SCULLY PROPERTY SOLD THIS WEEK TO SUN OIL CO.

Land Held by Local Family for Many Years—Changed Hands
Wednesday—Transfer Is Big Boost to City.

On Wednesday of this week announcement was made by Charles Steurwald, Inc., of Perth Amboy, that the Scully property on the shore front between Henry and Augusta streets had been sold to the Sun Oil Company, negotiations for the sale have been going on for the past two months. Attorney John A. Lovely represented the Scully estate.

Besides the property which comprises about eleven acres of land and the Scully homestead valuable riparian rights are also included.

It is understood that the Sun Company has acquired the right with the intention of locating its principal eastern distributing and receiving station at that point. It is claimed that the company will erect a number of storage tanks and pipe lines and that a wharf to permit oil tankers to dock will be constructed. What disposition is to be made of the homestead is not known.

The sale of the Scully property marks the passing of one of South Amboy's land marks from local hands.

The property was first acquired in 1869 by John Scully, father of Congressman Thomas Scully, who purchased two lots which were deeded to his wife Bridget. During the time the property was in the hands of John Scully, $35,000 was spent in filling in the property, constructing bulk heads and improving the grounds.

During the years it was occupied by Mr. John Scully, the mansion gained fame for the hospitality afforded therein by its owner.

Upon his death, the property passed into the hands of his son Thomas, who like his father was interested in water transportation and was the organizer and owner of the Scully Towing Company.

Mr. Scully when not at Washington, spent considerable time at the homestead and it was frequently the gathering place for some of the most famous statesmen of the day.

Upon the death of the Congressman, the property passed to his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Scully who for a number of years resided there, having within the past year or so vacated the property.

City Clerk Issues

Interesting Data

Results of Research By Local Official in Interesting Booklet Recently Published.

An interesting booklet on the city of South Amboy, compiled by G. Frank Disbrow has been completed recently. The booklet represents considerable research and study on the part of the Clerk and those who have seen the booklet are enthusiastic over the information it contains, which is such that the average citizen, although he may be a close student of city affairs is not usually conversant with.

It contains the names and addresses of the mayor and council, when they were elected and the wards they represent, and the committees of which they are members as well as information on all other city officials.

There is hardly a question on city government that could be asked by the average citizen that is not answered by the information the book contains.

The personnel of the Board of Public Works, the Board of Education, Board of Health, Sinking Fund Commission, Library Board, Shade Tree Commission and Police Department are also listed.

Officials of the fire department, fire alarm boxes and location and pastores of the various churches in the city are also given.

The city tax rate of 6.05 is analyzed showing just how it is made up and there is also detailed information on city assessment statistics, tax monies to be paid to the county this year and complete information concerning the city budget for 1930.

According to the information contained on voters, the total city registration is 4,551, the population according to the 1930 Census 8,470 an increase over 1920 of 578. There are local bank deposits in the amount of $3,428,000 and one thousand registered automobiles in the city.

It is learned from the booklet that during the year 1929 there were 68 marriages, 199 births and 137 deaths. The adult circulation of the library for the year 1929 was 8,775 and the juvenile circulation 7,175. $112.75 was received from fines and $69.87 from rents. During the year there were 239 new members added and 256 books.

The number of children in local schools last year was 2,802 of which 1,102 were girls and 1,202 boys.

This interesting booklet, it is predicted, will frequently be consulted for information concerning the city and will also afford strangers a complete birds eye view of the city government and its workings.

During the convention additional plans were made for the contemplated trip to France.

in Path of Car

Thomas Reddington, of Matawan was taken to the local hospital for treatment on Sunday evening after he had been struck by a car driven by Sidney Becker of 351 16th avenue, Newark.

According to the statement made to the police by Becker, he was proceeding along the back road from Cheesequakes about twenty miles an hour when Reddington suddenly stepped in front of his machine and although he applied the brakes immediately the man was struck by the front fender of the car and thrown to the ground.

At the local hospital where he was rushed for treatment, the injuries received proved to be slight however, consisting of two minor lacerations about the head and the man was discharged early on Monday morning.

Local Business Has Been on Broadway 27 Years Now

Last of Old Group Still Doing Business—Many Changes in That Time.

For twenty-seven years, Dora Ginter has conducted a confectionery store on Broadway at the corner of George street. During this time she has made but three visits to local banking institutions, having on all but these three occasions, sent the money to be deposited. Another interesting item in connection with this record is the fact that she still has the pocketbook in which for a number of years she kept the funds of the business.

Miss Ginter is the sole survivor of the Broadway merchants who were in business when she opened up her store twenty-seven years ago. Some of those who were stationed along Broadway in 1904 have gone out of business, others have moved to different locations and in some cases businesses have changed hands so that today she alone stands as the survivor of the Broadway merchants of twenty-seven years ago.

The southmost merchant in those days was Louis Meinzer, who conducted a general store which had formerly been run by his father. For a number of years the Meinzer store had been an institution on Broadway, furnishing groceries, lamp chimneys and practically everything that the average store carried to the residents of that section and Baptist Hill. The wide front porch of the store also served as a meeting place for the male members of the community who assembled there during warm nights dispensing information and tobacco juice.

James Briggs, who now runs the Chevrolet Sales and Garage business at the corner of Broadway and Main street, ran a grocery store at the corner of Broadway and George street, directly across from Mrs. Ginter's store. The store was conducted by Andrew Perrine before Briggs.

Then further across Broadway stood the store of Andrew H. Slover at the corner of Broadway and John street, the site at present occupied by a barber shop and beauty parlor. The Slover store in addition to carrying all commodities a grocery store was supposed to carry did a large business in feed and grain for which there was a heavy demand in those days when chickens and horses were more numerous than they are now.

Across the street in the little building which now is used by Wood Brown as the headquarters for his auto supply business, Charles Ehrlich conducted a harness repair shop. The automobile forced the discontinuance of this business.

Howell and Gordon, one of the largest firms in the town at the time, conducted an extensive grocery business at the corner of David street. More than one local man and woman can remember the huge sign depicting a colored chef smilingly cutting a huge luscious ham and the caption underneath, "The Ham What Am." Many a youngster who in those days did not know the names of the owners, referred to the store as the "one with the coon picture."

Benjamin Howell, the senior partner of the firm, was for a number of years Congressman for the Third District, and the bitter fight between Thomas Scully and Howell for the honor of representing the district is still talked of as one of the hottest political campaigns the district has ever seen.

Wykoff and Rue conducted a grocery store in the building now occupied by the Chapman Carpet Cleaning (Continued on last page)

Fall Plans Keep Veterans Post Busy

Plan to Move in New Home Soon—Card Party on Sept. 12—Ladies Donate Piano.

On Monday night at its bi-monthly meeting, Daniel F. Sharkey Post held a busy session, when plans were discussed for a lengthy program of fall and winter activities.

Joseph Seaman, president of the Drum and Bugle Corps Association reported that the tickets for the grand drawing for a violin which is being held to equip the corps with uniforms are being disposed of rapidly and there is every indication that within a short time the unit will be fully equipped.

A communication was received from the 78 Division Association which recently held its annual reunion at Camp Dix, expressing regrets on the death of Leo Whalen, post quartermaster and a former member of Company G, 310th Infantry of the division.

Arrangements were also made to take over the property which has been under consideration for some time as a new post home and it is expected that within a short time the post will move into the new location.

A joint card party with the auxiliary will be held on September 12th at a location to be decided upon later. The auxiliary has recently acquired a piano, which has been presented to the post for use in the new home.

Had Buick Car But No License

Newark Man Had Formerly Been Inmate of Rahway Reformatory.

Officers McCormack and Coughlin on Monday took into custody, Joseph A. Howath who gave his address as No. 9 Sherman avenue, Newark. The man was in possession of a Buick car, but could produce no registration or bill of sale for the machine. According to the story he told the police, he purchased the car in August 1929 at Jerome, Pa. for $145 and there was still $90.00 due.

He had in his possession a taxi driver's license, issued by the Department of Public Safety of Newark. Upon questioning, the man admitted that he had served two years in the Rahway Reformatory for the theft of cars from Perth Amboy.

On Tuesday the local police learned that Howath was being sought by the authorities of the Rahway institution since he had two more months of his term to serve.

