTY WILD"

A visitors day at the Toms River Home has been set for Sunday, Dec. 4th, when the Home will be opened all day for inspection. Special features are being arranged for the afternoon.

We note that former Post Commander and present Congressman Hoffman has taken up a residence in Washington opposite the zoo. If we were inclined to knock, we might say this indicates he is looking forward to engaging in some "monkey business" while at the capital.

Two units of the American Legion Auxiliary are in the process of formation in Italy, one to operate in Rome and the second in Naples. Meetings will be held as soon as charters are received from National Headquarters in Indianapolis.

A reproduction of the Arc de Triomphe was erected at Sioux City, Iowa in honor of the Monahan Post Band when it was officially welcomed back from the Paris convention, where it won the national championship of the American Legion for the fifth time.

After a monster parade, a banquet was given in honor of the bandmen, at which Governor John Hemmell was the principal speaker.

The 40 and 8's will hold what is reported to be the biggest promenade in years at Dunellen on December 20. A large local attendance is planned.

Paris Post Auxiliary has almost doubled its membership since the recent convention of the Legion and Auxiliary was held in that city in September, according to a membership report cabled to National Headquarters from that city.

Rosenberg: Do you know that Stults is two thirds married?

Tustin: How's that?
Rosenberg: He is willing, the preacher is willing, but the girl is not.

We had a joke on Joe McGowan that we would have liked to print in this issue but we must refrain from doing so through lack of space. You know we are only allowed so much space in this paper each week and when we fill that up we are through.

That is always our luck though, when we hear a good joke about someone we would like to print, we find that we have no more space left and we have to leave it out.

But this joke kind of gets on our nerves, we certainly would have liked to print it. You know we have not mentioned Joe McGowan's name in the column for a couple of weeks and Joe is such a hard worker down at the Post we would like to say something about him here to encourage him along.

The joke itself would only take two lines. In the first line Joe says to Louie Rosenberg, Louie, did you ever have a cold that you couldn't get rid of?, and in the second line Louie says, No if I did, I would have it yet.

But just because of lack of space we must leave it out, so we'll have to tell it to you some other time, gentle readers.

BE SURE OF YOUR SIGNALS

By Erwin Greer

Signaling from a motor car ought to be universal. Signals should be the same everywhere and should mean exactly the same under all conditions. If there is any factor of doubt, the value of the signal is completely lost. Furthermore, just one person, the driver, should indicate the course that the car is about to take, because he is the only one who knows with complete certainty just what he is going to do.

It seems almost impossible that there should be any doubt as to the proper signals to use in indicating the various movements of a car in traffic. The generally used system of hand wigwagging has come into being because it comes naturally to most drivers. It has been evolved and not invented, in other words.

Intention of making a left turn is usually indicated by the driver's extending his hand, the left of course, with the index finger pointing in the direction he is about to take. Nothing could be more natural than this gesture and any moron who could miss its significance should have his driving license revoked instantly.

In signaling for a right turn, the ordinary method is to extend the hand out from the car, making a circular motion. This amounts to a call to the driver behind to come on, on the left, informing him that the car ahead is about to make a turn to the right.

Both these signals are obvious, yet any day on a fair road, where cars pass and repass, you can find some of them thrusting out his flabby hand, without the finger extended, yet apparently about to swing left and then have him turn right across your bow without the slightest compunction.

Motor car traffic in these United States has reached a condition, where seemingly minor matters of motoring deportment have become of real importance. With moving cars massed as they are on any main thoroughfare during the active motoring seasons, a very slight failure in caution may cause a serious accident.

AUTO LICENSES READY NOW

The Keyport License Bureau advises drivers to procure 1928 plates as early as possible. The sale of plates is far ahead of last year, which means last minute demand will be high last year. It means waiting for the tardy ones, be avoided by getting your plates at the earliest possible moment. Go early and avoid the

ESCAPE OF CRIMINALS MADE MORE DIFFICULT

A new system of capturing criminals has been put into effect in Philadelphia, and on the first occasion of its use three men were captured five hours after the robbery of a chain grocery store.

The new system consists in telephoning to twenty-three surrounding points and in telegraphing to eighteen others as soon as a major crime is committed. In the past, descriptions of the suspects were sent by telegraph to a few places, but when telegraph offices were closed there followed a necessary delay. The telephone has been found a surer and speedier means. In the case of the three men who were captured on the first occasion of the use of the new system they were caught in Trenton, N. J. "This new system," declares Director of Public Safety Elliott, "blocks every exit from the city."

John A. Erickson,
Who departed from us so mysteriously
two years ago today, Dec. 1st, 1925.
For I who missed you most am the one who loved you best.
When days are dark and friends are few, dear how I long for you.
There may be friends who may be true,
But I lost my dearest friend,
When I lost you,
There may be days of darkness
When the shadows are so fall
But be all through life dear sons of the world true sons to your Mothers
as John A. Erickson was to me
Mrs. Catherine Stader, Mother.

SECOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Surprise Celebration Tendered Mr. And Mrs. Harold Stratton

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stratton gathered at the home of F. M. Stratton of First St.
on Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday, Nov.
23rd, and tendered Mr. and Mrs.
Stratton a surprise party in celebration of their second wedding anniversary.

Being a paper celebration the house was tastefully decorated with paper flowers and streamers and the various amusements indulged in by the guests were centered about the paper theme, the principal of which was a guessing contest as to the contents of the "twenty-five years ago" column in the Thanksgiving week edition of the Citizen in 1947. Mr. and Mrs. Stratton were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts.

In order that those in attendance might have a rehearsal for their Thanksgiving dinner, a delicious luncheon of considerable proportions was served late in the evening. Paper dishes, forks and spoons were used throughout.

After a thoroughly enjoyable evening the guests departed wishing Mr.
and Mrs. Stratton many more happy anniversaries. Each guest was presented with an engraved paper knife
as a souvenir.

Mrs. Frank Scully of New York city visited her mother Mrs. John Conlogue of Augusta street during the past week.

DIG DITCH AT BOTTOM OF CHANNEL TO HOUSE NEW TELEPHONE CABLES

Telephone Engineers Solve Old Dredging Problem by Burying Inter-State Line Equipment Below Bottom of Arthur Kill.

Telephone engineers conferring with Government officials, have solved another telephonic problem and effected a progressive step in the development of the nation's system of communication.