Francis Dunn Is Drowned at Morgan

Was Swimming in Creek—Former State Trooper and Brother of Police Lieutenant Was Soon to Re-enter Service.

On Sunday evening, while swimming in Cheesequake Creek, Francis J. Dunn, twenty-two years of age of Bay View Manor, was drowned. The body was not recovered, however, until early Monday morning.

Dunn with his wife, had been crabbing close to the head of the creek and were returning in a small boat when Dunn attained in a bathing suit, decided on a swim and dived overboard from the boat.

Evidently, he was seized immediately with cramps, for after he disappeared beneath the water, he never again rose to the surface.

A search to recover the body was begun immediately and a number of boats from the vicinity were rushed to the scene, but efforts to recover the body with grappling hooks were unsuccessful and at a late hour, the search was abandoned until next morning.

When the body was found on Monday morning, it was but a short distance from the spot where it went down.

Dunn, who was born in this city was formerly a member of the State Police and intended within a short time to re-enter the service. He was the brother of Lieutenant Daniel Dunn of that organization.

The deceased is survived by a wife Anna (nee Holton) and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dunn, three sisters, Mrs. William Kilcommins, Katherine Dunn and Barbara Dunn in addition to his brother Lieutenant Dunn.

Funeral services were held yesterday from his late home at 8:30, thence to St. Mary's Church where a mass was said for the repose of his soul.

Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery under the direction of the Gungdrum service.

Mayor and Party at Shore Conference

Bridge to Staten Island Discussed at Meeting—Governor Assures His Approval.

Mayor Andrew Kvist, James Farley and City Treasurer George Kress attended the meeting of the Tri-County League of Municipalities held at Sea Girt on Wednesday evening.

Among the problems discussed was the proposed bridge between Keyport and Staten Island to take care of the shore traffic. Assemblyman Donald Sterner of Monmouth County was present and said that a bill to appropriate $15,000 for a preliminary survey for the bridge will be introduced into the state legislature within a short time. A similar bill will be introduced in the New York State legislature.

When this matter came up before the state legislature last year, it passed both houses and was vetoed by the governor, who has assured Assemblyman Sterner that he will approve the bill when it comes to him again.

Golf to Be Played for Kiddie Keep Well Camp

Joseph Besner Donates Entire Proceeds of Washington Ave. Course Opening Tomorrow to Kiddie Keep Well Camp.

It is expected that tomorrow night will see a large number of local residents wending their way around the miniature golf courses that have been constructed in this city at the corner of Washington avenue and Pelus street. Workmen during the past week have been rushing the course to completion and now everything is in readiness for the opening.

The proceeds from the first night's affair will be given over to the Kiddie Keep Well Camp, of which Mrs. Howard D. Little of this city is a member of the Board of Trustees. Members of the local Woman's Club will act as hostesses, a committee having been appointed by Mrs. A. J. Fenzel, president of the club. An effort is being made to have Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman start off the festivities.

Joseph Besner, owner of the course, has announced that each week he will award to the person turning in the lowest score on the Augusta street and Washington avenue courses, a season's pass to that course.

MODERN CITY MAY BE LOCATED IN CHEESEQUAKE

Option Has Been Taken on Land in That Section—Claim Many Factories Signed Up—Opening Celebration in Fall.

Among the plans, Mr. Wm. T. Love, newly elected secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, has put before that body is a project in which he is interested to form a "Greater South Amboy" area.

A number of local men have become interested in the plan he has conceived for a city of a million population to be laid out upon the unoccupied land lying between Old Bridge and Cheesequakes.

It is understood that for some time past, Mr. Love has been arranging options on land in the Cheesequakes neighborhood and plans to secure options on additional acreage for this purpose are being made.

The wonderful water front, the strategic location of the neighborhood, served by three railroad lines and other features which this section offers for development purposes and for the location of industries and homes has deeply impressed the secretary.

According to Mr. Love sixty-eight factory owners have already been contacted with regard to locating in the section and have been signed up to construct factories here. Some of these are industries already established at other points and some are new. Arrangements for the securing of other manufacturers are going on and within a short time it is expected that additional deals will close. The industries already located represent a capitalization of over eighteen and a half million dollars.

Mr. Love, who has for 46 years, promoted similar enterprises, has planned a city on the site, somewhat along the lines of the "Garden Cities," which have in recent years proved so popular in England.

In addition to the industries which will be located on this new sight, plans have been made to take care of residential demands also and the city will contain as well as factory sights, sections devoted entirely to homes.

Among the inducements Mr. Love plans for the location of industries on the sight are rent-free buildings, two per cent. a year money, and no city taxes.

A big celebration marking the birth of this proposed new city is to take place some time during the coming fall and an ambitious radio program to advertise the project is being arranged for.

Local Auto Mechanic Turns Airplane Expert

Was With Aviation During War—Over 100 Flying Hours To His Credit.

Frank Batterson, well-known automobile mechanic of upper Main street, staged a sudden transformation from automobile expert to aviation mechanic on Tuesday afternoon when a small Curtis single seat plane suddenly appeared out of the sky and landed in Davis' field, but a short distance from the garage.

In answer to an inquiry from Rod Rodgers, of Westfield, pilot of the plane, if there was anyone in the vicinity of the garage who knew anything about airplane engines, Frank crawled from under the car he was repairing, with a smile, and accompanied the pilot to his plane which was standing in the nearby field. After substituting a spark plug and making some minor adjustments, the plane was ready for action and in a few minutes took off, resuming its journey.

Rodgers in a Curtis and a friend in a Waco, had started out on a cross country trip. When over St. Mary's cemetery, the engine of Rodgers' plane started missing and he descended.

Batterson had no difficulty in immediately locating the engine trouble since he is as familiar with airplane engines as he is with automobile engines, having served during the war since he is as familiar with aeroplanes with the 177th Aero Squadron. During his time in the service he was in great demand and was called to all parts of England to handle difficult cases. Batterson has over one hundred flying hours to his credit.

"THE MESS KIT"

BY "WOOD BURNS"

Among the thousands of veterans who will gather together at the coming national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Baltimore next month will be one ex-service man who is in a sense outstanding from any other former service man in the United States, regardless of what war may be under consideration.

He is Edward F. Younger, 32 of Chicago, the man who picked the body of the unknown soldier.

At the present time, Younger who belongs to Columbia Post No. 833, V. F. W. of Chicago, is a postal employee in that city. He was recently appointed national aide-de-camp to Commander in Chief Duff.

During the war Younger served in Company A, 9th Infantry and saw overseas service from September 21, 1917 until July 1919. He enlisted February 23, 1917.

On Memorial Day of this year, Younger upon invitation from the War Department attended the Memorial Day services at Arlington in Washington, D. C. During his stay in that city he was the guest of the various V. F. W. Posts of the capital city.

In deference to Younger's role in the selection of America's Unknown Soldier the Chicago veteran will be accorded recognition as a distinguished guest of the Baltimore encampment where he will occupy a place of honor on the platform during the sessions.

One of the questions that will come before the national encampment which opens next month will be the problem which has in a way affected every V. F. W. Post in the nation, the Red situation.

A congressional committee which has recently studied this menace to the welfare of the country has made known its findings which will be placed before the convention.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars was among the first organizations in this country to point out the menace these radicals are to the welfare of the country. Feeling that these people constituted one of the greatest hazards to the safety of our nation, the organization a number of years ago entered into a program designed to arrest their activities and secure their deportation.

The sum of three thousand dollars has been set aside by the committee in charge of the national encampment for cash awards, cups and medals to be won in competition between drum and bugle corps and other musical units during the convention.

In addition to contests for musical units which will be sent to the convention by the various Posts throughout the country, there will be events in which the drill teams of Posts and Auxiliary units will meet in competition.

Frank W. Crilly of Philadelphia who will have charge of the diving operations on the submarine which will carry the members of the Sir Hubert Wilkins expedition to the North Pole, the first attempt ever made to reach the North Pole by submarine, will be present at the convention to take place in Baltimore.

Crilly is a Congressional of Honor man and a member of Captain H. G. Sparrow, All Navy Ship, V. F. W. of Camden.

A V. F. W. insignia recently presented to Crilly by the Camden County Council will be carried with him on the trip and when the submarine reaches the pole will be released.

Harold I. June, a member of Shenandoah Post No. 133, who accompanied Byrd on his recent expedition to the South Pole, released a similar emblem when the South Pole was reached. Crilly's release of the emblem at the North Pole, will make the V. F. W. maltese cross the first emblem of any organization to be placed on both extreme ends of the earth.

Edward Freedman, 18 years of age, Roxborough high school boy, was the first boy from that school to win the University of Pennsylvania scholarship offered by Hattal-Taylor of Post No. 333 of Philadelphia.

A number of Posts throughout the country have established similar scholarships and the plan is meeting with great favor and enthusiasm.

Post No. 1112 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States will constitute a living memorial to an eighteen year old youth who went to his death in Flanders Fields wearing the uniform of his country. This unit of former overseas veterans will henceforth be known as Arthur Bernard Johnson Post No. 1112. The young hero attended high school in Little Falls, Minn. until he joined the army at the age of eighteen in March 1918. Johnson a private in the Fifth Battalion, Signal Corps, was wounded in action on July 22, 1918, and died on the following August 2nd.

Past Commander John Connors of the Post was among the many men from this city who attended the annual reunion of the Lightning Division at Camp Dix last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

At the national encampment this year, further steps will be taken toward a reunion of the remaining veterans of both the Union and Confederate armies at Washington, D. C. Proposed legislation making possible such a reunion which was favored by various veteran's associations died in committee during the past session of Congress.

A new bill known as House Resolution 14461, presented by Congress-

THE FEATHERHEADS

By Osborne

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

By F. O. Alexander

man Edgar Howard of Nebraska, provides for a joint reunion of these surviving veterans by authorizing the appropriation of sufficient money from the United States treasury to pay the expenses that would be incurred by such a gathering. This bill also names General John J. Pershing as chairman of a commission composed of members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Spanish American War Veterans and the American Legion which is proposed to handle the matter.

"These veterans of the Blue and Gray, marching arm in arm down Pennsylvania avenue, their thin waning lines united behind one flag, would give our own people as well as the world at large, an ideal object lesson in the doctrines of brotherly love and the blessings of peace", Commander in Chief Duff has said.

A Post Commander who is a good one is a valuable article in the catalogue of equipment of any Post and Fred H. Langworthy learned it recently when he handed in his resignation as Commander of Captain Walter Reed Post No. 1717 of Havana, Cuba.

Langworthy is a prominent newspaper man and was offered a job in Panama which, although he regretted to leave his Post, he could not afford to turn down.

The boys refused to accept his resignation when it was presented and Langworthy is still Commander of the Post in Cuba although he resides in Panama.

Membership in the local Post is something sought after by a number of people who because they have not had service in Uncle Sam's forces on a foreign soil during time of war are not eligible for membership. The writer was approached recently by a man who desired membership in the local Post. He said he believed he was entitled to membership, since he had fought on foreign soil. Further inquiry revealed the fact that he had once been in a fist fight in Sayreville.

Post No. 1237 of Springfield, Ill., recently dedicated a granite monument to the memory of Colonel D. M. Otis after whom the Post is named.

Colonel Otis was probably the best known medical officer with the A. E. F., he was the surgeon in charge of Camp Hospital No. 40 at Knotty Ash, England.

Commander Anton Walczak of the local Post is one of the two delegates who will represent the local Post at the coming national encampment. Commander Walczak will attend all sessions of the encampment from August 31st to September 6th.

STATE PLANS TO REPLACE RABBITS KILLED BY AUTOS

Automobiles are adding to the cost of hunting in New Jersey. Speeding cars on the improved highways are taking such a toll of rabbits that the Fish and Game Commission has decided to import 5,000 additional western cottontails to help offset the loss. This destruction of game is recognized by the Commission as unavoidable, with increased restocking as the only solution to the problem of keeping up the supply of the State's most popular small game animal.

With the increased order, the State will import a total of 20,000 rabbits next year. These will be distributed under direction of state wardens in the various counties.

LOOKING BACK 22 YEARS

William Rue, the gas fitter employed by the Citizens Light and Fuel Company of this city, was overcome by gas while working near H. Wolff & Co's. store last Saturday afternoon. Two doctors were in attendance upon him for a while, and it was with much difficulty that he was restored to consciousness. On Monday he was able to resume his work.

Mr. Charles T. Mason spent Saturday and Sunday in Buffalo, on a visit to his brother, the Rev. A. H. Mason. Mr. Mason left his wife in Buffalo for an extended visit.

Miss Madge Mohoney returned on Wednesday night from a visit of several days at Freehold.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Newton have been spending the past week in Northern New York State and Canada.

Miss Ruth L. Locker returned home on Sunday from Trenton, where she had been spending several weeks.

Miss Alice Downer of Glasboro, is spending a week with her brother, and is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Perkins of David street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allen, of Main street, spent Monday and Tuesday in Keyport. They were among the most interested spectators at the carnival.

On Tuesday Harry Bloodgood and William Howell started out sailing in a skiff. Captain Howell took the helm and as the wind was blowing brisk, the boat glided swiftly along and Howell wore as large a smile as he would if he was commander of the Lusitania. But it was a smile that soon came off. An ugly squall was nearing the boat, which was quickly perceived by Bloodgood, who immediately eased the jib sheet, and at the same time called for Howell to ease the boat up. Howell, whether from excitement or otherwise, it is not known, did just the opposite and upside down went the skiff near the channel bank and the two occupants were thrown into the water. Fortunately John B. Edwards was out sailing in another skiff and he noticed the accident. He immediately went to the aid of the unfortunate men and rescued Howell first, as he was becoming exhausted and afterward picked up Bloodgood. Efforts were then made to right the skiff, but this was a difficult task because the mast had become stuck in the mud. After some hard work the boat was righted and towed ashore. All the articles in the boat were lost, except a fishing pole, which fortunately had been caught in a line.

Howell says his experience on Tuesday of sailing a boat, is enough to last him for some time, and he prefers hereafter to do all his sailing on land.

A list of names as Republican members of Boards of Registry and Election in this city as presented to the County Board of Elections is as follows:

First ward, Peter A. Stultz, Oliver Mathis, second ward, John W. Buchanan, Samuel Locker; third ward, Frederick Diebert, Jr., James Hackett; fourth ward, not filed.

It looks as though this list would have to be revised before final action by the county board, as neither Mr. Buchanan nor Mr. Locker reside in the second ward; neither does Mr. Diebert nor Mr. Hackett reside in the third ward.

The way the wards are outlined, some houses will be partly in the third ward and partly in the fourth.

The commissioners appointed by the court to divide the city into four wards, met in the Post Office building on Tuesday and again on Thursday night. The aim of the commission has been to divide the territory so as to leave the population as near even as possible.

There are in the various territories named as the new wards, 1634 voters divided as follows:

First ward—419 voters.
Second ward—414 voters.
Third ward—411 voters.
Fourth ward—390 voters.

The rule is to multiply these by five, giving us a little over 2,000 inhabitants to each ward on the average.

The State Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America held its twentieth annual session in the Criterian Theatre, Bridgeton, on Wednesday. Three hundred and seventy delegates were in attendance. E. P. Wilson, A. M. Hamilton and Charles Egan represented Washington Camp No. 35 of this city.

Five years more and the German Empire will come to an end. So at least says a prophecy made in the nineteenth century by a monk named Hermann who lived in the monastery of Lehnin in Brandenburg, where he wrote a work in Latin concerning the future destiny of Germany for many centuries. The work is styled the "Vaticinium Lehninense" and it is in verses after the manner of sibylline books.

In 1840 William I. King of Prussia consulted a celebrated soothsayer who in answer to his queries told him that he would ascend the throne in 1849, that the German empire would be established in 1871 and that he would die in 1888 and that the German empire would come to an end in 1913. The first three prophecies have been fulfilled to the very letter.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ARE ON CAMPING TRIP

The Parlin Camp Fire Girls left Monday morning on the 7:15 to Penn Station, for a 16-day camping trip. Camp Tahadac, Arden, New York. The fourteen girls and guardian wore the regulation costume which made a very pleasing picture—white middy, blue tie, tam, shirt and arm-band, and black stockings. They were to be taken to camp from the Penn Station, N. Y., by the busses provided by the camp. The girls looked as though they were anticipating a pleasant vacation, if one were to judge by their beaming faces. radpro

IT'S WISE TO  CHOOSE A SIX

Announcing a new production record

2,000,000 Chevrolet Sixes now on the road

Since January, 1929, Chevrolet has produced and sold over 2,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles—nearly five times as many as any other manufacturer has ever built in an equal length of time.