With the completion of the placing of nine huge submarine telephone cables across the Arthur Kill, between Carteret, N. J., and Linoleumville, S. I., the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company announces, the difficulty encountered in the past when dredging operations were going on, has been eliminated.

Governmental dredging operations to keep the channel open for navigation necessitated the constant moving of the cables. To overcome this problem, telephone engineers, in the placing of the new cable system, sank the new cables in a specially constructed ditch eight feet deeper than the required thirty foot depth of the channel.

Here's the cable-layer boat dropping telephone cable overboard to the bottom of Arthur Kill from the revolving reel on the forward deck. Below the artist shows why the new submarine telephone cables to New Jersey resting in their specially constructed trench are safe from dragging anchors.

And the job was done in record time, old cables being removed and the nine new cables containing 2,456 pairs of telephone wires having been placed in less than four months.

These cables carry the major part of the messages between New York, Newark, Philadelphia, Washington and all points south.

Telephone engineers conferred with government officials with the aim of placing cables beyond the reach of the dredge shovels.

The government made available to the telephone company facts concerning the tides, the channel and the rock formations below the channel depth.

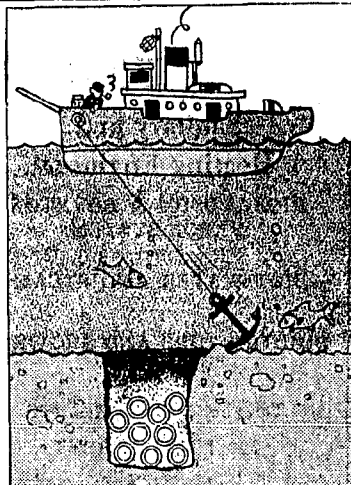

A conference was called and the feasibility of digging a trench in which to lay new cables was discussed.

It was found it would be necessary to go at least five feet below the bottom of the channel—thirty-five feet below the average low mean tide—a colossal task and only four months in which to complete it, for the government very shortly was to begin dredging the channel for shipping.

The day after the contract was let for dredging and blasting, the "Crest," the largest dredge of its kind ever built, and owned by the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company, appeared on the scene.

Simultaneously with the beginning of the dredging, preparations were being made on land for the laying of the cable. Cable houses were built on either side of the Kill. The orders for the cables had been placed with the Western Electric Company, and within seven weeks, seven cables, each

2,600 feet long, had been delivered. With almost perfect weather, great strides were made with the dredging until, a submarine ditch 25 feet wide at the bottom, and extending eight feet below the 30 foot channel depth, had been cut through the mud and rock the entire width of the channel, a distance of approximately 400 feet. The next day, the actual laying of the talkways was begun the cable being laid in the ditch out of reach of dragging anchors.

The cable laying boats of the Long Island Division of the New York Telephone Company and the Western Union Company were used. Each length of the cable was placed on a revolving drum on the boat. For a distance of about 800 feet each cable was laid on the Carteret side. At the end of that distance it was anchored to a chain made fast to shore, and the boat then proceeded outstream following the course of the trench.

A tow cable, anchored to the Linoleumville side, was fastened to a motor-driven capstan on the boat. With this furnishing the motive power, the boat moved sideways across the stream and the telephone cable was paid out gradually to the bed of the trench.

Of the nine cables, eight dropped accurately into the trench the first time. The other missed the ditch at one place by such a short distance that a diver was able to push it into place.

Facts About the Telephone

The first Long Distance telephone line in the state of Ohio was constructed in 1880.

The District of Columbia has over ten times as many telephones as the whole of Venezuela.

During the last five years the number of telephones in use in the city of Birmingham, Ala., has increased almost 80 per cent.

The single city of Los Angeles has more than ten times as many telephones as the entire country of Uruguay.

The United States, in number of telephones per 100 population, has nearly ten times as many as the total world.

Telephones in Connecticut have increased more than 1,200 per cent during the last twenty-five years, from 160 to 288,000 instruments.

The number of American Telephone and Telegraph Company stockholders who own five shares or less is larger than the number of total stockholders of the company.

Small towns in France telephone exchanges are closed between the hours of noon and 2 o'clock, which is the luncheon period, and between 6:00 P. M. and 8:00 A. M.

About 390,000 telephones in New York City are now served from dial central offices.

The first public automatic telephone exchange in Ireland was "cut over" this past summer.

A day and night telephone service has been inaugurated between Copenhagen and London.

In the past ten years the number of telephones in the state of Maryland has increased over 70 per cent.

Nearly one-half of the telephones in use in the state of Massachusetts are located in Metropolitan Boston.

Thirty new Long Distance telephone toll circuits have recently been added to the Southern Bell System in the state of North Carolina.

NEW CABLE PLANNED

A new submarine cable is about to be laid between Detroit and Windsor. This will make the third cable running across the international boundary at that point, the others having been laid in 1919 and 1921.

LOOKING BACK 25 YEARS

Issue of Dec. 6th, 1902

The first real snow storm visited us on Friday morning and it was severe while it lasted.

A horse owned by Howell & Gordon, got away from its driver last week, and was found afterward near Old Bridge.

We are pleased to see that Church street is falling in line to the march of improvement, and have petitioned the Council to grade and curb the street.

John H. Tinker has resigned his position as Master Mechanic for the P. R. Co., at this borough, to take a similar position with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

The Vandergrift Construction Company, which owns and operates the Matawan and Keyport trolley, and are seeking a franchise through this borough, has just secured concessions, and privileges for the building of about 180 miles of trolley in Porto Rico.

The continued hearing on the petition of the Central Traction Company at Borough Hall last Saturday evening, resulted in the petition being thrown out as irregular, and not in accordance with the law. Mayor Muirhead and Councilmen Haines, Hoffman, Kerr and Steuerwald were present. C. S. Buckalew spoke in behalf of the property owners who desire the trolley to run through Ward avenue.

Irving I. Turner has moved from Dangler's building to the store formerly occupied by Salz & Steiner, and will open today with the finest line of clothing ever exhibited in town. To make new friends he will start out with an opening sale and offer some good bargains.

Thieves robbed the post office at Sayreville on November 28, but failed to break the safe open. But very little booty was secured.

Thieves attempted to rob the post office at Metuchen Monday night. The thieves blew off the combination of the safe with a heavy charge of dynamite, but the safe door remained intact and they were still baffled. The night operator at the telephone exchange heard the report and on investigating saw the men at work in the office. The thieves seeing they were detected, escaped.