These 2,000,000 buyers have chosen Chevrolet because it offers many desirable qualities not obtainable in any other car so low in price—

—the smoothness, silence and flexibility of a modern six-cylinder engine—the comfort and roadability of a modern, full-length chassis—and the style, safety and distinction of bodies by Fisher.

Yet, despite these fine car advantages, the Chevrolet Six is unusually economical. Its gas, oil, tire and upkeep economy is unsurpassed. And

GRADE CROSSING ELIMINATION IMPRACTICAL

The futility of attempting to reduce grade crossing accidents by eliminating the crossings, is disclosed in a recent statement by Harold G. Hoffman, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of New Jersey.

According to Mr. Hoffman, we have spent $180,000,000 in the last three years in eliminating crossings. Despite this, the number of crossings is steadily increasing because of the construction of new highways.

Adequate warning devices, erected
either by the railroads or the states, should be at every crossing. Beyond this it is up to the motorist. He knows trains will not stop for him and that he must stop for trains. He must take every precaution, even as the Supreme Court stated in an important decision, to the point of getting out of his car to determine whether or not a train is coming, if necessary.

During the last four years accidents at grade crossings have averaged 5,783 a year, of which 1,272 were caused, not by trains striking automobiles, but by automobiles striking trains. It is not uncommon for serious accidents to occur at the best protected crossings. In an overwhelming majority of cases, the accidents result from negligence on the part of motorists.

It is worthy of note, in this connection, that since the war the railroads have made remarkable safety records in every phase of operation—
with the single exception of grade
crossing accidents, which are beyond their control. If warning signs or signals on the railroad right of way
do not afford adequate protection,
state highway commissions can erect supplementary devices. The rest is up to drivers.

WHAT IS A LOW COST ROAD?

At the present time many of our states have started on intensive secondary road building programs designed to provide agriculture with
year-round contact with its markets
through the medium of paved, weatherproof highways.

Obviously, secondary roads of this type cannot be constructed by the same expensive methods as main highways. Yet they must be practical and long-wearing. Too many localities have considered first cost only in designing so-called "low cost" roads,
disregarding the equally important factor of maintenance.

A study by Washington State College discloses that tire wear is four or five times as great on crushed
rock and gravel roads as on bituminized surfaces, and a report by the Iowa State College shows gasoline consumption to be 25 per cent higher.
In addition, maintenance costs of gravel or rock are often excessive.
Though some roads are cheap in the first place, they are not entitled to the classification of "low cost."

It has been the general experience that an asphaltic oil road surface is the most efficient, economical and best wearing per dollar in rural communities. Initial cost is somewhat higher than gravel or rock and maintenance cost lower. The savings in gasoline consumption, tires and wear and tear
on vehicles will often more than pay for the difference in a short time.

Farms must have year-round roads.
Every state should carefully investigate to find the surface material that will give the best results for the lowest cost over a period of time.

LITTLE TOT IN HOSPITAL FOLLOWING OPERATION

age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fuller of Main street is in St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick, reported to

of a recent operation for the removal of a nodule from his lung, which the boy swallowed some time ago.

The operation was performed on Friday last by Dr. F. M. Hoffman of New Brunswick.

CLIPPED EDITORIALS

A FINE PLANT

According to Patrick Rock, who ought to know, the clambake given the employees of the duPont plant
at Parlin on Saturday was the largest affair of the kind ever held in Middlesex county. Even the City Club, which is staging a barbecue at Farrington Lake in September, will have to go some to establish a better eating record.

At the duPont affair, something like 44,000 clams, 2,600 fish, 8,000
frankfurters, 4,400 ears of corn and bushels of potatoes were consumed.
All that is interesting and enlightening, but not so informative and satisfying as the realization of the number of employees participating and
the purpose for which it was given.

At the present time nearly 1,000
are employed in the Parlin duPont plant. Few know that so many are employed and that duPont interests have such a strong and important place in the social and industrial structure of Middlesex county. The Parlin plant was expanded primarily to meet the unusual demands of the World War. When that conflict abated, when men no longer were compelled to go and kill and be killed
under orders of superiors, the duPont firm, with keen foresight and under excellent direction, initiated a readjustment of its interests so that today, while the whole world is disturbed by overproduction and resultant unemployment, the Parlin plant ranks as one of the largest and the soundest in the county, as other du-Pont plants so rank in other districts.

The clambake was in recognition of a safety campaign which was conducted by J. D. Shiels, plant manager, and George K. Nickel, safety and personnel manager, and of an unusual record which was broken on July 25 when an employee fell off a ladder. Previous to that the Parlin plant had been operated 3,500,000
man hours without a serious accident
or a major injury, breaking the record of another branch of the company made in 1926.

In view of duPont's resistance to depression, in view of safety measures adopted, in view of recognition of employees' devotion, and in view of a good many other things, it will be readily admitted that the company is a good one for any individual to be connected with. Without du-Pont, there would be no Parlin, and the entire county would be the loser.
Middlesex hopes it always will have its Parlin plant. In view of past achievements, that may be anticipated without misgiving. — New

DROUGHT CAUSE OF WATER SHORTAGE IN SECTIONS

Last summer's lack of rainfall which wrought havoc among trees the country over is being repeated in this summer's drought. Already wells are growing dry, grass is getting burnt and sere, and foliage, in general, is taking on the dry, dusty appearance denoting a long session of moisture-less days. Shade trees on lawns and on city streets are the greatest sufferers at this time for it takes more than a light rainfall or a heavy shower to bring them relief.
This is the time, says Martin L.
Davey, noted tree expert, when trees need the help of mankind. Artificial watering, properly done, will give them the moisture which will insure their health. How great a quantity of water is needed, the average person is ignorant of, he pointed out.

"If you want to try an interesting experiment" he said, "wait until there is a heavy rainstorm following the present drought. Dig down underneath the sod and see how dry and powdery the earth is. This is due to the fact that the grass under the tree is also thirsty and it has had
the first chance to drink in the water with the result that all too often the tree gets an insufficient supply.
Trees will do amazing things to secure the water that is so essential to their existence. They will often send their roots hundreds of feet in search of any available supply."

Watering a tree merely by sprinkling a hose on the ground beneath its branches is not enough, he warned.
In order to be sure that the water
penetrates below the sod to the tree roots, the soil beneath the spread of the tree should be perforated with a spading fork. The holes should be about eight inches deep. Then turn on the hose and let the water run slowly for several hours. This entire watering operation should be repeated at least once a week in times
like these.

Miss Helen Campion of upper Bor-downtown avenue, has been confined to her home during the past few weeks
with a nervous disease.

JUST A LITTLE CHAT

By
G. L. GUINLAND

It is estimated by the Travelers Insurance Company that 16,500 persons lost their lives in automobile accidents, in the first seven months of this year.

These figures compare unfavorably
with the first seven months of 1929, which were 15,400 deaths. This shows that this year's motor mortalities were 7.09 per cent. more numerous than last year's.

When one has these sad and astounding figures before him; it should cause deep reflection on his or her part. It should make a driver more careful and a pedestrian more cautious.

If you sleep with one eye open while driving a car and if you are not wide awake while crossing the street—you too may be one who may be looking up at the roots of the flowers in some churchyard. Don't be one of the missing, in the next seven months' report of motor mortalities.

Our Commissioner of Motor Vehicles has been writing a series of articles which are valuable to all owners of automobiles. They were published in the newspapers.

Mr. Hoffman has conceived the happy idea of bringing mighty fine
information and valuable instruction, in a friendly way right into the home.

The notable feature of it all is; no intelligent man or woman can afford to encourage the fatal folly of careless driving.

Sane caution is the keynote of his desire.

Taking a chance is a few seconds to hell.