Miss Dora J. Fredericks, of Moorestown, sister of Mrs. Charles Grace, of Main street, is sick with malignant diphtheria. We are pleased to state that from latest reports she is in a fair way to recovery.

Shot the Wrong Kind of Game
On Monday Disbrow Johnson and Wolff Mahoney started out with dog and gun in search of game, and it made no difference whether it was quail or rabbit that crossed their path down they went. After some good sport had been enjoyed, an unfortunate incident happened. Johnson shot off his gun, a cry from Mahoney went forth and then Johnson learned that the shot from his gun had struck Mr. Mahoney in the face. Fortunately they happened to be some distance apart, and this fact alone saved what might have been a very serious accident. One side of Mr. Mahoney's face was struck but none of the shot entered deeply into the flesh, and it will be only a short time when his face will resume its normal complexion.

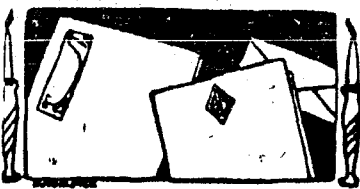

A New Departure
The First National Bank of South Amboy are arranging to open a special Deposit Department. Commencing with January 1, 1903, all accounts in this department of the bank will draw interest at the rate of three per cent per annum, to be computed Jan. 1 and July 1. Amount on which interest will be paid will be determined by the Board of Directors. This is in keeping with the general tendency in banking methods and the citizens of South Amboy will then have an opportunity to deposit their savings in an institution of our own borough and receive 3 per cent interest on same. The First National Bank has capital $50,000; surplus and undivided profits, $50,000 and deposits of $257,000.

A Pleasant Surprise Party
Miss Maud N. Adams gave her cousin, Myra Davis, of Long Branch, a pleasant surprise party on Thursday evening at her home on Augusta st. Games and singing were the features of the evening. Refreshments were served at ten o'clock and they all departed at a late hour. Those present were Misses Myra Davis, of Long Branch, Jennie La Rue, of Perth Amboy, Maud and May Grover, Allie Reamer, Christina Smith and Maud N. Adams; Messrs. Lester Greenleaf and Ernest Standberg, of Perth Amboy; Frank Wilson of Woodbridge; William Langan, Samuel McKenna, Daboy, Joseph Kennedy of Red Bank; vid Grover, Nathaniel Dayton, Oscar Lamberton, William Scully and Chas. Sprague, of this city.

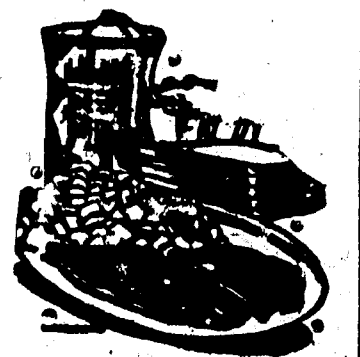

Two Bills for Barbers
The New Jersey State Barbers' Association, which was formed two weeks ago, is preparing to introduce two bills in the next Legislature, one of which will provide for the appointment of a State Board of Examiners, before which all barbers will have to go to be examined as to their knowledge of tonorial practice and another bill will call for the closing of all barber shops throughout the State on Sundays. The first bill, the association intends, will provide that no barbers will be allowed to practice in the State without a certificate from the proposed State board. The association will also seek the aid of legislation to do away with unsanitary barber shops.

White River, in Vermont, on the Rampage

A view of White river in Vermont, showing the submerged fire station of White River Junction, when the waters were at their highest. The flood conditions were general throughout much of New England, scores of persons being drowned and the property losses being immense.

Lignite Miners of Germany Are on Strike

When the German miners of lignite coal laid down their picks and shovels recently they brought about a complete stop of the industry. The photograph shows a group of the striking miners, with their bicycles, in front of the Golpu pit at Zechornowitz.

Eight Years After the War

Chaplain Winter, of Fort Monmouth, a Lieutenant in the A. E. F., was one of a party of eight officers and forty-two men captured by the Germans during the late stages of the World War. They had nothing to eat for four days and were befriended by a German soldier who at great trouble secured food for them. Recently Charles Liston, plumber at Long Branch, was sent to Elberon to look after some water fixtures in a cottage occupied by Winter. Winter recognized Liston as the soldier who had befriended him. Liston has since been the guest of Winter on several occasions.

Auditorium Condemned

Acting upon the advice of the State Board of Education, the Metuchen School Board has ordered the closing of the auditorium on the 3rd floor of the Franklin School for all purposes except storage. The State action followed the report of an inspector which said that the auditorium was not properly provided with exits and stairs sufficient to quickly empty the room in case of a fire. The Board has requested that the use of the room for a study hall be permitted because the elimination of the auditorium altogether will handicap the school schedule and necessitate at once the construction of a Junior or Senior high school building.

"The New Chariot"

To the hundreds of colleges and universities which have now made courses in advertising part of their curricula we commend the advance advertising of the new-model Ford as a piece of work as important and as classic in its own flesh as let us say, Spinoza's "Ethics" in the field of philosophy. Here, if not completely perfect bit of salesmanship at all ages and all climes, is something to rank with the top-notchers. It is rumored that the car will be a six. A startled country rubs its eyes. The rumor is contradicted. It is rumored that the famous hood will undergo a change and that the time-honored radiator is to have its face lifted. This rumor is contradicted. But pictures reporting to represent the new-model car in action and at rest are smuggled to the press, debated by the Nation, disavowed by the Ford Company, replaced by other pictures which in turn are half-confirmed, debated, disavowed—and the car that is-to-be remains consistently on the front page of the newspapers, thanks to a policy of mystery combined with an occasional tip that looks authentic. Not since the Halls-Mills case have so many people so far from the scene of action been giving each other the low-down and telling each other the inside story.

Of course, it is fairly easy for Mr. Ford to turn a trick like this, and a great deal easier than it would be for any other man whose factory was working nights to stock up with new goods. For Mr. Ford is rebuilding something that has become a familiar landmark on the modern scene. That narrow-chested little iron monster which he sprang upon the nation some twenty years ago is not a mere conveyance in which we gad about the country. It is an integral part of the ethos of our generation. By it we gauge the worth of other cars, the wealth of other men, the social standing of our neighbors. With it we are free to challenge time and space, turn our backs upon the dull business of staying put at home and honk off on a Saturday afternoon wherever fancy calls us.

We live in an age runs around on wheels, and the Ford car, first in the field to sell to millions, is a symbol of our new mobility. Why shouldn't we be interested in any radical juxtapositions of its parts? Mr. Ford is not tinkering with a car. He is remodeling a great tradition.—(The World.)

Chose 1929 Auto Plate Colors
Dark gray background with white numerals will be the colors of the 1929 automobile registration plates. The color was selected by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill to prevent any conflict with other states. Inmates of the prison, having completed the 1928 plates, have begun work on those for 1929.

But Ruth and Gehrig Got Theirs
Last Oct. 13, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were to appear in an exhibition game at the Asbury Park high school athletic grounds for which they were to receive $2,500. The game was promoted by William H. Tubby, and the Board of Education was to get ten per cent of the receipts. A Mr. Umberto Grieco held a judgment against Mr. Tubby for $446. Hearing about the money Mr. Tubby was likely to make on the ball game Mr. Grieco sought an attachment on the receipts. Messrs. Ruth and Gehrig learned of the attachment and refused to leave their hotel for the ball field unless they first received their guarantee of $2,500. Joseph L. Donahay, surrogate for Monmouth county provided the guarantee with the understanding that he would be reimbursed. The receipts of the game were but little more than $1,300 of which $350 was paid to the opposing team by Mr. Joseph H. Lyons, business manager of the Board of Education, who handled the receipts, etc. The funds were not enough to pay the guarantee let alone leave anything for Mr. Grieco who appealed to the courts to make Mr. Lyons pay him his $446. The court, it is understood told him to bring suit against Mr. Lyons.

$123,000 In Keyport X'mas Clubs
The two local banks at Keyport will distribute a total of $123,000 to 2,660 members of the 1927 Christmas Clubs. Checks for $75,000 were sent to about 1,500 members of the club of the Keyport Banking Co., and the Peoples National Bank will send out between $47,000 and $48,000 to the 1,160 members of its club. The increase in membership for 1927 over 1926 amounts to about 145 and the money increase is nearly six thousand dollars.

Klan Writes School Board
The Woodbridge Board of Education recently received a letter signed Stone Mountain Klan No. 55, in which it was complained that in the Avenel school there were teachers who did not read the Bible to their classes daily as required by law. Investigation of the complaint developed that the scholars of two rooms were excluded from the daily exercises held in the school auditorium on account of lack of room. The Bible reading was omitted because there were no Bibles available in the rooms in question. The deficiency was remedied at once by order of the Board and now the youngsters hear a passage from the Bible daily. The Klan letter asked that the offending teachers be dismissed "if the task is too arduous or against their convictions."

Gas Surpasses Other Fuels in the Quick and Dependable Service
It Gives

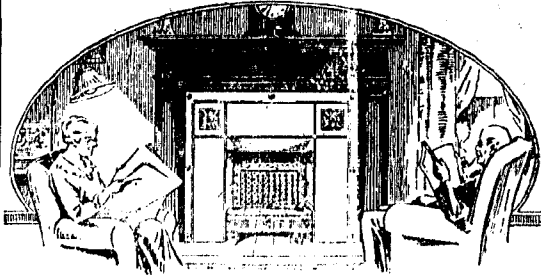

A TOUCH of a lighted match and gas will respond with instant service in every department in which it is used. It is a safe fuel, noiseless in operation, and functions without dirt or odor.

WE would like an opportunity to tell you more about the advantages of gas heating. Our engineers will furnish you with an estimate of the cost of installing and servicing your home with gas heating. There is no charge for this service. Fill out and mail the coupon.

Gas is piped directly into your furnace. Its use involves no problems in storage or waste disposal. When cold weather comes you light the furnace. You turn it off in the spring when heat is required no longer. Because it is thermostatically controlled, the gas furnace raises or lowers the heat automatically. An even temperature is maintained in every room in the house.

Gas is the ideal fuel to use in the fireplace. It fills the room with the warmth and cheer of an open fire, but its use does not entail the work of the latter.

For the room which lacks a fireplace the No. 501 Radiantfire (illustrated below) solves your problem. It is a clever combination of a ten radiant heater and a handsome mantel. The price of heater and mantel is $105 cash or $15.50 down and $8.00 monthly for 12 months. Prices include installation of mantel and connection of heater in living rooms, dining rooms, halls, libraries, or offices where suitable gas outlets have been made.

FRIDAY CHAT

By G. L. Guinand

DECEMBER

Well, here we are in the last month of the year. Dark December has now come and brought with him the shortest day and the longest night and the gloom of winter. Amid cold howling winds, snow storms and sleet (perhaps) the year 1927 will take leave of us. The past months are dead and done; they are beyond our control and their acts are recorded—by some with joy, by many with sadness.

Let us forget the past. It is gone; wisely live the present with a bit of blue sky—it is yours. And when the new year comes around dig in with a smile, without fear and with a man's heart. So don't be a doormat and lie flat, but be a stockholder of the future. There is no pool or corner in that—that's God Almighty's business. If yer can't be a pineapple Don't yer care a darn. But yer best yell'er turnip Thet grows behin' ther barn.

If yet can't be a golden youth With ther blush of ther rose Yer can be a grand old oak Ther toughest thing thet grows.

JOHN BROWN

Today is the anniversary of the death of John Brown.

John Brown was hanged at Charles-town, Virginia, on the morning of Friday, December 2, 1859, for his raid upon the United States arsenal at Harper's Ferry. While of course we all know the story, we naturally forget the date. Brown's body was removed to and buried in North Elba, N. Y. Stevens and Hazlett, Brown's lieutenants were hanged in the following March (1860) and their bodies were taken to Perth Amboy and buried on the estate of the late Marcus Spring (Eagleswood) at the now site of the Municipal Light Plant, right near that little pond of water.

A few years ago their remains were removed to North Elba, and buried near their chief. Their headstones (brown stone) were taken to a lumber yard on State street, Perth Amboy. This writer saw these stones, which were both alike, about two years ago and they were in a splendid state of preservation at that time.

It is terrible thing to dream that you have lots of money and, waking up, find yourself an editor.

It is a waste of material to place a ten dollar "Stetson" over a ten cent brain.

Never be afraid of a woman. Women are the most harmless and agreeable creatures in the world to a man who shows that he has a man's soul in him. A man's fearless respect-able bearing wins ten superior women where his "Stetson", clothes and oxfords wins one.

We often hear of a man being in advance of his age, but who ever heard of a woman being in the same coalescence. Age is her secret. A secret is her slave as long as she keeps it; a secret is her master the moment it escapes her. It seldom escapes—leave that to the ladies.