Taking a chance will give some undertaker a job.

Taking a chance will make a vacant chair.

Taking a chance will cause broken
hearts.

So, why take a chance? You don't have to. Heed the commissioner's advice, "Don't Take One."

"Yes sirree," said the red nosed man, "yes sirree, if we want to balance both sides, we must take the lean with the fat with good grace—
got a cigarette?" I ain't got no sweet song of praise about myself—thanks for the cigarette.

"A man with a
lean pocketbook has a warped mind;
he has distorted views of society. He thinks the present depression is a dreary conclusion to everything."

"This nation is going right along to fat times again and the world ain't coming to no end—God Almighty has something to say about that—got another cigarette?" Thanks!

"A cheery greeting to all, for we are going to have the fun of beginning all over again."

"Don't mind if I do. Sure I know the place right around the corner."

Recently I read an interview or sort of an exchange of wits between Einstein, of Relativity fame and Tagore, the poet. I quote just two questions and answers:

Einstein—Truth, then, or beauty
is not independent of man?

Tagore—No, I do not say so.

Einstein—If there were no human beings any more, the Apollo Belvedere would no longer be beautiful?

Tagore—No!

Einstein—I agree with this conception of beauty, but not with regard to truth.

In regard to Einstein I believe that I understand him to mean, that truth,
like everything else must be relative to something. Therefore the truth of beauty of the Belvedere is established by man by comparison of man.

The statue Apollo Belvedere may be a thing of beauty to so-called art lovers, but its prototype the human figure has always been a joke to me.
Bow legs, knocked knees, flat feet,
crooked toes, large hips, narrow shoulders, protruding stomach and what have you.

My imperfect and far from beautiful self is included in all this. And

THE SOUTH AMBOY CITIZEN

I simply don't care a hang.

The human form divine is a lotta bunk—a catch-ponny fraud. The Apollo Belvedere statue is too darn perfect to be comfortable among regular guys. Remember the old song "One of his legs is longer than it really ought to be." Perhaps you have heard the story about the maiden who did not fall for the poet's "human form divine" stuff,
anyhow here goes:

A man and a maid were standing on the balcony of a hotel at a summer resort—the maid was standing in a silvery sheen of moonlight—
the man said, "Oh, but you are beautiful, you exemplify the human form divine."

The maiden replied: "Cut it out brother, my room number is 28."

To adults the nude human form
is not the poet's human form divine, it is common as dirt to a person with good eyesight and we all know that it is far from the poet's dream in re., perfection. And,
just why talented men—in all ages
—with mallet and chisel fabricate
this subject is beyond my ken. As for me, give me the clean cut lines
of a thoroughbred horse and a setter dog.

To all who get a thrill out of the "nude" in art, with a fig or a cabbage leaf in front, which never grow there. I simply respect your privilege as to taste. I meekly bow to superior culture and apologize to difference of opinion.

MELROSE

The Melrose firemen were called out on Monday morning shortly before 2 A. M. to assist the Sayreville Engine Company in fighting a fire that started at the plant of the New York and New Jersey Clay Products Co.

The fire had a good start when the Sayreville Engine Company arrived on the scene and a call was immediately sent to the Melrose and South River firemen for assistance.

The fire started in the boiler room of the plant and rapidly gained headway, by the time the firemen had reached the factory practically the entire building was in flames.

When Fire Chief Harold Phair
arrived on the scene, he directed his men and hose to protect the tanks containing over 150,000 gallons of oil, which is used for heating the kilns.

Superintendent W. N. Arehart
was warm in his praise of the excellent work of the firemen and stated that the work of rebuilding

The Melrose Fire Department
baseball team added another to their string of victories last Sunday morning when they won from the Laurence Harbor firemen on the President Park diamond by a score of 7-2. Cisquowski and Bill Albany divided the pitching and Steve Malik did the receiving. Malik and Albany both came through with a circuit drive.

The Melrose manager has been promised a game with the Mechanicsville firemen for the last two Sundays, but on both occasions the game was called off. The Melrose manager is beginning to think his boys are in a class with the Mechanicsville ball tossers, or maybe a little better.

Next Sunday morning, Melrose
will oppose the Union Beach firemen on the President Park diamond,

the game will be called at 10:30.

Stephen Malik of Oak street is enjoying an annual vacation from his duties at the DuPont plant at

Sunday to play with the South River boys to a 6 to 5 victory over Duke's Ranch, after playing 13 in-

run to his team's total.

Last Sunday the Carteret American Legion team bowed in defeat before the Melrose A. A. by the score of 6 to 3. Joe Baranowski

of Melrose opposed Mitlitz of Car-
teret on the pitching mound.

RELIEF FROM CURSE

OF CONSTIPATION
A Battle Creek physician says,
"Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation.
Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at

FALL-BLOOMING BULBS

B. A. C. McLean
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Two of the little-known fall bulbs are the crocus and the colchicum. They are very much alike in their habits and appearance, but they belong to two entirely distinct families of plants. The crocus is a member of the iris family, while the colchicum belongs to the lilies. They resemble the spring crocus in bloom but most of them are larger in size. Bulbs of the crocus and colchicum should be procured as soon as possible. They are now in the American trade.

These bulbs should be planted by September 1 to make a good fall bloom the following year. Some bloom early in September—others not until October and even late November. They are all hardy, and, planted in borders, give color and some flowers late in the fall when nothing outdoors is blooming except chrysanthemums.

They also do well forced in water and will bloom without showing any foliage growth. Both of these bulbs bloom in the fall and do not make leaf growth until the following spring. Some of the best colchicums are autumnale and speciosum. The best fall crocus are iridiflorus, sativus, speciosus, itichionii, and zonatus, although any of the kinds are good and very interesting plants.

CUT THE GLADIOLUSES

By A. C. McLean
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Frequently home gardeners ask what effect, if any, the cutting of gladioluses for their bloom has on the bulbs. There is no objection to this practice; in fact, it is beneficial. The bulbs will be much better next year if the flowers are removed this season and not allowed to wither on the plants.

The main caution is not to remove too much foliage when cutting the blooming stalk. However, do not be afraid to cut stalks long enough so that they will have a good stem on the head. Leave at least four good leaves on the bottom of the plant; these will be sufficient to mature the bulb for next year.

The main thing in properly maturing a good bulb is not to let the weeds grow after the gladiolus has bloomed, and keeping the ground stirred to let air and water into the roots. Dig as soon as the leaves start to turn yellow. Letting the plant die down and thoroughly ripen in the ground seems to have a harmful effect on the gladiolus bulbs or corns in their growth the following year.

Another caution: do not try to keep old bulbs too long. Either raise new bulbs from the cornels around the base of the old bulbs, or buy young bulbs in small sizes and grow them two or three years. Most varieties lose vigor and need to be replenished with young stock after they are three or four years old.

POLLUTION KILLS FISH;
N. J. TO SUE DAIRYMEN

Following an investigation by wardens of the killing of hundreds of game and food fish by pollution in the South Branch of the Raritan river, the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission has ordered action started under the anti-pollution laws against a dairy company at Califon. Defective equipment in the company's plant is alleged to have permitted free ammonia from a refrigerator tank to escape into the stream. A break at the same plant a few years ago also caused extensive loss of Raritan fish for miles along the stream. The company at that time constructed a new safety tank and the Commission was assured it would eliminate further menace to the fish. The latest break, the dairy company contends, occurred in an interior coil and was not discovered until the ammonia had been flowing into the stream for several hours.

Furniture Truck Takes
Fire on Main Street

Early Thursday morning Police Sergeant David Quinlan received a call from the night man at the Lorraine Gas Station at the corner of Main street and Stevens avenue that a truck on upper Main street was on fire.

Officer Kvist was delegated to the scene and found a truck loaded with furniture on fire on the road above Batterson's Garage, in Sayreville borough. The Sayreville fire department was notified.

FINE SHOW AT THE EMPIRE NEXT WEEK

In "Cheer Up and Smile," Fox Movietone has approached the ideal in leading story appeal and sophistication to a love romance born on a college campus, we hear from authentic preview sources.

College stories present a wonderful opportunity to portray the vicissitudes of young love. Hence, the decision of Fox Movietone executives to find a story combining the desirable elements of the college locale and the more interesting and dramatic episodes found in city life.