Hard work and indigestion does not team up and pull together. Some men think they need a physician, when they only need a hoe.

The wise man thinks hard, expresses himself softly and concisely, speaks well of his neighbors, loves his wife and pays for his newspaper.

Jeems' wife lay dangerously ill. They were discussing the cost of the funeral. The minister came in to offer consolation, but was cut short when a bright thought suddenly struck the husband and he exclaimed, "Well, Jennie, lass, ye may not die after all, ye ken."

"Deed, and I hope not Jeems," replied his helpmate, in a low feeble voice, "for I am quite sure than we canna afford it."

DON'T BAWL OUT THE VISITING MOTORIST

Don't "bawl out" the visiting motorist when he happens to break a local traffic rule. Instead try to tell the stranger about the regulation he violated.

This is the advice given by Niels J. Tonnesen, Chief of Police of Perth Amboy, who says that too many motorists show an intolerance for the motor tourist's violations when courtesy is absolutely essential.

"In theory, we all agree that street and highway courtesy are very desirable," says Chief Tonnesen, who is helping the Raritan Automobile Club to become a benefit to all motorists. "Even the motorist who bellows in rage when he is delayed or endangered by another driver will admit the advantages of kindly helpfulness."

"If we are going to have courtesy, we may as well start in the case of the motor tourist. In every city, there are local rules designed to meet certain conditions with which the traveler could not be familiar. If he violates such a regulation, the local driver should not assume the cars, ran continually for a full 24 right to "bawl out" the other man. Instead he should try to set the other right. He should do it calmly and kindly, and if he does it will reflect favorably upon his home town."

"Every city boasts that it extends a welcome to the outsider. As dwellers within the community, individuals pride themselves on their town's attitude. One good way to prove the sincerity of such a boast is to show genuine courtesy to the stranger. There is no better place to begin true hospitality."

TO STUDY OUTDOOR CONDITIONS HERE

The Izaak Walton League of America, powerful nationwide conservation and out door recreation organization which has been called by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, "The greatest force in the country for the protection and development of opportunities for outdoor life", is planning to include this community in a comprehensive survey and campaign to remedy outdoor conditions, it was learned here today.

A complete investigation through local sources is announced by the National Headquarters of the League at Chicago to determine what steps should be taken here in the interest of outdoor recreation, propagation of game and fish supply, and other matters relative to constructive conservation.

This investigation will be undertaken as a part of a nationwide conservation survey being made by the League under the direction of Seth E. Gordon, formerly executive officer of the Pennsylvania Game Commission and largely responsible for the nationally famous "Pennsylvania system" of game and fish administration, National Officers said.

A constructive organization aggressively active in promoting and providing for more fish and better fishing, more game and better hunting, more recreation areas and more opportunities for outdoor sports, is the basis of the League, which also is aggressively combating pollution of streams, commercialization of recreation, fishing and camping.

In his endorsement of the activities of the league, Mr. Hoover added, "As our people increase in numbers and in leisure we must have stimulation to health, and above all the moral value that comes from association with nature. Every member of the League is a further soldier in our ranks fighting an organized battle for this vital thing in the nation."

NEW FORD IS INTRODUCED

Dorsey Motors Gives Out Description of Car To Newspapersmen

Dorsey Motors, Perth Amboy Ford Agency, entertained newspaper representatives from all the communities in the Perth Amboy district Wednesday morning with an explanation of the new Ford car, what it was and what it looked like. The presentation of the details concerning the newest epic in transportation as evolved by Henry Ford was given under the direction of John Powers, manager of Dorsey Motors. He had arranged for several of his organization to aid him in telling about the new car, the talks being made in relays as it were, each speaker taking up some distinct phase of the subject in hand.

Representatives from all the daily and weekly publications in the territory served by Dorsey Motors were in attendance by special invitation of Mr. Powers. When the presentation was ended and a barrage of questions satisfactorily answered—all but the price—the newspapermen were seemingly unanimous in agreeing that the new car appeared to be all that was expected—was a tremendous accomplishment for the Ford interests, and that it would undoubtedly cause a upheaval in the automobile industry and quite likely meet with a very cordial welcome on the part of automobile users. If the price proves to be as low as it is expected it will be, there will follow price drops in other makes of automobiles besides those in direct competition in the low price car field.

There is very little of the old Model T left in the new Model A chassis. And what little there is has been changed so that it is all but unrecognizable. The V-rod, the traverse spring principle and the gasoline tank in the cowl are all that reminds one of the Model T. Everything else, even the name "Ford" will be stamped on a name plate to be attached to the radiator shell instead of being stamped directly into the material, is brand, spanking new, it appears. Not even the tires are spared in the drastic changes. The new Henry Ford product will cavort about on tires of 30x4.50 size mounted on steel spoked wheels of the drop center style. The new wheels are not a wire wheel at all, but steel spoked, spokes radiating straight out from the hub, to branch into three sections at the felloe. Five such wheels are furnished as standard equipment on the new model.

And brakes. No one ever cursed because they couldn't stop the old Ford—but many cursed it because it could stop so much quicker than most others. And now the new model has self-centering, two piece lined brake shoes and four wheel brakes both hand lever and foot pedal actuated. To make a further certainty of the car stopping anytime, brakes are enclosed to keep out dirt and water, and most wonderful of all, they can be—and are—adjusted from the outside, an advantage that probably no other car has. No special tools are required on the new model; ordinary ones will suffice for any operations—the whole car is purposely built that way.

Simplicity and get-at-ability are claimed to be the real keynotes of the new car. It's advent on the roads will, according to the not overly optimistic predictions of Mr. Powers, mark the end of the big repair bills on automobiles. The new type oil pump, yes the new model has one—self starter is removed by taking out is detached by loosening one nut. The three bolts. The generator rides on two bolts. This machine is a real power house type machine reduced in size, easily accessible. And so on all through the car; nothing complicated, nothing the average man can't understand; as Ford puts it, "no need to ever buy a second" car because the other can't be fixed.

The new models will somewhat, it is expected, resemble the Lincoln, ordinarily considered the last word in automobile excellence, and will have a touch of the European style to the bodies—a low, rakish, speedy look. In many of the units going to make up the new model there are many that bear a strong resemblance to the Lincoln units. The transmission, for instance, is the same identical transmission as is used in the Lincoln except for size, the new model being, of course, smaller. The clutch, a dry plate disc type, is similar to that used in the bigger car. A speedometer is actuated by a gear on the propeller shaft.