"Cheer Up and Smile" which opens next Wednesday at the Empire Theatre is such a picture. It is a gay, sparkling romance of young love, filled with the pathos and heartaches necessary for good drama.

While searching for the ideal story of this type, the magazine story by Richard Connell, "If I Was Alone with You," came under observation. It was from his pen that the rollicking fun and drama of the all talking, singing romance "Cheer Up and Smile" was taken.

Howard J. Green, well known scenarist and dialog writer converted the original story for the audible screen; and Sidney Lanfield brought his youth and understanding of young hearts into the direction.

To Dixie Lee, Fox Movietone featured player, and Olga Baclanova went the co-featured roles. The first two mentioned have scored previous successes in youthful roles, and their work as sweethearts in this picture of campus nights and Broadway lights reflects their abilities to the highest advantage.

"Whispering" Jack Smith is another Fox Movietone featured player who carries away honors in "Cheer Up and Smile." Much of the infectious humor of the dialog, and the heart appeal of the many tuneful songs, spring from his winning personality.

The complete program of the Empire is found elsewhere in this issue.

EFFORTS BEING MADE TO IDENTIFY UNKNOWN MAN

The state authorities are still working in an endeavor to identify a man evidently a Spaniard, who was picked up seriously injured on the Victory Bridge on Sunday and who died in the local hospital Monday morning about 1:30 a. m.

The body, which is being held in the Masonic hall, has been viewed by officials of the prosecutor's office and the state police and fingerprints and photographs have been taken.

The only clue to identity which has been discovered according to reports, is the name Jose Fandino which was discovered in a small book carried in one of the man's pockets.

THREE GOLD AWARDS
AT PROTECTION DANCE

Leo Letts of this city and Elmer Laurensen of Perth Amboy were the winners of $2.50 in gold and Joseph Belko of Keasby was the winner of $5 in gold awarded at the dance held by the Protection Engine Company at the fire house last Saturday evening.

The dance which was the first held at the fire house, since the new floor was installed was a huge success, and was well attended. Mehrlander's Orchestra furnished the music and John Leonard was chairman.

SHOULD CHILDREN FIGHT?

By Edith D. Dixon
Extension Service, N. J. College of Agriculture

Many parents are distressed when they find their children fighting other children. Why should they be? "It is not nice," they say, or "I am afraid he will hurt the other child, or 'I don't want him to be a fighter; fighting is so brutal and coarse'."

We need to define what we mean by fighting. Many children when they appear to be fighting are, like young puppies, only wrestling. A child who can carry on good natured wrestling, and take his medicine when he meets a superior opponent, is learning good sportsmanship. Wrestling is good exercise and doing it well is an asset. It is desirable for children to be taught to wrestle according to the rules of the game. The desire to compete, to test one's strength against that of another, is natural, and with the exercise of it comes a certain feeling of security in one's own ability to take care of one's self. This is essential in the development of the child.

But suppose it is not good natured, but prompted by anger? Even then it is desirable to allow frank fighting with children of his own size in order that his anger may "work itself off" and "get out of his system" and avoid having it change, through repression, to brooding, hatred, and vindictiveness.

Will he then tend to fight more and more as a means of settling his difficulties? I think not, provided he is helped to find satisfying substitutes for fighting. Great progress in recent years has been made by schools and other organizations such as scouts, camps, and recreational groups which promote baseball, basketball, swimming, and other athletic contests that provide an outlet for the combative instincts of youth.

IX. Drunken Driving

What is drunken driving? What are its penalties? Why is it not only a criminal offense of the utmost gravity, but a moral wrong of a particularly revolting sort?

The answers to these questions are known to most citizens. Certainly they should be known to all motorists. But with steadily mounting totals of drunken driver cases, with scores of revocations of licenses each week for the offense, it would appear that a re-emphasis of the provisions of the law might have a thought-provoking effect, even though it does not minimize what is fast becoming a hopeless problem for police and motor vehicle authorities in New Jersey and throughout the country.

Let us take the questions in reverse order. The moral wrong arises through the monstrous selfishness of the drunken driver. Probably there will always be difference of opinion over the right of any one to tell another he may not drink intoxicating liquor. But certainly we have the right to tell him, and we must enforce our right with force, that if he must drink he may not engage in an operation so hazardous to the lives of others as driving an automobile while he is under the influence of drink.

The man who climbs behind a wheel when indulgence in liquor has befogged his brain, distorted his vision, or affected the efficiency of mind, muscles or nerves in the slightest degree must be an object of bitter condemnation. How much greater, then, is the offense of him who is in the most advanced stages of drunkenness, whose co-ordination and control of mental and physical powers has been destroyed, who is no more competent to drive an automobile than a year-old infant?

For him we need feel no pity, nor would we be remotely concerned with him were he alone in his head-long dash to destruction. But in control of an automobile, he is a fearful, irresponsible agent of death. He endangers the life of every person in his path. Highway safety will never be complete, no matter what measures we may adopt, until drunken drivers have been eliminated. And eliminating them is a well-nigh hopeless task. We can only do everything in our power to apprehend the individual, punish him severely and keep him off the roads as long as the law permits.

When I took office as motor vehicle commissioner I pledged the people of New Jersey the best service of which I was capable. I made another pledge with myself, and that pledge was never, under any circumstances and regardless of any influence, to restore the license of a drunken driver before the period prescribed by law for the revocation had expired.

I have kept that pledge, and I now repeat it publicly. No drunken driver can expect any leniency from the Department of Motor Vehicles so long as I am at its head—and that stands.

The law makes it mandatory upon the commissioner to revoke for two years the driver's license of a person convicted of drunken driving. Permanent revocation is the penalty for a second offense. In the imposition of these penalties the law gives the Commissioner no discretion, and I have been advised by the Attorney General that if I restored a license before the expiration of the legal limit I would be guilty myself of an infraction of the law.

In addition to revocation of license, the law provides as a penalty for a first offense a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $500, or imprisonment for not less than thirty nor more than ninety days, or both. For a second offense, it is mandatory upon the magistrate to sentence the prisoner to three months in the county jail or workhouse, and the right to operate a motor vehicle shall be forfeited "thereafter," which the Department of Motor Vehicles interprets as meaning permanent revocation.

What is drunken driving? The law says: "No person shall operate a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any narcotic or habit-producing drugs."

The phrase "under the influence," by reason of its obvious elasticity, called forth many interpretations and many legal arguments. Six or seven years ago the issue was settled by a decision handed down in State vs. Rodgers, a famous drunken driving case, carried to the Court of Errors and Appeals. The opinion written in that case by Supreme Court Justice Trenchard has provided a standard of fitness for driving, and an interpretation of the phrase "under the influence," which serves as a guide which law-enforcing authorities have found of the utmost value.

In his decision Justice Trenchard wrote that "it is not essential to the existence of the statutory offense that the driver should be so intoxicated that he cannot safely drive a car. The expression, under the influence of intoxicating liquor, covers not only all the well known and easily recognized conditions and degrees of intoxication, but any abnormal mental or physical condition which is the result of indulging in any degree in intoxicating liquors and which tends to deprive him of the clearness of intellect and control of himself which he otherwise possesses."

The whole drunken driving problem, aside from all interpretations, penalties and moral wrongs, comes simply down to this: "If you must drink, don't drive a car."

Clam Bake at Parlin For Safety Record

Over 2,400 Attend Affair on Saturday—Forgotton, Captain of Winning Team—Parlin Loses 15 Inning Ball Game.

Over 2400 people, many of them from this city attended the clam bake given by the DuPont Company at Parlin on Saturday as a reward to the company's employees for the safety record hung up by the employees of the plant. Besides the employees their wives and families attended.

The Parlin plant has established a record, working from September, 1929, till July 25th last without a major accident, thereby winning the Director's Prize.

There were a number of athletic events on the program which preceded the bake. A hose laying contest, a three legged race, barrel boxing and a tug of war were held. The tug of war was won by the team representing the transportation department. Ruben Forgotton of this city was coach and captain of the team.

A feature of the athletic events was a 15 inning baseball game between the Parlin and Carney's Point plants which was won by Carney's Point 9-7.

William Johnson and Gus Potts spent Sunday at Atlantic City.

One of the huge buttonwood trees which have graced the main street of Shrewsbury since before the Revolution and which were preserved largely through her efforts recently, nearly caused her death when Mrs. Bruce W. Cambell of that town was riding on horseback underneath one.

Workmen were trimming one of the trees as Mrs. Cambell passed under it. A limb weighing 400 pounds fell 60 feet and missed Mrs. Cambell only by inches, striking the horse on the hip, fracturing the bone and probably causing internal injuries. Mrs. Cambell suffered from shock.

Among one of the problems confronting the officials of Freehold recently, was the disposition of a goat that suddenly made its appearance and for which an owner could not be found.

One morning a call was received for assistance at police headquarters and an officer was rushed to the address in the department's slier armed to the teeth. Instead of the burglar he expected to find however, he saw the goat parked on the front steps of a residence trying to gain admittance to the house.

Finally the officer succeeded in capturing it and tying a rope around its neck went away proudly with the goat tied on behind the car.

A happy thought came to him as he passed the fire house and decided he could dispose of the goat by presenting it to the fire department. The fire chief, however, wouldn't accept it; said the company already had one pet, a monkey and the goat would frighten it.

The policeman tied the goat to a nearby tree where it assisted in trimming the hedge adjoining the fire house and proceeded on a personal canvass of the town to find the goat a home, he was finally successful.

Revised census figures for the city of Red Bank give the total population as 11,625. The first figures gave the population at 10,956 and were questioned. A check was made disclosing the fact that a number of residents had been overlooked.

The new figures will not only make Red Bank appear more important in the "total" columns put out by the census bureau as the result of the 1930 census, but also in the "percentage" column. Had no objection been raised by the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce, Red Bank's percentage of growth for the ten-year period would have appeared at a little under 19 per cent. Under the revised census it will appear as little better than 25 per cent.

Father has been conducting endurance tests for many centuries now, in fact almost since marriage was invented. Now however the idea has spread to the rest of the family. The family indulges in tree sitting, flag pole sitting, bicycle marathons and what not and now six youths in our neighboring city of Perth Amboy during the past week created a new test, consisting of pushing an express wagon up and down one of the city's streets. The boys are working on two hour shifts and expect to keep it up until September 1.

For the second time in six months, the home of former sheriff, Fred Govan of Highland Park, was robbed last week. A bracelet, stick pin and some money from a toy bank besides a number of trinkets were stolen.

The family was away at the time and the burglars locked the cellar door where the family watch dog was kept. Evidently the dog made no outcry.

A number of relics from the old Hewitt Estate in the Ramapo Hills, built before the Revolution, have been sent to Henry Ford's Edison Museum of Technology.

Included in the collection are 15 sleighs and 18 carriages which have conveyed great men of America and European history. Mrs. Hewitt is the daughter of Abraham S. Hewitt, former Congressman and Mayor of New York City.

Glen Wild Lake is all astir over a monkey which is running at large and defies all attempts at capture. The monkey spends its days in the trees which line the streets and amuses passers by with its peculiar antics.

At night however, it throws the neighborhood into terror by climbing near someone's window and emitting blood curdling screams.

Okey Glover of 118 Mt. Pleasant avenue, Newark, was held without bail recently when he was arrested on a charge of driving a stolen car. Upon searching the car, the police found 200 lipsticks, which the man said he was taking to his sweetheart.

On Monday Thomas Fairchild of 9 Foster street, Newark, celebrated his golden wedding anniversary with his wife, five children, 7 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren.

Fairchild, who is 70 years old has for a number of years been caretaker of the city cemetery and has assisted in the burial of over 10,000 people and has dug up one live person. The latter act took place when a sewer caved in burying a workman, Fairchild because of his ability to handle a shovel was called for to extricate him.

WHAT I SEE AND HEAR IN SPORTS

BY HYPE

At this writing the boys from the hill are out in front in the local league with two won and none lost and a protested game to play with the Hearts and a postponed game with the Morgan A. C. The K. of C. and the Tuscons tied with three won and one lost for second place. Mechanicsville, Hose, Bulvaillen and Sacred Hearts tied for third with two won and two lost. The Morgans are trailing with one won and two lost and the Courtsey win the cows tail with five lost. With the postponed games and protested games, this standing will take quite a change and before next week rolls around somebody will be definitely established in first place, second place and so on but perhaps not for long as any team may make a spurt and go right through. The Caseys have slowly forged ahead and right now are dangerous contenders for the second half title. The boys from Mechanicsville are determined there will be no play off as they will win both halves. The game next Wednesday between the Hearts and Mechanicsville should be a hamdinger as will be the set to between the Bulvaillen and Mechanicsville and both games will have an important bearing on the league standing.

Our sympathies are extended to the friends and relatives of "Bob" Manaker who was taken from our midst last week while apparently in good health. "Bob" will always be remembered as a good clean sport in any of the branches of athletics which he participated. His manner of catching a ball would give you heart failure but he always got what he went after.

An August 29th, a benefit game will be held on St. Mary's Field for Larry St. Dennis who is incapacitated at the South Amboy Memorial Hospital from injuries resulting from an automobile accident. The teams battling against each other will be led by Bill Kennedy, manager of the K. of C. football team on which St. Dennis starred and will have the following players: Barkey, Stumpf, McDonnell, Triggs, Roland Kennedy, Monaghan and several others. Among them will be Atkinson of the old Athletics who will toss up the old apple for a few innings and will be enjoyed by some of the old timers as they say he is still tossing them up for a twilight league. Opposing this team, the Rajah will lead a team with Witezak, Kosh, Andy Kane and several other stars. Tickets may be procured from Bill Kennedy, also at Gallagher's, Cozy Corner, O'Connor's and Ginters Confectionery stores.

At the beginning of the baseball season, we made our predictions in the leagues. The Athletics in the American, the Giants in the National and the Sacred Hearts in the local league and the same predictions still go. The A's appear to be in. The Giants are battling hard and within two and one-half games of the leaders and the Hearts may still grab the duke in the local league. We don't like to be in the "I told you so" class because we can pick losers too and admit when we do but that's our bet and lay it on the line.

Several weeks ago we advocated a county series with the winners of Sayreville, South River, New Brunswick, Carteret and Perth Amboy leagues. Our sister town Sayreville, according to the Sports Editor of the Sayreville Press, are very much in favor of this series. Now let us start. I think a team comprised of the best players in the South Amboy League should represent the town in a series as we furnish the Sayreville league with quite a few of their stars and the same can be said of the South River league. Well let's hear more about the proposed series. Let the presidents of the various leagues get together and thrash out the best procedure and then the little World Series right here in our own county.

Benny Pawlowski's Melrose team got sweet revenge when they defeated the strong Carteret American Legion team last Sunday. This is the kind of opposition the fans like and now that the teams are one up, why not a five game series to see whose who. Joey Baranowski was at his best while Mitlitz was touched pretty freely. Home runs were in the cards as four went for the trip.

We understand Kosh, the speed boy from the Hole in the Wall section was given a tryout at a double O by the St. Louis Browns at Philadelphia. We have not heard how he made out but with a little seasoning, we think he will make a lot of the boys hustle. Too much cannot be expected of him as he is still in his teens and has a long way to go and if not worked too hard, will make good.

The schedule for the fifth round of Bulvaillen vs Mechanicsville; Bulvaillen vs Protection; Mechanicsville vs Courtsey; Morgan A. C. vs Sacred Heart. Until then, ta ta.

Budrow had been bothered for years with constipation. This condition, together with acute indigestion for almost two years had certainly been very troublesome to her. Heartburn and frequent night risings added to her misery. In my own case, my work as locomotive engineer made it necessary for me to eat at irregular hours and I, too, was beginning to have stomach trouble.

"It did not take this medicine long in either case to bring results. A bottle or so brought my stomach back to normal and I am no longer troubled. It has proved an excellent tonic in my case. Mrs. Budrow has received excellent results and is much improved in health since taking this medicine. We are both glad to endorse this new medicine."

Disease Spectre Looms in Land as Drought Advances

Drinking Water Shortage Seen as Drought Advances.