The rear end construction departs entirely from Ford practice. The wheels ride on the axle housings, the axles are removable without taking the rear apart. Bevel screw gear and pinion drive is used instead of the old noisy, splike tooth.

The engine is where the changes are perhaps most drastic. It develops 40 h. p. at 2,200 r. p. m. and gasoline consumption will give 20 to 30 miles per gallon dependent on car speed. The bore is three and seven eighths inches, the stroke, four and a quarter inches. Aluminum pistons, the 28-pound balanced crankshaft, three point suspension, mounted in rubber, render vibration almost unnoticeable. Lubrication of the connecting rods and cam shaft is by splash system from dippers on the ends of the rods. An oil pump lifts oil to the valve chambers, the valve springs operate in an oil bath, which keeps down the noise and the camshaft is also designed to further reduce valve clacking. From the valve chamber the oil overflows through large pipes to the main crankshaft bearings. The old troublesome timer is replaced with a distributor mounted atop the engine. The brushes and coils, so sensitive ones, are replaced by a single heavy vibrator, mounted on the distributor by short leads. Spark plugs are of the "hot" type. A water pump on the fan shaft, driving the generator, radiator fan and other accessories until it is claimed that the only way the motor can be overheated is by running it without oil or water or otherwise abusing it.

Prices for the new models were announced by Mr. Powers for Dorsey Motors, f. o. b. Detroit, as follows: Tudor sedan, $495; Fordor, $570; Coupe, $495; Sport Coupe, $550; Phaeton, $395; Roadster, $385; Truck Chassis, $460. These prices for the closed model cars represent a price of increase for the new cars over the old models of from ten dollars for the coupe, to twenty-five dollars for the Fordor sedan. The Tudor price remains the same as for the old style.

In announcing the prices Mr. Powers said: "We are now satisfied that we have no competition in the low price car field. In handling the business which will surely come to us now we will observe the rule that first come will be first served."

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES

Plans for the Christmas Cantata entitled "Santa's Surprise Party" are well under way. All children except the Primary Department who desire to take part are requested to be at the church tonight at 7:30. Full announcement as to practice will be made on Sunday. Numerous requests have been received to have the entertainment held in the high school auditorium on Monday night, December 26th.

A good report was received from nearly all of the months on the "Calendar" last Sunday. Those who were unable to report them are requested to do so next Sunday.

Santa visited the Superintendent of the Cradle Roll asking that he be given a complete list of all the babies.

The Junior Department teachers appreciate the work of Brother Selover in cutting the tables to a more convenient size, also the single chairs furnished through the efforts of the Dependable Bible Class.

Brother John Van Cleef is painting and varnishing the chairs, using a color that will harmonize nicely with the white paint and this will help not only to preserve the chairs, but to make the room more cheerful.

At a recent meeting one of our younger people remarked how much the young folks are indebted to the wisdom of the members who planned and provided the present church building; notwithstanding the many changes in the manner of handling Sunday School work, it is found to be well adapted to the present needs. Many improvements have been made, the last being the lamps outside which were presented by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Stratton in memory and honor of their parents.

Many are getting a vision of how the church will look when re-decorated inside and out, everything comes to those who wait, provided, of course, they hustle while they wait.

ROTARY CLUB HOLDS PARTY

Farewell Event Tendered Congressman Hoffman

Congressman Harold Hoffman was given a farewell party by members of the South Amboy Rotary Club on Tuesday noon, with the assistance of a number of radio entertainers. The meeting which lasted for nearly two hours was one of the best held at the local club in "many moons." The attendance was swelled by the presence of a number of visitors and members of nearby clubs.

The presence of the radio entertainers was a surprise to the Congressman and they were brought here by Capt. Howard Lepper, a close friend of the Congressman, who is now the owner of radio station WIBS of Elizabeth. Featured among the entertainers were Brennan and Shaw, the harmony kings of the air, who favored with a number of popular numbers. The members were also entertained by Miss Rose Clark, formerly of the Everglades Club, Chicago, and the "Comets of the Air," with one of the trio playing two selections on the delcima, a musical instrument which is said to have had its origin before the piano. The instrument, however, is played with sticks instead of the fingers.

Following the entertainment program, John A. Coan in behalf of the members of the club gave a word of advice to the Congressman, who in turn responded with a few remarks. Congressman Hoffman told of taking a house in Washington, and that his door would be open to all South Amboyans any time they happened to be in the capital.

The club also heard a talk on "Humor" by Jefferson Harbour, of Fall River, Mass., who has been connected with the Youth's Companion for many years.

The guests were: H. N. Herber, of Woodlawn, N. Y.; J. L. Hammett, of Sauran; Colonel Paul Case, of Asbury Park; Z. R. Moffett, of New York; Rev. Benjamin Myers, Gus Blum, Raymond Jackson and Louis Neuberger, of Woodbridge; Lieutenant Townsend, of Orange; V. V. Roseboro, Sebastian Brinkham, C. M. Peterson and George Reynolds, of Perth Amboy; Loren Morris, of New Brunswick, and Mose Clark, Thorvald Olsen and H. L. Bell, of this city.

BIG FIVE SUFFERS ANOTHER SET-BACK

New Brunswick teams seem to be the nemesis for the South Amboy Big Five for on Wednesday night they were defeated for the second time in a week by a New Brunswick team, this one being the St. Peter's Big Five. Earlier in the week at New Brunswick they were defeated by the Sacred Hearts. The score of Wednesday night's game was 39 to 29. Th box score was:

LIFE'S TRAGEDY

At 25, vigorous, care-free, eager for success. Then 40; healthy, prosperous. Why insure? Why bother, good income, no need.

But 60, castles crumbling, reverses, illness, money troubles, hardship instead of comfort.

And an endowment policy would have saved him, can save you from old age worry. Let me tell you more.

Why Thermosave?

BECAUSE—

1. It saves money
2. It saves labor
3. It is simple of operation
4. It is safe and sure
5. It is clean and durable
6. It guarantees home comfort.

WHAT IS THERMOSAVE?

Just a simple furnace attachment that can be installed on any type of house heating plant. With it the low priced buckwheat anthracite coal is used instead of the stove, chestnut or egg sizes at twice the cost of buckwheat. It is automatic and with it the furnace requires but little attention. Coal it two, perhaps three times daily, using less coal than you do now. You have but half the ashes you do now. The temperature is kept steady all day without running up and down stairs to regulate drafts.