Chicago, Aug. 20—With drought conditions rapidly becoming worse throughout the country, the spectre of disease in nationwide proportions has arisen through the shortage of potable water supplies to cause consternation in the ranks of sanitary engineers and health authorities. Typhoid, largely a water borne disease, is probably the greatest fear, but dysentery and cholera are other dread possibilities of the situation.

Dried streams and rivers, plus normally good water sources which have become polluted because there is not ample flow for proper sewage dilution, are threatening to bring about a health menace hardly equaled in recent times, engineers state.

A survey of reports from various points indicates that the shortage of clean water is bringing acute distress in many places. Bathing beaches have been closed in a number of eastern cities, while in several southern states conditions have reached the point where water for drinking purposes will have to be rationed unless relief comes soon.

According to reports from Indiana and other states, the stage is all set for a vast typhoid epidemic. The increase in disease has also followed the increase in reports of general resort to uncertain water supplies, usually consumed without the precaution of boiling the water. At Quantico, Va., tank barges have been pressed into service to supply water since local potable supplies failed.

While population increases are partially responsible for the shortage, engineers believe that one of the greatest factors contributing to the present situation is that water supplies for domestic uses are becoming more and more scarce through public tendency to turn natural water channels into open sewers.

According to authorities, natural water resources are as much in need of reclamation as other of the nation's resources, and clean water is probably more important than most. It is believed by engineers that there would be no fear of shortage at the present time if the nation had been supplied with sufficient water reclamation projects. Reclamation, through the elimination of sewage pollution, is regarded by sanitary and health authorities as one of the next great steps in the direction of good health for the United States.

Continuation of the present day policies in regard to the handling of sewage, together with obvious population increases, may well be expected to turn some similar drought period of the future into a national disaster, health officials declare.

Florence M. NeiltoppWeds Wm. P. King

At Christ Church Last Saturday Afternoon—Many Gifts.

At Christ Episcopal Church last Saturday, Miss Florence M. Neiltopp, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Neiltopp of Henry street and Mr. William P. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. King of Second street, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Kennedy, pastor of the church with members of the family and intimate friends present. After the ceremony a reception and wedding supper took place at the Blue Hills Plantation in Dunellen.

The bride wore a gown of eggshell chiffon with a picture hat and slippers to match and carried pink roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Emma Neiltopp, sister of the bride, wore a brown chiffon gown with hat to match and carried pink roses. Harold E. King was his brother's best man.

Early in the evening the couple left for a honeymoon at Lake Placid, N. Y.; upon their return to this city they will reside on Stevens avenue.

Among the many beautiful gifts received by the newlyweds was a handsome chest of silver, presented by the office force of the Standard Oil Company of Perth Amboy, where the groom holds a responsible position. Both young people are graduates of the South Amboy High School and Mrs. Neiltopp is a member of the teaching staff of the local public schools.

Reunion of Co. I.at McAlpin Tomorrow

Many From Other Outfits Will Attend—Denaro of This City, Committee Member.

At the Hotel McAlpin in New York City, the ninth annual reunion of Company I, 311th Infantry of the Seventy-eighth Division will be held tomorrow.

Company I was composed almost entirely of men from New Jersey and a large number are from this immediate vicinity.

Besides the former members of Company I, this affair which is held annually at some point in this vicinity, is attended by men from other companies in the regiment and has gained fame as one of the largest company reunions.

Frank Denaro of this city, Louis Y. Sosin and James J. Mullen of Perth Amboy are members of the committee arranging the reunion.

Miss Rosalie LinkeBride of Edmond Pohl

Ceremony Takes Place Sunday Afternoon at St. Mary's Church.

At four o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church, Miss Rosalie Linke, daughter of Mrs. Rose Linke of Erntston, became the bride of Edmond Pohl of this city. Msgr. E. C. Griffin officiated at the ceremony and Mrs. Regina McGovern played the wedding march. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Linke home, at which time a large number of guests were present.

The bride wore an aquamarine blue chiffon gown with a blue horsehair hat and silver slippers, and carried a bouquet of tea roses. Miss Grace McCarthy, of Sayreville, the bridesmaid, wore a honeydew chiffon gown with hat to match and silver slippers. Edward Pohl, brother of the groom, was best man.

The newly married couple left on a short honeymoon to Washington and various Southern points. Upon their return, they will reside with the bride's mother in Erntston.

Company and John Montgomery ran a similar store in the building at present occupied by Benjamin Ehrlich. Mr. Montgomery was one of the town's leading citizens, having held the office of postmaster as well as a number of other town offices.

Coakley and Sullivan too, was one of the old firms. In addition to the grocery business which they conducted from their headquarters at the corner of Broadway and Augusta street, the place was well known as the headquarters for the Star Building and Loan Association, of which Mr. John Coakley was as he is now, an officer. James Brady now working in the Terminal Barber Shop, conducted a shop of his own for a number of years in various locations along Broadway, in the days before bobbed hair, when no woman would think of going into a barber shop, which was considered strictly a man's institution and always contained the latest copy of the Police Gazette and other sporting papers.

Max Kaufman conducted a dry goods store where Tenenbaum's is now located and Herman Kolish, more familiarly known as "Cheap John," conducted another further across town between David and Augusta streets.

Then there were the confectionery stores with the huge soda fountains with their many faucets brightly polished. Edward Mullen conducted one at the corner of Henry street, and John Sullivan conducted another across the street in the middle of the block. William Sullivan conducted another at the corner of First street, which featured in addition to confectionery and ice cream, sheet music. "Bill" as he was familiarly known, was in those days considered a sort of authority on the latest plays in New York City, and on his frequent visits to the metropolis he would place orders for the sheet music featured in the shows he attended. There was a piano in the back room and scarcely a night went by that some local musician would not drop in and give the boys an idea of how the latest music sounded.

Gottlieb Straub conducted two meat markets and did a thriving business, one at the corner of Broadway and David Street and the other between Church and First streets. Next to the latter store Salz & Steiner for a number of years ran a dry goods store. Irving I. Turner ran a gent's furnishing store at the corner of David street, opposite the Trust Company Building. This business was later taken over and conducted for a number of years by J. Alfred Johnson. At the present location of the Trust Company stood the drug store of Al Parlsen, well known druggist and almost directly across the street Edwin Jacques Sr., ran a like business which in later years was taken over by his son Dr. Albright conducted another drug store at the present site of Peterson's Pharmacy.

South Amboyans in the past were evidently vainer than they are now for in those days the town contained two jewelry stores, while at present we have none. Cornelius McGonigle had a jewelry store where the First National Bank now stands. His shop was a frequent stop with railroad men in this city who appeared to approve very strongly of Mr. McGonigle's ability to find the trouble with railroad watches. Mr. McGonigle too was interested in local politics, always a staunch Democrat.

James Carberry conducted a store between Second street and Main, close to the present Eisner factory. Mr. Carberry was a plumber and his shop always contained a number of the old fashioned base burner heaters profusely decorated with nickel that were considered a necessary part of the heating equipment of any well furnished home.

The saloon then was not the stealthily approached place where conversation is held in whispers and the bartender keeps the high powered goods hidden as he does now. Jim Rea ran the "Exchange," located between David and Henry streets where the Democratic politics of the day were discussed between huge schooners of beer. Equally famous was the cafe run by Patsy Kenah. While Patsy's catered to the thirst of its patrons, its chief claim to fame was secured by the famous oyster dishes turned out there.

Then there was the baker shop run by Mike O'Brien, next to the Broadway fire house, and the butcher shop conducted by George Gundrum, Sr., which was approximately in the same spot where the undertaking establishment run by his son George, Jr., is located at present.

Mention of Broadway's merchants of another day would not be complete without notice being taken of the Misses Bronk, two spinsters who conducted a candy and novelty store on the block between David and Henry streets. The building in which the store was located was raised to a considerable height above the ground and was reached by a number of steps. A long porch ran across the front of the building and there were two small windows with the small square panes commonly used a number of years ago. In the windows was a display of toys and candies of all kinds and there was hardly a youngster who could resist the temptation to climb the stairs and gaze into the windows at the objects of childish desire.

Seldom anyone but children was seen in the store and yet the Misses Bronk did a thriving business on the children's pennies.

Truly Broadway has changed!