Sold on a thirty-day trial—guaranteed for a full year against worn or defective parts. Serviced for ten years at actual cost of parts, if any. Guaranteed to burn efficiently buckwheat coal on any grate and to automatically maintain temperatures at which the thermostats are set.

Come see us—let us tell you how to get out of being a furnace slave from now on.

NEWARK AUTO SHOW FROM JANUARY 14 TO 21

The tens of thousands who visit the annual Newark Auto Show will see action displays in wider variety and greater interest than any the 113th Infantry Army ever housed before, during the 1928 exposition, from Jan. 14 to 21.

That this will be so, results from co-operation between the exhibitors and the show management, which has reached its height in the preparations for the 1928 display. The influence of Newark dealers with the great motor car companies, and the arrangements of the management for blending the heterogeneous displays into one vast harmonious exposition of the motor industry, have resulted in decisions by the factories to reserve for display here the vivid and educational, as well as keenly interesting, action exhibits which are now in preparation for the national New York show to a greater extent than ever before. Each year the best showmanship and the brightest mechanical ingenuity of the industry unite in the creation of these displays, which at once catch the attention and which familiarize the motorist with what is going on under the hood and tonneau of his car as nothing else could. These are presented for the first time at the national New York show, with all motordom putting its best foot forward. This year, following a precedent already established in recognition of the importance of the Newark show, but in greater volume than in any previous year, these exhibits will be ordered to the Newark armory direct from the New York display, instead of being scattered about the country or returned to the factories for dismantlement.

BENEFIT BOUTS HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Jack McGuire, popular local sports promoter, comes again to the fore for a worthy benefit in staging a boxing carnival at the Sacred Heart Auditorium next Thursday night. The show will start at eight o'clock promptly and will have an eight round go for the title contest. In this event Roy McNeil, of Long Branch, will lock horns with the ever popular Joe Lang of Elizabeth. This corking combination should bring a great crowd of fans from Elizabeth and Long Branch as both fighters have many followers. Bert Eisner, of Elizabeth, and Joe Fenny, of Plainfield, will battle in the semi-final for six rounds. Larry Clemens, of Perth Amboy, and Joey Karslick, of South River, will engage in another of the six round events. The sixes are exceptionally popular contests and have all the ear marks of being lightning in character. They are well balanced and McGuire is to be commended for his efforts in arranging for local fans these fights. "Billy" Inman, local fighting son of Councilman Walter Inman, of Pine avenue, will be seen in action, providing his injured hand is sufficiently healed to permit him showing. McGuire wants it distinctly known that he is not positively sure of Inman, but hopes he will be ready for next Thursday night. Inman is scheduled to meet Young Davies, of South River.

Mickey Martin, of Hopelawn, and Chick Marveloski, of Elizabeth, will battle in one of the fours, as will Young Stout, and Young Syminski both of this city.

McGuire is in full charge of the show, and may be depended upon to put over the undertaking in great style. He has produced in the past and is, reliable in the fight game. He is expected to handle the ring activities personally. The boys know that when Jack is the third man in the ring they must show or stop bluffing. The auditorium should be well filled for this show.

BILLY INMAN SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY

Billy Inman, promising local welterweight, added another victory to his string on Monday night at the fights in St. Stephen's Auditorium, in Perth Amboy, when he decisively defeated Kid Cadillac in the opening four round bout. Inman hit his rival with everything but the water bucket. He weighed in at 150 and Cadillac at 160. Joe McNulty refereed the bouts which attracted quite a crowd, as the main event featured Perth Amboy's pride, Sailor Andrews, who knocked out Tex McEwan of Philadelphia in the second round.

Mrs. Eva Brancato, of John St. has gone to Spartansburg, S. C., to spend the winter. While in the south land she will spend some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Love at Spartansburg.

THIS AUTO PICKS UP ITS OWN ROAD DUST

English Idea Not Needed in This Country, However, Experts Say.

A MANCHESTER, England, engineer 15 years ago patented an apparatus to be used on automobiles which would collect its own dust.

As described by Church Howe, then American Consul at Manchester, the device drew the dust into funnel-shaped conduits which ran from the rear of the front wheels to the rear of the back wheels.

The dust was blown into a central box, either by air pressure of the moving automobiles or by a centrifugal fan geared to the driving shaft of the car.

Such an apparatus would have little success in America today, highway engineers point out. Recent improvements in road construction have eliminated the dust problem almost to the minimum in some sections and even old dirt roads may be modernized by applications of calcium chloride.

BACKYARDS GIVE JOY TO CHILDREN

TURN your backyard into a child's playground! That is an idea growing rapidly in various sections of the United States and Canada.

One of the first to do that was George W. Perry, Director of Parks and Playgrounds, of Orange, N. J., who one year ago established a recreation center in the rear of his property.

So pleased was he with the success of the idea that he told others of it and today a well-established organization, called the Backyard Playground Association of America, is functioning with headquarters in New York City.

In hot weather the most popular part of the equipment is a garden hose which serves as a shower bath for the children.

Those playgrounds have been salvaged from dismal areas of tin cans and other rubbish. The janitor has been enlisted as groundkeeper and director of activities, and when he is of the alert type, he has worked to make the ground quite in keeping with the more ambitious recreation centers, rolling the earth or pounding it down firmly and spreading a thin layer of calcium chloride to keep down the dust.

In the congested districts of the larger cities, particularly in New York, the idea has caught on, the playground experts declare.

The Solo Quartet

by
EDWIN BENT
Director

of the
Edwin Bent Conservatory of Musical
Art, Throughout New Jersey

It was only a few decades ago, well within the memory of many music lovers, when there were a great number of diverse singing organizations in every community or group of communities. Choirs, choral societies, glee clubs, male choruses, and treble clef societies were found in every town. Many clubs and lodges and young people's societies boasted their own choral organizations and in many cases, their own amateur orchestras. This was in the days of the horse and buggy, the Saturday night bath and the Sunday suit. Since that time all the conditions of human life have changed. With the coming of the automobile, phonograph, radio, machines, vacuum cleaners, lights, moving pictures, hot cold water, Pullman dining rooms, phonettes, frigidaire, credit clothing, public libraries, and traveling universities, many new elements have entered into modern life that have greatly speeded up human activities. Whether or not all these devices and institutions are beneficial remains to be seen, but at any rate they are with us and are definitely coloring the texture of modern civilization. Singing organizations have almost entirely disappeared from our clubs and lodges, young people rarely gather together nowadays to study and sing in glee clubs as a quarter of a century ago, male choruses have almost entirely disappeared although there are still a few treble clef societies in some of the most active women's clubs.

The church choir is the only remaining permanent singing organization that still remains in our modern communities. Even in the choir loft the ravages of time have worked great havoc. Chorus choirs are now obsolete except in our most energetic, progressive and constructive churches. Although the chorus choir is the ideal musical organization to contribute the devotional atmosphere to our service of worship, the speeding up of modern life with its many conflicting demands upon the time of every individual have rendered it only rarely possible to find enough individuals capable of singing each of the four usual parts of a chorus with enough time left from their duties to devote to the necessary rehearsals that are requisite for even a presentable rendition of the best sacred music. Upon coming face to face with these apparently universal conditions, many of the weaker churches have completely surrendered to what they consider the inevitable, and have gone to the other extreme of leaving their musical ministries in the hands of a precentor. Music in the church, to have its best effect on the devotional purposes of the service, should be absolutely impersonal. The lone singer answers anything but these requirements and is always a distracting element in a place of worship.

As the chorus choir is the ideal musical organization for every church, and a precentor, no matter how excellent individually, is the least desirable solution of the problem, it has been found by all careful students of the situation that the professional quartet choir is the best suited choral group to aid in public worship. The professional quartet always sets aside sufficient time for ample weekly rehearsals and their own artistic ideals prompt them to give of their best to maintain the highest possible standard in their musical renditions. Although they are not a chorus, the four parts of the choral voices are each represented by a competent soloist and when their ensemble is perfected, the personal element is blended into a harmonious presentation that brings the proper impersonal note into the choir loft.

Since the quartet choir is the only remaining permanent musical organization in many communities, it should take its mission most seriously. Most of the secular musical activities are of very questionable quality so that it remains for these groups of singers to maintain the highest standards of vocal art in their effort to counteract the many disintegrating elements that are so active in the life of the present day community. Music committees and congregations should be most active in encouraging and most enthusiastic in appreciating the comparatively unremunerative efforts of these devoted artists who are today representing in many communities the only sources from which may be heard the best vocal literature of all ages. Fortunately there are a few laymen in each community who fully realize the study and effort to maintain a large repertoire of the world's best sacred music. These few appreciative music lovers are doing a great work for the music advancement of any community by their courage and maintenance of adequate musical organizations in the churches of each community.

At the present time those few churches are fortunate indeed that have both the leadership and the means to maintain a full chorus choir with an adequate solo quartet. Many means are still competent to maintain the solo quartet, are serving the other churches whose leadership and community as well as their congregation in a most estimable manner. Every church should meet its responsibility in this matter by at least serving its people and providing for its own unity of worship in maintaining a solo quartet of sufficient artistic competency to give the best possible presentation of sacred vocal literature that may have been intended to be sung by a full chorus, but which can be rendered today by four properly trained singers. The quartet of today stimulates the chorus of yesterday and still harmonizes with the speeded up activities of modern community life.

I wish to take this means of thanking all those who assisted in any way during the illness and death of my beloved wife. Also thanking those who sent flowers and automobiles to the funeral. ANDREW S. MALIK

Approaches Perpetual Motion

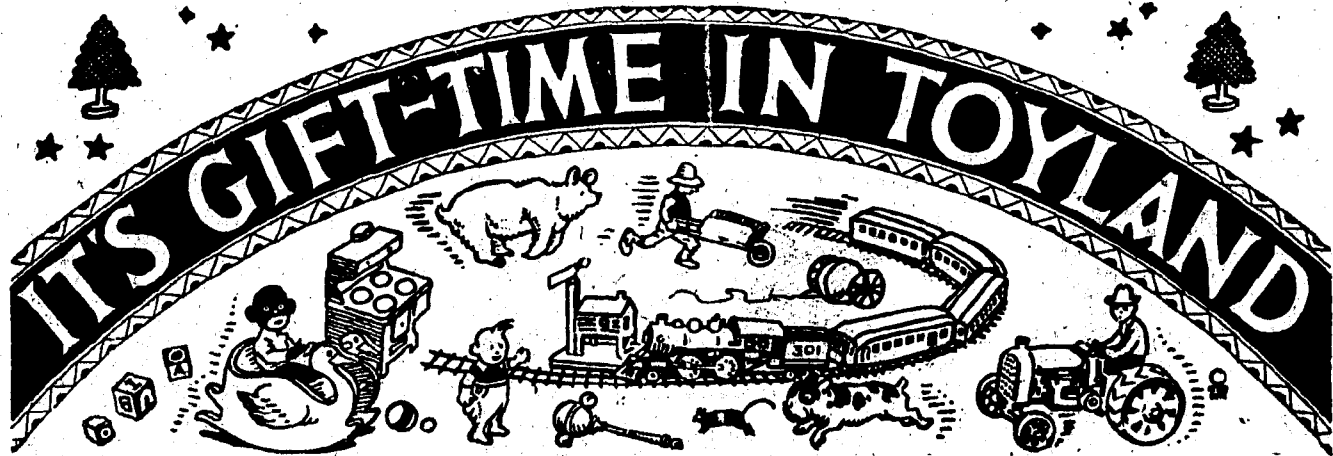

Inventor Henry W. Lavigne of Worcester, Mass., with his motor which builds up a mere spark into horse power to do work and will run indefinitely. It is claimed. The electricity gives off no heat and will not shock. It is said. Experts state that the motor may revolutionize the automobile and airplane industries, and it will be tested on a trip of an automobile equipped with the engine, headed toward the Pacific coast.

St. Rita

St. Rita was canonized in 1900. She is called the saint of the impossible, and is generally pictured holding a bunch of roses. When she was dying, it was in the winter, and cold, and she asked one of the nuns at her bedside to go to the garden to pick her a rose. Those about her bed thought that her mind was wandering, but one of them, as a matter of form, went to the garden, and, behold, on one of the bushes was a beautiful rose.

Your Big Left Foot

Your left foot is larger than your right. In 99 cases out of 100. Science explains it in many ways; but we accept the easiest one, which is that we are a world of left-footed lingers. We lean against posts and door jamba and we do most of our leaning on our left foot; consequently, through the years it has grown to support the weight that the lazy foot doesn't. The next time you buy shoes, have your left foot measured first.
